Whatley Elected Head County Superintendents

J. F. Whatley of Greenville was elected head county superintendents at their two-day conference held on the Winthrop campus last week. Mr. Whatley succeeds J. H. Fields, Kingstree, W. H. Coval of Columbia was elected vice-president, and Lavern Burns of Laurens secretary-treasurer.

Twenty superintendents and nine officials from the state department of education attended the conference which began Tuesday morning with an address by John G. Kelly, registrar of Winthrop college. The conference ended Wednesday afternoon on the program with a talk by S. P. Coleman of the bureau of school housing planning. Other speakers for the convention were: W. D. Majglish, head of the education department at Winthrop; Mrs. W. D. Rice, Dr. Shelton Phillips, and W. A. Schiffer, of the state department of education.

Tuesday night the members of the conference and their wives were guests of the college at dinner, and in the evening at the hotel of the summer Art Courses, the concert by Arthur Keutel.

Mr. Burns, newly elected secretary.

Edwin and Jewell Bethany Hughes
Play Duo-Piano Concert July 2

The summer school's new production is scheduled for 10:30, Wednesday, July 2, with the appearance in an assembly concert of Edwin and Jewell Bethany Hughes. It will be the second assembly of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes scored an artistic and entertainment triumph last summer when they appeared as duet pianists in a 20-minute program. So highly acclaimed were they for that concert the winter season located them for a regular number.

Mr. Hughes is again teaching his famous master music classes on the campus. Mrs. Hughes will come down from their New York City home for the weekend for the assembly concert and for a brief vacation.

The two artists were invited to present the first two-piano concert ever given at the White House.

Students Play In Gym 3:30-5:30 Each Day

Miss Sarah Glenn, recreation leader, announced that the gym is open daily from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. for those who wish to play basketball, volleyball, tennis, floor hockey, badminton, quoits, or other gym games on week days. These activities may be had from 6:30 until 8:00 p.m.

Tennis courts also announce that the swimming pool will be open from 1:30 until 5:30 p.m. for women, and from 5:30 until 8:00 p.m. on week days; upon request it will be opened from 7:00 until 9:00 p.m. on week ends. The pool is open in the mornings for Training School students.

Summer Session Enrolls 569 At End of Third Week

As the third week of the 1931 summer session draws to a close, college records show a registration of 569, a new attendance high with 559 at comparable date last year, and 447 at the end of the third week in the 1930 session.

The college opened with the first convocation in the new auditorium. Winthrop was extending to the summer session by Mayor Irwin Carothers of Rock Hill, Dr. Forrest Gregg, pastor of the First Presbyterian church for the cities of the city. Most Principal F. E. McConnell, vice-president, Jack Watson, accompanied by Mrs. Watson, said.

Carothers Urges Support

"Challenges you to make of your public opinion to return to your communities and build support for our American democracy."Miss Carothers told the audience in urging the teachers to become makers of the truth and opinion in the present crisis.

Dr. McConnell who is called Dean of Rock Hill college said: "Upon the educators, and educated people, we may depend, and to the group depends the destiny of the nation."

In his remarks Dr. Peter White, president of the college, said: "It is not a time our after her discussion."

Dr. J. E. Nunnery, head of the Winthrop college, demonstrated the students and faculty members that they had heard the experience which comes to change one's views of the world.

"Old Grad" Returns To Winthrop Spirit Still Atunde Though Campus Altogether Changed

By CARMEN WALLACE

Fifteen years! Tempos change! Still feeling young, we cannot say we decided to come back to Winthrop this year. Having taken up the care of a tremendous office, we could not come to the college after two years of absence. Winthrop college was too the distance as we feared Rock Hill. And yet we were not to return from winter school, we would have come for our summer to Rock Hill and live on our own. What a thrill to think of the changes which have taken place.

But after all, we must set aside our fighting and prepare for the new term. We settled on this floor of North Hall we needed to be, but the need to go to Rock Hill and be on their own. We were heartily and happy and started out. We were heartily and happy and started out. We were heartily and happy and started out. We were heartily and happy and started out. We were heartily and happy and started out. We were heartily and happy and started out. We were heartily and happy and started out.

Before supper we rode down to the beach on a house party this week. It was a nice time. We decided to take a walk and see the campus at top speed time and time again. In other words, still felt that there was the other half of the campus to see. We just didn't want until we got to the car and go over nice paved roads. Then remarked: Could it the three years that have brought such changes. How the shrubbery had changed! Just a little bit on our way. What a thrill to think of the changes which have taken place.

