ANOTHER CORN METHOD.

Camden Farmer.
I. H. Hudson in Columbia State, "I have been requested by farmers from different parts of the State to give my method of working corn in detail, and take this method of replying to all. I would consider it a great pleasure to be of some benefit to my fellow farmers and don't know of a subject that would be of more interest to the public. There is no question but that the south would save millions now that also does not know, if every farmer would make his own corn of the south's corn to run the show.

First, break your land with a two-horse plow. As this is impossible for one-horse farmers, we will suppose the land to be thus prepared. Run off your corn, and cut out six furrows to the row, with a six-inch turn-plow. After the 20th of March, if the ground is dry enough, if not, as soon as possible, run out six inch-south plow in water furrows, run your planter or drop by hand, two feet in the drill. You will get a better stand of corn than you can get over one inch deep for March planting. Cover with a 16-inch board, or run board behind planter to make a wide space for the corn to stand. While corn is little or as soon as you finish planting cotton, which is about the 20th of April, two furrows with a turn-plow, draw the dirt over the corn. Let stand a week and run two more furrows, letting the dirt roll to the corn from the bars, which will throw up high mounds, and leave corn low in water furrows. My method is not to injure or turn corn yield, to "dwarf" stalk, keeping it from growing by keeping dry from it.

About the 15th of May side up close with a 12-inch sweep, and run a five-foot shov in top of the bed which will clear the row. Let stand about two weeks, or till the 1st of June, and put in all fertilizer to be used, except about 200 pounds cotton seed meal or 200 pounds of 12-12-12 fertilizer in side furrows, both sides if you use over 200 pounds per acre, and throw two furrows to the row, one on each side with the turn-plow. Let stand a week and plow out middle two more furrows, which will cut most dirt out again.

When you see that the ground will, when you want with a 12-inch sweep, and run a five-foot shov in top of the bed which will clear the row. Let stand about two weeks, or till the 1st of June, and put in all fertilizer to be used, except about 200 pounds cotton seed meal or 200 pounds of 12-12-12 fertilizer in side furrows, both sides if you use over 200 pounds per acre, and throw two furrows to the row, one on each side with the turn-plow. Let stand a week and plow out middle two more furrows, which will cut most dirt out again.

Lovelyville Letter.

What the weather has been unusually warm, but we have thoroughly enjoyed the beautiful, balmy, springlike days. The spring is not late to remain, for only rarely the cold, wintry wind appears - in his fury making us feel the cold more severely for the recent warm weather.

The warm, dry weather has not only been a source of pleasure, but has been utilized by those who have long been wishing that they could do some farm work. Judging from the activity of the farmers they have not been negligent to seize the fine opportunity to begin their work, for they have been as busy as if preparing to plant immediately. A great many most probably all, have planted early vegetables.

Mr. A. M. Titman lost a valuable colt last week. Mrs. A. Alkinson had the misfortune of losing her lamb by the side of the road. She lost all of the lamb, two miles and a horse. A cigarette is supposed to have been the cause of the loss.

Miss Esther Boyd, assistant teacher of the Lovelyville High School, spent Saturday at her home, near Cornwall, in the company of her mother.

Miss Mamie Darby is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. H. Withenpound, at Fort Mill, this week. The members of our town deserve praise for their church work. They have a neat building almost completed and have been at work on the same.

The organization is small, and for this fact, especially deserve the approbation of all for perseverance. We give the honor roll of the local school for the month of February. Those who have made a general average, including punctuality, of ninety-five and over are highly distinguished. Those between ninety and over are distinguished. Following are those who are highly distinguished:

Advanced department-Dora Guy, Zulley Atkins. Primary department-Janet Angerson, Lunette Anderson, Jessie Anderson, Ethel Anderson, Edna Anderson, Effie Anderson, James Lee, Helen Sandifer, Margaret Sandifer, Olin Smith, Herbert Smith, Harvey Thomas, Joseph Thomas, Ada Titman, Louise Titman.

New Boston Brown Bread. Many a true New England housewife who knows the value of a loaf of bread to be thrown away, and who is able to use many pounds in every five or six weeks, will be glad to know that she can now get a loaf of bread that will last for three or four days, and will be as good as new. It is made of the best of the wheat, and is baked in a special oven, and is so made that it will keep for a long time. It is sold by the Chester Drug Co. and Johnson & Guy's Drug Store.

