HURLEY TELLS HOW TO HELP BUSINESS

Plan to Obtain Additional Credit and to Establish Standard System of Accounting

Washington, July 9.—Mr. Edward N. Hurley, vice chairman of the Federal Reserve board, on account of his practical business experience, was requested by the commission to suggest plans for helping credit.

Following is a statement by Mr. Hurley as prepared, setting forth the nature of some of these plans:

Among the several methods by which the Federal trade commission can be of constructive help to American business there are two of particular importance. One of these is to aid the business men of the country in obtaining the additional credit to which their business operations may be entitled.

The second is to aid in establishing a standard system of bookkeeping and cost accounting. The two are interdependent.

The small manufacturer, or county stockholder, or the retail merchant as a rule do not get at the bank credit that they ought to receive, owing to the fact that they are unable to present balanced sheets.

Good business practice. These men are just as good business men in many respects, as those of larger operations. They have brains, ability, energy, and industry.

Ability to borrow at the bank has good business value. It is not a mere matter of convenience, but it is a matter of necessity.

Ability to borrow at the bank has a far-reaching effect on all credit, because to the bank, primarily, are directed inquiries for a rating of a manufacturer or merchant.

Bankers are in business to loan money to business men, and recognize that loans made on balance sheets that are sound are desirable loans.

It is recognized that no one standard form of accounting can be applied to all business.

Special forms must be developed for each group or class of commerce and industry.

The fact must be admitted that in order to put a selling price on your products you must, if you are a manufacturer, first know exactly what it costs you to manufacture and sell them.

It is a fact well understood among business men that the general demoralization in a large number of industries is due to the fact that they do not know what their goods actually cost to manufacture, and the cost of selling, which is equally important, is almost wholly lost sight of.

How can the Federal trade commission help cure these conditions? By no compulsory methods. The commission has no power and no desire to use such methods.

OUR NAVY TO HAVE 30 NEW SUBMARINES

Estimates for 1917 Will Probably Provide For a Larger Number

Washington, July 9.—The next building program for the United States Navy will include estimates for nearly double the number of submarines which appropriations were made by the act of Congress.

From officials in close touch with the Administration's plans, it was learned tonight that while the General Board would wait until September before making its recommendations, at least thirty and probably more submarines are certainly now being requested.

Some naval officers of high rank think that as many as fifty or seventy estimations are now being considered; but those who are taking into account the necessity for enlarging other parts of the navy program think a conservative estimate of the number which will eventually be agreed upon is about thirty.

The last Congress in three sessions authorized twenty-six submarines, and the United States has now nearly ordered twenty more.

Secretary Daniels' it is understood that he will call the Secretary Lansing during the week to learn informally whether he can be of any service in the situation.

Today the official text of the German reply arrived and was made public. It differed only in unimportant words from the Associated Press copy which came from Berlin Friday night.

In all quarters here the reply was the single topic of conversation. What the action of the American government will be is doubtful largely in the sense that the means of expression of the views and opinions of the United States have not been decided.

There is no intent on our part to guarantee immunity to American ships under arrangements to be agreed on by naval authorities of the two countries.

Greater efficiency than has been achieved by any foreign navy has been attained through the use of high officers for American submarines as a result of the new batteries which are to be introduced.

CRITICAL POINT REACHED BY U. S.

Note to be Handled With Care Possibly Will Be Made a Week to Hand

Washington, July 11.—Study of Germany's reply to the American note on submarine warfare strengthens the conviction of high officials that a critical point in the relations between the two countries has been reached, it was said here tonight.

Not only do officials feel the United States must refuse to accept German proposals for the future conduct of American citizens on the high seas, it was declared, but the failure of Germany to disavow the sinking of the Lusitania with the loss of American lives, in their view brought on a crisis.

That there will be no action by the United States for at a month or week was indicated today. Several days will be required to measure fully the consequences and reply to the German note.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador here, called Secretary Lansing during the week to learn informally whether he can be of any service in the situation.

PLAN TO KEEP COTTON PRICE ABOVE 8 CENTS

The State Warehouse System of South Carolina Will Do It, Says Wood Mill the First to Take Advantage of Warehouse System

The state warehouse system of South Carolina for the warehousing of the cotton crop, being in a measure the parent of the idea, assumes far more than local importance in this plan of organization as it is attested by the number of letters from financiers and prominent politicians to State Warehouse Commissioner J. L. McLean.

