TAKE FISH BY WHOLESALE

Natives of South Pacific Island Have Their Own Method of Gathering Food From Sea.

The natives of Rarotonga, one of the islands in the South Pacific ocean, have a singular method of catching fish in which the whole community takes part. On the shores of the island there are many long, narrow lagoons, each lying between a beach and an outer reef of coral, that usually swarm with fish. The natives choose one of these stretches of shallow water for the fish drive, and close all breaks in the reef by laying logs across them or building up rough barriers with pieces of coral.

When they have done that, six or seven hundred men, women and children wade into one end of the lagoon carrying little, plated fiber bags filled with utu nut. In most cases the water is about three feet deep, and nowhere more than four feet, so the natives march along the lagoon, trailing behind them the bags of utu nut. As this substance is wet it forms a peculiar narcotic, which it diffuses through the water. The process is called "poisoning the lagoon."

Half an hour is allowed for the "poison" to spread, and at the end of that time all the fish are under the influence of the drug, and are swimming about in a confused and aimless manner. The natives, armed with long, pronged spears, form a line that reaches from side to side of the lagoon, and march along shouting, splashing, and driving the intoxicated fish before them. When the fish are all collected at the farther end of the lagoon, the natives begin to cry, "Eh-hu-u-u!" and the barbed spears fly in all directions. The natives are very dexterous with the spears, and the fish are so sluggish, owing to the effects of the utu nut, that very few of them escape.

Many of the "poisoned" fish seek the shelter of the reef and hide in the crevices; and some of the natives "fish" the reef. They put on glass goggles and sink beneath the water, where they remain submerged for one or two minutes. They feel about among the coral for the fatless fish, which they get with a short, thrusting spear. The method of fishing usually makes the biggest catches; but the merry men in the open water enjoy the best sport. Numerous varieties of fish are obtained, but all have the brilliant and beautiful coloring peculiar to the fish of the tropics.—Youth's Companion.

ALL SOUGHT POWER ON SEA

Ancient Nations Recognized What It Meant to Be Supreme on the Ocean.

The Phœnicians were the first to make long voyages and the first to arm their vessels for war. They readily availed themselves of the advantages of a navy, and they soon secured an extensive commerce. In time they assumed the empire of the sea, a sovereignty they long continued to enjoy, until during which time they became tyrants of the sea and exercised piracy. They were the first sea pirates known to history.

After the Phœnicians, the Argonauts and then the Creans assumed dominion of the sea during various epochs, but it remained for the inhabitants of the island of Rhodes to create, digest and promulgate the first system of maritime laws of which we have any authentic knowledge. So great was the success they attained, their code has always been referred to as the "cradle of maritime law." Nevertheless, as far back as the reign of King Hammurabi, who was a contemporary of Abraham, 2,250 years before Christ, we find in the code of Hammurabi numerous sections which fix the obligations arising under contracts for boat building, hire or charter of vessels, transportation of goods, jurisdiction, collisions, etc., and the principles there laid down are, in many instances, recognized at the present time as the rule of decision.

The Persians, and then the Greeks in turn, succeeded the Rhodians as masters of the sea. These two countries maintained a large fleet of war vessels, called by the ancients, as a class, "vessels of force," as distinguished from their merchantmen or "ships of burden." The great naval battle of Salamis, fought by these countries, in which it is said over fifty hundred vessels took part, followed by that of Platea and Mycala, demonstrated to the world the success of their arms, the immeasurable value of sea power. They lost no time, and spared no efforts in the creation of a navy of great strength. The measures they deemed judicious in furthering the interests of their merchant marine. Among other things they established a special jurisdiction at Athens to pass upon maritime transactions.

CARLYLE PRIZED FIRST LOVE

Margaret Gordon Was the Original of Bluming in "Bartor Reartus," Says the Critic.

