RAILROADS ARE SAFER

Fewer Passengers and Trainmen Killed Than Ever Before.

All railway safety records were broken in 1915 when 325 American roads, reporting to the bureau of railway news and statistics, went through the entire fiscal year to June 30 without a single fatality to a passenger in a train accident. The roads reporting operate 161,478 miles of line. It is stated that this record of safe operation has never been equaled by the railroads of any other country.

All American roads in 1915, operating over 250,000 miles of line, reported 1,000 passengers killed on all railroad accidents. In comparison, the latest returns for Europe with 197,015 miles, show seven hundred passengers thus killed.

The decreasing hazard to trainmen is shown by the fact that 287 were employed for one killed, the best record set in that respect.

MEXICAN STRIKE GENERAL

Walk Out of Machinists in Railway Shops Spreads

Laredo, Tex., May 17.—A walk out of Mexican machinists in the shops of the National Railway at Neuvo Laredo yesterday, at first considered of minor importance, assumed more serious proportions today, when it was learned that the strike probably would extend to all shops on the National lines and possibly to all branches of the railroad. It was said at Neuvo Laredo that trains probably would stop running Thursday.

The dilapidated condition of rolling stock making repairs almost impossible and demand of men to be paid in gold, and not Carranza flat currency, were said to have been cause of the walkout.

THE WAY THE CANDIDATE COMES AT YOU

It is very interesting to note the position in all his maneuvers. He has a way all his own. If we were a woman we should say his ways are very cute, but we can not use this word as it belongs exclusively to the other sex. He gets up to you in a very quiet, friendly way, and then he lets you in and you find that he is very much interested in you. He may be a stranger to you, but you are not a stranger to him. You would think that he knew you most intimately, and that he was interested in all that you were doing. Besides, he has a way of making you feel that you are a fellow of considerable importance—a very useful man in your community, and an all around first class citizen. Really, it is surprising to have him talk to you, especially if you are the least inclined to be helped by the good opinion that others have of you.

Just about the time you are beginning to feel your very best, he opens up and tells you that a great many of his friends are insisting upon him to run for office—naming the office that is attracting him—and "Do you know I am thinking very seriously of running" is the question that he confronts you with. This is calculated to make you feel not so hilarious over the attention of your new found friend and fellow citizen. At the same time you can not keep from admiring the savvy and poise and bearing that he has exhibited. It strikes you as all right all around. But you begin to wonder if there will be any change in his demeanor after the battle is over. Likely there will be and such a change as will cause you to wonder if all men are pretenders. But come to think of it, we should not be hardened by this kind of thing; for a candidate is a candidate and he can not help putting forth his best foot in the hour of his deepest need and remember that he could not bear the strain incident to this way of behaving for any considerable length of time. It would make him a nervous wreck or likely kill him in a few months.—Greenwood Journal.

APPEALS FOR OIL SUPPLY

Secretary Urges Wilson to Save Reserves in Oil Fields of California

Washington, May 18.—Secretary Daniels appealed to President Wilson today to use his influence in the California fields as a vital step in the campaign for adequate national defense.

Should the bill favorably reported by the senate public land committee to lease reserves on public lands withdrawn by President Taft in 1909 become a law, Mr. Wilson was told, the navy must abandon oil fuel and return to coal with a consequent loss in steaming radius and speed. The navy department has advised the secretary that it would be unsafe to continue the construction of oil burning craft unless an adequate reserve supply of fuel was in sight.

Mr. Daniels submitted a full summary of the situation and the president began studying the problem immediately, as the bill probably will be taken up in the senate next week. A delegation of California senators, headed by former Gov. Gilbert, conferred with Secretary Daniels late today but no progress was made. It is understood, however, that the men were prepared to negotiate for a compromise bill.

