INTERNED BRITISHERS OFTEN FLEE HOLLAND

Dutch Soldiers Refuse to Shoot Them When They Try to Escape From Old Fort.

The Hague, Aug. 30.—(Special) The Associated Press—The ancient fortress of Wierkerke, where are interned the British officers of the Antwerp fleet, reported that the soldiers refused to fire upon them when they tried to escape from the old fort.

The fortress is surrounded by a cluster of green trees and a broad moat, which makes it virtually an island. It was first built in 1572. It was in that year that King XIV. of France invaded Holland and marched to Amsterdam. The country was at once flooded and several fortifications were built to guard the high roads which could not be submerged.

JUDGE MAY CHARGE ON FRANK LYNDING

Pattern May Make Special Reference in Advice to Cobb.

Charlotte, Aug. 31.—The first charge to a Cobb county grand jury was the lynching of Lo M. Frank August 17 will be delivered before tomorrow morning by Judge C. H. Patterson. Judge Patterson intimated after the lynching that it was probably a special charge on the case would be given the jury. Whether it will be done was not known definitely tonight. As other matters doubtless will be brought to the jury's attention, it is possible that whatever reference is made to the case will be included in the general charge.

LIFTING OF THE F-4 AN ENGINEERING FEAT

Submarine Brought from a Depth of 300 Feet by a New Apparatus.

Washington, Aug. 30.—(Special) Admiral Clifford J. Bouch, commander of the Naval station at Honolulu, notified the Navy Department today that the submarine F-4 had been raised. The news caused naval experts to entertain hopes that the examination of the submarine will reveal the nature of the accident which resulted in the loss of the craft. Admiral Bouch reported that the F-4 had been skillfully floated as planned by means of pontoons, and now lies secured to the Quarantine examination of the submarine will be made in the drydock at Honolulu for examination.

This marks the successful ending of the salvage operations upon submarine F-4. When first lost it seemed hardly possible that she might not be full of water, and hence resting lightly on the bottom. Beginning the very day of her loss, on March 25, attempts were made to raise the submarine by means of a wire cable dragged on the bottom. In the hope of pulling her into shallow water she were not water-logged.

The attempt was successful to the extent of engaging the boat in the loop of the cable, but when the strain was put upon it, it was found impossible to move her, indicating that the submarine was water-logged and that the crew had perished.

It then became necessary to lift the boat bodily—an operation unprecedented—under a depth of 300 feet, in which the F-4 was lying. Great credit is due to Admiral C. B. D. Moore in command of the Pearl Harbor Station; Naval Constructor J. A. Furer, attached to the Pearl Harbor Station; and Lieutenant C. E. Smith, in command of the submarine flotilla to which the F-4 belonged. The apparatus used was designed by Naval Constructor Furer and consisted of two large mud screws from a local company. These were had vertical wells through them up which the lifting lines could be led. The screws were strapped around the wells and some large sugar-mill shafts sixteen inches in diameter were secured over them horizontally, in heavy bearings. The lifting appliances were fitted around them, making horizontal windlasses. To rotate these shafts, large spools some four or five feet in diameter, were fitted on their ends, and cables strapped around them were wound as required by steady power.

The dead weight to be lifted was about 250 tons, and four sets of slings were used, the 'ooop of each set being swept under the boat, and the two ends led up and around the sixteen-inch shafts. The task of sweeping the slings under the submarine and then bringing the ends to the lifting appliances was extremely difficult.

STILL FIGHTING FOR BRIDGEHEAD

Berlin Reports Further Progress in Direction of Last of Russian Fortresses.

Berlin, Aug. 30.—The German official statement today reports that the army has not only taken to be reported from the Western theatre of the war.

"Eastern theatre of war: Army group of Field Marshal von Hindenburg, the battle for the possession of the bridgehead south of Freidrichstadt still continues. South of the Niemen our troops are advancing in the direction of the railway leading to Grodno in Vilna. They have taken 2,600 prisoners.

"On the western front the Grodno fortress district Novodvor and Kuznka have been recaptured. There has also been some progress at the eastern border of the forest of the forest of Bialystok.

"The passage of the upper Niemen by our troops was step by step and the right wing of this army group is advancing against Grodno. Army group of Field Marshal von Hindenburg. The pursuit of the enemy has been continued to the Munchawitz tributary. We defeated the enemy rear guard and 3,700 prisoners fell into our hands.

