The Johnsonian

The Johnsonian wants to deserve a reputation for accuracy, thoroughness, and fairness in the covering of the "Deep South," and to further this aim, we are forced to give our attention to finding out any errors in our previous reports. This week's sermon, "Holidays are nice, but what follows 'em ain't!"

Summer Features Attractive
Thirty-Four Faculty Members Offer Eighteen Courses In Two-Term Period
The Master School of Music, a reading clinic, is an excellent artist course series, recreational facilities, a campus newspaper, and a fine athletic program. We are scheduling the summer sessions to be held June 10 to August 1.

Over 800 students, graduate and undergraduate, come from across the country to participate in the summer schools. The chief benefits they will derive are increased knowledge, better understanding of their subject matter, and an opportunity to travel.

Two Terms
The school of music offers courses in music, literature, art, and musicology, as well as courses in the natural sciences.

PETER BEGINS MUSIC CAREER IN KNEE PANTS

Peter began teaching after five years of the "Deep South." He has been active in stimulating student interest in the "Deep South."

Miss Margaret F. Darrell, piano instructor of the "Deep South," contends that a music student should have a clear idea of the "Deep South."

INTERESTED IN DRAMATICS

The library is acquiring a number of new plays. Some of these are "The Deep South," "The Deep South," and "The Deep South."

The library is also interested in acquiring a number of new plays. Some of these are "The Deep South," "The Deep South," and "The Deep South."

Energetic, always in a good humor. Lib can usually be counted on to lift your spirits, even if it's just a little bit.

THE JOHNSONIAN TEAM SWAPS

The Johnsonian team will swap their old uniforms for the new ones. The new uniforms are designed to be more comfortable and to provide better protection against the elements. The uniforms are made of a lightweight, breathable material that will keep the players cool even in the hottest conditions.

The team will also receive new equipment, including new helmets, shoulder pads, and gloves. The new equipment is designed to provide better protection and to improve the players' performance on the field.

The Johnsonian team's performance in the upcoming season will depend on the players' ability to adapt to their new uniforms and equipment. The team will need to practice hard and to work together to achieve their goals.

In conclusion, the Johnsonian team is excited about the new uniforms and equipment and is looking forward to a successful season. The team is ready to give it their all and to bring home the championship.

stokes to speak at national convention the people of the united states are overwhelmingly behind their congress in connection with the national defense or freedom program against aggressor nations.

defense is going to cost billions of dollars and it is up to the people of the united states to back up this program as particularly as they possibly can and one of the ways to do it is with money invested in national defense bonds now on sale.

there are three issues, E, F, and G, of these bonds, all having different features and information regarding the bonds at this bank where you may purchase your desire.

Morning, Noon or Night, Winthrop Has Its Noises

All is not quiet on the Winthrop front. Nor does it lie at night when a hurry-streeter patrols the halls or outside when bells, girls and general confusion sing sympotmes. Winthrop is ever ready, from the radioactive "toot" in the English class, to the grating sound of a mouse gnawing at your last box of crackers.

Mary E. Ouldist, Mildred Pinckney, Pearl Bishop, Alphansons led the delegates to Columbia.

"It was right outside our window." laughed Blanche Johnston.

"The Inheritance of Plant and Animal Life." Ten papers were presented by Mary R. Winthrop representatives. They are members of the Association for Junior scientists.

"The Biology of Death." Mary Heath Owens, three papers were presented by Winthrop girls. Elizabeth Cunningham, Mary Akin. Mary Heath Owens, and the one this year mixed up, "so that doesn't help much."

"The Johnsonian Newspapers Switch Jobs." Senator Edgar A. Bowers of Barnett, Mrs. John Stimson of Kershaw, and Mrs. Edgar Bowers, stopped on the campus when Mr. Brown was here for assembly last Wednesday.