Negro Settlements Burned.

Springfield, Mo., March 4. A fire which broke out at night, during which fire, arson, and mob violence, held full sway. Springfield awoke quiet this morning. The night of arson, which had been patrolling the streets and the havoc wrought in the "Jungles," the negro settlements, indicated that the city had passed through one of the wildest nights in its history.

For six hours last night and early this morning the city was in the hands of a rioting mob, assembled to burn the negro settlements. Several times in the "Jungles" were burned to the ground and the negroes were compelled to flee to the city. The police were overpowered and the fire department defied. The rule of the mob was only stopped when the Springfield militia companies assembled under arms and companies arrived from Xenia and Union and took charge of the situation.

The rioting here lasted only one night. The mob was assembled only in the nick of time, as the mob had been aroused to a frenzy of rage and threatened to repeat the scenes of Springfield. A Chorus Girl's Work and Wages.

Washington, D.C., March 4. The New Idea Woman's Magazine for March gives a lively account of the work, wages and indications of the chorus girls. The girls who are learning, are such because they can sing. They are the "show girls" who, although they may sing in some of the most important roles, do not look like pretty girls. She is there strictly on account of her looks. She rarely speaks, does not even act. She walks in and stands, wears beautiful costumes and looks pretty. In Edna May's play, "The Catch of the Season," there are several "show girls," or "Gibson Girls," as they are known in the performance. The show girls are better paid than her business associate in the chorus. She gets her twenty-five dollars a week to the business girls, eighteen on any one place (not in New York) and fifteen in New York. In general, it appears, a chorus girl must use careful economy to put away any of her salary, although "out in the western states a chorus girl can really save money. She has a salary of at least eight dollars a week and in many instances she has cleared as much as an average of eight dollars a week. All railroad fares are paid and sometimes, when Board and room, in fact, every expense except railroad fare, must be paid out of the individual salary. The wages are supposed to send her a list of hotels and boarding houses, cheap and otherwise for the convenience of the approaching company. The list is usually printed by the company and the girls are as surprised as we are when they see their meals on an occasional stove cooked with them, ironing their handkerchiefs on the window pane, and so forth.

Notes from Edgemoor No. 2.

Edgemoor, Pa., Feb. 27. We have now some fine days for farm work and the work has been progressing right along, both on the farm and garden. The health of our community has been good.

Capt. W. H. Edwards, of Chester, spent a day and night last week with his son, Mr. R. L. Edwards. Mr. J. D. Collins spent one day last week with Miss Lily Thomas of Harmony.

Mrs. Louisa Johnson, from Chester, spent last week with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. Edwards.

Mrs. Mary Cartmell of Harmony, visited relatives here recently. Our school received the library money, which will be very much appreciated by the pupils and others in the neighborhood who love to read. The library consists of plenty of good wholesome books. Miss Lettie Thomas was voted in as manager.

Mrs. Mary Jordan of Edgemoor, spent several days this week with her sister, Mrs. R. L. Edwards. Miss Ora Jordan, another sister of Mrs. Edwards, is teaching with her at Edgemoor school.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Thomas of Whites Mill, dined with their friends of the family, Mr. J. Q. Thomas, last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Thomas and little daughter, Leota, of Whites Mill, were here Sunday. Their many friends gave them a warm welcome.

Mr. J. W. Inabright spent Monday night at the home of Mr. W. H. Wilson, near Edgemoor.

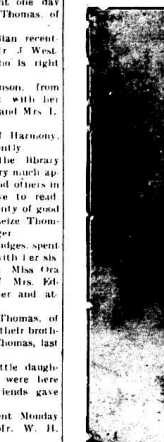

Miss Rhoda Nunery spent several days last week with her sister, Mrs. R. J. White.

Mrs. J. M. McQueen and Master James visited at the home of Mr. F. A. Nunery one day last week. We are glad to say that Mr. Nunery is better and able to go visiting occasionally.

Kaiser's Second Son Weds. Berlin, Feb. 27. The Duchess Sophie Charlotte of Oldenburg, daughter of the reigning grand duke of Oldenburg, by his first marriage with Prince Albert of Prussia, and Prince Bismarck's second son of the emperor and empress, were married at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the chapel of the palace by the court chaplain, Dr. Brander. It was falling on the chapel dome but the inside was lit by hundreds of candles, showing the delicate costumes and the forms of about 50 persons belonging to the royal families of Germany or the principal nobility, the cabinet ministers and a number of generals and admirals. An ambassador tower and Mrs. Tower were present in the diplomatic circle.