During the year 1818 Thomas Carlyle, the Scotch philosopher, was living at Kirkcaldy, and he seems then for the first time to have fallen in love. The lady appears not to have returned the attachment, but she was with great insight at the age of twenty-two perceived the genius of her suitor of twenty-five.

In the letter which she took leave of her admirer she used these significant expressions: "Cultivate the middle dispositions of your heart, subdue the more extraneous feelings of your brain. . . . Genius will render you great. May virtue render you beloved! Let your light shine before men and think them not unworthy this trouble."

Many years after, when Carlyle wrote his reminiscences, he described the episode as follows: "Margaret Gordon 'continued for perhaps some three years a figure hanging more or less in my fancy, on the usual romantic and literary quiesc and silent terms."

The real interest of the story is this, was Margaret Gordon the sole original of the Bluming character in "Bartor Reartus"? One critic would have an answer that although Jane Welsh might have inspired some of the details, it was Margaret Gordon who was the true original.

When Scot Meets Scot.

A Scottish farmer was one day selling his sheep wool to a Scot and after weighing it on the yard he went into the house to make out an invoice. Coming back he missed a cheese which had been standing on a shelf behind the outer door and glancing at the bag of wool he observed that it had suddenly increased in size. "Man," he said to the carrier, "I has clean forf the weight of the cheese!" He put it pit it on the scales again. "The carrier could not refuse. Being duly weighed, the bag was found to be heavier than when it was weighed inside. A new invoice was made out, and the crestfallen carrier went away. The farmer's wife at once missed the can of milk, rushing to the yard, and her husband, who was sitting on the cheese, "Na, na, Meg," replied the farmer quickly; "I has just set the cheese for twa shillins the pound."—St. John (N. B.) Telegraph.

FOUND HIMSELF LIVED DOWN

British Aviator Lived to Tell of Hair Experience That He Had in a Cloud.

A British naval aviator when flying seaward recently entered a thick white cloud and wholly lost his sense of direction. He only realized that he was upside down on finding that things were falling out of his pockets. Then his belt broke, and he had to hang on by his knees and elbows. At length he emerged from the cloud, saw the sea apparently over his head, but was able to right his machine and continue his flight.

A young English aviator, the bullet holes in whose planes bore testimony to his repeated exposure to fire, had one narrow escape with an amusing ending. Mistaken for a German aviator, he was fired upon by the French and forced to descend through the puncturing of his petrol tank. When the mistake was discovered, of course, profuse apologies were forthcoming, and he was presented by the mayor of the district with a bouquet.

Talking of bullet holes, by the way, may be a very serious matter, and only belongs to a British aviator who, escaping from a hail of shrapnel, counted 90 separate punctures in his planes.—C. L. Preston in Scribner's Magazine.

UNUSUAL SPREAD OF THE BOLL WEEVIL

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—Under normal conditions the boll weevil advances into new territory at the rate of about 50 miles each year, but during a period of only two weeks during the present season there was an advance of about 100 miles. This movement carried the insect into Georgia for the first time, and 27 counties in that State became infested. Several counties in Florida have been infested for several years, but 8 additional counties in Alabama and also, invaded. All of this spread took place between the 15th and 31st of August.

There were several conditions according to the entomologists of the United States Department of Agriculture, which contributed to this unusual dispersion. One of them was the drought in Alabama and Mississippi, which caused the plants to cease fruiting and deprived the weevils of the squares upon which they prefer to feed. The more important condition, however, was a series of very high winds which began on August 15 and blew continuously for several days toward northeast. The weevils were thus carried much farther than they would have gone by natural flight or even by the aid of ordinary winds.

The Department has placed all available forces at work to assist the farmers in the territory that has just become infested. Most of the cotton is now open and this will allow on unusually early picking so that the fall broods of the weevil can be destroyed by uprooting and burning the plants or burning of them where necessary. The Department strongly urges the burning of the plants wherever this can be done promptly, as the human thereof placed in the soil is of very great importance. The State agencies are co-operating with the agents of the Department, and a very active effort will be made to reduce the number of weevils to the extent that will allow an approximately normal crop to be produced next season.

