THE DUTY OF THE HOUR.

A Crisis in South Carolina—Each Man Must Bear His Share of Responsibility.

Greenville Mountaineer.

The Lake City massacre was the subject upon which Rev. W. A. Rogers preached a powerful sermon on Sunday night in the Buncombe street Methodist church. Mr. Rogers took as his text, Proverbs 14:34: "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." He said in part:

The greatest crime which has ever blotted the fair name of South Carolina has just been committed at Lake City. Not in the South Sea Islands, not in Africa, not in any uncivilized land, but here in South Carolina a man has been killed, his infant murdered, and both burned. His wife and daughter are wounded. The most lenient construction placed upon that fearful tragedy leaves it without the shadow of excuse. It is a grave mistake for the administration to insist upon appointments utterly repugnant to citizens. But when that is said, when it is granted that Baker was incompetent, there is not the faintest reason for a deed which puts our State, unless that deed is punished, upon a level with uncivilized lands. My fellow countrymen, every citizen of South Carolina is involved in that crime.

South Carolina! There is a past of glory in that name. If there was a time when to say, "I am a Roman were greater than a king," there has been a time when to say, "I am a South Carolinian," was to say I am of a people brave, noble, honorable, and just, a righteous people. We were exalted among the people. It has been our mission to send forth men as brave and women as queenly as any land. But in the eyes of mankind, all this is now in ruins. How are the mighty fallen! A once proud people are so no more until by righteous means we have purged ourselves and proved our right to our once untarnished name.

Read there on our coat of arms, Animus opibusque parati. Prepared to do what? To avenge a wrong which cries to heaven. Upon us, if we love our State, devolves the duty of aiding, every man of us, in wiping out a reproach so rank "as smells to heaven" and cries to God for vengeance. The unparalleled unanimity with which the press has spoken is a healthy sign. My countrymen, a sentiment, a principle, can now be created so strong that the governor, the sheriffs, the juries, will know that the people will sustain law.

Let me say that Lake City itself is not to blame. She very likely furnished not a man for that awful deed. I know her people and have found them quiet, law-abiding, honest, brave and true.

I would awaken in every breast, could I do it, the consciousness of individual responsibility. We are on trial before God and men. Justice is cheap. Deeds are needed. Justice should be our way. The foundations of our very civilization are imperilled. Far greater than the power of Spanish squadrons and armies is the undermining power of internal wrong unpunished. "Resist the beginnings," says the ancient proverb. Alas, we have not done it. Crime has already learned too well that she can exist in this land. Lake City's fearful tragedy did not come in a night. It is simply a step in the progress of crime. Disease not arrested poisons the whole body at last. Internal righteousness is the price of national existence. Its presence is shown in our ability to throw off evil. Its absence is found in our inability to cope with wrong.

What must be the basis of such righteousness? The recognition of God. If the fear of God be gone, stability is gone. Here is the field of individual influence, that of example. We are very ready to say what others ought to do. I call you to question what ought you to do in this crisis? Will you simply lay the blame on the governor, on judges, juries, or lawyers? I say no. These dare not fall below the public sentiment. They index public sentiment. Look and see and let us honestly try to find if we have aided in a movement which culminated at Lake City. Any law of God violated aids lawlessness.

Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy is a divine law. But haven't we seen congress in session on that day? If congress can break divine law, will not men break the laws of congress?

Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself is a divine law. Have you each kept it? In business, in politics, in voting? Have you tried to bribe a jury or buy a vote?

The time was when the law, Thou shalt not kill, was regarded with reverent awe. Now what is the value of human life? Need we be surprised at a tragedy like that at Lake City?

In South Carolina, 44.17 per cent of our population are members of the Christian church. What are they doing? They could raise such a storm of indignation that crime would be banished from our shore. A public sentiment can now be created so strong, so determined, so like the voice of one man, that the law can be enforced and this fearful crime punished and future crime prevented. Meet, speak your minds. Let the world know we are ready to act as one man. O, for some leader who could rise and speak the word!