College Biology and Elect Phonk State Secretary

Mildred Pinckney, reading wanting manager from Edisto Island, was elected corresponding secretary for the Winthrop Biological Society. College Biology in Columbia has the new secretary.

"You can imagine you hear anything," laughed Blanche Johnston. "I played two weeks ago and our roommates absolutely were in tears at five o'clock.

Almost all the sounds were very gay.

"It's a main hall and the girls and family circle and one thing is noisier than any other."

"The noise that goes on," said Betty Jo Bailey, majorette. "It's the air purifying the air purifier.

Also, it's always loud when it's cold."

"The farm comes on on a cold, dark, winter night."

"You can imagine you hear anything."

"I think that's DOUBLEMINT GUM."

"It's the last thing you get out of your room.

Summer Camp Calls Winthrop Girls, Teachers

CAMP CHEERS!

The excitement began early—out at senior chapel. Wind was tossed in their heads as the band played "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." It was a great event, and it started the way it was supposed to end.

The song was sung in unison, and it was sung well. The students were ready to go, and so were the faculty.

Winthrop Girls, Teachers

Speaking of the faculty, they were also ready. The music of the band set the mood, and the excitement was palpable. The students were ready to have a good time, and the faculty was ready to lead them.

The first event of the day was a meeting of the Campbell 4-H club, held at the school. The club was formed in 1941, and it was the first of its kind in the area. The club was open to students of all ages, and it was a great way to bring the community together.

The meeting was held in the school's auditorium, and the students were eager to hear the club's director, Mrs. Thompson. She was a popular speaker, and her words were well received by the students.

The second event of the day was a meeting of the campus 4-H club, held in the school's cafeteria. The club was formed in 1941, and it was the first of its kind in the area. The club was open to students of all ages, and it was a great way to bring the community together.

The meeting was held in the school's cafeteria, and the students were eager to hear the club's director, Mrs. Thompson. She was a popular speaker, and her words were well received by the students.

The meeting was held in the school's cafeteria, and the students were eager to hear the club's director, Mrs. Thompson. She was a popular speaker, and her words were well received by the students.

The fourth event of the day was a meeting of the campus 4-H club, held in the school's cafeteria. The club was formed in 1941, and it was the first of its kind in the area. The club was open to students of all ages, and it was a great way to bring the community together.

The meeting was held in the school's cafeteria, and the students were eager to hear the club's director, Mrs. Thompson. She was a popular speaker, and her words were well received by the students.

The fifth event of the day was a meeting of the campus 4-H club, held in the school's cafeteria. The club was formed in 1941, and it was the first of its kind in the area. The club was open to students of all ages, and it was a great way to bring the community together.

The meeting was held in the school's cafeteria, and the students were eager to hear the club's director, Mrs. Thompson. She was a popular speaker, and her words were well received by the students.

The sixth event of the day was a meeting of the campus 4-H club, held in the school's cafeteria. The club was formed in 1941, and it was the first of its kind in the area. The club was open to students of all ages, and it was a great way to bring the community together.

The meeting was held in the school's cafeteria, and the students were eager to hear the club's director, Mrs. Thompson. She was a popular speaker, and her words were well received by the students.

The seventh event of the day was a meeting of the campus 4-H club, held in the school's cafeteria. The club was formed in 1941, and it was the first of its kind in the area. The club was open to students of all ages, and it was a great way to bring the community together.

The meeting was held in the school's cafeteria, and the students were eager to hear the club's director, Mrs. Thompson. She was a popular speaker, and her words were well received by the students.

The eighth event of the day was a meeting of the campus 4-H club, held in the school's cafeteria. The club was formed in 1941, and it was the first of its kind in the area. The club was open to students of all ages, and it was a great way to bring the community together.

The meeting was held in the school's cafeteria, and the students were eager to hear the club's director, Mrs. Thompson. She was a popular speaker, and her words were well received by the students.

The ninth event of the day was a meeting of the campus 4-H club, held in the school's cafeteria. The club was formed in 1941, and it was the first of its kind in the area. The club was open to students of all ages, and it was a great way to bring the community together.

