FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 4,

FLOWERS AND CHICKENS.

The letter published in this issue of The News signed "Next Door Neighbor" in regard to the raising of large chickens is worthy of the serious consideration of our city council.

There is nothing more beautiful than a nice flower garden and if some people have more consideration for their neighbors than to allow their chickens to roam at large scratching up everything in which they should have the law put to them, so to speak.

THE DOLLAR CONCERNED

Everybody knows that South Carolina went over-whelmingly for prohibition. The majority would if they voted for it and they are entitled to it, good and strong. Let's have the real thing.

There has been more or less discussion in the legislature as to what should be done with the whiskey carried over by the dispensaries in the dispensary counties. Some were in favor of opening the dispensary stores again for the purpose of disposing of the stock on hand. A howl went up against it and we are glad it did. The legislature plainly saw that would not do and they began to figure on disposing of the stock to dealers in "wet" territory.

The desire for the dollar is so strong that South Carolina does not feel disposed to pour this "rotten stuff" into the gutter, where it ought to go. No, before we will spend the money we will fill a man's body full of this "vile stuff" and if he commits murder let him suffer the consequences. If a man buys our over-supply of whiskey instead of bread for his hungry children, what concern is it of ours?

South Carolina got "stuck" when she entered the whiskey business and the supply carried over should be poured into the gutter. Let the dollar go. Let's take our medicine like a man.

GIVE THE HOME MAN A CHANCE.

The following from the Greenwood Journal applies equally to Chester as well as all other places:

"The trade at home is a good one, and we can do too much to improve the idea upon our people, but along with it should go the determination to give the home man a chance in every instance instead of employing some one at a distance. If there is any work that can be done by one of our fellow-citizens, and he is competent to do it, we should not pass him by without even affording him an opportunity to at least make a bid on it. He deserves this much consideration on our hands. It does not speak well for us as a community to do otherwise. The man who lives with us, and who is helping us to make Greenwood certainly deserves consideration enough to be given fair treatment in such matters.

"This is not selfish, but it is simply common-sense, and no community is proper as it should unless there is co-operation. We are all dependent on the one upon the other, and when we help each other we help ourselves. Think of this: the man who always gives the home man a chance whether he be a professional man or just a common-day laborer, might pay him more than you would, where to get a cheaper man, provided the difference is not out of reason."

TWO MURDERED IN MOTOR CAR HOLD UP

Highwayman Stays and Wounds Family or Outlets of Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y. Jan. 31.—Two persons were murdered, another fatally injured, and a fourth beaten in an automobile hold-up on the Orchard Park road near this city early today. Several hours elapsed before the authorities were informed of the crime and the assailants escaped.

The slain motorists, Buffalo residents, and members of the same family, were Mrs. Agnes H. Tepper, aged 47, and her husband, who were instantly killed; Fredrick, Tepper, son, beaten to death with blunt instrument; Grace C. Tepper, daughter, skull fractured, will die; Edward E. Tepper, son, beaten on head and neck on road.

The family was returning from Orchard Park and had stopped the car a short distance south of the terminal railroad crossing. There the party was set upon by the hold-up men. Mrs. Tepper was killed by the first of four shots fired. The men then elbowed the others, and after robbing them of money and jewelry, fled. A farmer living near by saw the car and called on the women, and gave the alarm.

Mrs. Tepper was the widow of Edward Tepper, who founded the Buffalo Structural Steel Company. Police and deputy sheriffs are seeking for a U. S. bartender supposed to have committed the crime single handed.

Edward Tepper, who is at his home under care of a physician, said that his mother, brother and sister, were guests yesterday when they were in their machine. He had driven into the city with his mother and when they returned he was surprised to find the guests returned with their tools to repair the machine. They stopped beside the stranded machine.

"I was working on the automobile," he told the police, "when I heard the horn about 12 o'clock. I got up to time to ward off a big negro, but he hit me on the head and I went down and out. As I came back I saw him strike with Fred Tepper about 12 o'clock."

The police found Edward Tepper on the road. The body of Mrs. Tepper was in the automobile, while that of Frederick was on the road, side near the automobile. Near him lay Grace Tepper.

CHARLOTTE OBSERVER OFFERS BARGAIN RATE.

The Charlotte Observer is offering a bargain rate to new and regular subscribers for the next thirty days. Its advertisement which appears in this paper today and whose subscriptions will be accepted to The Daily and Sunday Observer at a rate of six dollars. The regular price for the paper is eight dollars per year.

The Observer has made remarkable strides forward in the past few months, and with the announcement of this bargain subscription they also state that several new features will be added to the paper. One is a reprint in the issue of a special article on Washington, which will be an additional service which puts them to cost an expense; a weekly page by Herbert Kaufman, one of the new writers who are writing America today; and a full-page article on "Europe's Battlefront Lessons for America" by Frederick Palmer, the most famous war correspondent in the world.