"South-eastern theatre of war: The army groups of German and Austro-Hungarian troops which broke through enemy lines north of Brzezany, on the Zlota Lipa, Gole, a, was partially stopped on the Striba by a counter-attack on the part of the strong Russian forces."

POWDER PLANT BLOWN UP

Acton, Mass. Aug. 29.—With a shock that was felt with a radius of four miles, a blasting machine of the American Powder Company, which forces the oak-bark of Europe, was blown up early today by a gas leak.

The plant was built in 1908 and its capacity, blew up early today by a gas leak, as it is known, nobody has been killed. The actual money loss to the company was not heavy, but it was stated that work on large orders would be held up probably for several weeks.

The plant had been closed since Saturday afternoon, and the police of this town and Maynard expressed the belief that the explosion had been caused with intent: to cripple the plant.

An official of the company, said that it would take several weeks to install new machinery and that until this was done work would be held up. He pointed out that at the blasting mill, where the powder enters upon its last stage of manufacture, was the only part of the plant whose loss at this time would be a serious one.

Armed guards have been stationed about the works for a week, but the mills evidently are situated in an isolated part of the town and dense woods and are in the vicinity offer easy concealment for any wishing to avoid discovery.

The explosion was unusually heavy. The shock was felt distinctly to the north as far as Camden, N. H., about fifty miles distant.

PLENTY OF MONEY IN THE TREASURY

Secretary Thinks Extension of War Tax May Be Necessary, However, to Meet Demands.

Washington, Aug. 31.—The United States treasury is in excellent condition, and there is no present prospect that the government will issue bonds or short term notes to meet its current needs.

"It is too soon to talk about revenue legislation," said Mr. McAdoo. "I don't know what the estimates will be and consequently I can't talk about revenue." He added, however, that congress probably would be asked to extend the period of operation of the emergency tax beyond December 31, its present limit. No consideration had been given, he declared, to the advisability of extending the tax beyond the lowering the exemption limit of the income tax law, or other plans suggested to increase revenues.

NEWEST HORRY BANK LOOTED BY ROBBERS.

Safe of Planters at Ayr Braken Open a Stripped of its Contents.

Conway, Aug. 31.—Horry's baby banking institution, the Planters bank, which opened for business about two weeks ago, has been looted by robbers some time Sunday night. The safe of the bank, which is a small safe in the town of Ayr, about 12 miles distant, was opened by robbers some time Sunday night. The safe was broken open and the contents, including $10,000 in cash, were taken away.

The bank was closed since Saturday afternoon, and the police of this town and Maynard expressed the belief that the explosion had been caused with intent: to cripple the plant.

Three Nashville Men Charged With Grand Larceny of Funds of City Municipality.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 1.—Former City Commissioner J. J. Andrews, former City Treasurer Charles Myers, and former City Recorder W. L. Murray were arrested here tonight on charges of grand larceny of $25,000 in city funds.

The warrants were sworn out by Attorney George Anderson of Davidson county as the result of an investigation by the grand jury. The warrants were sworn out by Attorney George Anderson of Davidson county as the result of an investigation by the grand jury.

Mr. Williams Says Sell Slowly—But Years, 17,000,000 Bales—Crop Averaged Nearly Nine Cents—But Farmers Who Sold Early Got Caught.

So far as the South is concerned the most important national interest of the cotton-grower is the price he receives for his crop. The price obtained is a more important factor than the cost of production, and the farmer who sells early is caught.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 3.

LOCAL OPTION AD.

In this issue of the News appears an article from Rev. J. Earle Freeman, which refers to the editorials published in the News of last Wednesday.

With a few exceptions Rev. Freeman agrees with the News. This paper, so to speak, is handling the "Local Option Ad." strictly from a commercial standpoint as to the names, which Rev. Freeman says should be signed to these ads. We would refer him to our advertisement columns where he will see the names of a firm, the members of which may not be known to all persons.

We are not at liberty to add the names of the members of a firm to their advertisement.

How many legitimate commercial enterprises are there in South Carolina who have "silent partners"?

We cannot really see anything defective or objectionable in the "Local Option Ad." It certainly is plain to the average mind. The News would not intentionally deceive its readers and is not endeavoring to do so in this instance, but the News considers its readers sensible people who are intelligent enough to form opinions when both sides of any question are put before them. It is to be presumed that our readers are not in special need of a guarantee upon this or any other public question.

After all, it is not so material as to the author of this or any other advertisement. If the claims made therein are true the public has the right to know it, and to render their judgment according to the indications drawn therefrom. No just cause need fear the truth no matter from what source it may emanate.