Students Play In Gym 3:30-5:30 Each Day
Mrs. Mary E. W. L. A. Recreation director, has announced that the gym is kept open until 5:45 p.m. for those who wish to stay after school for swimming, shoe-badminton, quizzes, or basketball. Light refreshments are also available to these students for 5:45 to 6:45 p.m. Miss Wannamaker also announces that the swimming pool will be open from 2:30 un -til 6:30 p.m., for women, and from 6:30 to 9:00 p.m. on weekdays; upon request it will be open from 2:30 until 9:00 in the evening and on Sat -urday. Students Get Vitamin B At No Extra Cost
"Pass the vitamin B!" If the boy or girl with whom you rub elbows makes this request, it's a sign that he or she is in the know! How about you? Do you know that the American diet is deficient in this feature of the body's working? Students attending both morning and after -noon sessions will receive 90 grains of vitamin B free every day. It's the body's essential. How do you get enough of it? From eggs, milk, cheese, and bread. And most other foods. It's easy to get enough of for those who eat the right foods and have a good appetite. Maybe we do need a vitamin B shot? For a vitamin B shot we can turn to the Student Health Service and get the vitamin B to help us feel well. The Student Health Service is located in the building and the library we circle by the first floor of North we settle on first floor of North and be on our way. What a thrill could take it around and around the campus at top speed and time and time in an afternoon. Still, there was the other half of the campus to be seen. We just couldn't wait until morning. An ice-cream! We could get in the car and go over nice paved roads. How remarkable! Could the fifteen years have wrought such changes. How the shrubbery had changed. How the spirit was still willing even though the flesh gave us away. Though the spirit was still willing even though the flesh gave us away.

Winthrop Spirit Still Around Though Campus Altogether Changed
By CARMEN WALPOLE
Fifteen years! Tempus fugit! Still feeling young and spry directed to come back to Winthrop Summer School. After talking one night to a bunch of rising seniors after their return from winter school, we were most eager for our school to close and be on our way. What a thrill to consider the Winthrop summer located in the distance as we neared Rock Hill! After having settled on first floor of North we settled down at second floor of North and be on our way. Light refreshments were served and we settled down at second floor of North to enjoy the view and be up and so very joyful. What a thrill it was to hear and enjoy the view and be up and so very joyful. What a thrill it was to hear and enjoy the view and be up and so very joyful. Reading Clinic Draws 22 To Summer Term
Twenty-two persons registered for the reading clinic which began on the campus Monday and ended today. In addition to the 22 number, approximately 150 regular summer school students attended both morning and afternoon sessions.

Features of the clinic included lectures by Dr. S. P. Clemons, Mrs. Macy Horton, director of research of Silver Springs, who demonstrated various demon -strations on reading. In addition, Mrs. W. D. Braley, director of the clinic, discussed simple methods for read -ing difficulties in cor -recting reading difficulties in Thursday morning. After her discussion Dr. Paul M. Walker, head of the English department at Winthrop, demonstrated the opthalmograph and metronome.

Winthrop has been most helpful under the capable leadership of Mrs. Horton, who had the experience and training which enable her to conduct such clinics in a most gracious manner.

The Educational Films
Carl Brown, training school super -visor, and Winthrop summer school faculty member showed educational films to the group at 3:45 Tuesday. Mrs. Brie pointed out that the film had been most helpful under the capable leadership of Mrs. Horton, who had the experience and training which enable her to conduct such clinics in a most gracious manner.

THE DEGREE WORSHIPPING SCHOOL LOSING GROUND

At the conference of county superintendents last week convoked by John G. Kelly, registrar of Winthrop college and former state high school supervisor, led a discussion on higher standards of certification.

Mr. Kelly pointed out that teaching as a profession and the right to membership in a group might evaluate intangible teaching and that the right to membership in such a group would be required to stand an examination comparable to that of a prospective lawyer or doctor. In addition to this examination, teachers should be required to stand an examination recognizing the individual right by indicating good teachers and giving them publicly recognized professional standing.

As a teacher, we agree with Mr. Kelly that the present basis of certification—that is, a college transcript—does not ensure professional fitness should be made. Possibly the proposal to supplement the college degree with examination and personnel certification by indicating good teachers and giving them publicly recognized professional standing.

VARIETY ADDS SPICE

The 1941 Summer school is limited to no certain group. The younger one old, men and women from far and near are here. The few men appear quite at ease among the many "hers." One was heard to say that he preferred the Winthrop summer school to Clemson's.

The variety of activities offered at Winthrop attracts the variety of students. The majority are working for undergraduate credits, while some students are for graduate students. Others are seeking renewal of teacher's certificates.

Even the youngest come to win new ideas and methods to take back to her school. Some weighing 200 or over should be given rooms on third floor, those weighing between 125 and 200 should be given rooms on second floor, and all under 125 should be placed on first floor. In this way, the stoutest and shier students will have the most room to work in, and who knows? They may increase it.

DEAR EDITOR:

The Campus Town

The above lines would be heartily echoed at times almost entirely obliterated by every person in the Winthrop summer school this year. If we had been able to give an order for the weather it might have been fulfilled more comfortably. Possibly the people assembled here would have "tolerable" weather may have some contact with that of the sun outside in a manner of our experience. Or, are they always so pleasant and reasonable?—Z. G. Goldsmith

Weather To Order

"And what is so rare as a day in which,
Then, if ever, come perfect days?"

Spring is beginning and the above lines would be heartily echoed at times almost entirely obliterated by us. Possibly the proposal to supplement the college degree with examination and personnel certification by indicating good teachers and giving them publicly recognized professional standing.

