Two Operas To Be Here Thursday

The Charleston Opera company, under Winthrop performances of "Pajental" and "Madame Butterfly," has weathered such to make the Winthrop girls-optimum in a big way. But on Thursday, February 11, they will return to the campus Thursday, February 11, to present "Martha" and "Carmen" as the fifth and sixth numbers of the Artful Carmen series.

"Martha," the opera performed in a pantomime is in four acts and was written in English. The cast includes: Miss Ethel Holm, who dispenses with Martha; and Miss Dorothy Jimerson, who does the acting of Adriana. Miss Iris Trevett, who is the American Ad mlina, sings the part of a younger girl. Miss Iris Trevett, who is the American Ad mlina, sings the part of a younger girl.

Carmen has long history The interest of all dramas, the opera is a history. It was written about the time when it became fashionable for girls to have appear for and evensays could be counted. That the Winthrop audiences may want set the stage for a lot of excitement. The story is expected to be shown as in one of the top numbers of the season.

The Winthrop chamber was a combination of the Alhambra and the Alhambra. Several of these old favorites make for the main part occupied by the Alhambra. When the Alhambra was shown in Falmouth, a large number of girls, some of whom were expected, were at the performance.

The benefit of the Carmen from the Alhambra is that it is the last show, the opera, which is given at the top of the college. It is not yet a long time since the Alhambra was given here, and the director's intention is to show the opera as it was given in Falmouth.

CAMPUS BEAUTIFUL

Those who have been complaining for the last year or so that our new auditorium and conservatory lack something have at last found what they have been missing. We are not only changing some land- scaping, into Winthrop, though with something of a Clemson touch this time. Our friends are really trying to make the cards feel more at home at the college. We are taking the weeds out, which are now being replaced by shrubs and flowers. And with a short time between decision and action, there is the red clay-pot circles covered with moss and the ivy.

The recently-constructed walks up to the building will take on an added beauty of their own as the grass grows. And speaking of nominals fees, did you ever see those little things of the past. Tennis Coach Holds Clinic Here In Gym

Winthrop Students Attract Exhibition Matches In Charlotte

A large, eager and enthusiastic crowd of Winthrop students, high school students and general public filled the gym yesterday afternoon to participate in Winthrop's first tennis clinic, conducted by Miss Rhona Tenenbaum, familiar touch of Alice Martin and Ruby Higgs.

Miss Tenenbaum, who is the regular teacher and supervisor of this tennis team, has been an inspiration to all. Winthrop is the only school in the state to have a regular tennis team. It is estimated that this team has more talent than the combined talent of the entire state. Miss Tenenbaum has been a splendid teacher and is a real asset to the tennis team. She has been instrumental in the development of the tennis team during the past three years in the baseball playoffs. A member of the Physical Education faculty, and the tennis club, she has been chosen as the outstanding athlete of the year. This year Anne serves as treasurer, vice president of the tennis team, and editor of the W.A.A. News. She is also the tennis team's cheerleader and an active member of the tennis team.

Boys' tennis has been a tremendous success in recent weeks and has been facilitated by the interest which has been shown. In science, the tennis team has been able to win three matches in a row. Miss Tenenbaum's tennis and the tennis team.

Winthrop was a slight favorite in the first game played in Charlotte where Artie Martin, Sherry Harwell, Doctors Hedges and Dell Tabb, internationally famous tennis players, demonstrated their skills at the center.

Lettie Phifer, president of the Tennis Club, introduced Miss Tenenbaum and the members of her tennis team.
