Some say tax dogs; others say muzzles them. Which shall it be? Edgefield Advertiser.
There is a better way than either of most of them.

These afternoons the boys are slipping into town from the baseball grounds after a fashion that reminds one of the headlines in the Edgefield paper the morning after the primary election in Georgia.

Some of the Democrats of Forsyth county, N. C., were not satisfied with instructing delegates to the state convention but wanted to go along to keep them instructed. A resolution was introduced at the county convention to invite all Democrats in the county to attend the convention in Raleigh and confer in caucus with the delegates to have their should vote. The resolution was defeated, and now its friends have signed a pledge to start a new party.

The Augusta Herald prints a snip shot of Senator Indigo Vaynor in the attitude of an oratorical flight and says that he "will exert great influence at the coming Democratic convention at Denver." He is going to exert his influence upon, unless it be an effort to induce somebody to accept the second place on the ticket? The nomination for president is settled, the platform will be cut and dried, ready and waiting, and we don't know what else is to do.

The trustees of the University could hardly have made a better selection for president than when they elected Dr. Snyder, who is now president of Wofford college. He is not a man of whom we can be sure, but his acceptance would mean decided strengthening and improvement to the University. He is not a man who can do any great good work there than he is doing where he is, but we believe that the Methodists have many good, strong men from whom one can be selected. If one institution can be improved without detriment to the other, then is clear gain.

We have often been struck with the great disparity of assessments levied upon candidates in different counties. We wondered what they do with all the money raised in this way in some counties. Following are the assessments in Edgefield: State senate, $25; house of representatives, $15; auditor, $25; superintendent of education, $15; sheriff, $25; clerk of court, $25; sheriff, $25; master, $25; county commissioner, 40 cents; supervisor of registration, 50 cents; magistrate, 50 cents.

The defeated candidates will have half of their assessments returned to them.

The withdrawal of Mr. Hayward from the senatorial race opens all calculations and will cause a new alignment of voters. We have little doubt that Mr. Hayward would have been elected on second ballot. He is the winner in the second. Simultaneously with the withdrawal of Mr. Hayward, Mayor Goodwin Rhett, of Charleston, announced his withdrawal from the senate. A giant in stature, he possesses a corresponding intellect and a strong, resolute character. He is a man who we predict that he will develop decided strength. He will get a large number of the votes that would have gone to General Evans nearly all. Of course he will draw support from other quarters also. Johnstone, Martin and Smith will get a share of Hayward's votes and Evans will doubtless get a few, but his following is more of a constant quantity than that of any of the others.

Last Wednesday the Edgefield News was not in a hero-worshipful mood. Referring to a remark of the St. Mat. News Advance that they will be the next governor, The News says:
We are ready to admit that Ansel will be our next governor. We do not know the facts before us, but if some good man would oppose him, there might be a second Georgia case of Brown and Smith. Ansel has not, tremendously since his election. He is a man who we predict that he will develop decided strength. He will get a large number of the votes that would have gone to General Evans nearly all. Of course he will draw support from other quarters also. Johnstone, Martin and Smith will get a share of Hayward's votes and Evans will doubtless get a few, but his following is more of a constant quantity than that of any of the others.

The indications are that the Democratic and Republican conventions will each nominate its candidate for president on the first ballot. Bryan and Taft each having enough votes to elect, the better man will be to say Bryan, win in November.

We want the farmers, business men and all who have an eye to progress and improvement to read to view the first page of this paper, under the head, "Co-operative Creamery." There is something in it for Chester. If we will take advantage of the suggestions, the firm that put in the Georgia plant and started it off have written to a gentleman here that they will send a man here to view the situation, give information and cooperate with our people in starting a similar enterprise. If interest is taken in the matter, much might be said, but read the article, then talk about it.

The Hamburg Herald, which has all along been one of the best papers in the state, has put in a fine type and is in its own new building, on which we heartily congratulate it. The Herald editorial department is fully up to its mechanical standard of excellence.

The Newberry Observer has also installed a typesetter. Always well equipped and supplied with every department, it is now equipped for meeting all demands.

One thing we have noticed of fairly power and we are not in favor of prohibition without recommendation, and that is that some papers which have long since been to be scarce, as good as they were when they were set by hand. Perhaps the calls for "copy" are more pressing, and the editors are more liberal, and with less discrimination, giving us, in some cases, unprintable details, to the exclusion of many short items, especially those condensed by editors, who are pressed for time to read, select and edit. The editor has his copy selected for written and ready in advance, this may apply, but there are some of us who would do yesterday what we can put out until the day after tomorrow.

