THE LANTERN

FOR 1906

The Lantern is issued twice a week, every Tuesday and Friday. The subscription price is $2.00 a year, in advance. The paper will be discontinued when the time paid for expires, unless there is good reason to indulge the subscriber for a reasonable time. Please make a note of this, so that if your paper stops without notice you will know the reason.

A FARMERS' PAPER

We have arranged to offer free with The Lantern, for a limited time only, the Farm and Fireside, a good home, farm, stock and poultry paper, issued twice a month, at 50 cents a year. It will be given, however, only to those subscribers who pay in advance for this year. We cannot say, for we do not know, just how long this offer will hold good, but we can say that the time to take advantage of it is NOW. Some who wanted the Farm and Fireside last year failed to get it because they delayed until the offer was withdrawn. Remember that you can get the Farm and Fireside free with The Lantern, if you ask for it, and have your subscription paid for this year—before it is too late. It will be sent only to those cash-in-advance subscribers who say that they want it, as it is useless for us to go to the expense of sending it to subscribers who are not interested in a paper of this kind.

OTHER COMBINATIONS

Many ladies desire more stories and reading about dress and fashions than we can give in The Lantern. Other subscribers would like to have a good literary magazine, but find it too expensive. There are yet others who would like to have both these, together with the local paper. We have arranged to accommodate all these, PROVIDED they pay in advance for The Lantern for this year. We will send the Lantern a year for $2.00, and we will send the Farm and Fireside free with The Lantern to those only who apply in time.

The price of The Lantern is	$2.00
The price of the Woman's Home Companion is	1.00
Together	3.00
We will send both a year for	2.60
Or This Combination:
The Lantern	$2.00
The Woman's Home Companion	1.00
The Review of Reviews	1.00
All Together	3.00
We will send all three for	2.60
The Woman's Home Companion is one of the most popular ladies' magazines now published.
The Review of Reviews needs no recommendation.
These combinations will not interfere with the offer of Farm and Fireside.
Thus for $3.50 you can have four papers worth $6.50.

A Sweeping Victory

FOR THE
RED RACKET STORE

5 tons of Candy within 12 months is a right good pile for one firm to sell, and yet this is just what the Red Racket Store people have accomplished since Feb. 10th, 1905, up to the present time. It sounds like some Fairy Tale, doesn't it? It seems incredible. Well, if you are a doubting Thomas, just step to your phone and ask the depot agents to figure it up for you. We feel greatly encouraged over the outlook, so much so that on the 1st of this month, we made a special deal, by which it can be placed before the purchasing public the 40c kind of French Candy at 20c a lb. This candy will be on exhibition at the Red Racket Store on or about Feb. 20th.

W. R. Nail, Red Racket Store.

P. S. Remember, we sell 20c French Candy at 10c a lb., and 40c French Candy at 20c a lb.

COTTON ASSOCIATION MEETS.

County Organization Holds Interesting Meeting—Distinguished Speakers to Be Present at March Meeting. The County Cotton Association met in the court house Monday afternoon with Pres. J. M. Hough in the chair and J. M. Wray, Esq., acting secretary in the absence of Mr. J. H. Wray the regular secretary. Mr. W. H. Hardin stated what was done at the previous meeting and on motion this report of the proceedings was adopted. Mr. S. T. McKeown next presented an oral report of what was done at the recent state convention. He stated that there is a plan on foot to appoint a state manager and also a state warehouse agent. He stated also that the state convention endorsed the Hardin plan of holding the remainder of the crop for fifteen cents.

Mr. T. J. Cunningham next spoke of his recent trip to New Orleans when he had the pleasure of attending the national convention. He gave an interesting account of what was done at the convention and the question that the convention was a success in every sense. Mr. J. G. L. White followed and said substantially the same thing, but agreeing with Mr. Cunningham that the convention is working along the right line and that something will result. He also stated the opinion that the convention was a success in every sense. Mr. J. G. L. White followed and said substantially the same thing, but agreeing with Mr. Cunningham that the convention is working along the right line and that something will result. He also stated the opinion that the convention was a success in every sense.

True To Old Association's.

