HISTORIC TREES PASS AWAY
Historians and Antiquarians Can Only Regret, While Entirely Unable to Prevent Their Loss.

It is too bad that nature will not allow trees, or some trees, at any time to live forever. In many places in this country, in the East particularly the ends or the local historians once began their holding tales with "Under that tree." The famous colonial and revolutionary day trees are some or are gone. Some of the present day events which are likely to have part to do or other sentimental interest for posterity might be staged purposes under sturdy trees of long-lived species.

The cherry oak is gone, the old elm of Boston Common is gone and the elm at Cambridge under whose shade Washington took command of the Continental Army is gone. The elm at the site of the American Revolution played one for each of the thirteen original states have either died or are in such a state of decay that they are likely to be replaced by a new generation of trees. A UNIQUE RECORD
Very Few Like It in Our Broad Republic.

Honest testimony for Doan's Kidney Pills, published in every locality, is of itself convincing evidence of merit. Confirmed testimony forms still stronger evidence. Years ago, a critic of Chester gratefully acknowledged the benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills. The statement is now confirmed—the proof more convincing. Cases of this kind are plentiful in the work of Doan's Kidney Pills. The record is unique.

Miss S. A. McClinton, 172 Columbia St., Chester says: "My kidneys bothered me for some years, caused by my hurting my back. The action of my kidneys was irregular at times and I had severe pains across the small of my back. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at the Chester Drug Co., brought great relief." (Statement given March 25, 1911.)

OVER THREE YEARS LATER
Miss McClinton said: "I use Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally. They soon put a stop to backache or other kidney trouble."

"As to how?"
"She can't run out to the bank fence when she gets hold of a check bit of gossip. She has to get up at tea or reception, and by that time the soup is stale."

A GOOD MAN.
There will be much interest in the race for the governorship this summer and already many are beginning to discredit the candidacy of Hon. R. A. Cooper. Many think he should have waited another two years before again entering the race. His friends thought differently and prevailed on him to enter the race.

Bob Cooper as everybody knows is a mighty good man and we do not see how anyone could seriously object to his entering the race. There is one thing certain; Cooper is going to be a live figure in the race.

THE NEW COUNTY.
It is much easier to build a new railroad on paper than it is on the ground. Give us the railroad first.

You can't build a court house with no money.

Jails don't jump up. You have to build them and it takes money.

Every county should have an almshouse. That takes money too.

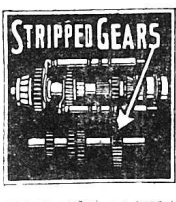

When you "spudize" somebody you pay the price. In public affairs it falls to the taxpayer.

County officers don't work for who pay?

It is a matter to make a promise that is so high as to deprive the employer of a reasonable return on his investment.—Roberts Bruce in Harper's Magazine, January.

Valuable Health Hints For our Readers

CATARH
Just because you hawk and spit and your nose is wet, cold, red, sore and a nuisance, don't merely try it up. You can't cure catarrh by greasing your nose. Take S. S. S. regularly and you will give catarrhal poison time to accumulate the mucus that gathers and thickens into catarrh. S. S. S. stimulates the cells of the tissues to secrete from the blood their own essential nutrient. Rapid recovery from catarrhal inflammation in the stomach, kidney, bladder and all mucous membranes is the result.

MALARIA.
Throughout the country, wherever malaria abounds, are laid joyful people to whom S. S. S. has given new life and health. It is the most effective remedy after the most sickening tortures imaginable.

The great complaint of malaria's victims, the chills and fever, the malaria, febricity that needs to defy all other treatment, the malarial leg, the malarial fever, the persistent anemia where the blood turns to water and the system wastes away. These are the conditions that S. S. S. so effectively helps in the treatment of malaria to restore the blood to its natural vigor.

Sometimes a sore skin becomes inflamed. The itching surrounding it has to be kept from getting so bad that you are unable to go on with your ordinary work. Stop the itch with S. S. S. This is quickly accomplished. The itching is quickly relieved by the saw-saw milk or any other oil.

Scabies sets with marvelous rapidity and is the most tormenting and itchy. S. S. S. stimulates cellular activity and it is the most effective remedy for scabies. The materials that make up the scabies are broken down and eliminated in a natural way.

Local applications for the skin diseases are best protected from with

What Minimum Wage Laws Have Done.
The important contribution of minimum-wage laws to the theory and structure of government—the factor that distinguishes them from laws regulating the sanitary condition of workplaces—compensation for injuries, hours of employment for women and children—is that their just and effective enforcement requires the creation of a wage board or industrial parliament by virtue of which labor, for the first time in American history, is raised from the level of a commodity subject like beef and pork to bidding in the open market, to the rank of industrial citizenship.

Nine States have enacted minimum-wage laws. Of these a majority establish an expert administrative body an Industrial Commission with supervisory powers over all industries in the State, and authorized to determine and enforce the payment of a wage to women adequate to meet the cost of living and to maintain them in health. The net restriction upon this Commission is that the courts, on appeal from one or more employers, may reverse the Commission's determination and set them aside in case they are shown to be confiscatory—but it is so high as to deprive the employer of a reasonable return on his investment.—Roberts Bruce in Harper's Magazine, January.

Venerate Hooded Cobra
The hooded cobra or Naga still has his devotees in Bombay city and from Madras to Nepal to the Hindu States throughout the Deccan and southern India, and on the west coast in particular the sacred worship of snake gods survives, says the Times of India.

An interesting account of the worship is given in the latest annual report of the archaeological department. The usual form of Naga worship is the vow taken by children to install a snake stone if they are blessed with offspring. Closely allied with this idea is the worship of trees and animals and manes (placed together—married as the saying goes—come in for a share of the devotion paid to snake stones). The tree is in their shade. It is believed, says this account, that women will bear children if they walk round the married tree one hundred and eighty times every day for forty-five days consecutively. Unfortunately no authentic case is cited of the efficacy of this prescription, but the offerings brought in gratitude by the women are said to be taken as favorable evidence.

Self-Righting Smudge Pot.
By the invention of a simple thermodynamic controlling device, a Los Angeles man has developed an ingenious apparatus for rendering the smudge pot used by orchardists self-regulating, says Popular Mechanics. The appliance, which may be fitted to any standard type of pot as regulated by a small copper rod. When the atmospheric temperature drops to a predetermined point the contraction in the rod is sufficiently great to release a cap containing an acid. The acid is poured into a small chamber provided with the smudge pot. This holds a chemical substance which, upon the addition of the acid, produces a flame that ignites the smudge in the pot. The thermostat may be adjusted so as to release the acid when the temperature falls to any degree. With this apparatus in use, an orchard may be protected from frost without personal attention being given it.

"You have evidently made a nice take in the place," she smilingly replied. "This is a dry goods store."

"Well, now, I reckon I know'd that," the dim-witted fellow said. "I'd dried beef and crackers and Udded fish, but I'd like to know what you'd call 'em?"