Another feature of the boll-weevil problem which is attracting considerable attention is the damage that is being done in Texas this season. There is a more or less general impression in the eastern part of the cotton belt that the boll weevil has died out in the State of Texas, but the investigations of the Department show that the abundance of the insect in that region depends on climatic conditions. During the present season these conditions have been such that the conditions have been extremely favorable with the result that the insect has been as abundant as at any time since it invaded the State. The lesson to be drawn from this fact is that the planters in the eastern part of the cotton belt must make a strenuous fight, and should realize that since the boll weevil has not died out elsewhere in Texas or Mexico, it is not at all likely to do so in any other region that may become invaded. They should adjust their systems of farming to boll-weevil conditions without delay.

BENCH WARRANTS ISSUED.

For Arrest of Eight Men in Connection With Eastland Affair.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Bench warrants for the arrest of eight men named in Federal indictments as being responsible for the capsizing of the excursion steamer Eastland with the resultant loss of 812 lives, were issued today. The warrants were placed in the hands of the United States Marshal.

United States District Attorney Clyne announced that Martin P. O'Connell, excursion agent of the Chicago-St. Joseph Steamship Company and Charles Lassar, watchman for the steamship company, were questioned by him today. Mr. Clyne refused to disclose the information given him.

An investigation into charges that the Eastland was sunk by dangerous projections on the bottom of the river, has been in progress for some time.

The grand jury is expected to return further indictments tomorrow in connection with the fixing of responsibility for the overturning of the Eastland.

MOTHER SUPERIOR ROSBURY HILL HOME

Tells How Vinol Restores Strength and Vitality to the Weak, Worn-Out Ones in Her Charge.

Rosbury Hill Home, Hawthorne, N. Y. "I have been at work among the sick and poor for nearly eighteen years, and whenever I have used Vinol for run-down, weak or emaciated patients, they have been benefited by it. One patient, a young woman, was so weak and ill she could hardly creep to my door for aid, and was leaning on a friend's arm. I supplied Vinol to her liberally and in a month when she returned to me, she was strong, her color charming and her cheeks rounded out. These words are uttered from my heart, in order that more people may know about Vinol, as there is nothing makes me happier in the world than to relieve the sick."

Mother M. ALPHERA LATROBE, O. S. D., Hawthorne, N. Y.

Such disinterested and reliable testimony should convince everyone of the merits of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic to build up health and strength for all weakened and nervous conditions, whether caused from overwork, worry, chronic coughs and colds. If Vinol fails to benefit we return your money.

CHESTER, S. C. FRIDAY.

THE ALLIES BIG DRIVE.

The long promised drive of the Allies in the west has begun, and for several days there has been no slackening in the operations. The attack is being met strongly by the Germans at every point but the German forces have so far been unable to check the on-ward march. This great drive, as we understand it, is that promised by the Allies which they contend will force the Germans from French and Belgian territory. To the neutral, things have been moving entirely too slow in this war, and we now await the result of the great drive before forming a conclusion as to the possible end of the war.

The Allies are now on trial and they must make good or it will mean a prolongation of this terrible conflict. Public opinion says that once the Allies put foot on German soil the end will not be long. This may be true or it may not, it is merely a supposition. Anyway, if this big drive proves a failure, there is no telling when the war will end.

NOW IS THE TIME

There never was a better time than right now for united action on the part of the well-wishers of Chester to do something for the welfare of the city.

Even the Chronic Croaker will be forced to admit that with cotton at 12 cents, conditions are much better than even the most sanguine expected.

What "might have been" is always a sad story but such stories have their lessons and it is up to the people of Chester to learn from experience or that no city, town or community can afford to let any executive stand in the way of civic progress and improvement.

Times are good now! Let's get together and do something for the general benefit of Chester—Now!

MORE ROAD TALK.

Interest in good roads is increasing every day. Those who fall to be come interested, will within a few years be considered as back numbers.