The following incident is sent out from New York as showing how Gen. Joe Wheeler's memory was true to the last to old associations: Several days before Gen. Joe Wheeler died, and at a time when he was occasionally irrational, he sat in his room one evening and said to the nurse: "When does the firing begin?" To honor him, the nurse replied: "The firing will begin at 11 o'clock, General." Gen. Wheeler leaned back in his bed, apparently resting. At five minutes to 9 o'clock he reached over and pulled the covers up to his chin. He looked from the table near his bed a small bunch of absorbent cotton. The nurse was watching him somewhat anxiously. He pulled the covers up to his chin and went to sleep.

For Law Items.

"The Old Veterans" wish to see some items from Fort Lawn. We think we know who he is, though he forgot to give his name. Among the items are: Miss Julia Stroud and her cousin, Miss Zula Hollis, visited friends near Fort Lawn. Two neighbors have moved in. Messrs. Jim Glasscock and Henry Young.

THE SOUTH'S OPPORTUNITY.

Porter Boy Should Receive Aid in Technical Education—The South No Longer An Impoverished Section. The article appended is taken from the Manufacturer's Record, and is very timely in view of the agitation along the same lines recently undertaken by the Patterson Public Library in this city.

Adding to its wealth at the rate of $3,000,000 a day, the south has an opportunity for educational investment unparalleled in American history. Infinitely greater in value than its mineral and timber wealth is the south's wealth in its undeveloped boys. There are tens of thousands of poor white boys throughout the south who have late in life abilities which, if quickened and developed and utilized would make them great leaders in southern upbuilding. The stuffing of a boy who has such abilities into the mold of a common boy into a real man, a leader of men, is far beyond the discovery of a new ore or gold mine. The opportunity is here, and it is ours. We shall their abilities be utilized to their own good and to the blessing of their country.

There were petitions from all the counties mentioned for the court to be held at Chester except the county of York. We believe that the Honorable James Finley uses his influence with the members of the committee and members of congress against the bill. It is to be hoped that the bill, if it is largely in his hands. We think that he will act wisely and patriotically in the matter. We believe that he will act wisely and patriotically in the matter. We believe that he will act wisely and patriotically in the matter.

All officious Cough Syrups bind the bowels. This is wrong. A new life was advanced two years ago in Kentucky. It is a safe and reliable remedy. It is a safe and reliable remedy. It is a safe and reliable remedy.

Athens Tired of Disparity.

—Athens, Ga., Jan. 25.—A petition is being circulated throughout the county by which the legislature to pass a bill abolishing the Athens dispensary. The bill is being circulated in every county district, as well as in the city. It is claimed by those who are behind the bill that the dispensary is a source of trouble in securing a majority of the voters on these lines, and that the representative from Clarke, Hon. J. W. Bickett, seems to be in the case whatever the majority of the county ask on this question. The dispensary advocates no longer can be counted on to do as we do not seem to be worried about the outcome.

ATHENS IS HOME OF THE DISSENT.

—Athens is the home of the dissent. It is a source of trouble in securing a majority of the voters on these lines, and that the representative from Clarke, Hon. J. W. Bickett, seems to be in the case whatever the majority of the county ask on this question. Thillman's Influence.

If rumors floating around the state house lobby are true Senator Thillman is doing a little work on his own. He is a source of trouble in securing a majority of the voters on these lines, and that the representative from Clarke, Hon. J. W. Bickett, seems to be in the case whatever the majority of the county ask on this question. The dispensary advocates no longer can be counted on to do as we do not seem to be worried about the outcome.

A Heating Campaign.

The Rev. J. C. Warren, pastor of the First Baptist Church, is a source of trouble in securing a majority of the voters on these lines, and that the representative from Clarke, Hon. J. W. Bickett, seems to be in the case whatever the majority of the county ask on this question. The dispensary advocates no longer can be counted on to do as we do not seem to be worried about the outcome.

CHESTER VS. ROCK HILL.

