Remember that this afternoon is the time for the hotel meeting at the court house.

Col. J. W. Reed, who is vice-chancellor of the Confederate Infirmary, has some connection with the asylum, which is altogether wrong.

We have always been opposed to the plan of sending men to a convention with their hands tied.

Mr. Bryan is undoubtedly the overwhelming choice of the people of this state for the first place on the presidential ticket.

Another policy which has always possessed our artist's mind is minority representation.

The intercollegiate oratorical contest will be held at Greenwood this evening.

- Oratorical Contest. "The Battle of Gettysburg" - J. C. Hardin, Woodville. "The Handicap of the South" - R. S. Owens, Presbyterian Church of South Carolina.

The officers of the association for the coming year were elected as follows: President, E. R. Spencer, Reskine; vice president, E. L. Kester, Newberry college; recording secretary, L. T. Rhodes, Furman; treasurer, T. R. Lathrop, the Citadel; corresponding secretary, R. G. Gonzales, University of South Carolina.

The Bazaar. The Bazaar this week, under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal church, was unusually successful.

Mr. W. W. Thompson was voted the prettiest young lady and Miss E. Corbitt won the prize in the book gussing contest.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, who resigned the premiership of Great Britain a few days ago on account of illness, died Wednesday.

BISHOP CAPERS.

Of Noble Ancestry, Distinguished in War and Peace.

The following is from The State, of Thursday:

Ellison Capers died. After a brave fight for life, in a desperate illness, extending over two weeks, the son of one of the best of the sons of South Carolina has passed away.

The immediate cause of his death was pleural trouble which his strength could not throw off as his strength had been depleted by a stroke of paralysis.

His grandfather, John Capers, was a Revolutionary soldier of the Second South Carolina regiment and after the fall of Charleston in 1780, one of Marlon's captives in his famous capture of British troops in which he captured General Mifflin.

William Capers, the grandfather of Ellison, was a soldier of the Revolution, a lieutenant in the Second South Carolina regiment and after the fall of Charleston in 1780, one of Marlon's captives in his famous capture of British troops in which he captured General Mifflin.

the at Jackson, Lieut. Col. Capers was wounded. About the last of August Gist's brigade was sent to Gen. Bragg's headquarters in the battle of Chickamauga and Missionary Ridge; and in the former Col. Capers was again wounded during the winter at Dawson, in January, 1864. Col. Stevens was promoted to brigadier general and placed in charge of the brigade formerly commanded by Gen. Claudius C. Wilson. It was while leading this brigade that Gen. Stevens received his mortal wound at Peachtree creek July 20, 1864. Lieut. Col. Capers was promoted to the colonelcy of the Twenty-fourth, which he led through the Atlanta and Tennessee campaigns until the battle of Franklin, where he was wounded and Gen. Glac killed.

On March 1, 1865, on the recommendation of Gen. Johnston, Hardee and Cheatham, he was commissioned brigadier general and assigned to the command of his brigade.

After the war Gen. Capers was elected secretary of state of South Carolina, December, 1865. In 1867 he entered the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal church. He was for two years rector of Christ church, Greenville, one year at Salina, S. C., and for six years of Trinity church, Columbia. In 1880 the degree of doctor of divinity was conferred on him by the University of South Carolina. On May 6, 1893, he was elected bishop coadjutor by the diocesan convention of South Carolina on the first ballot; and on July 20, 1893, he was consecrated to this sacred office.

 The Ladies' Guild.

Shot From Ambush.
 Lancaster, April 23.—J. B. Simms, a farmer of this county, was today found lying face downward about three miles from Lancaster, with what is believed to be a mortal wound, having been shot from ambush. His left side is filled with buckshot.
 Rev. E. O. Thompson made the discovery and at once summoned Dr. R. G. Elliott, who attended the wounded man. It is believed that Simms' wound is fatal.
 Simms' body was found almost at the identical spot at which the difficulty between Hampton Stogner and himself occurred on February 3, last, in which both men used their pistols, Stogner receiving a wound which resulted in his death at a Chester hospital the following day. Simms, in the difficulty, escaped without injury. Simms was tried for the killing of Stogner at the last term of court, the case resulting in a mistrial.
 "There is no clue to the assassin of Simms."
 Mr. Sims was still living yesterday afternoon, but physicians were not hopeful.—The Lantern.

Deed of a Degenerate.
 Butler Phinor a dissipated and wayward young man of Greenwood county, having earlier prepared for the deed, arose about 3 o'clock Tuesday morning and fired one barrel of his gun at his father's head and the other at his mother's, while they were asleep in the same room and only a few feet from his bed. It seems almost miraculous that neither was hurt, the lead in each case missing its mark a few inches and lodging in the pillow and the head of the bed. He then left the home and was arrested at Jones Park Wednesday afternoon and brought to jail at Greenwood.
 Until he was arrested he supposed his father had been killed. His father fell from the bed at the first shot but was heard to get up again. He expressed the opinion that his son wanted to get them out of the way and then he fired a third shot which hit his brother. The degenerate son says this was not his motive, but says he had a strong wish to see his father die. He has been here since very little for some time.

