THE LANTERN,
PUBLISHED TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS
J. T. BIGHAM, - Editor and Proprietor
Published at the office of a printing office, at second-floor, No. 100, Broad Street, Charleston, S. C.
FRIDAY, FEB. 2, 1906.

We are pleased to print, on the 14th page of this paper, a communication from Dr. H. H. Hardin, in which he is nothing in his remarks inconsistent with our position on the so-called "Patient Medicines" bill. If he were familiar with the provisions of the bill, he is confident that he is not, he probably would not recite that we are "antagonistic" to it. We believe it would be an outrage to pass this bill, and we believe the people would resent it. It might also modify our friend's view if he were familiar with the origin of this agitation much nearer to Dr. Heyman's present residence than that of Charleston, in a scheme of certain interests to advertise and boost themselves. Again it might arouse his suspicion of a conspiracy if he knew of the efforts of the state legislature to create medicines simultaneously, or as nearly so as practicable.

We believe there was hardly a question in the minds of the "medicines" named by Dr. Heyman are innoxious and used simply for beverages, but there are many proprietary medicines from which people get very satisfactory results, and many would ever think of using them as beverages. They are cheap, convenient to keep on hand and ready for use when a doctor's services are not available. This bill should become a law, these would be excluded from the state or the formulas contained, and there would be nothing to prevent results from selling the same things or others containing just as much alcohol in disguise."

If our legislators are sincere in their profusion of concern for the health and sobriety, let them confine their attention to the harmful and intoxicating remedies and beverages, prohibiting them altogether, and not strike a blow that will fall heaviest on the harmless.

We cannot now speak of a fake list of deaths from proprietary medicines gotten up by interested parties away back of this scheme, and the way it has been exposed.

The House of Representatives has voted against the proposed distribution bill. The contest was close, however, and the measure was killed by only two votes.

The State makes a good point in the defense of Senator Latimer, charged with being an assistant. He is not a member of the Senate. President Roosevelt corroborates Senator Latimer's denial of that fact when he leaves him off the list of those invited to functions at the White House.

Senator Tillman seems unable to recognize himself to the action of the legislature in voting to give the Winthrop girls a Christmas vacation. This action on the part of the General Assembly may be a usurpation of the trustees' prerogatives, but those interested seem to ratify the step.

The report comes from Washington that there has been a serious weakening of the anti-suffrage sentiment in South Carolina in the last few days. We are quite sure that this is a mistake. The people are passive now, awaiting the action of the legislature, but that they ignore the logical need of amendment to the institution, and there will be such an outburst of sentiment as will soon evidence what are the feelings of the people. The action of this Washington report always finds the opposition to the dispensary weakening.

To read the tributes to Gen. Joe Wheeler that have appeared in northern papers one would indeed be led to believe that all sectional hate and prejudice have disappeared. The source, indeed, we believe to be the case. Wheeler was but the spokesman, the representative of the entire south, and what he did to wards defending this united land of ours against the attack of foreign foes is nothing more than what every old Confederate veteran would have done, had he been in position to do so. Everything relating to that fierce and intrepid leader of forty odd years ago is dead now, except the memories that brave men, cherish of true and knightly comrades and of brave and courageous enemies, and those memories are undying.

The short communication from the committee of Daughters of the Confederacy in the State, of which Mrs. Julia Campbell is chairman, has our hearty endorsement. We said years ago that the high officials, the maids of honor and sponsors would kill the reunion. Of course the ladies were not to blame for accepting the honors tendered them; indeed we believe that in most cases they believed they were complying with the wishes of the old soldiers and confederates to their pleasure, being misled by resolutions for which the rank and file were not responsible. The old soldiers did not want medals and circumstances. They are not interested in jangles about precedence in the ranks, but who should be first.

Hot Supper at Edgemoor.

The ladies of Edgemoor and vicinity will serve hot supper at the residence of Mrs. J. C. Dickey at Edgemoor on Wednesday evening, Feb. 2nd. The proceeds are for benevolent purposes. All are cordially invited.

Outlook is Encouraging.

Mayor W. H. Hardin returned from Washington last night, and the other members of the delegation will return this morning. Mr. Hardin is very hopeful, and he is satisfied that the delegation, which he led to the local delegates, appeared, is convinced of the superiority of Chester's claims.

Furniture Business Changes Hands.

Mr. M. A. Gwin, the proprietor of the betting works, has bought out the furniture business of W. M. Nicholson. It is not the purpose of Mr. Gwin to go into the business regularly. He bought the stock as an investment and will dispose of it as soon as possible.

Cash Opens for Business.

McKee Bros. have opened their handsome new cafe, and a place of striking beauty, furnished with beautiful modern fittings, it is, at the front of the room are a soda fountain and a lunch counter where old drinks and refreshments are served. In the rear, cozy off from the front is the dining room proper where a goodly party can be entertained. Mr. Oliver Timmie will manage the place. The cafe opens at a cost of $10,000, experience will see after the culinary department.

Mrs. T. W. Brice Dead.