A man "who has an understanding of the times to know what Israel ought to do." By the side of earth's heroes he would stand exalted.

Sin is a reproach. Are we upon the inclined plane to destruction made smooth by nations now no more. Righteousness exalteth a nation and only righteousness.

Let the leaders speak, let them point out the danger. Let the people hear, let them act in no doubtful way. Let individuals rise to their responsibility. Let the government and juries and sheriffs know that a million or more people are behind them. Let crime feel your hand. It is eternal law! Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people.

World's Visible Supply.

NEW ORLEANS, March 4.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton made up from special cable and telegraphic advices compares the figures of this week with last week, last year and 1895, the latter the 9,901,000 crop year. It shows a decrease during the week just closed of 35,313 bales against a decrease last year of 67,059 and a decrease of 39,810 in 1895.

The total visible supply is 4,331,901 against 4,357,214 last week, 3,726,253 last year and 4,754,909 in 1895. Of this total of American cotton is 4,071,901 against 4,119,214 last week, 3,340,995 last year and 4,413,709 in 1895 and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 260,000 and 248,000 last week, 415,300 last year and 341,200 in 1895.

The total world's visible supply of cotton shows a decrease compared with last week of 35,313 bales, an increase compared with last year of 575,649 and a decrease compared with 1895 of 423,008 bales.

Bobby—"Papa, what is natural philosophy?" "Natural philosophy is the science of cause and reason. Now, for instance, you see the steam coming out of the kettle, but don't know why or for what reason it." "Oh, yes, I do. That's your mamma to open your letters so you won't know it."

Washington Letter.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Unless the Spanish do something to precipitate matters there is little probability of any material change in the situation during the next ten days. The report of the naval court of inquiry is not expected earlier than the 15th of the month, and there is no certainty that it will be received as early. As an indication of the correctness of these statements it may be mentioned that a party consisting of Senators Thurston, Callinger and Money, and Representatives Amos J. Cummings and William Alden Smith left Washington this week for Havana, on board of a private yacht. They would not have left Washington if they supposed the Maine matter would be brought up during their absence. Senator Thurston said of the trip: "It is not in any sense an official tour, but it will naturally give us a better opportunity for investigation than we can possibly have from this distance."

Things are as quiet in Washington as if there were not the slightest danger of war, and about the only significant happenings of the week in administration circles was the expression of the opinion by Secretary Long that the element of official Spanish participation in the explosion of the Maine had been practically eliminated by the official Spanish statement that there never had been any mines in Havana harbor—an opinion which has been very harshly criticised in private by Senators and Representatives—and the making of a contract by the war department for $1,000,000 worth of projectiles for the new high-power guns of our coast defenses, in advance of an appropriation by Congress. This extraordinary contract was made upon the assurance of Senators and Representatives that the appropriation would be made as soon as there appeared to be any pressing necessity for it, and the contractors agreed to stop the work at any time and only to charge proportionately for what was done.

It is well that the disposition of members of the House to agree to any and all sorts of appropriations, regardless of their nature, if it can be done without taking a record vote, should occasionally be rebuked. The only possible reason why employes of the House, who are all well paid for the work they do, should receive a present of an extra month's pay at the close of the session, is that they are all either relatives or personal friends of members; but that did not prevent a majority of the House from voting, when the House was sitting as a committee of the whole, to put an amendment on the Sundry Civil bill appropriating the money to give all employes of the House an extra month's salary. The cowardice of many of the members was shown when Representative Cannon, who opposed the amendment, later demanded an aye and nay vote upon it. When they knew that their individual votes would go on record for the inspection of their constituents, only 63 members had the courage to vote for the amendment, while 152 voted against it.

If the Maine question was out of the way, but it isn't, and isn't likely to be for sometime to come, a suggestion that has been made to President McKinley by Representative Beach, of Ohio, for the settlement of the Cuban question would doubtless receive more attention than is now given to it. Mr. Beach proposes that the United States and all the other governments of America join in demanding that Cuba be placed in the hands of a receiver who shall have full authority to administer all of its affairs. There are precedents. For instance, the powers of Europe placed Prince George, of Denmark, on the throne

OUR AVAILABLE NAVY.

