THE CATAWA FALLS.

Rare Beauty of the Scenery—Scarcity of Great Industry and Activity.
There is no truer saying than this: "A prophet is not without honor save in his own country." It can be applied with equal force to the beautiful scenery in our own land. Travellers to Europe are often asked, "Why do you leave the states to come here before you have explored your own beautiful land," and having said this much by way of introduction, I will apply it to some of the beautiful scenery in old South Carolina, to be more exact the Catawba river. Many will say, "Why, I never thought of this before." "The whole in the Catawba river, etc." The whole in the heart and sentiment also points out aspects of interest, at our own doors, which we have never thought of, and through which we are longing to see the good and beautiful scenery of the great and beautiful mountains in the Blue Ridge mountains of North Carolina, the Catawba river flows south, through South Carolina. It is called Catawba until it reaches Fairland waters, where it merges with the waters of the Wateree river, and is called Wateree river. At the southern extremity of Bladensburg county the Wateree joins the Congaree and together they form the Santee. Goodward they go to add their strength to the great Atlantic ocean, and thus play a part in making this great ocean into a little part of their own.

In the early part of the eighteenth century, before railroads had ever been known, a fabulous amount of wealth was accumulated in the hands of a few individuals of the state of South Carolina, conceived the idea of canalizing all the channels of the rivers, in order to transport her varied products to the ocean. It is said that South Carolina spent $10,000,000 on this work. In spite of the large expenditure, it is very doubtful if any practical benefit has resulted from the work in the upper part of the state.

One of the largest of the Catawbas, where the working is done, is called "Mills Falls." Here the water, in its descent, falls into a deep, narrow channel, and from there, by means of a dam, it is made to flow over a series of mill races, which, in its descent, gives it the appearance of a series of small cascades. The water, in its descent, is made to flow over a series of mill races, which, in its descent, gives it the appearance of a series of small cascades. The water, in its descent, is made to flow over a series of mill races, which, in its descent, gives it the appearance of a series of small cascades.

At one place the canal runs into the river, a granite breakwater wall dividing it from the river. At these falls was built by Mr. McCallough, one of the best cotton factories in South Carolina run by water-power, and the remains of the old foundation may still be seen. One of the best of the old waterfalls, which are still standing, is the one at McCallough's, which is a beautiful sight. At this place a great head, extends out into the river, forming a series of mill races, and on this our forefathers built a mill, by which all the corn for the district was ground. The dam of this mill was destroyed by the great waters that overtook the place, and the dam was washed away, and the water, in its descent, is made to flow over a series of mill races, which, in its descent, gives it the appearance of a series of small cascades.

rodman Items.
Rodman, April 21.—Mayor W. H. Harford's court, spent Wednesday night at Mr. W. A. Darby's. His friends here are always glad to see him.

Miss Doris Locke's school at Fishing Creek closed with a picnic Wednesday, after a successful term. About 50 persons attended and a very pleasant day was no doubt spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Turner, of Fort Lawn, visited at Mr. A. Ferguson's this week.

Mrs. Jas. Waters spent last week at Heath's Chapel with Mr. Nichols, who had meses.

Mrs. Julia and Wofford Keo, of Chester, spent Sunday with homefolk here and attended preaching at Pleasant Grove.

Mr. L. W. Henry spent a few days last week at Green Hill as a juror.

Mr. J. T. Jordan is spending today in Chester.

Edgemore Letter.
Edgemore, April 25.—Many scores of cotton were planted last week and the early planting is coming up nicely.

Services will commence at Edgemore church next Friday morning at 11 o'clock. There will be two services Friday, Saturday and Sabbath each at 11 a. m. and at 8 p. m.

The season which the falling gave at Mrs. Robinson's was quite a success in every particular. We thank our friends very much for their kindness.

Mr. John Patton, of Abbeville, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Allen at this place.

Landsford School Picnic.
"It is a pleasing spectacle to witness all the pupils of three schools assembled together. Bright boys who, let us hope, may grow to be men of Christian fortitude, men of honor, men of trust, did not seem to be swayed from paths of conscientious duty. Bright girls who, let us trust, may grow into young womanhood shining stars in that constellation of virtuous Christian women whose influence helps to make good homes and helps to make good government."

The Landsford school closed on Wednesday, April 19th. It was fitting to give the young pupils a picnic and even more fitting to invite the pupils of two nearby schools to join them in the pleasures of the day.

Such events bring both old and young into social intercourse, and this interesting and secure, and strictly the bond of Christian friendship and harmonious unity."