Wednesday morning, Jan. 31, 1906, telling of the sudden death of his mother at 12 o'clock from apoplexy. She was called to go up stairs to see a member of the family who was sick and after walking across the room to get her clothing she sat down and stooped to her shoes and immediately fell to the floor. Maj. Brice and her son Laurie were both there and went to her assistance, but after one gasp she lay there in her bed spirit took her life.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Brice was Miss Nanette Boyce and was raised in the neighborhood of Plover, N. C. Her husband's husband she leaves seven children and one daughter viz: Dr. J. M. Brice, of this city, Messrs. Robert T. Brice, Laurie, Samuel, James and Joe Brice and Miss Nanette Brice, Woodward. Messrs. James and Joe Brice were away from home, the former at Montgomery, Ala., and the latter at Nashville, Tenn. At the summons came, but both reached here in time for the funeral.

Age Successfully Instituted.

The new Blackstock lodge of the Knights of Pythias was successfully instituted in the castle hall of Bathbone Lodge in this city. The new lodge will be known as Blackstock Lodge, No. 107, and the following members were elected and installed officers: W. S. McKeown, chancellor commander; S. E. Noland, chancellor; Rev. J. H. Noland, Prelate; Ed. M. Kennedy, K. of R. and S. J. D. Mobley, Master of Finance; H. H. Hood, M. of E.; J. L. McMurray, M. of W.; W. A. McKeown, M. of A.; J. H. McKeown, Inner Guard; Fred Fowler, Outer Guard; Paul chancellor; B. F. Powell and H. W. Miller.

The grand lodge called together for the institution of Blackstock Lodge was composed as follows: District deputy L. T. Baker of Winnsboro, chancellor commander; J. H. McMurray, of Fort Mill, vice chancellor; J. L. Hamilton, Prelate; W. A. Fewell, of Rock Hill, K. of R. and S.; John McMaster, of Winnsboro, Master at Large; S. E. Noland, Master of Work; Jos. A. Walker, of Chester, Master of Exchequer; John M. Wise, Master of Finance; Dr. Jas. Deschamps, of Ridgeway, Inner Guard; C. E. Darby, Outer Guard.

The new lodge consists of sixteen members with several more to be installed immediately. The membership includes some of the best and strongest men in Blackstock and vicinity, and the order is distinctly helped by their addition.

CHESTER'S CLAIMS PRESENTED.

Matter Will Go to Conference for a Decision—Rock Hill Also Has a Committee on the Field.

Zach McGhee, the State's representative at Washington, gives the following account of what transpired in Washington, when the committees from Chester and Rock Hill appeared before the house judiciary committee on the question of location for the federal court houses.

The house bill, unanimously agreed to by the South Carolina house delegation, provides that court houses shall be located at Rock Hill, Greenwood, Greenville and Spartanburg. The senate bill introduced by Senator Latimer is the same with the exception that Chester is named instead of the respective houses last year. A conference was held, and neither the house nor the senate being willing to yield the bill was killed. "Which the case" appears to a man up a tree to be the prospect this year unless the citizens of the two towns can settle their differences outside of Washington. Yet both sides left the conference today much encouraged. Justice Alexander of New York, chairman of the sub-committee, told them that he saw no reason why both of them should not have court houses, but last year the house was willing to put in both places, when Senator Nelson of the conference committee characterized as child's play and had the whole business killed.

The following gentlemen from Rock Hill arrived this morning and were present at the conference: Mayor John T. Roddy, John G. Anderson, J. T. Fawcett, Ira B. Dugan, P. L. Johnson, J. R. Barron, J. Edgar Poag, Dr. J. B. Johnson and Dr. D. B. Johnson. The following addressed the committee in behalf of Chester: J. K. Henry, of Chester; H. E. Wylie, of Lancaster; and W. W. Dixon, of Winnsboro. W. H. Hardin, mayor of Chester, was also present. Mr. W. S. Hall of Gaffney, was called home by telegram early this morning, but he had come to endorse the claim of Chester. They were introduced to the committee by Representative Finley.

The claims of each town locally are: Chester: That it is a more central location, that it is a more prosperous town, that it has better railroad facilities, that the people want it, that no other town in the state is a better place to locate the court house. Rock Hill offered the inducement that already it had a new postoffice and that a suit of over $20,000 more a third story could be added in which court could be held. Chester, to offset this, contended that if it didn't have a new postoffice it ought to have, and it will be for the town to pay this extra $20,000 to fix it up for a court house.

Some of the party presented maps beautifully drawn and laid up in red ink and otherwise in great shape to demonstrate which town was the more centrally located. But the chairman, Judge Alexander, who doubtless had in his day seen railroad maps, said that as to the matter of the library for an atlas. It was then that, most likely because he wanted to be polite, he told his guests how in his state of New York there were several central towns in both the towns of Buffalo and Rockport, only 24 miles apart, closer than Rock Hill and Chester, and that he thought there was every reason for having court houses at as many places as possible.