With Ships Already in Commission Is More than Match for Spain.

The withdrawal of ships from the reserve and the hurrying forward of those under repair have now put in readiness for any call by far the most powerful modern navy ever under the American flag.

To begin with, there are in North Atlantic and Gulf waters alone 11 armorclads. The battleship Iowa, of 11,410 tons, with 14 inches of armor on her sides and 15 on her turrets, and mounting four 12-inch, eight 8-inch and six 4-inch guns, with 28 smaller ones, heads the list in size. Next come the still more powerful battleships Indiana and the Massachusetts, of 10,288 tons, 18 inch armor on the sides and 17-inch in the barbettes, carrying four 13-inch, eight 8-inch and four 6-inch guns, with 30 secondary pieces. Then we have the Texas, 6,315 tons, with 12-inch armor on sides and turrets, carrying two 12-inch and six 6-inch guns and 24 smaller ones.

Our armored cruisers are the oaklyn of 9,271 tons and a speed 21.9 knots, with 5 1-2 inch turret and 3-inch side armor, carrying eight 8-inch, 12 5-inch and 20 small guns; and the New York of 8,070 tons, 21 knots, 5 1-2 inch turret and 4-inch side armor, carrying 8-inch, twelve 4-inch, and 16 smaller guns. The Monitors are the Puritan of 6,000 tons, with 14-inch armor, carrying four 12-inch, 4-inch and 12 smaller guns; the Amphitrite, the Terror and the Minomoh, of 5,990 tons each, carrying 11 1-2 inch barrette or turret armor and an average of 7-inch armor, with four 10-inch and 2 secondary guns, the Amphitrite carrying in addition two 4-inch guns. Finally we have the Mahan, of 2,155 tons, carrying 4 guns but relying on her formidable under-water beam as her defensive weapon. The total is three battle ships of the first class and one of the second class, four monitors, two armored cruisers and a ram.

The unarmored vessels in Atlantic waters include the Columbia and the Minneapolis, of 7,375 tons, with nine main battery guns; the Cincinnati, of 3,213 tons with 11 such guns; the Detroit, Marblehead and Montgomery, of 2,089 tons, the two former carrying nine guns and the Montgomery ten. The Lancaster, 3,250 tons, is wooden, but has a good modern battery. The gunboats, including training ships, are:

ships, tons: 1,371; the USS Amphitrite, 1,000 tons; ship, launch, 1,177; matic patch b Fern. Castine on the Atlanta fleet is: the Cuspoint, Talbot, and Still not yet the less on, while from con Atlantic should be the Asiatic, ions, etti fleet or f onies or would be our Atham by the drive off the Philip lards.

The Pacific squadron includes three ironclads, of which the Oregon, a sister of the Indiana, is a first-class battleship, while the monitor Monterey, 4,084 tons, carries 13-inch barrette and side armor and two 12-inch, two 10-inch and 12 smaller guns, and the Monadnock is a sister of the Amphitrite. The unarmored ships now in commission include the Baltimore, of 4,413 tons, and four 8-inch and six 6-inch main battery guns, and the gunboats Bennington, 1,710 tons and six 6-inch guns, and the Wheeling and the Marietta, 1,000 tons and six 4-inch guns. There are also useful old-time ships, like the Adams, Alert, and Mohican, and there are more modern ones under repair. On the Asiatic station, Commodore Dewey has the flagship Olympia, of 5,870 tons and four 8-inch, ten 5-inch, and 24 smaller guns; the Raleigh, a sister ship of the Cincinnati; the Boston, of 3,000 tons and two 8-inch, six 6-inch, and 12 smaller guns; the Concord, a sister ship of the Bennington, and the Petrel, a little gunboat of 892 tons and four 6-inch and seven smaller guns, besides the old Monocacy. On the European station are the San Francisco, 4,098 tons and twelve 6-inch guns, the Helena, a sister ship of the Wilmington, and the Bancroft, 976 tons and four 4-inch guns.