The bill recently was reported from the senate committee by Senator Phelan of California as a substitute for the mineral land leasing bill passed by the house. A reserve supply of the navy department it will guarantee many claims that reserve No. 2 would be virtually worthless to the navy. In No. 1 in California and No. 3 in Wyoming, the department estimates there is available a reserve supply sufficient to maintain the navy for 15 years in peace times or two years in a war basis.

Secretary Phelan's report asserted that these reserves contain more than the navy's 200 years' supply in 1906 and 75 years' in war. Secretary Daniels, writing to Chairman Myers of the public lands committee took sharp issue with this statement and also questioned other assertions in the Phelan report.

The Phelan report reviews the history of the oil reserve from the time of the Taft withdrawal order up to the formal creation in 1912 of the naval petroleum reserves on parts of the withdrawn lands. It pointed out that the legality of the Taft order was doubted, although the supreme court finally upheld it, and that locates created in the petroleum reserves prior to the withdrawal had done a substantial amount of work and those who have since developed their claims with reasonable diligence and discovered oil shall receive patents.

Secretary Daniels told the president and later the oil men who conferred with him that the navy department held that no entry made since the Taft order should be recognized. In laying the matter before the president, Mr. Daniels pointed out that a naval vessel built to burn oil can not be converted to a coal burner without practically rebuilding her.

Mr. Daniels also explained that navy designers said the possibility of obtaining a 35 knot speed for the battle cruisers now being designed as well as for scout cruisers and destroyers depends entirely on oil fuel.

TO NAME NEW MINISTERS

Imperial German Chancellor Confers With Kaiser.

Berlin, via London, May 21.—The Imperial German chancellor had an audience with the Emperor today to propose the appointment of the new ministers. The usual well informed German newspapers stated that Dr. Karl Helfferich will be appointed secretary of the interior and vice chancellor, and that Count Von Roeder, now Governor of Alsace-Lorraine, will take the post of secretary of the treasury.

Tortilovitz Von Battenko, now president of East Prussia, it is also reported, is to become head of the new department of food supply, assuming the duties of the so-called food dictator. Gen. Groenen is to be associated with Her Von Battenko.

THE HEALTH OF CHESTER

The United States department of health makes the statement that probably 200,000 people in the United States will contract typhoid fever this year, of this number 18,000 will succumb.

Physicians tell us that typhoid fever is a disease of filth and can only be contracted by taking into the system the waste products of one previously ill with the disease. The waste products are conveyed from one individual to another usually by means of a third object, such as water, flies or milk.

A case of typhoid fever means that the individual or the municipality has been careless, in many cases both.

The city of Chester has a paid health department whose duty it is to look after the health of the community. We feel it our duty as a newspaper to advise the public that this is not being done. We have no desire to make enemies but in order for these irregularities to be remedied it appears some one must register a complaint. Time and again we have been told by the leading citizens of Chester that it is the duty of a newspaper to do the "kicking" and we willingly admit that they are correct. We do not mean by this that we are to do some one personal "kicking," for that is something we positively refuse to do.

To locate this filth we speak of does not require a search warrant. It is plainly visible and one does not have to leave the business section of the town to locate it.

We feel we have performed a duty we owe in placing this matter before the public, and with that we pass it up.

DON'T STEAL YOUR IDEAS.

In reading an article in a magazine a few days ago we ran across the following clause, "Give those who work with you, especially those under you, full credit for everything they do, and claim none of it for yourself."

There can be no question but that this is good advice but how often is it done? We have often heard the man at the head of some business "tooting his horn," about what he had done when we knew it to be a positive fact that one of his subordinates that suggested the idea. A man who will rob one of his subordinates of that which justly belongs to him is selfish, narrow and to boil it down is little better than a character thief.

If you have no ideas of your own don't act a thief by stealing those of some man who is striving to make a success of life.

Not An Issue.