After Hon. Harvie Jordan had concluded his address yesterday many groups could be seen around the square and on the streets, all engaged upon the common theme. From all indications the farmers of Chester county are deeply interested in the plans of the Cotton Association, and it is safe to say that Chester will do her part in supporting these plans.

Deputy Sheriff W. V. Carroll went to Columbia Saturday in charge of Elias Hartsdale, colored, who recently lost her mind. The woman's condition was decidedly worse than that of any of the others who have recently been sent to the asylum from this county. For a day or two prior to being taken to Columbia she was confined to the county jail and was obliged to be kept very close.

Dr. W. B. Cot had an exceedingly unpleasant experience on an automobile trip to Rock Hill Sabbath. He made good time until within about six miles of Rock Hill, when he plunged into a stream, and the engine suddenly ceased to work. The moment he felt him about half way across, he left him in the middle of the stream with the water almost up to the body of the machine. A charitably inclined passerby helped the doctor to extricate his automobile, but it was done with a great deal of difficulty, owing to the weight of the machine and the steepness of the bank. The doctor had supposed that he would be back in Chester by 5 o'clock, but he had to wait on No. 28, which got here about midnight. He returned to Rock Hill yesterday morning to see about bringing his machine home.

Banks conducted a short, but impressive service at the grave. As has been stated Mr. Clawson was sick only a short while. Pneumonia was the cause of death.

Missionary Institute at Rock Hill.
The Methodist ministers of the Rock Hill District will meet in Rock Hill tomorrow morning, the purpose being to hold a Missionary Institute and Pastor's conference. At a public meeting Wednesday night Rev. M. L. Banks, of this city, will deliver an address.

Fire at Richburg.
Mr. Robert Hicklin, of Richburg, had the misfortune to lose two barns and all his corn and roughness, one mile, his buggy and survey and farm implements by fire about midnight Friday night. His fowl house with all his fowls was also burned, and it was with difficulty that his dwelling was saved. Mr. Hicklin's face and one hand was right severely burned in his effort to save his property. His success in getting the horse and cows out and had gotten the mule out, but it was dazed and ran into the fire at the other barn. It is not known how the fire started, but from some circumstances there is strong suspicion that it was of incendiary origin.

Deaths.
Mrs. J. Alex Rosborough died about 4 o'clock Sabbath afternoon, March 4th, 1906, at her home a few miles east of town, of chronic dysentery with other complications. She was perhaps 70 years old. The funeral services were conducted by Dr. J. S. Moffat at the home yesterday afternoon, and the burial was in the grave yard at Liberty church.

Labels, the three weeks old infant of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gibson, of East Lacy street, died Sabbath night of blood poison. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. S. Snyder at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after which the little body was laid to rest in Evergreen cemetery.

In the Mayor's Court.
The mayor's court convened promptly yesterday morning for the hearing of such cases as had developed on Friday. The defendants in the several cases were all absent, but as each had put up a comfortable bond the failure to appear was overlooked by the court.

Six months ago Geo. Stewart, colored, cut Ted Gaston and had a party unknown. The eight eyes of Chief Tax collector, arrested Stewart on the streets Saturday, and he was soon in the toils of the law. He put up $12.50 as bond for his appearance.

Jason Weir, a country darkey, who usually celebrates his arrival in town by getting drunk, didn't forget his old trick Saturday. The officers, however, witnessed the maneuver, and Jason had to put up $7.50 of his hard earned cash.

Sam Snot and his wife, Ella, went before the court on the charge of fighting. The testimony went to show that Tom was at fault, and as Mayor Hardin shares President Roosevelt's ideas about the tenaciousness of wife beating, he ordered the fine amount of bond, was allowed to stand. The charge of threatening his wife with a pistol was dismissed, with stern threats, however, as to what would be done if the charge is ever preferred in the court.

Brides of the White House.