The array is not even yet complete. We must still add as available at dates in the near future the cruisers Charleston, 3,730 tons and eight main battery guns; the Newark, 4,098 tons and 12 guns; the Philadelphia, 4,324 tons and 12 guns, and the Yorktown, a sister ship of the Bennington. There are also several old-style cruising vessels like the Essex and the Alliance, while some powerful navy force could be made useful.

Such is our available navy force, which each day increases by hurrying forward the ships out or under repair and the torpedo boats and buildings. We have not included the Kearsarge and the Kentucky because these great battleships, to be launched this month, will still be a long time in completing. But our regular navy could be largely re-enforced from the mercantile steam marine. As it stands, however, it is more than a match for Spain's besides having the incomparable advantage of a base on the Cuban side of the Atlantic.—New York Sun.

Morgantown News.

Quite a time has elapsed since you have heard from this neighborhood. I dare say you have concluded that old Morgantown is asleep or slow to speak, but here we are as lively as ever. It is pure neglect and laziness, to some degree, that none of us will give the news from this section.

Well, what must I talk about, for news is like the price of cotton last year and even now scarce.

As far as I can see farmers in this county are commencing their farms and seem determined to go ahead in spite of the times and the low price of cotton. They are fighting for a living, or more than ever. It is times are hard but they are ahead with their ploughing and never give up. If it were to succeed, try, try, try. Owing to the mildness of the weather, the farmers are very with their work.

It seems to be the order of the day. The young folks have had a very busy season, and are looking forward to a great many of the socials are very and enjoyable to all who efficient and popular Professor, who has charge of Morning school, is doing well. Quite sure that the patrons have made a better selection teacher. He is boarding W. Bankhead's. Distilled the First Turpentine.

Cheraw has among its population, in the person of Leonard Crenshaw, colored, the pioneer of the turpentine business in this State. Leonard was in the employ of General Crenshaw, who boxed the first trees in this State, and Leonard was his distiller. The old man distilled the first barrel of spirits of turpentine ever produced in South Carolina, which is quite an honor, as the industry afterwards assumed such large proportions, and is still an important one, amounting, from that day to this, to millions of dollars.—News and Courier.

 English feeling is reported as being in sympathy with that of America for the independence of Cuba.

Spain has requested President McKinley to withdraw Consul-General Lee from Havana; as also to send no more supplies to Cuba in war-ships. Both requests have been politely declined. General Lee is not only satisfactory to our government, but has won the admiration of the whole country. Humanity demands the sending of food to non-combatants who are penned up and starved by Spanish authorities, and in sending food, it is necessary for the ships that carry it to go armed. It is significant of something that Spain has receded from her request for Lee's withdrawal.

Another Entertaining Opera—by Local Talent.

A new opera—The Pied Piper of Hamelin—will be produced at the opera house next Tuesday night, March 15th, under the auspices of the ladies of the Baptist church, and under the direction of the author, Mr. J. W. Tillinghast, a native of South Carolina and a musical genius.

The cast and chorus have been hard at work rehearsing for the past two weeks, and one more week of drilling and practicing will enable them to present in almost perfect order an opera replete with most amusing dialogue, and sweet and beautiful solos, duets, quartettes and choruses. No lover of music or comic opera can afford to miss this entertainment.

Tribute.

At a meeting of Walker-Gaston Camp Confederate Veterans, held March 3, 1897, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted: Whereas, language is inadequate to express our grief and abhorrence of the dastardly crime which removed from our midst our beloved and comrade, Lieut. Col. James Marshall, and whereas it is right proper at all times to show deference to merit, be it therefore Resolved, That we the survivors of the Walker-Gaston Camp Confederate Veterans desire to see a chaplet upon the memory of deceased friend by recording admiration for him as a citizen, soldier, and a Christian gentleman.
 Resolved, That his death is a loss to this city, to his church, to the state of his adoption, as splendid services were ever at command of every right cause, his strong arm was ever ready to uphold the oppressed and to minister to the weak and suffering.