Commissioner McLean advances the idea that the European war has not only abrogated nearly all international law, but that it has in a large measure organized an economic system of political economy; that instead of the selling price fixing the borrowing basis to fix the market price; that to handle this crop, price, that is, the price of cotton, thrown on the market and the price broken down, the value of cotton will be destroyed as a collateral.

SEES TURNING TIDE IN WAR OF NATIONS

German Forces in Southwest Africa Surrender to British Troops After a Great Change in Situation on Eastern Front

London, July 9.—The complete surrender of German forces in German Southwest Africa to Gen. Botha, commander of the forces of the Union of South Africa, the French advance in the Vosges of 700 yards, on a front of 600 yards, and the capture there of upwards of 800 unarmoured Germans, and the stand being made by the Russian in the south in Poland against the Austro-German forces, give British military critics subject for comment on what they term "the turning of the tide" in the war.

Gen. Botha's victory in a foregone conclusion, but the fact that he won it after five months of warfare despite the rebellion in his own country, and under many natural disadvantages, and by military discipline to have been a remarkable achievement.

SAYS TURKS KILL GERMAN OFFICERS

Tell of Revenge for Savage Disciplinary Methods

London, Friday July 9.—The growing discouragement of the Turks both in the field of the Gallipoli Peninsula and in Constantinople itself, is pictured by the Daily Chronicle correspondent at Salonica, who sends the following dispatch to his paper:

The recent fighting on the Gallipoli Peninsula has resulted in the capture of a large number of prisoners. I have seen many of them and though they are not badly clothed an appearance to have been fairly well fed, they are all being reared up, as one of the German prisoners which they held in their positions on the peninsula has been for some considerable time.

KITCHENER GIVEN A GREAT OVATION

Field Marshal Created by House of Commons by 241 to 162

London, July 9.—Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, whose conduct of the War Office has been criticized by certain sections of the British press, received a remarkable ovation from the public today on his visit to the London Guild Hall to make an appeal for recruits and particularly for reserves for the great army he has raised since the outbreak of war.

The great need of the moment, said Field Kitchener, was men, men, men. He said that the War Office had been criticized by certain sections of the British press, but that he had no objection to the criticism. He said that he had no objection to the criticism.

TUESDAY, JULY 13

MERELY WAITING.

Evidently some time in the dim and distant past the expression of "everything comes to him who waits" was taken literally and seriously by some citizen of Chester, and as "just waiting" required but little effort or energy the propaganda has doubtless had considerable effect upon this city's development to the present time. Really, when taken in its abbreviated sense, there never was a more laudible untruthful expression. It is true that everything is possible of accomplishment to those who wait, but while waiting, intelligent effort must be put forth.

The individual or the community that plans fully to merely waiting is doomed—the former to spiritual and material poverty, the latter to stagnation and decay.

But why wait for any good thing?
A few months of earnest, enthusiastic and intelligent concern of action is worth a score of years of idle waiting and would inevitably bring a abundant harvest of prosperity and happiness to the people of any community.

A WEED KILLER.

The following article from the Gaffney Ledger regarding a weed killer which is being used by the Southern Railway should be of interest to Chester, as well as a number of other towns. We certainly ought to save our money and buy one of these "killers" to use on the streets and if we find it impossible to raise the money, to we can turn the cows loose.

"The Southern Railway Company is trying the experiment of killing weeds and grass by applying a special liquid alongside its tracks Saturday morning a train of several tank cars filled with this liquid passed through the city on its way south, spreading death and destruction to the rampant grasses and weeds growing near the tracks. The result of this application of liquid death will be watched with great interest especially by the farmers who may find it a way to help in working the crops."

MORE PROTECTION AGAINST CRANKS.

The recent crazy acts of Muenster has thrown a scare in many of the "big people" of this country and in this connection much has been written as to the best method of protection.

The New York Times has the following to say:

"Provisionally, all three of Muenster's attempts failed of all fruition, the Capitol was not much damaged, Mr.
Morgan is alive and the Minnie haha made poor. But this good fortune should be regarded as a warning, not as a passport to security or an encouragement to complacency.

