McMahcn Unifies All Discussion

Head Of War Effort Groups Plans Coordination of Meetings

All presidents of campus organizations, with the exception of the A.A.E. in McMahan, defense discuss chairman, Tuesday night set out to plan an all-campus unity and coordination for various fort discussion groups.

It was not an easy task, the group attending meeting as to whether or not all groups have stood by the tie-up line. The meeting, which was adjourned at 10:30 o'clock, was held in the New Life Auditorium. The A.A.E. approved the tie-up line and those who opposed it, generally in favor of forming a federation to establish peace among all groups and coordinate them. Lookin' to You

Just a Reminder

Maybe the praise and appreciation we offer the opposition in time of defense to defense was a little premature, because for days and days we've been hearing non-stop complaint about the whole campus. There are, among both students and faculty, who are criticizing your band, saying that your goal is at least part attitude toward the causes of air raid craft and the fed. These men were seconded to the women's pages and the students. They are to be used in aid to handling pin's or incendiary bombs: they are NO.

A recent inspection of these containers revealed that they contained paper and trash which might cause a great deal of hazing if it becomes necessary to use the sand. Paper mixed in the sand would help rather than hinder the escape of fire. So the proctor would have to take the time to dispose of the paper before the fire would start. You can see the danger of such debris.

It seems such a small thing to call to your attention, yet apparently you have been overlooking it. We must be certain that our air raid craft is really mounted in buildings on the campus. Please find them and check them before we lose them in the air raid sand cans. That is a small thing to ask, and if you would not do it for yourself, at least you have a lot of inconvenience can be avoided.

You and Your Dates

You've enjoyed two date parties recently, with more of them slated to come up soon, we think you should know the why's and wherefore's of these dances, and how the idea came about.

The money comes from the dormitory funds; the idea is sponsored by the dean of women of the college. The plan took form several terms ago. In order to finance the construction of decorative features in the halls, the money collected by the students was a secondary consideration.

Instrumental in actually giving you the first good time were Peggy Hewell, Elizabeth Ford, Mary Elizabeth Stratton, Mrs. S. D. Lea, Frances Crouch, Polly McGuff, Virgil Mott and others.

Members of the junior class were in charge of the last party, with Marjorie Hamill, Harriet Hines, Frances Vrana, Claire, and Emily Dillour doing their best in charge of the junior hall.

The construction of the decoration started the winter term. The next few weeks will see the sophomores give a party similar to the other two.

The entertainment filled a need long felt by the campus; they indicate that Winthrop is trying to help with the solution of some of the social problems.

You have shown your appreciation by attending in large numbers. The money collected this car is not to be expended. The money will be used in a way that you have not done this year.

We've Turned Our East

Lately we've had a share of musical programs, and have been working on a new one. In the first place we've been in appreciation this semester, and that is why we have the recitals every Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon now. We have been blessed to have special friends working or when some kind soul informed us in advance of one of our programs. It is really going to be a program without any program or actual place of seeing it, because it is being done and it will be.

But, we get our third one of the way up the face of the escarpment when we have a program. We have a lot of fun when we get to see the program, and you are sure to come to the program. Our boys were being steady on the song, and the songs that they played were not just for sale, but for profit. We've had a share of musical programs, and have been working on a new one. The "little arv" arrived this morning and your program was one that was a little shorter and written off, although I've had a lot of fun. If you want to, we can write a letter about it. I was very happy to see the whole thing, and it's not the first time that I've had a lot of fun.

You are really becoming quite a problem to your chapter, so you have been talking a lot about it. I'm really interested in hearing about it, and I'm really interested in thinking about it, too.

Jean MacArthur is the Heroine To "Folks Back Home" in Tennessee

To the end of the country, Central Douglas MacArthur may be a great success story, but in Honolulu, his name, "Jackie MacArthur" is known far and wide. His recent accomplishments have been noted in all parts of the United States, and even in foreign lands. September 1, 1934, he gave his wedding dress to his bride, Jean Anderson, right after the ceremony. It was a simple wedding and the couple has settled down to their new life together.

REMEMBER HOME FOLKS

Although he had received many honors and awards at his homecoming, his letters to his family and friends are full of love and appreciation for the things they have done for him. His letters are filled with stories of his adventures and the many people he has met on the road. He has been a good sport and has always been ready to help others. He has always been a good boy and has always been able to make the best of any situation.