Mr. Dixon Presents Arguments for the Location of the Federal Court at Chester. Mr. Dixon—Please permit me a few remarks in regard to R. B. Hill 9000, now before congress and the desirability of having a Federal court at Chester, S. C., as provided by the bill and in regard to which an effort has been made to replace Chester by locating Rock Hill. The necessity for legislation, dividing the state of South Carolina into two federal judicial districts should be apparent for the following reasons: The almost unimpeded growth in population and industrial wealth of the northern portion of this state within the last fifteen years has resulted in bringing about a corresponding increase in litigation which is least to the intervention and control in a great measure by the federal courts. Takes, for instance, the great cotton carriers. These are in the main created and organized as corporate bodies under the laws of other states. Many of the courts in the vicinity of Rock Hill. Lately have come into our midst, great water and electrical power companies, some of them being foreign corporations. Again, there are the telegraph, telephone and express companies, all having charters foreign to our state. Still, there are some manufacturing concerns, and express companies, created and existing under and by virtue of laws of other states and countries than our own. Now, the litigation in such cases, the interests of the enumerated complainants are concerned by the extent of an amount over two thousand dollars, and the fact that the bill is a petition, have ordinarily the power to remove the cause into the United States circuit court, and in the past they have invariably elected to pursue this policy. The citizen of the state is vexed by delay and taxed for the expense of the same and often abandons a meritorious cause rather than endure the system. Often he is unable to do so. The great industrial advancement of the Piedmont section has not been met by the same facilities being added to almost daily. It is growing more populous every year, and as much as we have suffered from the fact of an inadequacy of facilities in the disposition of justice through the federal courts, much as we have had to endure having motions made and papers filed, and process served at, in, and through offices in Charleston (an experience Union has and is now undergoing), it would appear that frequent removals of cases to be greatly multiplied in the near future, unless we can secure relief by the successful passage of the present bill now pending before congress.

As another reason for such legislation, the northern counties of the state are distilling grounds of the medicinal. Practically all the violations of the internal revenue laws take place in our Piedmont section. The United States government has not only proceeded to increase the retailing liquor, abetting the punishment of such offenders upon the state and municipal courts. The other side of the coin is the fact that the numerous, such as illicit distilling and illicit transporting, cases of violation of postal laws and forged and counterfeit checks, and the like, are States court can find the time in the congested condition of its criminal docket to try these small cases. Did the federal courts be able to handle these cases, it might be otherwise.

Soaking all of the above into consideration, it is strikingly apparent that we need another federal district and another federal judge for South Carolina for the proper and expeditious trial of cases and a prompt and unimpeded dispensation of justice. We do not wish this bill to fall of patronage, as it did in the last congress, on account of the local fight between different parties contending for the honor of having the seats to be held in such particular towns, and yet many who were considered in a very small half hearted.

Delegations from South Carolina have been to Washington and approval of the bill has been given by the court are before when the bill is pending. The argument in the interest of the bill is being made by Mr. J. K. Henry, Mayor of Chester, and Mr. W. W. Dixon, Mayor of Rock Hill. The bill is being circulated in every county district, as well as in the city. THE LANTERN.
PUBLISHED TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS.
J. T. BIGHAM, Editor and Proprietor.
Entered at the Postoffice at Chester, S. C., as second-class matter.
FRIDAY, FEB. 9, 1906.

The stein has now been removed from the house to the senate; and it is upon the latter body that now devolves the power to free the state of the disgrace attending the late liquor bill.

The coroner's inquest in the case of the four men recently killed at Blaney in a wreck on the Seaboard has fastened the blame for the tragedy on the crew of the freight train. The examination was very thorough and extensive.

It looks as if very hard times on the part of the state government is without foundation, as certain agents, sworn to protect the interests of the state, are endeavoring to get a job of printing which is worth only $7,000.

Seven white men, all more or less prominent, have been arrested and jailed as the murderers of John and Frank DeLoach, the two negroes who were shot and killed in a riot during the holidays. It will be remembered that the two negroes were charged with the murder of Haynes S. Craddock near Yorkville last fall. There is considerable room to doubt their guilt.

