Unusual Variety of Talent, Ideas, Theories in New Class

As Found in Classwide Survey by Sophomore Reporter

BY ADELAIDE ALLISON

The class of 1943 came to Winthrop as an unusually keen group of students and a strikingly different group of freshmen. The academic, artistic, and social life of the college this year had been in a state of transition for several years, and many freshmen were not aware of the changes that had taken place. In fact, many freshmen were not aware of the existence of Winthrop University. They had been chosen to represent their high school on the seven "honor" groups, and this was their first experience in college life. They were eager to learn more about the college and its activities.

They are especially interested in music, art, and literature. They are also interested in the social life of the college, and they are eager to participate in the activities that are being offered. They are also interested in the academic life of the college, and they are eager to learn more about the college and its activities.

Rumors: How do they start and what do they mean?

Here's how they start. Several girls get together, usually in a safe place, and start to talk about things they want to say. Then they tell others what they've been saying. And so on. They get bigger and bigger. And then, as a result of the incredible results that have been achieved, she still has room for improvement.

These girls go out, tell their roommates, or spread the rumor in the dorms. The roommates amplify the story about the rumor. Right now, in the middle of the city, you probably have a rumor going around about Nancy Jones, who has been spending the last year with Mary Todd. However, everyone who knows Nancy Jones has never heard of Mary Todd. Now, suppose Mary Jones has never considered many of the things that Mary Todd might have done. Something else that might be against the rule of Mary Jones is to be with her. But there are some rules that Mary Jones has in her mind. If you are a woman and you have good friends, you'll be chastised. Last year, in fact, it became so bad that over eighty students were asked by both the registrar and the student body president to report to the office of the dean for misbehaviour during chapel. Last year, many of these students were treated like adults and not being put in the same class as the freshmen.

The faculty performs

Last Monday night members of the faculty let down their hair and entertained (and well too) the student body with a wonderful evening of fun and music. There was nothing unusual in this, it seems, only a little more than usual. The school seems to be on the upswing and is really beginning to show a bit more of its true colors.

The Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill held its annual meeting this week, and among the many items on the agenda was the question of the future of the university. The board voted to extend the term of the present president for an additional year, and to increase the salaries of the faculty and staff.

The university has been facing financial difficulties for some time, and the board felt that extending the president's term would be the best way to ensure stability and continuity.

J. Fairest Flower—

Monday night there was an Athletic Association that was fully attended. The atmosphere was very cheerful, and the whole crowd seemed to put all its worries behind it. The leadership was put in the pep in the pep to be held later in the week.

Then came the Alma Mater, which was very well sung. All the girls were there, but by the entire gathering. And it is one of those groups that always get enthusiastic. From the top of the hill, all the students were singing and dancing, and the whole place seemed to be in a state of excitement. The girls seemed to put forth all their energy to make the Alma Mater a success. The girls seemed to put forth all their energy to make the Alma Mater a success.

Enthusiastic Pep Meet Opens Fall Sport Season

Sims States Determination For Better Than Ever Organization; Sport Club Chairs Extend Bids To Join Activities

Judging by the enthusiasm and class right shown at an informal gathering Monday night, the impending sports season and the annual pep meet promise to be the most important club events and excitement. Bringing together the students from all the organizations under one roof, Miss Rose States, president of the Athletic association, began by stating that with the world on the march and democracy seeming to change in the balance, "we must strive diligently this year to strengthen our own club and make them more pleasing to all the students on this campus and all over the world."

After explaining the rules of the meeting, Miss States then announced that this year there will be three periods for the gathering, and instead of the usual social hour, they will present a method for selecting the student body officers for the year. Miss States will be the first person to be elected, the second person to be voted on will be the driver of the junior class, and the third person will be the president of the senior class.

The meeting adjourned at 9:30 to permet the students to enjoy the reception that followed.

Fifteen Enrolled in Archery Club

At a meeting of the Archery club last night in the gymnasium 15 members were enrolled, according to Albert Armstrong, chairman of the club. They are Oaneo Bostick, Vernon Conwell, Laura Doolan, Florence Talley, Damaris Moore, and Elizabeth Pock. The W.A.A. certainly will enjoy the organization this year. Miss States is putting the time over well, and the senior members are looking forward to the meeting and what's more, doing something about it.

OTHER SPORTS

We were told at the first pep meeting in the gymnasium Monday night that the Archery club will meet on Monday and Wednesday afternoons at 4 o'clock. The members must attend at least two-thirds of the practices in order to receive credit for a sport season. Practice periods are between 4 and 5 o'clock, and the training area will accommodate 15 members.

For the new members to make up the strength of the club, Miss States will have to use them well, for the members are determined to make the club a success.

NEW MEMBERS

For the new members of the club, Miss States is planning to have a special meeting in the gymnastics room tonight, and the members will be invited to come and hear her speeches. She is planning to start a new campaign to enroll new members to the club.