Warby Man Rewarded.
 The Southern Express Company has recognized the long and faithful service of Mr. G. H. Brennecke as its agent here by retarding him on pay. The company will continue to pay him a salary but makes no further claim upon his services, and he is at liberty to engage in any employment he may feel inclined. It is a rare thing that a man serves a corporation faithfully and acceptably, and is then paid for his services and recognition of his good offices in adjusting differences before they grow to serious proportions. He is invariably and almost without exception a mutual friend of employer and patron. He worked neither by the clock nor by the book, but did whatever he could by the interest of the employer and the accommodation of patrons. We congratulate Mr. Brennecke and commend the Express company.

Excelsior Farm Dairy.
 We sold milk through the winter less than one cent of production. We are one of our patrons keep your cows through the summer dry from neighbors. If you are not satisfied to sell, if you will not seek to do so in the summer, we will pay you for your milk. If you will sell our stock now when they will bring the highest price of the business. J. D. Battsner, 426-1/2

The Awful Jungle
The meadow is an awful place
For you to roam in
The dandelion you must face
The lily dragon fly
The snake and the adder's tongue
The tortoise on its log
Though gentle cowslips kindly yield
Milkwed and buttercup
Beside you, hidden in the field
The lark's paw reaches up
To graze at you, the bee and bumble
While lily lilies roose and roar
And my "what brigand armies pass
On horse files or on foot
Their "Turk's beads" waving in the grass
Their arms and with arrowroot
And all the flowers have platts; too
While sword grass waits to cut you through
Now maybe Indian pipes don't mean
A horrid South cross
And thick there's toudstools to be seen
Horribly damp
I tell you I ain't getting to go
When cravily crawlers grow

Companion for May.

The New Styles for Women.
"The new summer gowns have a conspicuous feature, and that is in their trimmings, which seem to stand out in their bold relief," says Grace Margaret Gould in Woman's Home Companion.
"The trimmings are in all widths and leaty cotton braid are used, in white and dyed to match the fabric, in the skirts and collar, and in the trim of the coat is shown by the line of braiding, and either braid or buttons not infrequently trim the back.
"Tassels are very much used wherever a place for them can be found. The heavy and fine linings are fashionable in combination for trimming both coats and suits.
"Very narrow satin platings are much used as a trimming for silk and net gowns. They are often introduced in some brilliant shade, such as Empire green, on a gown of neutral tint. Platings of this style frequently simulate a lily effect on the skirt and outline a tonie effect in the skirt.
"Buttons are not used as only where they are needed, but where they are needed, they are of the most elaborate. For the tailored suits are the fabric-covered buttons and the braid buttons.
"The white and colored cotton crepe button is extremely high style, and for lingerie wists there are the new pearl bead buttons."
He Got What He Needed.
"Nine years ago I looked for as my time had come," says Mr. C. F. Farthing, of Mill Creek, Ind. "I was so run down that life hung on a very thin thread, and I got what I needed. The best recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and got what I needed. I had one fit in the grave, but Electric Bitters put me back on my feet, and I have been ever since." Acoustion in the House.
The long-promised acoustion in the dining room of the new House of Representatives. And it is pretty safe now to promise that it stay there will be short. The acoustion is a contraption of the works on the principle of the telephone. It is designed to permit members of the house while in the house office building, the heads of various departments of the government and the president to hear what is going on in the house chamber.
"Washington telegrams say that the other day Attorney General Bonaparte, sitting in his office, had Representative Clark of Florida say that the attorney general didn't know any law and was unfit to hold the job.
"A western member, provoked by the frequent interruption and oratorical outbursts of an active southern member, muttered angrily:
"Ah, ah, down! Saut your yamp. You talk too much, anyhow."
He did not expect to be overheard; but he was. The speaker forgot the acoustion. Later he learned that his hasty remarks had been carried by the acoustion to a friend of the member on the government side. It is doubtful if the acoustion will last. It tells too many secrets.
The acoustion must go. Certainly if they have one in the senate chamber, when Mr. Tillman gets back there, charity would suggest that they procure a chronicle for Mr. Roosevelt.—Augusta Chronicle.

Bill To Limit Injunctions.
Washington, April 17.—A bill regulating the granting by the federal courts of the temporary injunctions against State laws was considered by the senate today. Senator Overman, in opposition to the measure explained that it prohibits the granting of such injunctions except by a majority of three judges, two of whom must be required to be circuit and the third either a circuit or a district judge.
"As Justice Harlan recently said in his dissenting opinion in the case of Attorney General Young of Minnesota," said Mr. Overman, "we have come to a pretty pass when one federal judge can suspend the official of a State from the enforcement of a law passed by the legislature of the State."
Senator Burkett offered a substitute for the bill.
Strong opposition was made by Mr. Hepburn (Iliquo) to the bill on the ground that the western part of the country the vast distances and small number of circuit and district courts would cause delays and embarrass the proper enforcement of the law.
The fact that the bill applies only to injunctions preventing the enforcement of the laws of the western part of the country was pointed out by Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, who declared that it would not endanger proper enforcement of the law under present methods.
After a brief discussion on the Burkett substitute was disagreed to, the bill as reported to the senate was passed.