The following article from the Press Bulletin of the United States Department of Agriculture, will doubtless prove of interest to our readers.

There is no phase of the road problem more important than that of maintenance. The general impression that there are certain types of roads that are permanent is erroneous. No permanent road has ever been constructed or ever will be.

The only things about a road that may be considered permanent are the grading, culverts, and bridges. Roads constructed by the most skillful highway engineers will soon be destroyed by the traffic, frost, rain and wind, unless they are properly maintained. But the life of these roads may be prolonged by systematic maintenance. A poor road will not only be improved by proper maintenance, but may become better in time than a good road without it.

The first and last commandment in earth road maintenance is to keep the surface well drained. To insure good drainage the ditches should be kept open, all obstructions removed and a smooth crown maintained. Except for very stony soil the road machine or scraper may be used very effectively for this work. The machine should be used once or twice a year and the work should be done when the soil is damp so that it will pack and bake into a hard crust. Wide and shallow ditches should be maintained with sufficient fall and capacity to dispose of surface-water. These ditches can in most places be constructed and repaired with a road machine.

A spittoon, drag or some similar device is very useful in maintaining the surface after suitable ditches and cross section have once been secured. The drag should be hitched and should be drawn over the road at an angle of about 45 degrees. The driver should ride on the drag and should not drive faster than a walk. One round trip, each trip straddling a wheel track, is usually sufficient to fill the ruts and smooth the surface. If necessary the road should be dragged after every bad spell of weather, when the soil is in proper condition to puddle well and still not adhere to the drag. If the road is very wet and again when it begins to dry out a few trips over the road will give the operator an idea as to the best time to drag. Drag at all seasons but do not drag a dry road.

The slope or crown of an earth road should be about one inch to the foot. If the crown becomes too high it may be reduced by dragging toward the ditch instead of from it. If the drag ruts too much, shorten the hitch and change your position on the drag. If it is necessary to protect the face of the drag with a strip of iron, it should be placed flush with the edge of the drag and not projecting. A cutting edge should be avoided, as the main object in dragging is to smear the damp soil into position.

CANNING CLUB GIRLS PREPARING FOR COUNTY FAIR.
We understand the members of the Chester county canning club are expecting to have the best and largest variety of exhibits at the coming County fair they have ever had. Miss Jo Yarborough, the county demonstrator, has been unusually busy of late, and the indications are that there will be much rivalry among the members for prizes. The people of the county should cooperate with the young ladies and give them all assistance possible. The canning club means much to Chester county.

WAR CARGOES FOR RUSSIA

Many Being Rushed From New York to Make Arrangements Before Ice Forms.

New York, Sept. 29.—Owing to the expectation that the Russian port of Archangel will be blocked with ice within a few weeks arrangements are being made here for the departure for that port of a large number of steamers heavily loaded with supplies much of which is intended for the Russian army. Twelve of the steamers will leave here within three weeks.

Representatives of the Russian government here say that many of the vessels now engaged in the New York Archangel service will be diverted to the Panama canal route to Vladivostok.

THE LANCASTER COTTON MILL.
The Lancaster Cotton Mill was incorporated in 1891 and is now the largest, most up to date mill in the United States, or perhaps we should say the world, although the largest in the United States is "enough said" to the average American. At the present time there are one thousand three hundred and twelve spindles on the pay roll, and that pay roll for a year amounts to three hundred and sixty-five thousand dollars. The floor space alone covers fifteen acres and throughout this enormous mill, only the latest textile machinery is used, so to come right down to plain language is one of the wonders of the South and to see this mill is well worth the trip to Lancaster—Mill Life.

NEW ORLEANS SWEPT BY GULF CYCLONE.

Property Loss Goes into Millions Communication Cut Off.

New Orleans, Sept. 29.—Five persons are known to be dead, many people injured and property loss reaching into the millions has been caused tonight by the most severe Gulf storm in the history of the city.