 Resolved, That we desire to express to his family our sincere and deep-felt sympathy in this their greatest of afflictions.
 Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, that they be printed in our newspaper, and that a copy be presented to the bereaved family.

Due West Items.

Editor LANTERN: It has been my intention for some time to write a letter from this place for your paper. I will now attempt to carry out my intention.

Hon. William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska, will be in Due West on March 11th. He will deliver a lecture on bi-metalism in the college auditorium. Due West is looking forward with no little pleasure to the coming of that day. There is little doubt that Due West will be crowded to her utmost. Mr. Editor the Chester boys would be glad to see you here on that day.

The second series of examinations begin next week. The boys will be on pins until all the examinations are stood and heard from.

Both literary societies have had their semi-annual celebration. Next in order is the celebration of the Amelian literary society, of the Due West Female College. Some of the Chester girls are to take a prominent part in that celebration.

Carl Herrman, the world's famous violinist, was at the Female College last Saturday night. He is certainly gifted in the art of drawing the bow.

Fearing that I have already wearied you too much, I will close for this time, wishing the LANTERN much success in the future.

QUIS.

A Card of Thanks.

"A friend in need is a friend indeed."

The feeling that takes possession of one suddenly aroused from slumber to see his hard earned property being rapidly consumed by flames caused by an incendiary, cannot be described. Such an indescribable feeling was experienced by me at 4:30 o'clock on the morning of Jan. 18th, when I was aroused by my wife to find all ablaze my barn and crib, containing all my corn and roughness, four head of mules, one horse, and three cows. By almost superhuman efforts one mule and two cows were saved, the mule being so badly burned as to be of little service.

I take this method of extending my grateful thanks to all the friends who have so kindly and promptly come to my aid. Without their assistance it would have been impossible for me to have started a crop. May the Lord bless each and every one of them.

On the Death of Katherine.

As a slight mark of sympathy for the deep bereavement and sorrow they feel over the death of their baby girl, these lines are affectionately inscribed, by the author, to Capt. and Mrs. John M. Reddick:

When we would deck a spot with flowers
 We gave the fairest buds that blow:
 We seek through vales and shaded bowers,
 And pluck them where they grow.

The rose that's by the tempest shattered
 Tempts not the anxious, seeking hands,
 Its beauty's gone, its perfume's scattered,
 It withers where it stands.

The buds of purest, tenderest beauty,
 Unmarred, untouched by winds that rove,
 Are those we choose to fill a duty
 And blossom where we love.

When Christ would deck a realm with flowers
 He claims the fairest buds that blow:
 He treads through earthly homes and bowers
 And plucks them where they grow.

He loves, as we, the sweetest roses,
 And bids them bloom in heaven a while,
 And there with Him the flower reposes
 Contented in His smile.

Dear parents, you have lost your treasure,
 The fairest bud that ever blew,
 Christ plucked it for his sacred pleasure,
 And bore it off from you.

While here 'twas but a simple flower,
 With Him it will an angel be,
 Grown fairer, purer every hour
 With beckoning hands toward thee.

No blighting winds can bruise the tender
 And fragile bud in Jesus' care;
 His loving hands will ever render
 Sweet protection for it there.

Mr. Peter Hollis, one of our members of the Legislature, was in town last Saturday. Speaking of the race for governor, he thinks that the probabilities favor the re-election of Ellerbe. Still in his opinion Senator Archer, of Spartanburg, will give him a close race.

What two young old maids came to town to take charge of a friend's residence in her absence, and the first night barred doors and windows and set watch-dogs at the front entrance, whilst they left the back door, the door that thieves would naturally select, wide open, and rushed into the kitchen next morning, night-caps awry to ascertain how the cook entered without knocking? A reward for the correct answer!