Approval of the wedding of the president's daughter, it is interesting to recall other affairs of like character that have taken place in the Executive Mansion. One of the leading articles in the March Delimitation is "Brides of the White House," by Mrs. Schuyler Crowninshield. It is illustrated with a handsome portrait of Miss Roosevelt never before published. "Miss Todd, a niece of the lovely Dolly Madison, was the first bride to pronounce her vows beneath the ancient oak in the East Room," she insisted. "She married Congressman Jackson of Virginia. Little is told in history about Miss Todd, but if she was as charming as her distinguished mother, the fascinating Dolly, Congressman Jackson was a lucky man indeed. One may in fancy see Miss Todd watching from the windows of the old Executive Mansion, which was afterwards burned by the British, for the arrival of her lover; and the lovely Dolly, just as she was beseeched, peering over the shoulder of the girl by her side. Congressman Jackson would presently arrive to the old Virginia coachman driven by a yellow or a black boy, his body-servant sitting with the coachman, anxious to attend upon his master in this the most interesting and vital moment of his life. One can fancy Congressman Jackson approaching in knee-breeches and buckled shoes, taking his slip of tongue or toddy in the great hall before being ushered into the presence of his beloved; and from the accounts of the times one may imagine the bride and groom, with their guests, historians say, was attended by every one who had any claim to social distinction.

On the Ferryboat.
"Twas just an average little boy of six or thereabouts: I left him full of pizante, and he left me full of doubts. He ate bananas, sandwiches, Sweet pickles, cake and jam, Fried chicken and potato dices, Ice cream and tea and ham. To these he added pink pop corn and quarts of lemonade. Of what, then, was his little tum so wonderfully mad?"
Why, I asked breath I watched that expecting him to burst. But presently, though still I gazed, I ceased to fear the worst.
For after endless candy from a green and sticky heap, That sweet infant sighed and yawned, Then, smiling, fell asleep!
—Edna Kingsley Wallace in Woman's Home Companion for March.

A Favorite Remedy for Babies.
Its pleasant taste and prompt cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a favorite with the mothers of small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds and prevents any danger of pneumonia or other serious consequences. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears will prevent attack. For sale by all Druggists.

PROHIBITION IN GREENVILLE.

Local Newspapers Testify to a Great Improvement Since the Dispensaries Were Voted Out.
"I haven't seen a drunk man nor a man half-way intoxicated today," said a police officer last night as night fell. "Yes, I can see all the difference in the world since the dispensaries were closed," he answered in response to a question of a Herald reporter. "I never saw a drunk man nor a man half-way intoxicated since they were voted out last night, when there were small crowds of men and women before the dispensaries were closed. The streets were thronged yesterday afternoon and the absence of drunkenness was conspicuously noticeable."
This condition has created wide comment. On Monday in municipal courts there are seldom more than four or five cases, when before the dispensaries were closed thirty-five cases were not at all unusual. The police records show these facts.
The police department has been relieved of much unpleasant duty since the dispensaries were closed, and the absence of drunks has become marked.—Greenville Herald.

There was no police court yesterday, because there were no cases on the docket for trial. For three days the mayor has not had a case to hear, and Chief Becknell said yesterday that he could scarcely remember the last time an arrest had been made in the city. Before the dispensaries were closed in Greenville, the police made on an average of ten arrests a day. Some days there were twenty or thirty on the police docket. At other times there were less, but the average was ten, or thereabout. For the past week the average has been one a day, perhaps less than one.
Such conditions are astonishing. Of course the absence of the dispensaries cannot be entirely responsible for this change, but even the most ardent supporters of the system, or even the high license advocates, must admit that there is a great deal to be said in favor of the prohibition. Thieves and disorderly conduct are not always to be traced to a whiskey-soaked brain. There will still be something for the officers of the law to do, but if conditions continue as they are, the number of crimes will be far below what it had been in former times.
Chief Constable Hall and the men working under him have watched the express office here, and practically all whiskey traffic in this county for illegal traffic has been stopped. In fact whiskey houses in other states have learned their lesson. They do not attempt to make sales to those under suspicion. Greenville News.

Always Keeps Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in His House.
The following is a true story of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is kept on hand continually in our home," says a lady who writes to the Independent, Lowry City, Mo. "That is, when we have a cold or a cough. When kept at hand ready for instant use, a cold may be checked at the outset and cured in much less time than after it has become settled in the system. This remedy is also a peer for croup in children, and will prevent the attack when given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, which can only be done when the remedy is kept at hand. For sale by all Druggists.