It is reported that Gov. Vardaman of Mississippi, will be a candidate for the United States Senate to succeed Senator McClain. His popularity is growing in popularity owing to his rigid purpose to enforce the law regardless of who the offender is. He has shown radical and revolutionary ideas, but the dignity and reserve of the senate may bring about a change, and Vardaman might prove to be the ablest and best qualified of the candidates. His state has had in the upper houses for several decades.

In the matter of regulating the liquor traffic the people of South Carolina do not seem to enjoy much more freedom than that which prevails in Russia, Turkey and other despotic, rick countries; but fortunately in South Carolina there is enough spirit derived from our one hundred and thirty years of freedom to resist any attempt at undue influence and authority; and the man who attempts to take unto himself the direction of the affairs of a free state and to give the commonwealth will sooner or later receive a well merited and fitting re-buke.

A number of citizens have been consulting lately on severe exhibitions of cruelty to animals. Recently on some of our streets. One gentleman related a particularly revolting story of how a young white man and two negroes had been enraged at a pony for suddenly stopping and refusing to go and had halbered the animal so violently that its head was covered with blood. It fell to the ground of sheer weakness. Such occurrences should not be allowed to go unpunished, and the police force of the city should receive strict instructions to be on the lookout for such offenders.

The suggested settlement of the fight for the Federal court house would give general satisfaction to the questioner and the solution of the matter would be welcome for this city entered into the fight with no such purpose as interfering with a state city, but simply to obtain what should be its own. It is a matter of which the citizens should decide that both Chester and Rock Hill shall have a court house, the announcement would be more welcome. The announcement that Chester had won, for one of Chester's most marked characteristics is a deep and genuine love for the capital and the development of this entire section.

Yerkle is Cut Down.
The Yorkville Enquirer publishes the following account of a case which was heard at Yorkville this week and in which Mr. A. G. Brice, of the Chesapeake, appeared for the defendant:

The first case on yesterday morning was that of Samuel Biggers vs. the Catawba Power Company. The plaintiff in this case is a negro laborer, who in No. 4, 1905, was injured by the falling of a dump bucket under a derrick. On a hearing in the circuit court, Biggers was awarded damages in the sum of $2,000. The testimony of the present trial was very much the same as in the first trial except for the absence of certain material witnesses for the plaintiff. The jury took the case about noon, and after retiring for one hour, returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $500.25. Mr. Harb and G. W. S. Harb for plaintiff and A. G. Brice for defendant.

State Treasurer Jennings.
Columbia, February 8.—The gratifying news was received here today that State Treasurer Jennings is today back to the hospital after a short illness, and that he stood the operation fine. The reports from him are most encouraging in every respect.

DISPENSARY LAID BARE.
Senator Talbert Makes Strenuous Appeal Against the Institution—Defies Senator Tillman.

The State of yesterday publishes the following interesting account of Senator Talbert's speech against the dispensary:

One may say that Senator Talbert's speech was not a matter of great importance. He is not afraid to stand alone, and to speak more in a sentimental than a practical way, attacked it in some of its most vital points. One feature of his speech was the denunciation of the Whip Cracker of Washington who has lately been endeavoring to drive the boys into line.

He was not afraid to take issue with the friends of the dispensary, and although speaking more in a sentimental than a practical way, attacked it in some of its most vital points. One feature of his speech was the denunciation of the Whip Cracker of Washington who has lately been endeavoring to drive the boys into line.

The dispensary opponents, as well as its supporters, voted for the death of the bill, but the bill was not killed, but he said he wanted to put the senate on record. That he did not is a comfort to the dispensary friends. Up to Date Club met yesterday morning with Mr. Paul Hemphill, Jr. in the chair. The subject of the program, and the meeting was particularly interesting. There was a lively debate on "Ruhayat Umar Kiyamun." Taking the favorable and unfavorable sides.

Delightful luncheon in four courses was served.

