WINHURP COLLEGE HAS THE GREATEST OPENING IN HISTORY

MANY INFLUENCES HELP THE STUDENTS

Eliza Russell, president of Winthrop College, announced that the college will open its doors for the fall term on September 3, 1924. The college, which was founded in 1887, is one of the oldest and most prestigious institutions of higher education in the state.

The college has made several significant improvements in recent years, including the construction of new buildings and the expansion of its facilities. The college's academic programs have also been expanded, with new departments and courses added to meet the needs of students.

In addition to its academic programs, the college is known for its competitive athletics program, which includes basketball, baseball, and track and field. The college's athletic teams have won numerous championships in recent years, and the college has a strong tradition of athletic excellence.

The college is also known for its strong emphasis on community service and the promotion of social justice. The college has a long history of involvement in local and national issues, and its students and faculty have been active in numerous community service projects.

In conclusion, Winthrop College is one of the finest institutions of higher education in the state, and its strong commitment to academic excellence, community service, and social justice makes it a leader in the field of higher education.

The Johnsonian
ANNOUNCEMENT

With this issue the Johnsonian starts on the second year of its life under circumstances which will retard its growth and influence. The paper must continue, however, with the class of '24 and all the old friends who have patronized and supported The Johnsonian. Business men advertise did advertising medium for them.

We bespeak that cooperation has from the student body, both the old and the new, and will permit also of a more efficient and efficient service of the public who patronize the paper.

We hope that the good work done by the Johnsonian will continue and that the advertising will increase.

For the 30th Time, we are happy with the privilege of welcoming the Winthrop faculty and students to our city—at the beginning of another new year's study and development.

We have seen the time when there was only an enrollment of some 300 students.

Today we welcome nearly 2000 young ladies from every town and hamlet of the Palmetto State who have been attracted to Winthrop as a result of honest efficiency of its president and faculty during the long years of its past history. We welcome you one and all—and we are glad you are here in our midst again. We are proud of Winthrop and what a producer and sends forth to all the world and our sincere desire is that you all may find the coming nine months' residence in our city as students and teachers both profitable and pleasant.

Respectfully,