Gave up The Fight.

To Editor Rock Hill Messenger.—I take this method to inform my friends of the 5th Congressional District, and State, that I am out of the race for the postmastership at Chester. My letter of withdrawal was sent to the department nearly a month ago. Circumstances over which I had no control warranted me in my action, therefore I thank my friends for their past support. Trust the Grand Old Party will move quietly on through the ages to come.

Respectfully,
W. D. HOOPER.

Is There a Remedy?

Complaint is made that there is rowdiness on the public roads leading from town, in the afternoons. It is reported as having been particularly bad last Saturday afternoon. Whiskey seems to be the inspiration, and the disorder is in such forms as running horses, hollowing, cursing, shooting, and general boisterousness, making it dangerous, especially for ladies, to travel the roads. It is said that there was much drunkenness in town also Saturday afternoon. Drunkenness or disorder in town is punished, but is there any remedy on the country roads before an actual casualty occurs?

ANOTHER HOMICIDE.

Henry Marcus Shoots Duffie Estes Just one Month from the Murder of Capt. Marshall.

Yesterday morning early the news spread through the city that J. Duffie Estes had been shot by Henry H. Marcus. Both men lived well out on Columbia street, on adjoining lots. Estes started toward town in a buggy, and at the old nursery, near Tanyard branch, overtook Marcus, who was walking. According to Estes, Marcus turned and began firing without a word being spoken. According to Marcus, Estes stopped and started toward him with his whip, with a motion as if to draw a pistol, when he (Marcus) shot in self-defense. Estes was shot in the stomach, throat, and hip. He said that he received the wound in his stomach while in his buggy, and that three shots were fired after he jumped out, two taking effect. They clinched and both fell over the fence together. He was punishing Marcus severely when others arrived and interfered. Estes was taken back to his house and was attended by Drs. McConnell and Pryor, but died about 5 p. m. Marcus was taken to jail. We wish to give no coloring to either side of the case. It is sufficient to say that bad feeling had existed for some time and they had had a difficulty on Saturday evening. Each claimed that the other had made threats upon his life. Estes was not armed. Both were regarded as peaceable men. Estes has been conducting a meat market with decided success. Marcus is a blacksmith and has been employed in Stricker's shop.

The remains will be buried at Uriel today, leaving the residence at 11 o'clock.

Coroner Shannon impaneled a jury of inquest yesterday evening, who viewed the body and adjourned till this morning. It is now in session.

State Senator.

Mr. J. H. McDaniel has represented Chester county in the State senate for a number of years. He has been at the head of important committees and his counsel has been sought in many matters of grave importance. Though not a speech maker he has exerted a very decided influence in legislation. And now Senator McDaniel is satisfied with legislative honors, and will decline re-election. Now a new man must be sought for senator. While we do not wish to forestall the country's choice, we believe that, all things considered, A. G. Brice, Esq., will fill the place as well as any man in the county. Upright, honest, independent, and patriotic, he would sacrifice any office for what he believes to be right. His experience as a member of the lower house qualifies him better for the senate. He is not an office seeker. We have not mentioned this suggestion, and we are uncertain whether or not he will be pleased to hear of it. We will say further that we do not commit ourselves to his support, if a better man can be named. What we say is intended for the public good and not for the benefit of an individual.

Educational Fallacy Number One.

To hold that all men are created equal. In no sense are men created equal. Ability, aptitude, tastes, temperament, environment, all go toward differentiating one being from all other beings. The types and varieties of minds are as numerous and as marked as those of faces. One mind may be absolutely unable to grasp comprehensively what another mind has grasped with comparative ease. The mental vision of every individual has its own peculiar limitations.

It seems that we were misinformed last week about the office Capt. Edmund Bacon was suggested for. It is comptroller general instead of secretary of state.

Stop it Now.