The State Warehouse System will not be an issue in South Carolina politics this summer despite the desperate attempt to inject it into the campaign. The Democratic Convention managed to make it perfectly clear to everybody that its refusal to allow Mr. McLaurin to take the stump for an hour or less at each of the campaign meetings this summer had nothing to do with the attitude of the Convention toward the Warehouse System itself. Some of the best friends of the System voted against the McLaurin demand. They did so because they were certain that such a campaign as Mr. McLaurin proposed could not fail to arouse against the System prejudices and opposition which would destroy whatever possibilities of usefulness it may have.

So far as the welfare of the State Warehouse System is concerned it should by now be plain to very nearly everybody that no reason whatever existed for agitating the matter at this time in the way that this has been done. The System is an established thing, operating under the law of the State, and those people in South Carolina who have mistrusted its wisdom have indicated clearly enough their disposition to hold off attacks upon it while its friends and supporters demonstrate whether or not its establishment was justified. This is what the public generally now insists shall be done. If there has been anything except politics in the arming appeals of the System to save it from impending disaster nobody outside of a small inner circle here has been able to discover it.—News & Courier.

THE REASON.

Human nature is a peculiar thing. You find it rather easy to forgive a man who does you a wrong; but if you have wronged him you never forgive him for it. The explanation is that after wronging him you try to justify yourself to your conscience by learning to hate him, and manufacture reasons to believe your hatred justified.

Whenever I hear a man knocking another, I know that the man doing the knocking has at some time wronged the other fellow, and is trying to ease his conscience.

There are no exceptions to this rule.—Fountain Inn Tribune.

THE BETTER BABIES CONTEST.

The Better Babies Contest to be held at the Court house, Wednesday afternoon, June 1st, will give an opportunity for parents to have their babies examined thoroughly by expert specialists, free of cost.

Baby specialists from several States will be present to lecture and assist in the examinations.

The Welfare and Health exhibit gotten up by the ladies will be of interest to the mothers. In connection with this exhibit, Dr. Hamilton, will give a valuable demonstration of the effects of improper feeding on the teeth.

Parents with babies between the ages of 6 and 36 months, should take advantage of this rare opportunity to improve the physical condition of their children and enter them at once, as there is every indication of a big attendance.

Mothers are requested to bring one simple toy and a small cotton blanket to be used during the examination.

An interesting feature of the Contest will be a drill by the school children, Wednesday afternoon, at 4:30.

"WHO GUILTY" THURSDAY.

SHORT COURSE FOR CLUB GIRLS.

Plans for the Short Course for the Club girls of the county are about complete. We are expecting about 110 girls here from June 12th thru 15th to be taught the following subjects:
Gardening—Cultural Methods, Winter Gardens and Perennials.
Bread Making—Biscuits, "Bread" making.
Preserves and Jelly making.
Catsup and pickle making.
Demonstration of Home Conventions.

Next year the University of South Carolina, Coker College, Confederate Home, Limestone College and Anderson College gave these short courses. In a few counties where there were no colleges this method was successfully carried out by having the girls entertained in private homes. In order to make it possible in Chester, we shall have to depend upon the hospitality of the people of Chester and we want homes provided for one hundred and ten girls. Chester has never failed to respond to such a worthy call, and we feel sure that the good women of the town will open their homes and give this assistance to their friends from the country who so much want to profit by this opportunity offered them. Those who want to help in this worthy cause, will please let me know how many girls they will take by writing me, seeing me or phoning me at 109 after 6 o'clock.

The following is a list of the names of club members, and if there are any among them that any lady would especially like to entertain, the committee would be glad to arrange it.

Mr. Cow Owner

IS YOUR COW SELF-SUPPORTING?

You can save the entire cost of your feed bill by feeding Spartan Grains Dairy Food.

When Spartan Grains is fed according to instructions, and providing your cow is a normal every-day cow; within 30 days she should increase at least two quarts in daily production, which is equal to approximately 20c per day which will entirely take care of her feed bill.