We conscientiously believe the suppression of the "Local Option Ad." by the newspapers will do more harm than if they were published.

LET THE PEOPLE REASON

The last issue of the News contained an editorial in which we expressed our attitude toward the advertising being done by the "Local Option League of South Carolina." We see no reason why both sides of any question should not be considered, and, in our opinion, the suppression of one or the other of the two sides will do more harm than good.

The majority of the voters of South Carolina, we consider, are sensible and being sensible should certainly be able to decide between right and wrong, when the arguments of the two sides are put before them. If the Anti-Prohibitionists of this State think they can make the prohibitionists vote they say they are sadly mistaken, and vice-versa. If two people are of different minds it is necessary that they reason in order to become of the same mind.

When the prohibitionist does this we believe the Palmetto State will do dry.

HYPOCRISY

Judging from an editorial in a certain South Carolina newspaper of yesterday, we surmise it is the intention of this paper to refuse to accept the advertisement of the "Local Option League of South Carolina." This paper seems to be of the opinion that it is deceptive. Their accepting or refusing is no concern of ours, however, this same paper only a short while ago carried an advertisement and also rendered notice to the effect that, the results of that city would lose money by farmers on cotton placed in warehouses at six per cent interest.

We have been reliably informed

What He Said.
 Dear lady, here upon your fan
 A kiss I gently press,
 And hope that it may wait to you
 All that I would express.

I place it here, and truly hope
 That sometimes when you use it,
 The kiss may alyth touch your cheek
 And I will not refuse it.

Am I too bold? If so forgive,
 I would not vex or grieve you;
 You cannot take it much amiss
 Because this kiss I leave you.

What She Thought.
 Well, I do think—
 The foolish man,
 And their statements seem
 As to kiss a fan.

It is too bad
 To kiss a fan
 When he could have—
 Bother such a man.

I thought this evening
 When he first began
 That he would say—
 And then to kiss a fan.

Of course he knows,
 I ought to know, he can—
 But I can't tell him,
 Oh! the stupid man!

WHEN THE GOOD NEWS FIRST REACHED CHESTER

It Created Considerable Excitement
 But as week after week went by,
 and many well-known and highly-revered,
 and their statements were published in the public press, there was no longer room for doubt,
 Chester people said: "This must be true." Well here is just such another statement, and it comes from Chester.

Mrs. William T. Dennis, 166 Salsda Street, Chester says: "My children were weak and when I did my housework, it aggravated the trouble, causing an ache across the small of my back. My back was painful at I was often stiff and sore and found night and mornings when I got up, it hurt around to do my work. Don't's Kidney Pills helped me very much."

"Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Don't's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Dennis had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y."

"MEMENTO MORI."

The early Christian philosophers frequently used the Latin phrase, "Memento mori," meaning by that to warn sinners of the approach of death. The world moves on; Latin becomes a dead language; ragtime dominates our amusements and physicians of the body tell us to forget the admonitions of former spiritual advisers and "Remember to live."

"What is dead, they ask, except the end of things in which everyone else is more concerned than ourselves, even though we are the principal actor therein?" Dr. Wood Hutchinson, president-elect of the American Academy of Medicine, says that overeating is the chief trouble of the American people. He warns us to remember the correct way to live is to be temperate in all things, especially in eating, driving some the fact that it "doesn't matter in the least how fast we dig our graves, so long as we do not fall into them too previously." All of which brings us to the fact, physicians are continually showing, that the American people go before their time because they are intemperate—not in drinking, as the prohibitionist would have us to believe—but in overworking and overeating and overeating.

The sight of a drunken man, even in the great cities, is comparatively rare. Few saucers nowadays will sell a drunken man, go into a restaurant and watch people overeat. Note the fat-patched, the hanging jowls, the dead ex-

An Appeal

TO

Common Sense.

MR. VOTER:

Before casting your vote in the referendum election on September 14th, you will consider what probable effect State-wide Prohibition will have on South Carolina in future years. In carefully weighing this problem you will be guided by the experience of other Commonwealths of the Union and your personal knowledge of conditions.

You are a patriot; you will do nothing that will lower the high level of South Carolina, so let us reason together.

No doubt you have listened to prohibition lecturers—the majority of whom are worthy men working for what they believe to be right—and they perhaps hold before your gaze the example of Kansas, which has had a stringent prohibition law since November 23, 1880, as the criterion to all other states. Perhaps they have shown you that its death rate is low, its morals high, its percentage of crime the minimum and its church-going population immense. "Let us see.