The best people of the State, the law abiding people and those jealous of the good name of the State will approve without reservation the action of Governor Elber in offering a reward for the detection and arrest of perpetrators of the most heinous and shocking crime committed in Williamsburg county. This is ought not to be the end of the investigation. It should be energetically and vigorously pushed. The effort to apprehend the criminals ought to be exercised with the same earnestness and sincere desire as would be the case had a dwelling or barn been burned by an incendiary. If a prominent citizen of Williamsburg had lost his dwelling, and a large body of men were known to have been instrumental in the burning, it is safe to say that somebody would be arrested without much delay, and it would require no overwhelming proof to convict, and mete out speedy and adequate punishment. In fact, it is exceedingly probable that the assassins of Baker and his family would summarily take the matter in hand, and arrogate to themselves the functions of sheriff, judge, and jury.

If, then, in crime such as arson, which is as nothing compared with the barbarous assassination of a baby and little children, we know that the guilty parties would be punished, and that swiftly, how can we defend the State if she shall fall in this diabolical crime to do her full duty?

Some of our contemporaries seem elated that the United States government will take a hand in this matter, because it happens that the house occupied by the victims was used as a postoffice. We confess that we feel somewhat humiliated. In this State above all others, we have made prominent State's sovereignty, and we cannot keep from feeling some regret that it is necessary to look to the United States for the orderly administration of justice. State's sovereignty pre-disposes that a state is not only able, but will enforce law. It ought, therefore, to be a shame to our citizens that they feel the least fear that a violation of the State's law will not be punished by the State without the intervention of the United States, even though it should, by chance, be that the law of both has been violated.

This shameful occurrence is full of thoughtful reflection to right thinking people. It shows the evolution of the evil and danger of a people interfering with the orderly administration of justice as prescribed by the constitution and our statutory law. At first, the pretext for lynching was based upon the ground that it would be unreasonable to expect the victim of a rapist to undergo the publicity of a legal trial, and, therefore, a lynching was justifiable for "the nameless crime." This led to a step further. It was then ascertained that lynching was excusable in all of those cases where a conviction might be avoided upon some flimsy technical ground. This led to lynching for murder, and sometimes even for lesser crimes. Now it is justified because a public official, though appointed and regularly commissioned through legal authority, is hot the choice of his constituents, and the mob is made sole judge. Where it will end nobody can tell. The only remedy is to stop lynching. If it is not stopped, it will pursue its logical course, and lynch trials will take the place of regular and legal trials in our court houses.

It is a serious matter, and lynching is all the more serious because it is on the increase.—News & Herald.

Dying Cuba.

Famine and pestilence continue their ravages in Western Cuba. Every mail that reaches New York from Havana, is filled with ghastly reminders of the fact that, within a few hours' journey of our shores, multitudes are dying of hunger and the diseases that are the unfulfilling accompaniment of long continued privation. The revelations concerning the famine, which have appeared in the columns of The Christian Her- ald, have opened the eyes of the American people to the real character of the frightful tragedy that is being enacted almost at our very doors—a tragedy involving the fate of nearly a million human beings, of whom over 400,000 have already died. It is not surprising that such a catastrophe could occur within a half day's sail of an American port seems incredible, and it is not surprising that the statement should have been called in question by many on hearing it for the first time. But there is no longer a shadow of doubt about the actual condition of affairs in Cuba. The awful sacrifice of life through starvation and disease is now established by official admissions on the part of the Spanish authorities, by the reports of a number of United States consuls, by the reports of visiting American commissions, by a number of correspondents of American newspapers, and, finally and most conclusively, by Consul General Lee at Havana and our own correspondent, Sylvester Scovel, whose remarkable letters have thrilled the hearts of our people as they have not been thrilled in many years.

Under Divine blessing, The Christian Herald and its readers may be the means of saving many thousands of lives in Cuba. To do this, however, we must work quickly. More abundant supplies of food and medicine are imperatively needed. This is a case in which the liberality of God's people should flow like a river, carrying blessing with it. Clara Barton and Consul-General Lee and their respective co-workers are equal to any exertion they may be called to make in the prosecution of this great life-saving work. They are in the field as your special relief representatives. They will be able to accomplish glorious results if promptly and properly supported.