How to Avoid Appendicitis.
Most victims of appendicitis are those who are habitually constipated. It is caused by the stagnation of food in the large intestine. It is caused by the fruit and bowels and restores the natural action of the bowels. Orin-Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or grip and is mild and pleasant to the taste. It is sold at the Corner Pharmacy.
Distillery Case on Trial.
Sandville, Va., April 17.—Charged with having committed extensive frauds on the government, P. M. Angle, president and general manager of the Dry Dock Distilling Company was placed on trial in the United States court here today.
Angle has during the past several years defrauded the Government out of between one hundred and one hundred and fifty thousand dollars worth of taxes on whiskey. About twenty men, including Government storekeepers and gaugers, have been indicted for their part in the fraud. The trial will last for several weeks. Several hundred witnesses, including many of the high Government officials, bankers, grain dealers, railway employees, expert accountants and others, have been summoned to testify. The prosecution is being conducted by Attorney General Thomas C. McLean and the defendants are being represented by Adams, Baltz & Brynson, and Pearson & Harris, of this city.

TIME TO ACT.
Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness. Profit by Cheater, S. C. People's Experiences.
Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are common early symptoms of kidney disease. It is an error to neglect these signs. The attacks may become more frequent and the trouble greater. If they are not treated at once, they will lead to the treatment of dropsy—puffy swellings below the eyes, bloating of limbs and ankles, or any part of the body, when your old friends, Druggist and physician will tell you:
"G. L. Long, the Wilson St. Grocer, Rock Hill, S. C. says: 'I know the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills and I recommend them very highly. I got a box and used them for a bad back which has given me a great deal of trouble. I did not know that it was due to my derangement of the kidneys until I saw the advertisement of Doan's Kidney Pills describing and explaining their merits. I had a little trouble. They relieved my back almost immediately and it has not bothered me since using them.'
"I don't know more proof like this from cheater people. Call at Chester Drug Co. store and ask what customers report."

Father of Base Ball" Dring.
New York, April 18.—Henry Chadwick, known throughout the country as the "Father of Base Ball," is reported to be dying at his residence in Brooklyn tonight. Mr. Chadwick is suffering from pneumonia and heart trouble. He is 85 years old. Mr. Chadwick was born in England and came to the United States when a youth. He has written many articles on base ball and is a popular pastime. He was authority on the rules of his favorite game.
Each Has His Full.
We deplore the senatorial race about as follows: Governor Heyward was one of the most popular governors the state ever had; John C. Brantley was in the country having the largest white vote; George Johnston is the ablest man in the race; O. B. Martin is a member of the senate; J. M. Brantley is nomination in the state; E. D. Smith is the best stump speaker; and the special friend of the farmers. Take your choice.—Spartanburg Journal.

Death Was on His Heels.
Jesse F. Morris, of Skippers, Va., has a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia nearly killed me, and I was so run down that I thought I would never get up again. I had one fit in the grave, but Electric Bitters put me back on my feet, and I have been ever since." Sold under guarantee at Chester Drug Co. and T. S. Letter, No. 506.

Colon Tax Refund.
Representative Aiken is trying to secure the refund of about 600,000,000 cotton tax collected from the south since the war. The tax was imposed directly on cotton and one of its principal objects was to make the people of the south bear the whole burden of the war. In the course of the time the tax was declared unconstitutional as everybody knew it was from the first, and then the government people began to work for protective tariff idea stronger and stronger to the same end. That the cotton tax should be refunded there is absolutely no question; but as to whether it ever be a very doubtful. However, Congressman Aiken is to be commended for his efforts to secure justice in the matter.—Yorkville Equiv.

There Are Others.
There is being bottled some public sentiment along the line that the senators are entirely beyond the reach of John Gary Evans and D. C. Heyward. There is very good reason in the opinion of The Equivator, to think that these two gentlemen are stronger than that; but to assume that there is nobody else in the running would be a very serious mistake. Smith, Johnston and Martin all have followings, and they will cut no little figure in the general result. Watch.—Yorkville Equiv.

State Troops Ordered Home.
Pensacola, April 10.—Gov. Brown tonight ordered all the state troops sent here to preserve order during the strike of the steam motorman and conductors of the local street railway company to return to their homes at once. The troops will be on guard tonight, but are expected to take their departure early tomorrow. City officials are making efforts to have at least one company of militia left on duty tomorrow.
