SPLendid EXHIBIT.

South Carolina Has Assembled a Fine Exhibit For Jamestown Exposition.

[By Charles Frederick Stanbury.]
The display and exhibit of South Carolina, "the land where everything grows," at the Jamestown Exposition of 1907, will show the resources of the state and will open the eyes even of those who possess deep knowledge regarding the fruits of the soil and especially the southern soil.

The exhibit which will be on view at Hampton Roads is the permanent State Exhibit of South Carolina, which is maintained under the auspices of the State Department of Agriculture, Commerce and Immigration. The objects shown have been collected, classified, labeled and duly installed in appropriate cases and receptacles in which they were shown at Commercial Hall Building at the State Fair grounds of the State Agricultural and Mechanical Society at Columbia.

The exhibit will represent the agricultural, commercial, manufacturing and industrial resources of the state—to be, in fact, such an exhibit as will enable the intending settler, by spending an hour or two studying it to learn at a glance which might otherwise take weeks or months of time. Great difficulty has been experienced in getting this very complete exhibit together and much credit is due to Commissioner E. J. Watson for attaining the success. The articles in the exhibit, are carefully labeled and illustrated catalogues will be printed for the use of visitors to the Jamestown Exposition. Dr. Webber, the action expert of the United States Department of Agriculture, lent his personal aid in preparing for this exhibit the finest display of special varieties of rice, sorghum stalk and fibrous gum on the government experimental farms near Columbia, that is to be seen outside of Washington. Mr. E. J. Watson, who operates the government farm, has rendered valuable assistance in placing this exhibit together.

Such Chemical exhibits will give a panoramic view of the wonderful resources of the state. It is probable that this will reveal some new to the South Carolinians about the great natural wealth of his own state. Things will be shown with which the home people themselves are unfamiliar, such as glass and paint manufacture, tea and silk cultivation, the result of experiments looking to the securing of better cotton with the hybridization of the superior kind of cotton from South Carolina with orange and pink cotton from the West Indies and other sources. While Charleston and Charleston county are necessarily conspicuous in the exhibit, the exhibits will be from all the counties including Barnwell and Beaufort.

The exhibits will be a beautiful pageant with unusual ornamental value. It is probable that the exhibits will be the most complete ever shown in South Carolina. It is probable that the exhibits will be the most complete ever shown in South Carolina. It is probable that the exhibits will be the most complete ever shown in South Carolina.

so, will be shown the walnut, the hickory nut, the peanut and all other native nuts. Here will be beautiful specimens of kid glove oranges, grape fruit and lemons as well as many varieties of pecan nuts, Spanish peanuts and Spanish walnuts. The base material will be all of seeds behind glass.

Five aisles will pass through the display. Above, hanging banners will be used to designate the different departments. Along each main aisle will run cases filled with specimens of gold ores, iron ores, copper ores, mica, corundum, amethysts, garnets, malachite, clays of various types, asbestos and other minerals.

On the lower tier of mineral stands will be splendid polished blocks of granite from all the quarries of the state, which have been carefully collected by State Geologist Simon. Specimens of phosphate rock will be shown.

Above the mineral cases is to be an arch of the best grain of the state constructed of sheaves from the state farm at Sumter. On the arch will be displayed rice, wheat, oats, barley and rye of exceptional growth and high yields. Similar sheaves will be displayed on the walls and columns in the exhibit in blue boxes arranged so as to be ready for shipment at a moment's notice.

In the center section will be a large glass case in which will be displayed the various wild ducks, partridges, the crane, robin, etc.

It is not possible to describe the interesting exhibit in detail and keep within the scope of this article. In the exhibit there will be photographs of agriculture scenes in South Carolina, illustrating general farming, dairying, stock, tobacco and sheep raising. A large variety of fertilizers will be shown, especially those fitted for cotton, rice, etc.

Sketch of Mr. Hollis.

The following sketch of Mr. L. P. Hollis, of this county, who is now in New York City, was in Greenfield, appears in the Greenfield Daily Herald:

Mr. L. P. Hollis, former assistant secretary of the State Board of Control, is the position of general secretary of the Monaghan Y. M. C. A., succeeding J. E. Munger, who resigned some weeks ago. Mr. Hollis has entered upon his work with a great deal of enthusiasm and he has made many friends among the members of the association and in Greenfield since he has been connected with the work.

He began work as assistant secretary June 18th, 1905, and his election to the position of general secretary is a fitting acknowledgment of his true worth.