The Centennial Exercises. Mr. R. L. Estelle, of White Oak, who is well known in this city, was the representative of the Euphesian State of Erskine college at the centennial exercises of the Glorioso and Euphadian societies in Columbia Monday and Tuesday. The state has the following to say about Mr. Patrick's address:

Mr. Patrick, from the Euphesian Literary Society of Erskine college, was the winner of the state oratorical contest last year. Mr. Patrick brought forth a most brilliant and impressive address and expressed the hope that 100 years from today the Euphadian and Glorioso societies might celebrate a second centennial anniversary. Among the great men mentioned by the societies he mentioned the late Prof. Means Davis of the Euphadian society and that the college had produced no other great man than Prof. Davis who would nevertheless be immortal. He spoke in the presence of Prof. Davis in bringing about a closer fraternal feeling among the colleges in the state.

Our Wives and Sweethearts.
Col. J. Hamilton, of the local bar, responded to the toast, "Our Wives and Sweethearts" at the banquet in Columbia Tuesday evening commemorating the centennial birthday of the Glorioso and Euphadian societies. The State's reporter speaks as follows about the effort:

One of the most popular of the toasts was that of Mr. J. Hamilton, of Chester, who is also a charming speaker. No one more suitable could have been selected to respond to the toast. "Our Wives and Sweethearts." This speech, both witty and entertaining, was intimate to the old camp in that it dealt with the college days of which every word was dwelt upon and enjoyed, was closed by Mr. Marlow with an allusion to one who should follow him, "one who, like Joshua of old, when he stars made the sun, moon and stars stand still."

The cotton market is reported at 104 to 105.

Miss Jennie Wilks has returned to Lee county, and resumed her school work on Monday, after being detained at home several weeks on account of illness.

Old Uncle Collins Moore, an aged colored man, perhaps 80 years old, died yesterday on Mr. J. E. Douglas' place, three and a half miles east of Bladensburg, where he has lived for many years.

Little Miss Rachel Allen, of Bladensburg, who has been spending the past three weeks with her aunt, Mrs. E. E. Moore, left for her home on Monday morning. Miss Kate Harlan accompanied her and will return Monday.

TO ADVERTISERS.
To avoid misunderstanding, we beg to say that when advertisers get twice-a-week insertion at a charge of one-third over the once-a-week rate, it is with the understanding that it will involve no additional charge, as the charge for the extra insertion would not pay for the change, and we would be doing business at a loss.

To justify in making change twice-a-week, it is necessary to change the same for each issue, and even then the cost of the change is an expense we are constrained to incur.

COLUMBIAN WEDDING
Capt. and Mrs. John W. Carlisle, of Spartanburg—Reminiscences of the Times in which they were Married.

Spartanburg, February 3.—Today Capt. and Mrs. John W. Carlisle, of Spartanburg, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home here. They were married February 3, 1858, by Dr. Charles Taylor, who was then president of the Synod of the Synod of the South. The bride is Mrs. John W. Carlisle, of Charleston, going from this place to Laurens, the terminus of the railroad, in a carriage. The trip was more arduous and tedious than it is now for young married people to go to New York, New Orleans or Cuba. This was the winter of the famous snows in the Piedmont, when the ground was covered from the first week in January to the middle of February. When one snow would settle another would fall, and it happened that there was a fresh one just as Capt. Carlisle started out to Laurens. The soft snow piled up on the bottom of the horses' feet until they could not stand. The driver had to wade their feet with strong sacks before they could make any progress. Capt. and Mrs. Carlisle have lived here all their married life, and Mrs. Carlisle is perhaps today the oldest native of this city. Her husband's name was calling on his bride that was to be, there was no turning down of gas, for candles were then used. About that time the gas was introduced, which gave a little better light than candle. The streets were dark at night, and people who had to travel went out on the street in the dark. The curfew bell rang out every night at 9 o'clock, which was the signal for the negroes to get to their homes. Streets were less scarce then, for the main thoroughfares were still called roads. Chinquapins could be gathered by the quart where today you could get only $100 a front foot. The tree in front of the court house, used as a whipping post, was still standing a vigorous, spreading oak.