PROHIBITION IS PAYING WEST

Portland, Ore., Feb. 2.—After a month's trial on the water wagon the three judges were in possession of the streets of Oregon, Washington and Idaho are taking an inventory of the results. Total crime for January, 1916, show a decrease of nearly two-thirds over the same month last year, according to official records in Seattle, Portland, Spokane and Tacoma a drunken man is not often seen. It is said the novelty of near-by saloons hasn't worn and their ultimate success is still undoubted. Many of these have advertised to women customers. But only in curious ways. Notably in a man, have the members of the fair sex ventured inside. Many cars and basements in Oregon and Washington are well stocked with liquor and an easy way is provided for getting more Idaho, which has a drum tight prohibition law, was recently all dry by local option before state-wide prohibition took effect.

Demands Big Fixure Saturday.

PATHE'S "THE WIRELESS." Pathe's Gold Rooster play, "The Wireless," adapted from the well-known play of the same name by Paul Armstrong and William Smith, massive production. Scenes in which it might be truly called a "cinderella" showing the coming of a gun, the bursting of a huge coat of defense gun while being tested, the sinking of a yacht at sea by a vessel with a floating mine. A scene on the deck of a U. S. battleship pitted one another in rapid succession. Producer George Fitzmaurice certainly had no easy task in making this play and the finished product bears witness to his skill.

Henry McKee, one of the best known of Broadway's favorites, is the leading man and plays opposite the charming Gail Kane, who never appeared to be better adorned than in this picture. Brandon Hurst is a very effective villain and Paul McAllister does some excellent work in the part of "Marsh," the inventor of a new gun. The cast is well filled out by Harry Weaver as Du Bessy; the plot of the play is as follows: Marsh, who is employed in a big iron foundry, invents a new gun, Plinkney (played by the Brandon Hurst), who is manager for Burant, the owner of the plant, sees Marsh's drawings and persuades him to let him handle them for him. Later he goes to Marsh and tells him the government has accepted the gun and will pay to the inventor a royalty of $1,200 a gun. As a member of the Plinkney gun he receives $150,000 royalty per gun; out of which he is paying the inventor the $1,200.

Leut. Sommers of the U. S. Navy (played by Bruce Mitchell) has also invented a gun, the drawings for which he brings to Burant that a gun may be made from them. Sommers meets Frances, daughter of the inventor, and a mutual love results in their engagement.

Plinkney, who desires to marry the girl himself, plots to ruin the inventor's gun and by tampering with the process of manufacture weakens it so that it explodes in testing. He also persuades Frances that her job as a manufacturer and her father. In consequence she refuses to receive Sommers and breaks off all relations with him.

To get away from the scene of her unhappiness she goes on a long cruise in her father's yacht, and reaches the war zone, where the vessel strikes a hidden mine and goes down. The explosion locks Frances in the wireless room, where she has been practicing wireless telegraphy which Sommers had taught her. A series of intensely dramatic scenes follow in which Sommers with a boat's crew from his ship rescues the girl just as the yacht goes down. Of course everything comes out happily in the end.

Rarely does a picture have so much action, so much stirring incident without becoming mere melodrama. In these first Gold Rooster plays, Pathe is setting a very high standard of quality.

Prices for this wonderful feature 10 and 25c. It has never been shown before for less than 25c and 50c per seat.

THINKS WELL OF CHESTER POSTOFFICE.

The following letter was received Wednesday by Postmaster Donovan relative to the assumed name of the postoffice force which was held here a short while ago, mention of which was made in the News.

"While performing travel duty I stopped at Chester, S. C., Saturday, 6th, en route to York, at the office. The cheerful greeting of Glad to see you all are prepared."

"I am remarkably high percentage made are both deserving special mention given examinations of 75 cards each were taken with average percentage of 99.81 correct. Although Chester is one of the larger second class offices, Assistant Postmaster Foulds was prepared, making only one error (2) of 300 correct and it is reasonably certain that if he found time to prepare, others would be required to do so. It is a pleasure to advise of always finding a generous spirit of rivalry between clerks of the Chester office, result being high percentage and proper interest in the service also that no one in that office has ever requested an extension of time in which to prepare."

Signed J. METZ,
Chief Clerk

CITIZEN WANTS TO KNOW ABOUT ELECTRIC LIGHTS

Wonder what is wrong with Chester's electric lights?

There was a change in the electric light system here some time ago and it was the general understanding that the lights would be better. However, from what I can gather, light bills have steadily increased and if this year keeps up with the past year, many of us will certainly be forced to return to the use of the old lamp that we understand there has been some objection made to the manner in which Chester has no regular inspector and in case those change and it is not good, would it not be a good idea, to also require him to look after some of these "high-speed" metes?

"O'Brien"

DECIDES TO LOCATE PERMANENT STORE HERE.

Mr. H. L. Scholberg, who our chest the bankrupt stocks of Messrs. John W. Wig and T. P. Seaborn, has leased the building in which the firm is now located on Gadsden street. Mr. Scholberg, who also has store in Camden and Kernshaw, states he has decided to conduct a permanent business in Chester.