"There must be an end to setting every one who will board a ship and go about it. The same rule must be adopted for the protection of national buildings, and they must be strictly guarded. Police authorities in neighborhoods where the most conspicuous men of the nation live must adopt, for the time, the above precaution that those houses are to be watched and protected exactly as they would if they had been informed that a Black Hand letter had been received threatening some eminent. All these and other necessary precautions, will be taken, but they are forced upon us by an epidemic. We are desirous of our social life has been made possible and necessary replies have been thrown to the surface. It is better to adopt some precautions contrary to the old devil-may-care American habit than to regret our slowness bitterly at the grave of a great man."

OUR FIREMEN.

Several towns in South Carolina, some of which are located near have received information from insurance Commissioner McManister that Capt. Lind Behrens, chief of the fire department of Charleston, will visit those towns in the near future and give the local firemen the benefit of his lifelong experience.

This is a wise step but we do not find any mention of his visiting Chester. We would like to see the proper authorities get busy and arrange to have Capt. Behrens visit us and no doubt, our local firemen would be greatly benefited by his presence. Chester has a good set of firemen but it must be admitted that the town in general gives them very little encouragement.

We should take more interest in our "fire-fighters."

POLLUTED FARM WATERS.

In selecting a country home for the summer season, the most important factor should be given to the question of a pure water supply. Farms, which are generally remote from towns, cities, or other centers of congested population, seem to be almost ideally situated for obtaining pure and wholesome water.
In reality, however, polluted water is exceedingly common on farms and typhoid fever cases are usually greater in country districts than in cities. Typhoid fever is transmitted largely in drink or food taken into the stomach and is especially likely to be communicated by polluted water obtained from streams, wells, or springs where the discharges of typhoid patients have been deposited and subsequently carried into the wells, and it is doubtless principally in country districts that disease so common in farming regions.

The sources of the water used on the farm are numerous—lakes, streams, springs, wells of various kinds, and streams, all being exposed to pollution, although the water from lakes and streams is generally used only for stock. Each of these sources under some conditions may yield entirely safe and satisfactory supplies, while under other conditions certain of them may be a constant menace to health.

Of the various sources of water supply the ground water is the most safe and satisfactory for farm use, because it is least liable to pollution, and streams and ponds are the most unsatisfactory, because of the ease and frequency with which they are polluted.
In fact, however, they are very seldom used for drinking and domestic purposes, being utilized mainly for stock, on which the effect of slight general pollution is not so serious as in the case of man, though some severe epidemics of disease among cattle have been traced to polluted streams. The underground supplies, whether from wells or springs, are safe, as a rule, but may be polluted, and are not being universally so, the safety depending mainly on their location and on the nature of their protection.

Many of the failures to protect against pollution of the water supplies used for drinking arise from a lack of knowledge of the manner in which waters circulate through the ground and of the ways in which they may become polluted. Information on these subjects should be of value, and it is with the object of supplying this information that the United States Geological Survey has published Water Supply Paper 255, an "Underground Waters for Farm Use" a copy of which may be obtained free on application to the Director of the Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

ADVERTISING GROWS
STEADILY IN POWER

San Francisco, July 8.—The growing power of the newspaper advertisement and its advances to a higher plane of moral appeal and responsibility were pointed out by Talcott Williams, director of the Columbia University School of Journalism, in an address here today, as powerful and encouraging factors in the past half century's newspaper history.

"The American advertisement in the past half century has made an advance greater than all its history before through the greater care of the American newspaper and the higher standards of the social editor and advertiser," said Dr. Williams, who spoke before the International Peace congress at the Panama-Pacific exposition.

The moral advance of the advertisement began with the failure at tempt to exclude letters written three-quarters of a century ago. Any man who will compare American advertisements with those of the English, French, German and other European newspapers will find our press and our public not apart, but together, and has raised the moral standards of our newspapers to a level nowhere else maintained.

AND NO TIME TO LOSE!

Cotton is now in demand in Bremen at 30 cents a pound, and it is probably that a higher price would be paid if the cotton could be forthcoming in response to the offer.
Thirty-cent cotton in Bremen is the direct result of the British blockade Sweden has been forced to place an embargo on cotton exports, while Germany's supply through Italian, Dutch and other ports has been practically cut off. As Theodore H.
Price understands it Great Britain has agreed to go into Holland and Scandinavia only upon proof that it is owned in good faith by a citizen of some neutral country. If there is any reason to believe that it is owned by a Jew or sold to a German, the right of interception and appropriation as enemy property is insisted upon, settlement being made at the market value in England. Here is the situation of cotton exports which feels that by interdiction he is deprived of the rights he is legally entitled to exercise. He in lines to the effect that it would be better for all concerned if England frankly put cotton upon the contraband list, agreeing in some way to compensate the American producer for the resulting loss. The cotton crop in this country at this phase of the situation a few days ago as the one which should attract attention of administration at Washington to the end that it might be obtained for the marketing of the present crop. Conditions are a different from last fall. The United States has plenty of money. What it wants is the removal as fast as possible of impediments to the marketing of the cotton crop to the best advantage—

DIETARY CONFERENCE MEETING.