There is nothing Electric about Spartan Grains, it is simply a common-sense, well-balanced food; so do not expect these results in one, two or three days, but give both your cow and Spartan Grains a fair chance.

You have no doubt been feeding Cotton Seed Meal, and possibly you have laid in a supply of same which leads us to suggest that there is a big demand for Cotton Seed Meal for other purposes; in fact we are using it quite extensively ourselves. From a standpoint of milk-production, 100 pounds of Spartan Grains is far superior to 100 pounds of Cotton Seed Meal, therefore why not sell your Meal, which you can do doubt do at a profit, and invest your money in Spartan Grains?

We are particularly interesting in bringing every cow up to a maximum efficiency, and are offering you without a doubt the best feed on earth.

Yours very truly,

BINDER TWINE—REPAIRS, etc. complete stock at Chester Hardware Co.

Speaking of cans—now many old tin cans or other water containers have you lying around your premises to breed mosquitos? It will rain some time, then these old cans and sagging hose gutters and water holes will afford breeding places for those pests. Most of them which cause trouble are bred on or very near the premises of those whom they either annoy or make ill. It is cheaper and better to promote sanitation than to buy quinine.

Mr. C. D. Drum, of Newton, S. C. has shipped forty cars of sweet potatoes this year. Why can't some Chester man do likewise?

You have heard people talk about gloomy rainy days. Well, not so today. This rain is far from gloomy. A farmer in Chester yesterday told that it was liable to rain on him before he got home. "I don't give a cuss if it does," he said, and we were right with him.

Possibly this rain will have something to do with the re-establishment of the curb market.

MILL ERECTS CLUB HOUSE

The dwelling house adjoining Sander's store on lower Gadsden street is being fitted up by the Springstein Mill for the benefit of their employees.

The porch has been extended around both sides of the house and can be used any time of day. The front has been cut off into a large room which is to be used as an auditorium, to the rear of this are several smaller rooms which will be used as reading rooms, etc.

It is the purpose of the mill management to secure speakers from time to time to discuss various topics. The large front room will be used for occasions of this nature.

Various mills throughout the South are establishing club houses for their employees and are meeting with much success along this line. The Springstein Mill has fitted this building up for an expense and it is to be hoped the venture will prove successful.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AFTER SECRETARY

The question has been asked when will the Chamber of Commerce get a secretary.

The directors have been on the job after a man every since the Chamber of Commerce was organized. To the average man this would appear to be a very easy job but when you go after the right kind of a man you find it anything but a snap. The directors have received hundreds of applications for the position but it is hard to find a man suitable for this place.

The correspondence of the Chamber of Commerce, in connection with the finding of a suitable secretary begins to resemble a railroad claim office.

The directors have several good men in view just now and it is probable, but not certain, that the matter of securing a man will be settled tonight. The directors believe it better to take a little time and secure the right man than to hurriedly enter the matter and secure the wrong man.

The examination will be open only to male citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a post office in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form No. 1977. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the Commission in Washington at the earliest practicable date.

THE SECRET

Here is the great secret to some of the modern "Public Spirit" and Philadelphia. The following is a clipping from a newspaper printed several months ago:

Washington, October 23, 1915.—Special agents of the federal trade commission today began an investigation of charges that cotton buyers in North and South Carolina and Georgia have combined to keep down prices to producers. The complaint alleged that large purchasers of cotton of these States have combined to divide territory in such a way as to allow them practically to fix the price to the grower. Commissioner W. J. Harris, who received the complaint, recommended a thorough investigation, which was ordered by the commission. Members of the commission said that if the allegations of the complaints were substantiated, the commission would be authorized to proceed under the anti-trust laws. That would mean institution of the first suit of the kind brought through the commission since its creation.

Two Divisions to Work.