Senator Latimer was asked about his attitude in the matter. "Just what I think," he said. "I think the bill will pass the senate just as I have introduced it. The house bill providing for Rock Hill will pass also, I suppose, and the matter will have to be left to Congress. Then I am done with it. If the conference brings in any kind of bill naming Chester or Rock Hill of any other place I shall not oppose it, but it is going to be up to Congress." The house delegation from South Carolina has already formally agreed to stand by Rock Hill. So there you are.

GRAND SHORTHORN cattle for sale. 35 head, 100 to 800 pounds, in good condition, all young. J. C. Shannon, Blackstock, S. C.

Dr. T. S. Lettner and Mr. Harper Woods went to Columbia Wednesday night and returned last night.

Mrs. J. M. Fridy went to Wilmington this morning, when she was called by the extreme illness of her son, Lander Fridy. Her husband has been at the son's bedside for the last two weeks.

The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist church will publish next month a list of the flowers to be entered for prizes at the flower show next November. The ladies who enter flowers may then take special pains with certain flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Langdon McKee went to Union this morning in response to a long distance telephone message telling of the illness of the latter's brother, Mr. Wm. McKee.

Reason for the Veterans.

The U. S. G. Convention at their last meeting, in Johnston, resolved to do all in their power to help the Veterans have a re-union this year. One member remarked, "The Veterans are not like the poor, they will not be with us always," and we should do what we can now to show them honor. A committee was appointed, with Mrs. Julia Campbell, chairman, to see what could be done to help the re-union. This committee feels much encouraged and believes the re-union will be held. The Convention wanted it held for Veterans only, as it has been found from the past experience that maids of honor and sponsors add to the expense and not to the comfort and happiness of the Veterans. The veterans are too old to go to balls, and if any one ride in carriages and has a banquet, let the Veterans be the ones to enjoy these privileges.

Masons To Have a Banquet.
The ladies of the Patterson Library association met in the library room Tuesday afternoon to invite plans for a banquet which the ladies of the association will serve the local Masons, all some early date. Mrs. Julia Campbell presided over the meeting, and under her skillful direction all necessary preparations were satisfactorily made. Past Grand Master J. T. Barron, of Columbia, will probably be present, together with other men well known in Masonic circles.

Sent To Insane Asylum.
Ann Page, colored, a well known character about the city, was sent to Columbia yesterday for confinement in the State Hospital for the Insane. The old woman's mind has been affected for a long time, and she has labored under the hallucination that some one had stolen her children. She has always been deeply religious, and this characteristic is prominent in her madness. The old woman has always been a hard worker and those who know her well say that she has always been perfectly straightforward and reliable.

IT IS WORTH coming miles to see Klutz' beautiful window of exquisite Valentines.

Attempt at Jail Delivery.
Alex Marion, one of the prisoners in the county jail, made an effort to escape Wednesday. He secured a leg from the stove in the corridor and with this instrument made quite a good sized hole in the wall just below one of the windows. An old bag in the room, which was used to chink a hole in the window was employed in which to conceal the brick and mortar removed. Marion was in a fair way to succeed with this scheme when one of the other prisoners apprised Sheriff Fisher. The sheriff at once put a stop to the proceedings and placed Marion in close confinement where he will probably remain until the trial.

WATCH FOR FOUND—Initials, "H. E. A." At Lantern office. 2.

Will it come to the pass of having censors for Chester Advertising? Is it any less criminal to issue false advertisements than to indulge in pocket book snatching on the streets? Quite often the victim of the street thief gets her money back.

Klutz has always preached the gospel that a merchant has no more moral right to get your money thru false pretense than he has to forge a note or crack a safe.

Isn't that so?

And there is a negative swindle practiced—less reprehensible, but still outside the pale of decent morals—the advertising of goods not in stock (a silly thing to do, you say) and the advertising of articles "to rope 'em in" (you being the "em") while salespeople are instructed to switch you to something else and, in effect, refuse to sell the bait.

YOUR MONEY BACK IF YOU WANT IT

KLUTZ

CHESTER'S LARGEST STORE

Again your attention is called to the wonderful money saving values to be found in our Millinery Department. $2.00, 1.50 and 1.00 hats in the latest style going at 25 cents---twenty-five---a hat.

Again the crowd swarmed upon us yesterday and up to the writing of this message this morning the Valentine Department was thronged with buyers. A lady remarked that she believed every sweetheart in Chester, Lancaster, York and Fairfield county was going to receive and give a Valentine, and never in all her born days had she seen so many beautiful Valentines, and so many people purchasing them. The secret of the huge mob at Klutz's Valentine Department is because they are receiving expensive Valentines at inexpensive prices. You, too, can make somebody happy or miserable by sending them a Klutz Valentine. Our stock is five times bigger than the combined Valentine stock of Chester's other stores.

Lucky Corner

This corner will be maintained during this month. At present you will find it loaded to the heavens with genuine Bargains in Dry Goods. Princess Cloth 72 in. wide was 75 cents a yard. "LUCKY CORNER" price 35 cents. Lucky Corner Bargains this week is worth a long trip thru the mud and slush.

Be sure to see the beautiful Valentine in our Big Show Window which we will give to the boy or girl under 17 years of age who draws the best drawing of our Trade Mark which always heads our "ad".