The Rock Hill District Conference, comprising about twenty pastoral charges, is holding their annual conference at the Bethel M. E. Church in this city. The meeting opened last night at 8:30, the Rev. R. L. Holroyd Presiding Elder, being in charge.
The opening sermon was delivered by Rev. J. B. Traywick, of Winns-boro.

This morning the conference assembled at the church and conducted devotional services after which there was an address of welcome.
This afternoon the work of the Sunday School will be discussed and an address tonight by Rev. W. C. Owen, Field Secretary of the two annual conferences.

Tomorrow morning the Epworth Society phage will probably be presented and at twelve o'clock there will be preaching by a member of the conference.

There is about one hundred delegates present. The people of Chester, without regard to denomination, are cordially invited to attend.

March but happily there is also a remedy for these ugly blemishes, and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get an ounce of ointment, double strength, from your druggist and apply a little of it night and morning, and in a few days you should see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the light ones have even shed entirely.
Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they may stay all summer, and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion.

PLEASE TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR IN 1916.

Columbia, July 10.—Ex-Gov. John L. Blease in an interview today indicated that he will be a candidate for governor in 1916. He would not make a definite announcement one way or the other. Several days ago John L. McLaughlin, a state warehouse commissioner, while in Atlanta, gave out an interview stating that Mr. Blease would seek the office of governor for the third time in this state if Mr. Blease enters the race it is practically certain that W. P. Pollock of the Cheraw bar, will be a candidate. Governor Manning will certainly be a candidate for re-election.—Orangeburg Herald.

Tried Fruitola and Traxo and Has Never Since Been Troubled With Gallstones.

Mrs. Mary E. France writes: "I have had gall stones for many years and have tried many medicines but nothing has relieved me until I used Fruitola and Traxo. I am now free from all trouble and feel as well as ever."

Fruitola is a powerful lubricant for the intestinal canal, and also does its usual duty to give an ample evidence of its efficacy. It softens the masses of indigestible food, breaks up the hardened particles that so often cause so much suffering, and extracts the accumulated waste from the system, relieving the patient of the painful process of defecation. It is a powerful purgative, and its use is recommended by the highest authorities on the subject.

WHY SHOULD WOMEN VOTE?

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE FROM THE VIEWPOINT OF LEADING FARMERS.

Why should women vote? That is the question that is ringing from ocean to ocean and reverberating on the Canadian boundary to the Mexican border. It is the mission of a newspaper to give the news and the action of the Texas Farmers Union in opposing woman's suffrage when that question was recently before the Texas legislature. It is significant as representing the attitude of the organized plowmen. We reproduce in part the argument presented by Hon. W. D. Lewis, president of the Texas Farmers Union, in opposing the bill.

"It is gratifying to note that it is not the farmer who is the champion for the ballot. She is too busy trying to make happier homes, molding the minds of future citizens, and caring for her husband and the care of 20 to indulge in political games. The ballot will give her no relief from duties. It will give no assistance in clothing the children or bring to the home additional comforts, conveniences or opportunities in life. It is, in fact, the city woman promoted to blindness by prosperity, who is leading the suffrage movement."

"From many standpoints, perhaps a woman has as much right to vote as a man. So has she as much right to plant a tree as a man, to have the right to a factory as a man, she has as much right to shoulder a musket as a man, but would rather she would not do so from choice and we regret that necessary duties compel her to earn a living by engaging in gainful occupations. We do not consider misfortune a qualification for suffrage or a business accident a reason for granting the vote. We are opposed to woman at the ballot box the same as we are opposed to woman in the professions, in the factory or in the army and for the same reasons. We had rather see her plant flowers than sow wheat; rather lounge than pick cotton and rear children than raise political issues, although she may have as much right to do so as the other."

Opposed to Unsexing Humanity.

