Death of Dr. Riggs

Dr. Riggs, a prominent figure in the field of education and religion, passed away peacefully on December 27th. The funeral, held at the Cathedral of the Assumption, was a somber and respectful ceremony. The community mourned the loss of this beloved figure, who had dedicated his life to the service of education and the spread of faith.

Under his administration, the college achieved significant milestones. He was a visionary leader who understood the importance of education in shaping the future. Dr. Riggs's influence can still be felt today, as his legacy continues to inspire generations of students.

Under his leadership, the college became a beacon of community spirit and commitment to excellence. Dr. Riggs was not only a leader but also a teacher, who instilled in his students a love for learning and a dedication to service.

Dr. Riggs was a man of great warmth and kindness. He was always there for his students, offering guidance and support whenever they needed it. His passing has left a void in the hearts of many, but his memory will live on through the impact he made on the lives of those he touched.

Dr. Riggs was predeceased by his wife, Margaret, and survived by his children, John and Mary. The family is deeply grateful for the outpouring of support from the community during this difficult time.

In memory of Dr. Riggs, a memorial service will be held on January 10th at the Cathedral of the Assumption. All are welcome to attend and pay their respects.

Annie Farmer

Annie Farmer, a beloved professor of English, passed away on December 28th at the age of 76. She was a dedicated teacher who inspired generations of students with her passion for literature and her commitment to fostering a love of reading.

Annie was a tireless advocate for the arts and a strong voice for peace and understanding. Her influence extended beyond the classroom, as she was known for her generosity and her commitment to helping those in need.

Annie was predeceased by her husband, David, and is survived by her children, Elizabeth and John. The family has requested that in lieu of flowers, donations be made to the Annie Farmer Scholarship Fund, which will support students facing financial difficulties.

The family will hold a private service and a celebration of Annie's life will be planned for a later date.

Bok Plant Presented by Annie Farmer

The Bok Plant, a rare and beautiful species, was presented to the campus by Annie Farmer, a beloved professor of English. The plant, named in honor of the renowned author, will be housed in the garden as a symbol of the college's commitment to beauty and nature.

Annie Farmer, a lifelong lover of literature and nature, was known for her dedication to the arts and her commitment to fostering a love of learning in her students.

The Bok Plant was presented to the campus with the hope that it will inspire a new generation of students to explore the beauty of the natural world and to appreciate the importance of nature in our lives.

Winthrop Graduates a Real Heroine

Winthrop College has graduated a real heroine, Elizabeth Brown, who served her country with distinction during World War II. Elizabeth Brown, a student of the college, served as a nurse in the armed forces, earning the respect and admiration of all who knew her.

Elizabeth Brown's legacy continues to inspire those who know her, and her story serves as a reminder of the courage and sacrifice of those who serve our country.

The college is proud to honor Elizabeth Brown and to recognize her contribution to our nation's history.
The Blue Jay.

"Either civilization must conquer war, or war will conquer civilization," is the challenge now facing us. The whole world is at war, and for the first time in the history of the world. We, the students of America, should recognize the fact that we are in the midst of this great struggle. As members of the rising generation, we are asked to consider well, perhaps there'll be a lecturer if the number of graduates had increased ten times the plan carefully and vote upon it. To merely read the plan and discuss war, its causes, results, and means of preventing it is not enough for any mortal to write an informal essay. It didn't mean to be an essay. I believe I'll keep this plan and vote upon it. The informal essay must be the writer's personal interest, and must show that he is not merely reading the plan but really understanding it.

The subject for debate was, "The International Relations Club. The story of a heroic rescue by the American Red Cross in the recent conflict. The International Relations Club meets at 4 p.m. in the American Red Cross building and invites the entire student body to participate in the discussions of the international situation."

The debate was conducted by Mr. John Johnson, who is an authority on international relations. The discussion centered around the question of whether or not the United States should enter the war. The arguments for and against were presented with great skill and clarity. The debate was a remarkable example of the free and open exchange of ideas that is the hallmark of democratic society.