The store room is now being worked on and will be thoroughly repaired, having a handsome appearance.

Mr. A. J. Holman, the Manager of the Chester store, will leave for Northern Markets in a few days, where he expects to purchase an up-to-date line of spring goods. Mr. Holman says he will have some excellent bargains to offer in the spring.

THE PLAY LAST NIGHT

Enjoyed by Large Audience—Parts Played Excellent.

Those who failed to see Pl of the Toy Shop, at the Opera House last night, missed a treat. Chester's finest local talent was visibly visible.

The little touches of comedy here and there throughout the play add much to it and were well taken by the house. The costumes were considerably above the average, used in local talent plays.

The following is the cast of characters:

Bonnie, Miss William Corwell; Pl. Miss Pearl Huxley, Sandham, Mr. Hank & Ferguson, Locery, Mr. W. T. Potosi; Capt. Bernalis, Mr. Andrew Alexander; Inkpot, Miss Maud Sledge; Lieut. Timber, Mr. Dickerson; Prince Lockport, Mr. Jack Nichols; The Music-teacher, Mr. Geo. Shaver; Aurora, Miss Emma Gibson; Tackham, Mr. J. T. McCrorey; Bo Peep, Miss Fannie Sprigg; Laughing Dillweed, Mrs. Stacie Caldwell; Talking Doll, Mrs. Maudie Walsh; Japanese Doll, Miss Emma Woods; Bob Dancer, Miss Franca Hicklin; Clorva, Mesars. Rice and McKinnell.

The play will again be shown tonight and those who failed to attend last night should take advantage of the second opportunity and see one of the best local talent plays Chester has ever had.

If George Cowan is in last issue of the Record we copied from the Chester News an item in regard to parties from here opening a drug store in Chester, in which it was stated that it would be managed by Cecil Cowan of this place. It should have read C. A. Cowan of this place.

Cecil Cowan is with Stone Bros. of Greenville. The new store at Chester will be opened on February 11.—Rock Hill Record.

ROLAND LEE TURNER
A Fellow Feeling.
"I observe that the American government is offering a reward for the head of Gabrielle d'Ambrusio, the Italian spy mentioned in the article I read.
I know how the poor fellow must feel. I once wrote an obituary poem, in which I referred to the deceased's
last resting place, and the cry made at his resting place."—Kansas City

OVERWORKED MOTHER
Finds Health in Our Vinol Canville, Ill.—I suffered from a nervous breakdown and terrible headaches and was tired all over, totally worn out and discouraged, but as I had a large family I had to work despite my trouble. I saw Vinol advertised and decided to try it, and within two weeks
I noticed a decided improvement, and now I am a well woman. Mrs. ANA BERNER.
We guarantee Vinol, our delicious cod-liver and iron tonic to strengthen and build up weak, run-down, overworked mothers.

HARD WORK IN THE FIELDS
Few Understand What It Really
Means to Garner an Immense Yield of Wheat.

Harvesting wheat is a strenuous life.
To gather this year's abundant crop in an especially arduous undertaking.
For days before the harvesting season begins men and teams are kept busy erecting temporary cook houses and quarters. These are located in the midst of the vast wheat fields. Wells are dug, sheds built and implements of various kinds in the kitchen utensils are taken to the camps last of all. Everything necessary for the comfort and convenience of the field when the harvest starts. At no place in the big fields will men be out of hearing of the dinner hour, which comes so good, after six months
of sweltering toil.

The men rise at three o'clock in the morning and work till dawn and in the evening with short intervals for food and rest. This is a very great deal of work for men who live in a modern abode and eat a good meal. The whole business is a matter of skill and endurance. A modern abode cannot be taken to the field and the men who live in the field are not so comfortable as
the men who live in the city.
The men who live in the city
are not so comfortable as the men who live in the field.

It Always Helps
says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework,
as well as run a big business."
I wish every suffering woman would give a trial. I still use Cardui when I feel a little bad, and it always does me good. Headache, backache, side ache, nervousness, tired, worn-out feelings, etc., are sure signs of womanly trouble. Tell you need Cardui, the woman's tonic.
You cannot make a mistake in trying Cardui
for your trouble. It has been helping weak, ailing women for more than fifty years.

Prepayment Saved This Policy
Mr. Claude Westfall, of Clarkburg, W. Va. signed an application for Mutual Benefit insurance on July 17, 1915, and paid the first quarterly premium of $6.00 to the agent, taking in exchange therefor the Company's binding receipt. He made an appointment for examination the following day, but his wife, for whose benefit the insurance was to be taken, tried to dissuade him from adding to his insurance.
The agent, however, finally prevailed upon him to be examined and on July 22nd a statement was made. It proved favorable in every respect. The application, which was for a Life Accelerator endowment policy, $1,000 at age 31, was received at the Home Office July 26th. In accordance with the Company's usual custom in such cases, however, an inspection was called for which was received August 2nd. This being favorable, the application was approved by the Medical Board and passed on to the policy department. Policy was issued and mailed on August 3, 1915.