"Sex qualification for suffrage may have its apparent inconsistencies, but to general rule adjusts itself perfectly to all conditions. It is a favorite argument advanced by the proponents of woman's suffrage that well cultivated and noble women are far more capable of intelligently exercising sovereignty than a worthless man, and that the South never was anxious for negro suffrage, and while culture and refinement and even morality are desirable virtues, they are not the only qualifications for franchise."

"The primary, inherent and inseparable fitness for suffrage is supporting a family. The plow hand, the forger and the struggle for bread afford experience necessary to properly mark the ballot. Government is a great big business and civilization from the very beginning of man and woman the home and man the business affairs of life."

"The Texas has been such freakish legislation enacted during the past decade that no doubt appeals to woman's love for the million, but to undertake to unsex the human race by law is the height of legislative folly and is largely to mankind."

"We are opposed to the equal rights of woman—we want her to ever remain our superior. We consider woman's desire to seek man's level the yellow peril of twentieth century civilization."

"Woman is the medium through which angels whisper their messages to mankind; it is her hand that plants thoughts in the intellectual vineyard; it is through her heart that hope, love and sympathy overflow and bless mankind. Christ—the liberator of woman-kind—was satisfied to teach the lessons of life, but He was a man who chose to rule over human hearts and refused worldly power and men followed Him, women washed His feet and little children climbed upon His knees and the Ruler of the universe said that in Him He was well pleased. Can woman find a higher calling?"

THEMISTOCLES

When Themistocles was asked by his host at a dinner party to entertain the guests by playing the lute, he replied that he could not play the lute, but that he was a native of a small town in a great city. We have in this nation many politicians who are good "luteists," but they are not a small town in a great city. We are over-run with orators who can play upon the passions of the people, but they cannot put brick and mortar together. We need builders.

Let those who hunger and thirst for power understand that the highest glory of a statesman is to construct and that it is better for a man that he should build a nation better than that he should become Governor of a state, and that he start a plan that shall become the author of a law. The true test of statesmanship is the plow and the hammer, so let those who would govern, first build.

NEGRO SHOT BY ANOTHER.

John Hughes, colored, was shot and painfully wounded Tuesday evening by William H. Pratt, a well known negro. The wounds of Hughes are not expected to prove serious, though he doubtless will lose the use of his right arm, the lead striking him about where the arm joins the body.

From information obtainable it seems that Hughes was coming up through Pratt's cane patch and failed to stop when halted by Pratt several times. Pratt immediately came to town and surrounded the place with his men, and proceeded to search for the man who shot him.

MANY AMERICANS LEAVE FOR EUROPE

New York, July 10.—Eighteen hundred passengers leave here today on steamships bound for the belligerent countries of Europe. Every cabin of the American Line steamship St. Louis for Liverpool was occupied. The St. Louis carries 650 in all. As the result of the explosion on the Minnehaha, precautions were taken at the American line pier, and only those who could establish a right to go on board the steamer were allowed to do so. Delegates guarded the pier and steamship until the hour of sailing. All baggage and freight was closely examined.

The French Lloyd steamship Espane carried 650 passengers for Bordeaux while Italian lines carry 700 for Naples.

Blackville, July 10.—Thomas H. Krenshaw was killed in an automobile accident here tonight at 8 o'clock. His companion Malcolm Dyche was cut over the eye. The dead man and Dyche were on route to Blackville from Barnwell, where they reside. It was said that Krenshaw lost control of the car when he was about to pass a woman pedestrian on the right hand side of the road. The dead man was a favorite both at Barnwell and here. He was a young man and was engaged in the outfitting and repairing of automobiles. He had operated a machine shop. The fatal accident has caused profound sorrow and was a poignant shock to the friends of the men who figured in it to such a tragic extent.

All Babies Destined to Great Achievement

To be great is to be great. For there are possibilities in every human infant. And for every child there is a plan. It should be remembered that wherever a doctor is called to attend a mother, to relieve her of distress during her trying months, and to secure her of marked benefit to the child.

Among the starting points in a child's development, the mother's milk is the most important. It is what is called an embryonic food. It is prepared from the abdominal muscles, greatly relaxed in your own hand, guided by your own mind. It makes the muscles of the child's body relax and the effect upon the nerves is such that they do not pain from this source is almost eliminated. It is a "mother's milk" that refers to the absence of nervous strain, that is, the absence of nervous strain, that is, the absence of nervous strain, that is, the absence of nervous strain.