On Assigning Rooms

A North dormitory occupant, who lives on second floor, offers this suggestion to Dean Fraser for assigning rooms to students. He inquired of me very respectfully, "Do you think that my Ohio home has such a week of intense regret later.—R. W.

Vivian Major:

I saw you in cool moonlight
I saw you in grey twilight's shade:
I heard you call me, "Hey, there! What are you doing here?"
I met you on a dock, so near,
And saw what she'd missed.

The "Old Swimm'n Hole"

We often hear men tell of how small the environment is and how they return to it after the passing of a number of years, and something of this is the environment was not what it was for former Winthrop student. She was with the campus and the college and all of her friends and the community. She was there for the summer. After the Ohio summer school session and had probably attended entertainment offerings of any new buildings, at the lovely green woods, and the beach, where they are the length of it without any trouble.

The little soda kitten over in Summer is having a swell time of it, what with the old swimming hole. Helen Briggs and Mrs. Towill around. Mrs. Brice and Mrs. Kirby see that they are joyful another. Mrs. Towill gives them the biggest ice cream and gets all the attention.

She cried till the tears came in torrents.

We Heard Them Say:

Doris McFadden (breathlessly, on entering English class): Gosh, LOOK at all the books.

Re: Julian Lake: There were boys over two hundred twenty made in the history of the world.

Dr. Rogers: Marriage should be an accident—not a goal.

Dean Fraser: When I see a reporter coming into my office, I say, "Here come 500 people (in the Winthrop campus) and I must be very respectful!"

Dr. Shippoly: Service does not mean suicide.

"Life is not cheap: the cost is dear.

Vivian Major: "If I was born broke and had a relapse."

New In the Office
Mrs. Charles E. Westhrope, spent last week with her family in Gall- nay, S. C., with Jean Cameron as her guest.
June is the month of birches and sunburns—for every country except Winthrop. Here we go to classes and to bed like little Miss Muffins, but always hoping that we can catch at least a sunburn (like Hobby Hubber's or Edith Barker's) before the summer slips into the limbo of memory.

And since the beach is a weekend's distance from the campus, why not catch the sun on the tennis courts. Who mentioned a tennis tournament for summer school?

That's exactly what's needed. Maybe Mr. Graham (with a little pressure) would buy a medal for the looser of the champ.

Or if the summer sun is too much for some of you, why, let's choose up sides and organise a water carnival to be staged in our super-duper pool at the gym. Think of the fun, we would have—and fun is the feature of the summer session, didn't you know?

Along with this idea for fun and recreation and staff came the college picnic when the teachers turned out and mixed with the students like ordinary people who never gave an undeserved "I" or gave forty pages to cover one outside assignment.

Highlight of the occasion was the softball game between Brains vs. Brawn and no quarters given or received. Mrs. Kraft and Mr. Helfin captained the Brains faculty, of course, and Virginia Dobbins of the local committee led the Brawn. Unpopular this annual Faculty-Student Classic was none other than the famous Dizzy Dean (and not so young, because bowling has no age limit) lives. Mac-Mac McCrory with that unorthodox delivery of hers is one of the best, too, by the way.

RECREATION ROUNDUP

Old Prof. Morton, self-styled Carolina "Glamor" boy, officially opened summer school last weekend. The political circles have it that the genial likable Morton might be on the opposite side of the gubernatorial ticket when J. J. (Jr.) of Nat'l Youth Congress fame) Lever, Clemson's contribution to the Anderson independent, runs for governor. Who cares anyway?

Mrs. Vela Bruce, the true love of all USC visitors, has bought a new car "to dodge rising prices and taxes". Who said that women didn't think?

"Wayward" Brittain who was mentioned entirely too much in this column last winter is back at his old job of sports reporter extraordinary for the Rock Hill Evening Herald. Most of my success as a columnist or P.C. is due to his kind and patient understanding and help—especially in regard to meeting deadlines.

If in the course of reading this column (optimism, pure and simple) some of you graduate students should stop and wonder why there isn't more for you—contend, remember that I can't cover the whole campus, but if you know of anything taking place in and around that you think is interesting and might just possibly be overlooked, why, drop in the office and tell somebody or leave a note, because we want to have a column for the whole campus, to interest the whole campus.

And that's that.

This bank numbers among its patrons, borrowers as well as depositors, hundreds of South Carolina school teachers. Among our teacher depositors are those who have active checking accounts, others deposit in our savings department, which departments are under government supervision and insured through the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

A large number of teachers bank with this financial stronghold by mail and find it just as convenient as banking in person. Teachers borrow at this bank giving as security a pledge or assignment of their salaries. Some borrow upon the endorsement of responsible endorsers, others borrow, giving as security an assignment of their life Insurance Policies.

Loans against Life Insurance Policies are available at this bank at a very low rate of interest, lower than the rate stipulated in the policy contract. Teachers, while you are here at the Summer School it may be to your interest to call in to see us for further information. You will be cordially received.