A howling gale with a velocity of eighty-six miles an hour swept the city at 8 o'clock tonight, demolishing scores of buildings and stripping the roofs from hundreds of other structures and strewn the streets with broken glass and debris.

At 7:30 o'clock a rising barometer at its lowest registered 28.11, and the wind velocity of 88 miles was the highest ever recorded here. Railroads and wire communication with the outside world has been cut off, and telephone, electric light and trolley service discontinued in the city. All railroads have annulled train service from New Orleans.

Wireless communication from New Orleans was interrupted by the failure of the electric plant, but messages were sent from the steamship Excelsior at dock here and relayed from the steamship Creole, anchored below New Orleans in the Mississippi River to Mobile.

Mendenhall Found Guilty.

Clearwater, Fla. Sept. 28.—J. Mendenhall, a prominent orange grower and mill owner, was found guilty here today of first degree murder in connection with the death of Miss Susie Elliot, whose body was found in the ruins of Mendenhall's burned automobile near here July 2. The jury recommended mercy. Sentence was deferred. Mendenhall also is under indictment for killing Miss Elliot's mother, Mrs. Bessie Elliot, also found dead in the burned car.

CAPTAIN KNAPP DEAD.

Philadelphia, Sept. 28.—Captain John L. Knapp, commandant of the Philadelphia Navy Yard, died at the Naval Hospital here tonight from apoplexy. He was stricken at his desk this morning. Captain Knapp was 58 years, old and graduated from the Naval Academy in 1878, having been appointed in 1874 from Missouri. He is survived by a widow and one son who is a paymaster in the Navy.

Use Zinc as Nuggets.
A shoveler in one of the Joplin zinc mines who had seen in the movies how the gold miners bought what they needed with gold nuggets, laid a small chunk of zinc ore on a bar counter and called for a beer. The bartender served the drink and to him and laid down 20 cents in change, and of course the crowd laughed and cheered.
Such is the spirit of the Joplin zinc boom, with crude zinc ore now worth seven cents a pound, which is about 50 per cent higher than the refined product spelter has averaged for many years.—Wall Street Journal.

Carefully Treat Children's Colds

Neglect of children's colds often lays the foundation of serious lung trouble. On the other hand, it is harmful to continually dose delicate little stomachs with internal medicines or to keep the children always snug.

Puffs of fresh air in the bedroom and a good application of Vicks' "Vapo-O-Rub" held over the throat and chest at the first sign of trouble, will keep the little sharp nose free from colds without injuring their delicate membranes. 50c. 75c. or $1.00.

WANT TO PREVENT
CHEAP GOODS FLOODING
AMERICAN MARKET

Officials Seeking Way to Prevent Goods From Being Dumped on American Market

Washington, Sept. 28—Legislation is being considered by the Administration as a means of preventing the "dumping" of cheap foreign products on the American market at the conclusion of the European war. Some high officials believe the end can be accomplished without a revision of the tariff.

The question will be taken up by Secretary Rodfield and members of the Federal Trade Commission in their annual reports, which will be sent to Congress at the opening of the next session. While the exact recommendations will not be decided until conferences are held with President Wilson, it is known that the subject has already received detailed study by the administration officials.

There is believed to be serious danger that after after the war European concerns will attempt to recover lost ground by flooding the United States with goods to be sold at less than the cost of production. Foreign goods, it was pointed out by officials today, cannot be sold in the United States unless the invoices are signed by American consular officials abroad. An effort is to be made to find a way to prevent the signing of invoices in cases where it has been established that the goods are to be "dumped" on the American market at prices less than the cost of production.

HOW FEAR TIRES THE BRAIN

is Same Form of Exhaustion as Dis- ease and Produces Sane Effect, Scientist Avers.

Doctor Crile around the greatest interest among the many scientific men recently when he illustrated the effect of insomnia, physical exhaustion, fear and disease upon the brain cells of more than fifty rabbits with which he had experimented and declared that each form of exhaustion produced exactly the same effect in the lower forms of life and in hu- mans.