Capt. Carlisle was born in the upper part of Fairfield county, on a farm, not far from Blackstock. He did ordinary farm work until attending the schools of the neighborhood. It was not his privilege to attend the Mount Zion School. As best he could be prepared for the South Carolina College and entered the class of 1849. Charles H. Simonton was the first honor man. The following are survivors of that class: Dr. James W. Barker, Dr. William F. Tew, Dr. S. W. Bookhardt and Dr. T. E. Nott. In that class some of the same family went by pairs. They were John W. Nott, two Olands and two of the Clinch brothers from Georgia. They were perhaps brothers of the mother of Governor Heyward.

After graduation Capt. Carlisle was tutor in the family of Governor Adams, of Richland county. He then went to Lancaster county to teach a year or longer, and read law in the office of Mr. Clinton, who was rather a remarkable man, with some scientific tastes. He never studied the law and did not forgo. He seldom went to church and was rather careless in his dress, except when on some occasion, when he put on the regulation suit. When he attended the Supreme Court he put on his best clothes and the famous Lancaster citizen would scarcely have recognized him as he appeared before the supreme bench. When in Columbia he always went to great banquets and gave the toast. On his return on one occasion he said: "It was a great pity Thornehill had not studied law. With his logical mind and his position he would have been distinguished." He placed the law above all other professions. After Capt. Carlisle was admitted to the bar he came to Spartanburg in 1858, being clerk of the court by his brother, Dr. James H. Carlisle, who had come to the widow the year before.

Mrs. Louisa Bobo Carlisle was the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simpson Bobo. She attended school as "the village" could afford at that time and then went to Greenville, near Columbia. After graduation she attended Madame DuRoi's school in Charleston. At Barhamville, S. C., she met her future husband, her classmate. She was Miss Helen Mcintosh. The two Bullock girls, of Georgia, were also in her class. One of these was the mother of Theodore Roosevelt. There was a Miss Smith in her class, who was the second wife of Wyatt Allen and the mother of George M. Allen.

When Capt. Carlisle attended his first court in Spartanburg at the spring term of 1858, Judge Wardlaw presided. J. B. Tolson was clerk of the court and H. S. A. Poole, sheriff. The members of the Spartanburg bar were Simpson Bobo, Henry H. Thompson, Thomas G. O. Edwards, and W. Wofford Tucker. James Farrow, H. J. Dean, James V. Trimmer, E. Jones, Henry J. W. Carlisle. All of these were passed away except Capt. Carlisle.

In that day and time lawyers traveled around the circuit with the judges. From Greenville the visiting lawyers were B. F. Perry, C. J. B. Ford, W. H. Campbell, S. D. Goodlett, E. P. Jones. From Union came James M. Gardner, R. F. Arledge, R. G. Gris, R. Young, Bro. Laurens Henry C. Boyce, B. W. Ball and Mr. Wolfe reported. Edward Moore came from Yorkville. One may see that there were lawyers fifty years ago in the Piedmont, and many of them possessed fair ability. Of course they could not compare with the lawyers we find in this day and time in certain methods. The writer at that time had a great respect for judges and lawyers, and he is not sure that the lawyers mentioned above electing anyone in person or through agents for cases. They were not grafters.

The following incident illustrates the conservative method by pursued. Twenty years ago, or longer, a citizen of the city who knew the lawyers pretty well, was approached by a farmer for some advice. The farmer set up his case the citizen said: "You are in the wrong office. I am a lawyer. He replied, "I know you are not, but you can give me some needed advice."

He then stated his case. He had married a second time and the children by his first wife were now adults. They had certain rights in their mother's property and he did not know how to manage the matter. He talked like he wanted to go right. The citizen said to him: "Do you want to fight this case to the bitter end and let the lawyers and the courts get the last cent of you want fair and honorable settlement at least?" He said, "If you want to fight the case, go to and so; if you want to settle fairly go to Capt. Carlisle, make a full statement of the whole affair, and then go home and settle as he directs you. That will cost you $5 or $10."