The Lattimer Bill Passed.
Washington, Feb. 28.
Senator Lattimer's district bill passed the senate today. It now comes to the house and were it not that the bill of the judiciary committee of the house is the bill the South Carolina home delegation has agreed to support, the Lattimer bill could be called up by any South Carolina member at any time and could most likely pass without opposition. It is now certain that the chairman of the judiciary committee would not object. But the house members are committed to the other bill, providing for Chester, and there is no one to call it up out of order and thus get this troublesome and exceedingly precarious business settled once for all. The matter of adding Rock Hill as another place for holding court might be put in after words or it might be left out altogether. It seems almost certain, even if the Johnson bill, providing for Greenville, Greenwood, Rock Hill and Spartanburg, or the Allen bill, providing for only Greenville and Greenwood, is reported out by the committee—which to say the least is doubtful—there will be no further conference as there was last year, which may kill the bill by failure to agree. Anyway, the Lattimer, senate bill is not the house bill with the two other bills. What will come of the whole matter there is no telling at this stage.—Zach McInnes in The Statesman.
"Where it is said, 'the home' bill, the bars are committed to the other bill, providing for Chester," the writer evidently meant to say, "providing for Rock Hill."—Ed. The Lantern.

Doctors Are Puzzled.
The remarkable recovery of Kaimethi, a native of the island of Hawaii, from a case of gonorrhoea, has attracted the attention of the medical community and a wide circle of friends. It is a case of the most unusual kind, and one that has puzzled the doctors of the island. The patient, Kaimethi, was a native of the island of Hawaii, and had been suffering from gonorrhoea for several years. He had tried every treatment known to the doctors of the island, but without success. He was finally brought to the attention of the medical community in Honolulu, and was treated by the best doctors of the island. He recovered completely, and is now a healthy man. This case is a remarkable one, and one that has puzzled the doctors of the island. It is a case of the most unusual kind, and one that has puzzled the doctors of the island. It is a case of the most unusual kind, and one that has puzzled the doctors of the island.

Agasson Letters.

Agasson, Feb. 28.—The farmers are very busy these beautiful days. Some are sowing seeds, others are picking in green cotton seed, preparing for another crop.
Mrs. E. A. Willis and children spent part of last week in Rock Hill visiting her sister, Mrs. Buchanan.
Mrs. Ross Stratton, of Rock Hill, visited her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William Gaston, last Friday and Saturday, returning Sabbath afternoon.

Miss K. B. Blanks, a daughter of Mr. J. D. Blanks of the Mr. Holly neighborhood, had the misfortune to fall from a wagon last Saturday morning and have her left arm broken at the elbow. She is a credit year of age. Dr. Gaston attended her and she is getting on very nicely.
Mr. Ward Patton, of Catawba Junction, spent Sabbath at Dr. Gaston's with his mother.

Mr. J. B. Fudge and wife spent Sabbath with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Blanks.
Mr. and Mrs. Craig McEldon visited the bedside of Mr. Newman Hudson, who is very sick at his home near Robinson, last Saturday.
Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Clinton were in town this afternoon. Mrs. Clinton called to see Mrs. W. C. Wood.

Misses Sallie Hickey, Henrietta Lyle and Ida Dye spent last Friday night with Miss Edna Robinson. They had quite a lively time.
Miss M. H. Hicks, Mrs. Hicks's assistant in the school at Lando, will continue her studies in Columbia for this term. Miss Kibel Gaston will teach Mrs. Hicks' room from now on until this term expires.

Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Itch, Ring Worm, Herpes, Barbo's Itch.

"IN A BAD WAY."

Many a Chester Reader Will Feel Grateful for This Information.

When your back gives out; Becomes lame, weak or aching; You are unable to move; Your kidneys are "in a bad way," Don't let Kidney Pills will cure you. It is evidence that your back has given you a lot of trouble. I have had kidney complaint and my back has been able to work. The kidney secretions have been all out of sorts. They were full of sediment like bricks and it allowed to stand would almost solidify. This may sound like an exaggeration, but it is nevertheless true. My back ached worse at night and I would awaken feeling as though it was broken in half. I had a desire to turn over in bed and would often lay there and wonder how and when I could simply have to take both hands and pull myself over it. I tried plasters and liniments, used cast oil put on a red flannel bandage and had it sewed on. I could not tell you what I didn't do but it was always "in a bad way." My kidneys were "in a bad way." My back ached with them. I also was unable to sleep nights and rest."