The brain, the liver and other organs of the body are connected in the kinetic chain of life, and change in one link of that chain modi- fies the entire system proportionately. Thus disease or exhaustion in one organ of the kinetic system will produce a harmful effect on the brain cells which comprise the great central bat- tery which drives that system.

As many as twenty cells in the brain may be totally destroyed after prolonged insomnia, but, on the other hand, eight hours sleep will often re- store the brain cells to a normal con- dition after a shorter period of ex- haustion from insomnia or other cause. In this connection, it was pointed out that athletes who had at- tained an early life of feats of physical endurance were rarely known to become prominent in other fields in later years.

Change in the system it was de- clared, may result in an immediate breakdown or acute shock, or the gradual modification of one or more of the kinetic organs may give rise to a number of diseases. This theory has already given the world the shock- less operation, and it opens a possi- bility of controlling certain chronic diseases which are the result of an over-stimulation of one or more of the organs in the kinetic chain.

One Thing Frenchwoman Excels In.

There is still one detail of the de- cence of clothes, in which the French surpass us, in which their supremacy is unchallenged. That is the way in which they do themselves. There is no improvement on our side of the water in this respect also, but there is room for a lot more. There are now fewer women who keep a veil torn around their hats, and on going out do everything at once, running in the pits and pulling down the veil with only a perfunctory glance at the mir- ror, or none at all.

If you are going to wear a veil at all you might as well put it on properly. There is a certain duty to society in looking as well as one to your moral self of making the best of yourself physically, is one whose ef- fect, both upon yourself and upon those with whom you come in contact, it is difficult to overestimate.

Of late years there have been few veils worn in Paris; by the way, French artists have a way of making themselves heard in clothes matters, and they object strenuously to veils. The women seem to know how to keep in perfect trim without them. It is almost a pity that they do not do so generally discarded as it is a charm- ing study to watch a Parisian adieu- one. She does it with the fingers of an artist and the insight of a philo- sopher. The line across the face comes at the psychological point; if there is a pattern it is arranged to the advantage. She does not have a spot or a flower in the design to obliterate the tip of her nose or make the mouth look lopsided or obscure her eyes.

First Aid to the Backward.

Ingenuity of college students in writing badly after they have "pas- sed" the required term or sopho- more course in composition is exor- dinary. Perhaps it is a reassertion of native inaptitude, perhaps it is sheer laziness. But the method has been adopted at Harvard, after special study of the problem, is a patent one. A standing faculty committee is to be appointed, and the "best" papers of all courses will be urged to send to the committee any examination book, thesis or other piece of work which has demonstrated the writer's ability to express his thought." The com- mittee will thereupon prescribe addi- tional work in English for the delin- quent students. The very warning should end mere slovenliness, and those whose faults die deeper should be grateful for the discipline.—New York Evening Post.

Activities of Patent Office.

Owing to the great activities of the patent office during the last year, the regular appropriation of money for printing specifications in the Official Gazette and supplemental appropri- ations of $115,000 have been exhausted, and the issues of the Gazette for June 15, 22 and 29 were not issued on those dates, but these issues will be sent out as early as the publication thereof can be ascertained. The price of the papers resulting consequence there probably will be some delay in the issue of the Gazette for July until conditions have been adjusted. The price of the papers should be normal. There will, however, be no delay in the issue of patents, designs and trademarks.

A Simple Compass.

A watch may be used to determine the hour hand at the sun any time of the day and the plastic price small piece of straight wire crosses be- tween the hour hand and the figure 12, getting exactly half way. The point of the wire which crosses between the 12 and the hour hand marks the true due south.

AS TO FALLING IN LOVE

THESE ARE SO MANY, MANY WAYS OF DOING IT.

And So Great a Number Find When Too Late They Have Never Had The True Experience Having Mistaken Symptoms.