He said "I prefer the latter method." The children were born to Capt. and Mrs. Carlisle. The oldest is Mrs. Ella Wofford, whose husband, C. E. She had one son, who died in his infancy. His grandfather's office. Their daughter, Mary, married L. J. Bredon, of Marlboro county. They have two children. The third daughter, Anna Lella, married J. J. Burnett, master of this county. They have two children, both boys. The fourth daughter, Mrs. W. L. Latta, married T. H. Weimer, of Chester. They have three boys. Mrs. Wister is quite ill at this time and her condition is such that she cannot attend the golden anniversary. In fact, her health and the nervous condition of Mrs. Carlisle prevent the family from having a general celebration. Only the children, grandchildren and a few of the closest relatives were invited. The only son is Howard B. Carlisle, a partner of his father and now senator from this county. To him and his wife, who was Miss George Adam, three boys and two girls have been born. The five children and thirteen grandchildren bring the family circle to twenty.

Capt. Carlisle has been in his office all these fifty years, except the four years he was in the States for military service. In the spring of 1861, with others, got a company here, which became Company C of the 13th regular. Greg's brigade, at the death of McGowan's. In the company organization he was second lieutenant. For Stobo Farrow being captain and Farrow's lieutenant. When the regiment was organized Farrow was elected major and company officers moved up in grade and Capt. Carlisle became first lieutenant.

In the course of time Duncan was promoted and became major of the regiment, and Carlisle became captain. During his whole service in the army he was never wounded or absent on sick leave. He was always at the post, ready for duty and faithful performance of every duty. There is not a survivor of his company.

He Knew His Life's Value.
Robert Burns was once standing on a log pier on the water front of Edinburgh. A well known and wealthy merchant was walking by, stumbled and fell into the water. He could not swim, and as a man. When he arose for the third time nobody dared to save him, but an old weather-beaten man named "The Gull" stepped up to the pier, and jumping in, rescued the man.

The merchant had been warning the Gull that he should be more complete, and when he realized the situation he rewarded the man who had risked his own money would be returned from a trip to Europe, met Sir Thomas in London. The latter expressed his interest in the Jamestown exposition next year, remarking: "You know I used to be a resident of Virginia."

Now, Mr. Tucker did not know anything of the kind, and was deeply interested to hear the noble sportsman tell of his residence in the old Dominion.

Lipton came to America as a steersman, a pilot boat in a family of two years working in the rice fields of South Carolina, and then fetched up in Virginia on the Dinwiddie county farm. The farmer who gave him work conveyed a great liking for the hard-working lad, and made him a member of the family. Sir Thomas speaks in kind terms of the man for whom he worked. The lad had his head full of business schemes, even then, and when he drifted away from Yorkville, the man he followed. He founded the greatest provision house in the world in Glasgow, with its 240 branches scattered throughout the United Kingdom, an enterprise capitalized at $200,000. When his old employer heard of him again, probably his former farm had over time become a large tract of land, and he was a rich man. The man who had been a servant, a baronet, and the intimate of kings and princes.

It would be interesting to find that old Virginia farmer and learn his opinion of the celebrated sportsman as a farm hand.

Don't deceive yourself. If you have any trouble in the head or throat, use Kodol. It will relieve you. Rev. W. E. Hocutt, South Mills, N. C., says: "I was troubled with indigestion for several years; whatever I ate seemed to settle in my stomach, and I felt a fluttering of my heart, and general depression of mind and body. My doctor prescribed many medicines, but Kodol digested what you eat at all Druggists."

The Perfect Way.
Scores of Chester Citizens Have Learned It.
If you suffer from backache, there is only one way to cure it. It is the perfect way to cure the children. A bad back means sick troubles. Neglect it, urinary troubles follow. Dr. J. K. "Pills" are made for children only.
Don't be misled by cheap imitations. Ask your dealer for Kodol. It is the perfect way to cure the children. A bad back means sick troubles. Neglect it, urinary troubles follow. Dr. J. K. "Pills" are made for children only.

The Sepoys.
During the French revolution a priest rode in a chariot to the guttoline with two negroes—one a marquis, the other a common thief. As the cart jolted through the crowded streets the citizens shouted maledictions on its occupants.

"Down with you, beasts of the aristocracy!"

The marquis, seated proudly, but the criminal was averted.

"My good friends," he cried, "I am no aristocrat. I am a thief."

Then the priest touched his arm gently, murmuring:

"Ah, my son, this is no time for vanity!