Mr. Hollis was born in the eastern portion of Chester county, Nov. 20th, 1883. He spent the early part of his life on the farm of his father, Mr. P. T. Hollis, who is an influential and honored citizen of the community. In the meantime he attended the public schools of the neighborhood, receiving a fairly good preparation for college. In 1901 at the age of 18 years, he entered the South Carolina College, where he spent the four years of his college life in constant and diligent pursuit for his own achievement and for the betterment of the college at large.

Soon after entering college, Mr. Hollis showed by his Christian characteristics, that he had the good of his fellow students at heart and by his disinterestedness in their behalf won the esteem of the student body and by the judicious seeking after knowledge gained the favor of the faculty. This is shown by the various honors bestowed upon him both by the students and faculty. He was given many of the highest honors in college by the students and by the faculty, was appointed to some of the most responsible positions.

In the literary society he early established his ability to lead and was rapidly developed his oratorical abilities by which he efficiently served the society on several occasions. As a result of his college work he received his highest consideration and his decision, were those which became true manhood. Throughout his connection with the society his efforts were towards the uplifting of that body in all its phases, which efforts being accompanied by earnest endeavor always resulted in something of value.

The Lamm Case Argued.

The dispensary in Laurens, as will be remembered, remained open even after the election in that county January 6, by which the institution was voted out. They are still open, although the state board of control declared the election legal. At that time Mr. R. H. Welch of this city appeared before Judge Hydrik and signed and secured a writ of certiorari in order to review the decision of the board.

Last evening the attorneys of both sides appeared before Judge Hydrik in this city. Mr. Welch, Mr. Bellinger and Mr. Cannon spoke for those who wish the dispensaries kept open and Col. Ferguson of Ferguson and Featherston and Mr. W. R. Richey in the interest of the other side.

The hearing will still be lengthy, but it seems that the chief cause of contention is over the Laurens precedent box, where it is claimed there is no registration book and that the managers did not officially sign the result. Another point is the Princeton box, where it is said there was no registration book. Gen. Leroy F. Youman represented the state board of censors.

Judge Hydrik will render a decision as soon as possible.—The State, 27th.

Dispensary Whiskey at Cut Rate.

In order to close out odds and ends and sundry hard stock purchased by the old board, the new dispensary board has decided to establish a cut-rate, at-out, bargain-counter dispensary in Columbia. The windows will doubtless contain placards containing the following to lure the passer-by: "Evans' Choice, was 22 per qt., now 16 per qt." "Boykin's Best, formerly 31 per qt., now 21 per qt." "Tom's Friday, 15 cts. per pint while it lasts." Edgett Advertiser.

Not It as Rich as Rockefeller.

If you had all the wealth of Rockefeller, the Standard Oil magnate, you could not buy a better medicine for your cold, cough and croup than Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The most eminent physician can not prescribe a better preparation for colds and diarrhoeas, both for children and adults. The uniform success of this remedy has shown it to be superior to all others. It never fails, and when reduced with water and sweetened, is pleasant to take. Every family should be supplied with it. Sold by all Druggists.

Donations to Newberry College.

Newberry, April 25. The semi-annual year of Newberry college will go down in the history of that institution as an epoch year, with the promise of great things for the future. A few days ago it was announced that Dr. D. K. Pearson of Chicago had made an offer to the college of $25,000 on most liberal and generous terms than the original offer. He brings the further good news that the Hon. Andrew Carnegie has offered to give to the college for the technical department $10,000, on the sole condition that a like sum be raised for the general endowment.

There is no doubt that the Lettians of the south will take advantage of this offer. The state.

During his stay in Chester Mr. Jackson has had an enthusiastic business man, and his friends are glad that he has decided to remain in Chester.

Mr. Glenn Speaks at Norfolk.

As a languist in Norfolk Saturday night in honor of Pres. J. M. Barr, of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, who is retiring after several years active service, Mr. J. L. Glenn of this city was one of the speakers. Mr. Glenn's subject was "The Ups and Downs of a Railroad Lawyer." Sixty two officials of the road were present besides many invited guests.

Today's Municipal Election.

The battle of the ballots goes on merrily today, and the fight that is to decide the personnel of the city council, to some extent at least for the next year, is well under way. The total registration for the fray is 282, tolerably well apportioned in the different wards, and as good as expected voters is outside doubt as to the outcome in those wards where there is a contest.

In the Mayor's Court.

One lone malefactor faced the mayor yesterday morning when court was called. Tom Wallace, white, who is somewhat of a character, was brought into trouble, was the individual and the charge was that while under the influence of liquor Saturday Wallace was exceedingly disorderly. The same tendencies have resulted in the fellow's undoing before, and on one other occasion at least he has served on the public works. The mayor administered a light fine with the alternative of thirty days on the chain-gang, and it is probable that the latter will be the one to be chosen.