Now of course there is no difficulty about falling in love. Anyone can do that. The difficulty is to know when the symptoms are true or false, says a Pittsburgh Post writer. So many people mistake the symptoms, and only discover when it is too late that they have never really had the true experience. Hence the importance of "call love," which serves as an sort of apprenticeship to the mystery and only whiles between the substance and the shadows.

People laugh at "call love," but one might as well laugh at the wonder of dawn or the coming of spring. When David Copperfield fell in love with the eldest Miss Larkins he was really in love with the opening universe, and the eldest Miss Larkins happened to be the only available lightning con- ductor for his emotion.

The important thing is that you should contract "call love" while you are young. It is the measles which is harmless enough in child- hood but apt to be dangerous when you are grown up. The "call love" of youth is always a disaster. Hence the saying, "There is no fool like an old fool." An elderly man should not fall in love. He should walk right into it. He should study the ground carefully, as Mr. Marka did.

The mistake of "the northern farmer" was that he applied the same motto used caution to youth. "Don't you marry for munny, but goa wheer munny is," he said to his son Sammy who wanted to marry the poor par- son's daughter.

There is no harm, of course, in marry- ing money. George Borrow said that there were worse ways of making a fortune than marrying one. And pre- tending to love. I don't think Bor- row's experience was very convinc- ing. I have known people who "have gone where money was" and have fallen heavily and rapurously in love, but you have to be very sure that money in such a case is not the motive. If it is, the penalty never fails to follow.

Those who believe in "love at first sight" take the view that marriages are made in Heaven and that we only come to earth to fulfill our destiny. Johnson, who was an excellent hus- band to the elderly Mrs. Porter, spoke with that view and held that love was only the accident of circumstance, and that he had had a wonderful time there are cases like those of Dante and Beatrice and Abilard and Heloise. In which the passion doesn't seem to touch the intellect. In these cases, how- ever, it rarely ends happily.

A more handy way of falling in love seems better fitted for earthly existence. The method of Thomas More was perhaps the most unman- nable on record. He preferred the younger of two sisters and was about to marry him when it occurred to him that it would be very unbecom- ing for the elder sister to see her junior married before herself. Thereupon he proposed to the elder and married her, and as far as I can remember the ex- periment was thoroughly satisfactory.

Children Who Are Afraid of Night.

Writing of Night Terrors, a com- mon ailment among children, Dr. Alphon- sian Stern says in the New York Medical Jour- nal that these have a deeper cause than is generally given in the text books, which are "A frightful and enlarged tonsils, large or indigestible meals eaten shortly before going to bed, and the habit of harrowing or terrifying stories—like those of the stories."

According to Doctor Stern, children who sit up screaming "Mother, moth- er, mother!" "The ghost!" "The ghost!" or even those who constantly cry for a drink of water, are generally the off- spring of neurotic mothers who have themselves been made neurotic by re- ceiving too much attention, too much emotional affection, by being kept too dependent, not leaning on themselves but on others.

The cure for such children is to make them play with other children, to let them do things for themselves, such as dressing and bathing them- selves and going to bed alone. Thus they will acquire a spirit of indepen- dence.

Daylight Saving in Canada.

Considerable attention is being given throughout Canada to a so-called "daylight-saving" scheme. The move- ment in Halifax is in accord with an effort all over the Dominion to have the clock put back one hour on April 1 each year, continuing to some autumn month, in order to give more daylight in the winter months. Thus they are being held all over Canada with a view to bringing the matter to the attention of the federal parliament at its next session in Halifax. A com- mittee is composed of representatives of the city council, trades and labor council and wholesale and retail mer- chants.—Commerce-Reports.

Distanter Famines.

The worst famines of modern times were the famines in Ireland in 1846-7, in China in 1869-70, in Persia in 1870, the Indian famine in 1868, which claimed 1,400,000 victims; the Indian famine in 1877, in which 500,000 people perished, and the great famine in China in 1914, in which 9,500,000 perished.