Yet not for their sake, nor for ours, but for the sake of our brothers and sisters in poor, dying Cuba, and in the name of Him who went about healing the sick and feeding the hungry multitudes, we ask all to send in their offerings for the Relief fund. It is His work, and you must act promptly if you would be the means of saving a life in Cuba.—Christian Herald.

Lawful Interest.

Following is the law that now governs legal rates of interest: Section 1. That no greater interest than 7 per cent. per annum shall be charged, taken, agreed upon, or allowed, upon any contract arising in this state for the hiring, lending or use of money, or other commodity, either by way of straight interest, discount or otherwise, except upon written contract, wherein by express agreement, a rate of interest not exceeding 8 per cent., may be charged.

Sec. 2. Any person or corporation who shall receive or contract to receive, as interest, any greater amount than is provided for in the preceding section, shall forfeit all interest and the cost of the action and such portion of the original debt as shall be due shall be recovered without interest or costs, and where any amount so charged or contracted for has been actually received by such person or corporation, he or she or they shall forfeit double the amount received in respect of interest, to be collected by a separate action brought to recover the principal sum.

Sec. 3. That the borrower, and his heirs, devisees, legatees, or personal representative, or any creditor or any person having a legal or equitable interest in the estates or assets of such borrower, may plead the benefit of the provisions of this act, as plaintiff or defendant, and the same shall be effectual at any suit at law, or in equity, and any person offending against the same shall be compelled to answer, on oath, any complaint that may be exhibited against him for the discovery of any sum of money or things in action, so charged, agreed upon, reserved or taken in violation of the foregoing provisions, or either of them.

Sec. 4. That all acts and parts of acts, inconsistent with this act, and the same are hereby repealed; provided, that this act shall not apply to contracts made before it goes into effect. Approved the 10th day of February A. D. 1898.

Law as to Trespass.

Below is the recently enacted law as to trespass: Section 176. Every entry upon the lands of another after notice from the owner or tenant prohibiting the same, shall be a trespass, and be punished by fine not to exceed $100 or imprisonment with hard labor on the public works of the county not exceeding 30 days. Provided, that whenever any owner or tenant of any lands shall post a notice in four conspicuous places on the borders of any land prohibiting entry thereon, and shall publish one thereon for four successive weeks, such notice in any newspaper circulating in the county where such lands are situate, a proof of the posting and of publishing of such notice within twelve months prior to the entry, shall be deemed and taken as notice conclusive against the person making entry as aforesaid, for hunting or fishing.

Cute Little Johnny.

A lady on Woodward avenue has a little boy who is inclined to freckle and has been told to keep on his hat when out in the sun. Last week she engaged a servant whose face is quite roughened with smallpox. Robbie looked at her very closely and then said to his mother: "It's too bad, ain't it, mamma?" "What's too bad?" said his mother. "That her didn't keep on her hat." His mother was puzzled and said: "Why should Mary keep on her hat?" "Cause the sun's jammed all her freckles in."

High Living in Georgia.

A Negro, being hotly pursued by dogs that were guarding a farmhouse in the owner's absence, fled to a swamp and climbed a tree for safety. In telling about it afterwards he said: "Yes, suh! I was in a tight place, I tell you! Up dat tree I went, and dar I stayed for two days en nights, wid dem dogs keep' guard at de foot. When dey'd git tired, dey'd relieve each yuther, but dey wuz always a couple er dem on duty all de time, so dar I wuz en 'fraid er my minute 'ad bring de farmer, wid his gun!" "And you had nothing to eat all that time?" "Oh, yes, suh; I wuz well fixed in dat respic"; I lived high, so ter speak." "And what did you live on?" "Well, suh, ter make a long story short, dar wuz a 'possum up dat tree likewise, and bless God, he wuz ez 'fraid er de dogs ez I wuz!"