The meeting was held in the school's cafeteria, and the students were eager to hear the club's director, Mrs. Thompson. She was a popular speaker, and her words were well received by the students.

The tenth event of the day was a meeting of the campus 4-H club, held in the school's cafeteria. The club was formed in 1941, and it was the first of its kind in the area. The club was open to students of all ages, and it was a great way to bring the community together.

THE CASE FOR MORE

Cheating is something to be banned—something not to be tolerated. We don't agree with everything that Herbert Agar hit a new low in chapel bore—why is it that we have to be so careful in what we say? We have to be careful with our behavior, too, and that includes how we speak to each other. It's not just the words we say, but the tone of our voice and our body language, that tells others how we feel.

But now we're through—and we're prepared to face our teachers, who have seen us face to face, and who are prepared to teach us. Perhaps Winthrop is so absorbed in the world of ours, then will our studies be better than anyone else's.

We are talking about the war, and yet Winthrop is so absorbed in things that he doesn't care about. No one has offered to tell us where we are going and what we are doing. We are definitely inspired by the words and the ideas, but the real conviction is lacking. We have to be aware of anything else.

We need to be aware of the changes that are taking place in Winthrop, in our Junior-Senior editors, and ask them to help us understand what's going on. We are so absorbed in our studies earlier but those who have been at the same school for a few years are not. Perhaps they realize "They're growing up", and they'll treat us as adults. Perhaps they realize "They're growing up", and they'll treat us as adults.

This volleyball tournament that has been held here is one of the many things that are being planned for this year. We need to be aware of the things that are going on and the changes that are taking place. We need to be aware of the things that are going on and the changes that are taking place.

Mrs. Phillips Praises Junior-Senior, Likes Informal Group

And as do all the Juniors and all the Seniors, Mrs. Sue M. Phillips, who heads the Junior-Senior group, is not only beautiful and winning, but also successful. Mrs. Phillips has nothing but praise for the Junior-Senior after the first meeting, and she thinks that her group has the qualities that make for success.

The two groups are important in the progress of Thurmond Hall, and the Junior-Senior group is no exception. They have taken on the job of providing entertainment and social activities for the students.

The Junior-Senior group is led by Mrs. Phillips, who is assisted by the senior and junior girls. They plan and execute all the events, making sure that everything runs smoothly.

Education Club Entertains 100 Adults Of Six Centers Today

Mrs. Alice Flowers invited 100 guests to attend a program at the Episcopal Girls Picnic on May 17.

During the evening, Evelyn Dobbs, Secretary of the Education Club, entertained the guests with a reading of a special poem that she had written for the occasion. The poem was titled "The Love of Music." "As May Day Passes By," it reads, "The love of music is a gift that is given to us by the gods. It is a feeling that we can never forget." The poem was met with applause from the audience.

Miss Flowers then invited guests to enjoy refreshments, which included cake, ice cream, and punch. The guests were also treated to a performance by the school orchestra, which played several pieces.

Twenty-one To Serve As Camp Counselors

The Johnsonian, Sports Editor

Twenty-one Winthrop girls have been placed as counselors or assistants in summer camps in five states. At present, Miss Margaret Lehr, director of the Winthrop School of Education, is on the job trying to get more assistance for the summer camps. The Winthrop School of Education, through the Public School Association, has been granted assistance from the Federal Government which has made it possible for the Winthrop students to serve as counselors.

The counselors have been chosen by the faculty of the Winthrop School of Education and approved by the Board of Education of the various states. The counselors are expected to perform their duties with the utmost of efficiency and to give the children of the camps every possible chance to develop their abilities.

The counselors are expected to be punctual, efficient, and courteous in their work. They are expected to be courteous and helpful to the children and to the parents of the children. The counselors are expected to be in constant communication with the parents of the children and to report any difficulty that may arise.
