THE LANTERN,
PUBLISHED TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS.
J. T. BIGHAM, Editor and Prop.
Known at the Postoffice at Chester, S. C., as second-class matter.
FRIDAY, APRIL 3, 1908.

This is the time of the year the old news gets "cussed" because she will not sit on "laying," when her services are required for another purpose—Williamston Star.

It's the truth: "When we wanted to kill some of our mail by dumping them all went to laying."

"Keep the papers off the streets. They are a standing danger of life and in windy weather are liable to fly loose and cause trouble for the horse."

We do not think as nice a paper as the Greer Observer would frighten a horse. It might cause fire if it said something to offend a delinquent subscriber. It is true that some papers would be better kept off the streets and out of the houses. The local authorities are doing a good turn in trying to keep some of them out of the mails.

We are afraid that Mr. Featherstone has dropped his card. Starting out on a platform differing only slightly from that of Gov. Ansel, he has already seen that there is not room for local action candidates and an endorsement of a second term. Then two years hence—we shall see what we shall see.

A few days ago we mentioned the alleged crop-whipping of a boy by his lady teacher in the Pickens school. When the Pickens Sentinel-Journal published an account of the affair, one Bob, who seems to be chairman of the local trustees, went around and got most of the merchants to withdraw their advertisements from the paper. There seems to be no attempt to deny what was published. This seems to be an example of the way people can be led by the nose to their own hurt, and only to gratify a selfish and interested party. We have observed several similar cases, and the result has always been that it drew to the party more and better, and made it stronger in the end, while those who sought to crush it hurt only themselves.

We have little time for writing today, but here is a notice written by Bachelor Ed. Wilson of Abbeville, on the day the new rating of the postoffice department became effective. The 1st day of April, anno 1899, he took the one hundred and thirty-second year of American Independence, the forty-ninth anniversary of the nation's connection with the Press and Banner and the early part of the 49th year of his life.

The new rating of the postoffice department is to be posted in newspapers goes into effect today. Today is also the editor's forty-ninth anniversary in the printing office. Despite all of his faults and his indiscretions, which the people of Abbeville county have been in the habit of forgiving him since he came down in Abbeville even as he has in the several towns where he has held duties and responsibilities of life. He would not advise any young man to remain unmarried and old man who, though a family is very lonesome, but his heart is hungry indeed. But marriage is the selection of a life partner in which choice few may come with profit. It is not a lover's right gift, this may not have a responsive heart, but who feels that there can be only one for him, while the world looks on, and the words are full of this one good for him. Admitting, all this to be true, the calm, true, from love comes to a man or woman but once. One should never lose it, but a retreat, should be made in time, or a retreat, hope is dead and the heart is cold.

The New Postal Rules.
It is a matter of gratification to us that our subscription list is not materially affected by revision to comply with the new postal rules. In fact the ruling of the department had very little to do with it, as we cannot afford to carry subscriptions that are not renewed within a reasonable time.

If those subscribers whose names have been taken off have been reading the notices published from time to time, not to mention the statements sent them, they will understand why they do not read the paper.

We have had a gratifying response to our statements, and remittances are still coming in almost every mail. Many say they had overlooked or forgotten the matter, and we have no doubt that others have neglected for the same reason. We shall still try to hear from those who can contribute further papers they have missed.

CLEMSON CADETS LEAVE.
More than Half of Them Go on an April-Fool Expedition—Leaders May Be Dismissed.
Clemson College, April 1.—A little more than half of the cadets, principally lower classes, taking advantage of April 1, took holiday and went to Pendleton this morning. All the seniors, most of the members of the All-Igloo team, and a number of all classes remained at the college and are attending their regular duties.

At the Churches.
Presbyterian church—Preaching at 11 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. by the pastor, Rev. Sabath teacher and at Lindley the morning service.
Baptist church—Preaching at 11 a. m. by the Rev. H. B. Jordan. No night service. Sabbath school at 10:00 p. m.
Methodist church—Preaching at 11 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. by the pastor, Sabath school at 9:00 p. m.

Military Openings.
The military openings at L. S. Samuels Tuesday and Wednesday, at Miss Geo. Mathar, of Darlington, was married Tuesday, March 31, 1908. On account of recent bereavement in the bride's family, the marriage was in Greenville at the home of the bride's sister, where she has been spending several weeks.

Miss Susie Graham to Marry.
The following clipping from The Spartanburg Journal will be read with interest by the friends of Miss Susie Graham, of Greenville, who is interested to learn of her approaching marriage to the Rev. Richard E. Reeves, formerly of Greenville, N. C., but now of New York, which will take place at the home of her parents, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Graham, in Greenville, Wednesday, April 15. The wedding will be a quiet one. Miss Graham's favorite uncle, the late R. H. Jordan, of Charlotte. Miss Graham is a favorite in Greenville, and is well known to a young woman of culture and charm. Mr. Reeves is now in the commission business in New York and is a young man of strong character and promise.

Mr. Oshler's Funeral.
The funeral of Mr. Henry Oshler was conducted Wednesday afternoon as indicated in The Lantern. A large number of citizens gathered at the residence, on church street, and accompanied the remains to the Presbyterian church, the Knights Templar and other Masonic orders, the Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows and Fraternal union acting as escort. The active pall bearers were H. S. Ross, J. M. Hood, Dr. W. G. Cox, Joseph Lindsay, W. D. Knox and Robert Frasier; honorary, J. W. W. A. H. Hines, J. W. Reed, J. S. Booth, M. W. Wise and W. F. McQuinn.

Re-Governor D. C. Heyward has resigned the presidency of the Standard Warehouse Company in order to carry on the campaign for the U. S. senatorship.
—Alderman Norwood, of Columbia, has been sentenced to a fine of $300 or thirty days for stealing and paying a fine. He was also required to pay costs, which amounted to $8.00 which he had on the run.

Local Base Ball.
The Hideaway school team is to come up this afternoon and play the home team here this afternoon and tomorrow morning.

Erskine Defeats Newberry.
Newberry, April 1.—Because of splendid head work at opportune times, Erskine took the initial game of ball from Newberry, on the local diamond this afternoon by a score of 4-2. The home team showed up well and when the game was over several hits with one error was charged up to their credit. The features of the game were Monroe's pitching, walking out right men, the victory getting only two hits; Bowdler's three-base hit, and Fisher's two-base hit for Newberry, and Greer's work on short for Erskine. Batteries: For Newberry, Moore and Harrel; for Erskine, Byrd and McChow, umpire, Halig—Special to The State.

Mr. Wm. Martin and son David and the former's grand niece, little Miss Martha Martin, of Monticello, S. C., who have been visiting at Mr. H. C. Crafton's, left for their home Wednesday.

There is no prettier widow in town than Mrs. J. A. Heffner, whose display and is decorated with Easter lilies. The display and the decoration are in admirable taste. You should see the place.

Mr. W. W. Boyce, of Rock Hill, was in town Wednesday morning on his way to the Sabbath school convention at Union. He will visit his home at Erskine place before he returns.

Capt. C. S. Wharton, conductor on the Spring train, received a telegram Tuesday night informing him of the death of his father, in New York, and he left Wednesday to attend the funeral, which was to be today.

The McMillan Remission. It should have been explained, in our last issue that the poem published last issue was read at the McMillan reunion near Zanesville, Ohio. There was nothing to show where the decoration was held, and the name of the church, Hopewell, as well as other names, was eliminated to confuse readers of The Lantern. The name of the church, from this country, and we suppose that their church was named for the old church which they had left.