A spelling match conducted by Mr. M. E. Eder, of the Fort Lawn school, made all of us older ones think of days gone by when the young boys and girls did credit to themselves in spelling.

The speech made by the kind the furnished and changed the soul formed by the children, assisted by Miss Delta Atkinson, was enjoyed immensely by every one present.

Speeches were made by Messrs. W. D. Knox, J. M. Hough, J. E. Nunnery and M. G. User. A louncheon dinner was served on the grounds, and both old and young enjoyed it. Too much credit cannot be given our bright and attractive young teacher, Miss Delta Atkinson, in her untiring efforts to make all those present enjoy themselves.

She has been with us two seasons and we, with reluctance, but at her own request, must give her up. She has given entire satisfaction and leaves to us the school with our very best wishes for her a bright and noble future.

LANDFORD NOTICE.
Human Blood Merks.
A tale of horror was told by marks of human blood in the home of J. W. Williams, a well known merchant of Back, Ky. He writes: "Twenty years ago I was seized with the disease of the lungs, and was near death when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. It completely cured me and I have retained well ever since. It cured me of my chronic cough, asthma, and settled colds and bronchitis, and is the only known cure for Weak Lungs. Every bottle guaranteed by the Chester Drug Store, and Johnson & Guy's Drug Store, one each $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give you Hundred Dollars for every case of deafness caused by Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sent for circulars free.

"RICHES TAKE WINGS AND FLY AWAY"

It is an old saying that people like to quote as a sort of apology for impudic business management. Now we don't pretend that you will get rich or stay rich simply as a result of buying at our store, but we do claim that any one who buys here and transacts all his other business to equally good advantage is more than likely to see "riches" flying toward him, than away from him. We will combine what we are right if you drop in and inspect the "quality", and the price on Coffins, Caskets and Burial Robes will save you money.

FRIDAY, APRIL 17, 1908.

The strike situation in France has improved somewhat, and the police are now sanguine that they will not be called on to quiet any uprisings.

John Temple Graves has withdrawn from the race for the U. S. senate and Georgia politics is thereby deprived of one element of commotion.

Who comes one of Senator Tillman's lieutenants to the front and charges that the dispensary investigating committee is developing a political machine which is seeking the downfall of the senator.

San Francisco is rapidly recovering from the gloom and devastation, and with characteristic American pluck and progressive is going ahead with the work of restoring the ruined sections.

The recommendations of "Citizen" in our last issue as to the macadam streets and Catawba Falls power are such as will meet with favor from the voters, and the candidate, who announces himself as favoring these two public demands, may feel sure of general support.

The charge that the dispensary investigating committee is developing into a political agency to defeat Senator Tillman may or may not have been inspired by the latter, but at any rate it is a slur which will receive no heed at all from those who know the personnel of the committee in question.

Gen. Keller, with characteristic stubbornness and inflexibility is plunging away at the investigation of the Southern representation. His friend and associate, Mr. Crumpacker, has wisely seen the attitude of public sentiment towards the investigation, and abandoned all efforts to get the measure through at this time.

The Yorkville News Era is troubled about the ignorant vapors of some newspapers that do not have the time or inclination to investigate the truth, or else do not desire the truth.

It's too bad, sure. But there are others. Can a newspaper that publishes yarns like this one be taken as a key at Blackburg claim superior wisdom, penetration or inclination to investigate for truth?

A storm of indignation has been aroused even in Massachusetts, by the efforts of politicians to tack on a rider to the bill which lately passed the house of representatives in that state, the purport of the rider being a demand on the Legislature to originate that they guarantee to Massachusetts that they are approaching extinction.

It is absolutely unfair that the women citizens of this county who have no voice in the county they are not allowed to vote should be required to pay taxes. Taxation without representation is tyrannical. If a man is a stockholder in a company he is entitled to vote in the election of its directors and to have a voice in its policy and management. To exclude the women taxpayers of this town from the right to elect municipal and school officers is equally tyrannical and unjust.—Fairfax Enterprise.

Try throwing their tea overboard and see if they don't "come across."

Preparations are being made in the observance of Mother's Day in this city. The date is near at hand, and if whatever steps are to be taken must be taken at once, so as to insure that the celebration of the occasion. When one remembers for what this day is commemorated and that of all the days in the year only one is set aside for this sacred purpose, it surely seems that the day might be celebrated with fitting exercises.

It has been a month since that windy day in March when I superintended the work of planting a number of young trees, and I had a good deal to do to get them to grow. I had a good deal to do to get them to grow. I had a good deal to do to get them to grow.