Mortality Statistics.

Census Bulletin, on Mortality Statistics for 1911, at page 77, shows the death rate per 100,000 population from violent deaths, excluding suicides, that the average death rate by violence, for cities investigated in 30 States in which liquor lawfully was sold was lower than that of Kansas. In three it was higher. In six prohibition states investigated, Tennessee and West Virginia show a higher rate than Kansas.

Bulletin 112 of the Bureau of Census, on Mortality Statistics for 1911, at page 77, shows the death rate for Suicide per 100,000 population for certain cities in specified states. The table shows that cities were investigated in 38 States. Twenty States a lower death average rate from suicide where liquor is lawfully sold than Kansas. Eleven show a higher death rate than Kansas. Of the prohibition States West Virginia was the only one having a higher average rate than Kansas.

Marriages and Divorces.

Census Bulletin No 96, on Marriages and Divorce, page 42, shows the annual average divorce rate per 100,000 married population, by states, in 1900. It shows that 27 States in which liquor is lawfully sold have a lower divorce rate than Kansas, and 13 States in which liquor was lawfully sold have a higher rate. Oklahoma is the only prohibition State having a higher divorce rate than Kansas.

Census Bulletin No. 95, on Marriages and Divorce, page 47, shows the number of divorces granted to wives because of the drunkenness of the husband. This table shows that during the period from 1887 to 1906 there were 33,000 divorces granted to wives because of their husband's drunkenness. During this time the State of Kansas granted more divorces on account of the drunkenness of the husband than 25 States in which liquor lawfully was sold. Maine was the only prohibition State granting more divorces for drunkenness of the husband than Kansas.

Savings and Deposits.

The annual report of the Secretary of the Treasury for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, at page 460, shows the report of the Comptroller of the Currency with regard to the average Saving of each depositor in the saving banks in the United States in 1912. The report shows in 25 States where liquor lawfully is sold the average saving depositor is higher than the average depositor in Kansas. In nine States where Liquor Lawfully is sold the average saving is lower than Kansas. Four prohibition States show a higher average than Kansas and four a lower average.

Church Membership.

Census Bulletin No. 103, on Religious Bodies, 1906, page 40, shows the relation of church membership to the population in 1906 by States. The religious body investigation of 1906 shows the following interesting facts: That out of 49 State investigations only four States had a lower church membership out of proportion to the population than Kansas. Two of these States—Wyoming and Oregon—were states in which liquor was sold, and two prohibition states—West Virginia and Oklahoma. Thirty-eight states in which Liquor is Lawfully sold had a larger percentage of church membership than Kansas.

JOHN H. EARLE SHOOTS HIMSELF

Worried Over Physical Condition Growing Out of Recent Injury. Son of Late Senator.

Greenville, Sept. 1---John Herriot Earle, son of a distinguished South Carolina family, former railroad commissioner and prominent member of the Greenville bar, shot himself in the head a few minutes before 3 o'clock tonight. Awaiting physician state that he has no chance for recovery and that he can not live more than a few hours. The bullet, fired just behind the right ear, passed from a .41 calibre derringer, entered into the brain. L. O. Patterson, another lawyer, was standing in the shot was fired. Mr. Earle was deposed of Mr. Earle's office when he reported over physical condition. A few weeks ago was injured while a street car smashed the automobile in which he was riding. A broken arm was one of the injuries he sustained and the arm has been giving much trouble. This afternoon he complained of acute pain in the arm and discussed with several friends the nature of the break, explaining that a resetting of the bone would be necessary. Early in the afternoon he was apparently cheerful.

Toward nightfall he came to the Palmetto Building, where his office key. Mr. Patterson took Mr. Earle's keys, opened the door for him and then as the key caught in the door he stooped to get loose. Mr. Earle went to his desk, took his seat and fired the bullet into his brain while Mr. Patterson's attention was devoted to the key.

The injured man was rushed to the city hospital but though several physicians are attending him he has no chance for recovery.

John H. Earle is a son of the late United States Senator Joseph H. Earle. He was graduated from the Citadel, read law in his father's office and was admitted to the bar about 19 years ago. He served as a major of the First South Carolina volunteers in the Spanish-American war. While his father, who died in 1887, was senator, Mr. Earle served as his secretary, and afterwards correspondent of the State from Washington. In 1901 he was married to Miss Elizabeth Mays Beattie of Greenville, who died ten months later.

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, though the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill. I wish every suffering woman would give