Thief Goes to the Gaol.

Walter McLaughlin, colored, a porter at the Chester Hotel, was arrested for taking possession of the property of others, was before the mayor Friday morning charged with robbing one of the guests. McLaughlin was before the same tribunal only a few days ago on a similar charge and was dismissed with a light fine and an impenitent admission against future offenses. On account of the disregarding of this kindly warning the mayor lost no time in sending the boy to the chain-gang, and it is hoped that the experience at rock breaking will be of benefit in developing moral character.

Union Meeting at Blackstock.

The union meeting of the Chester Baptist Association met with the Blackstock church Saturday morning and continued in session until Sabbath evening. The association was called to order at 10:30 a. m. and Rev. J. O. Simmons, the pastor of the Blackstock church, led the devotional exercises. Mr. J. L. Brice, of Woodward, was elected moderator and presided with skill over the deliberations of the body. Mr. Charlton Fowler was elected clerk.

The introductory sermon was preached by Rev. J. D. Wells, in the absence of Rev. J. S. Soper, who was unable to fill the appointment on account of a belated train.

On Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock the body listened to an able and inspiring exhortation by Rev. J. H. Holland, the pastor of the Methodist church. At the close of the sermon Mrs. S. S. Haddock, of Chester, addressed the ladies on the subject of missions.

There was a good attendance upon the meeting, and a lively interest was manifested on the various subjects that came up for discussion.

Court House Club Meetings.

The Court House Democratic Club met Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. President R. B. Caldwell called the meeting to order. Mr. Caldwell was elected president, J. H. Westbrook, Esq., was chosen vice president, and R. L. Douglas, Esq., was elected secretary and treasurer.

Mr. J. M. Wise was elected as the club's representative on the county executive committee. Mr. Caldwell resigned this position, which he has held for many years.

A committee of three was appointed to nominate delegates to the county convention, and the motion was carried. The president appointed Messrs. A. L. Gaston, J. G. McFadden and A. M. Allen as members of this committee. The committee retired and after due deliberation reported the following names, which were passed on and are therefore fully qualified delegates to the county convention:

A. L. Gaston, J. G. McFadden, R. L. Horne, W. H. Edwards, H. Simpson, W. L. Winter, W. S. Turner, A. A. Owens, W. S. Hall, W. H. Brice, Fred Walker, Jno. R. Alexander, A. M. Allen, S. E. McFadden, W. Y. White, S. M. Jones, C. C. Edwards, R. H. Hatler, J. P. Chambers, Paul Hemphill, J. B. Westbrook, J. M. Brice, R. B. Caldwell, A. G. Wiles, W. Allen Corwell, S. H. Latham, W. J. Irwin, J. McD. Hood, J. R. Culp.

On motion it was decided that the president should appoint a committee to see to the matter of full registration.

There being no further business the club adjourned.

Still Afloat Will Perry.

Mr. D. L. Booser, of Chester, was here yesterday to consult with Gov. Hefford relative to having additional effort made to capture Will Perry, a cotton mill operative, who shot Langley Booser, the son of Mr. Booser, at Wylie Mills, in Chester about a year ago. The governor has already made a reward and will try to do all that he can to locate the fugitive. To the $500 already offered, Mr. Booser has added $400 on his own account, but he says he is willing to give all of the $1,000 himself, if the murderer can be captured, dead or alive. He has sent out detectives with a description and photograph of Perry.—The State 27th.

Mr. Booser Is a Man Whose Personal Appearance would at once inspire confidence in him as a man of integrity and worth, and he also impresses one as being of high-toned tenacity and great persistence. The tragedy has evidently made a new life purpose for D. L. Booser.

"It does not seem to me that anything in particular is being done by the officers of the law to capture the slayer of my son, though I suppose they are doing all they can in the circumstances. I have recently added $400 more to the $500 made up by the governor, myself and others. But I am willing to give the entire $1,000 for the capture of the man dead or alive; I won't make any compromise or conditions. In fact, I am willing to spend my entire estate if necessary, to run down the slayer of my son," continued Mr. Booser, the corner of his mouth tightening slightly.

Mr. Booser pulled off a circular descriptive of Perry from his pocket, giving a poorly printed out of date picture. He also showed out a photograph of Perry. "I have seen these circulars far and wide and about 200 of these photographs have gone out from me to sheriff and others. If Perry finally escapes it will not be my fault," said Mr. Booser.—Charlotte Observer.

"Mr. Booser is not 'Of Chester.' We think he is of Newbury."