Agents of both the economic and legal divisions of the commission will conduct the investigation. The commission issued the following statement: The federal trade commission has ordered an immediate investigation to determine whether there is a combination on the part of the cotton buyers of South Carolina, North Carolina and Georgia to hold down the price of cotton. This investigation has been undertaken at the instance of Commissioner W. J. Harris to whose attention complaints have come that such a combination does exist, resulting in his submission of the matter to the commission. This information is to the effect that for years past the three States in question and more particularly in the two Carolinas there have been varying prices for cotton, often this difference amounting to one-half cent per pound in two points not more than 20 miles distant from each other.

RESULT OF COMBINATION

This difference in price it is alleged in complaints which have reached the commission, seems to be the sole result of the workings of this combination. For instance, it is cited, many cities and towns have practically no live cotton market due to the fact that divisions of territory for buying purposes are made, one territory belonging to one buyer, another territory to another. These alleged practices are said to be confined to certain places indicated in the complaint to a greater extent, possibly, than to other points within the States specified. Now boys, in case you should ever be so unfortunate as to graduate from a college that has grown out of organized graft and combinations to defraud like the ones described above and that has been maintained by legalized robbery of the people, you will have the courage, should you ever see any of these public spirited men and modern philanthropist steal a big pile of money, to go at once and tell the police. Don't tell the preachers—for in some instances, the preachers, will climb up into the pulpit where they have got all the advantage and tell you to your teeth that you are a liar, Pharisee, hypocrite and a fit subject for hell. It strikes us very forcibly that a Revolution of some kind is absolutely necessary in order to destroy the infamous corruption that is fastening itself upon the very vitals of the American Nation.

The advance sale is being conducted at the Chester Drug Company's Store and mail orders are being accepted for the $2.00 seats at night and the $1.00 seats at the matinees when accompanied by remittances payable to J. H.

Williamson, manager. Assurance is given that Chester county people will see the spectacle exactly as it was presented in Atlanta, Columbia, Charlotte and other large cities early in the season. Birmingham, last week in conjunction with the Confederate Reunion. The company played an engagement at the Jefferson Theatre in and it comes direct to this city, making a stop of three days in Anderson, S. C. An orchestra of 25 New York musicians is carried, together with two carloads of electrical spectacle runs three hours and the services of fifty people are employed. The night performances will be with cal and scenic equipment. The begin at 8:30 and the matinees at 2:30.

Among the historical scenes shown are President Lincoln singing his first call for volunteers, Sherman's march to the sea, the burning of Atlanta, the Confederate's last stand at Petersburg, the assassination of President Lincoln in Ford's theatre, Washington, the rise of the Ku Klux Klan. The spectacle cost $500,000 and it took eight months to produce. Eighteen thousand people and 3,000 horses are shown in the battle scenes. Although the leaders of the opposing forces in the Civil War appear but for a moment in "The Birth of a Nation" the scene in which General Grant receives the surrender of the Army of the South from General Lee is one of the most striking of the famous historical spectacle.

As the scene unfolds Grant is discovered seated at a plain table reading the draft of the terms of the surrender. Lee is seated at the left of the room. The staffs of the two generals are grouped about. The expression on Lee's face clearly indicates his thought. A former leader he sits with bowed head most of the time while Grant is reading the important document.

As Grant, having finished reading, and having affixed his signature to the contract between the two men is striking Grant, about five feet eight inches tall, his square shoulders inclined to stoop is without his sword, and is wearing fatigue uniform. He wears ordinary top-hats with trousers inside. Boots and clothing are spattered with mud. Lee presents a different picture. He is carefully and correctly dressed, his six feet of stature and faultless form towering over his conqueror. A statue in gray. The contract in manner is equally marked. Grant, with hand in pocket, approaches Lee with an easy swing, cigar in mouth as usual, and offers his hand in a way that means much to the defeated Southerner. It is not preliminary to a formal meaningless handshake. It is the act of one who would be a friend and is accepted as such by the man in grey who grasps the extended hand and the great general of the great year for a moment face each other. Then with military salute they part and the incident of Appomattox Court House is closed.