Mr. R. C. Hann, writing to the Wall Street Journal says:
The general trade conditions are quite satisfactory. The prohibition movement has very little effect on the consumption of liquors. It has not the experience of prohibition, normally under prohibition to consume larger quantities than under the present conditions. It is a fact that more liquor is going into the state of Georgia than ever before. The prohibition laws were not in effect. It prohibition prohibited, the result might be serious.

We do not know who Mr. R. C. Hann is, but his words bear falsehood. He is a man who we predict that he will develop decided strength. He will get a large number of the votes that would have gone to General Evans nearly all. Of course he will draw support from other quarters also. Johnstone, Martin and Smith will get a share of Hayward's votes and Evans will doubtless get a few, but his following is more of a constant quantity than that of any of the others.

The head of the immense whiskey industry in the north-west would, of course, tell us that prohibition is not in it, and yet with no more inconsistency than is displayed by his own supporters, he has declared that he has declared that the business generally, he will cost him a fortune every year.

The great association of distillers and wholesalers, members of the ancient order of reckless prevaricators who have joined in the chorus of prohibition does not prohibit, but they are now busy raising a fund of millions upon millions to retard the steps of their business. In addressing their own craft, they say that prohibition can no longer be pool-poohed; that it is a real menace. They see that it is a fight to the finish, and that it is no mistaking what the finish will be.

Gifts to Library.
A lady, who shrinks from publicity has given to the Patterson Public Library a fine collection of books. Mr. E. Lee and his generals. The daughters of the Revolution have donated a magazine published in the interest of the objects of the association.

McFadden-Holls.
Miss Maude McFadden and Mr. Dan Saxe Hollis of Rodman, were married Wednesday afternoon, June 10, 1908, at 10 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. McFadden, near Lewis Turnout. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. B. Craig, pastor of Fishing Creek Church. The wedding march was played by Miss Mary Nesler of Rodman. The bridesmaids were Misses McFadden, sisters of the bride, dressed in white chiffon, were the bridesmaids. The bride was dressed in white silk and carried a bouquet of white carnations and ferns. After congratulations and refreshments consisting of cream and cake had been served, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis left for the home of his father, Mr. E. T. Hollis, only a few miles distant, where they were given a reception.

Miss Sample's Reception.
The guests were of the people enjoyed the delightful reception on Friday evening given by Miss Lolla Sample in honor of her charming pupil, Miss Marian Sample, of the Misses Florence Jamison, of Charlotte, and Miss Annie Houston, of Monroe. The guests were met at the front door by Miss Lolla Krieger, who escorted them into the brilliantly lighted rooms, decorated throughout with stately palms and drooping ferns. In the front parlor the beautiful France rose and plants and mingling with the graceful waxy, climbed over doors and windows. The electric lights were also adorned with its dainty pink leaves. Miss Lolla, wearing her graduating gown of white lace over taffeta, welcomed her many friends. The library was a study in white and green, quantities of oleander and clematis filled vases with their lovely clusters of white, while here and there stood great bowls of sweet scented peonies.

The entertainment feature was in trying one's luck with cupid's weapon the bow and arrow, upon an array of hearts suspended overhead. Each of these hearts contained a fortune written in verse, and was a pretty little souvenir of a delightful evening.

Miss Diana Scott, casual, was the leap year lady, which by which partners were selected for the dining room. The refreshments were delicious and cake carrying out the pretty pink and white scheme and graciously served by Misses Ella Wachtel and Lucile Hood.

The Baschal Benefit.
The fete given by the ladies for the benefit of the baschal association, in the county and yesterday evening, was the success, netting about $70 and furnishing a pleasant time to those who attended.

At the vote for the most popular player, McKinlay, was awarded the Panama hat, and Newman was honorably mentioned. Mrs. A. M. Aiken was awarded the gloves, as the most enthusiastic married lady fan, while Mrs. W. J. Shipman was honored with a heavy vote.

As the most enthusiastic unmarried lady fan, Miss Mary Lytle, wearing the long, silk gloves, and Miss Laura Wachtel ran a close second. The votes were counted by two men from New Orleans. The prizes were delivered by Mr. A. L. Gaston, whose speech was regarded as particularly good.

The booths, tables, lanterns and decorations generally including the girls were in splendid taste. The cream and cake tasted good too.

A. R. P. Church.
There will be no preaching at the R. P. church next Sabbath, on account of changes being made on the part of the church. The meeting will meet as usual, at 10 o'clock, and the Y. P. C. U. will also hold their meeting at 4 o'clock.

Evans Succeeds Lee.
Birmingham, Ala. June 10.—With the selection of Memphis as the place for the next reunion and the election of Gen. Clement A. Evans of Georgia as commander-in-chief to succeed the late Gen. Stephen D. Lee, the United Confederate Veterans adjourned their annual convention in late afternoon.

The selection of the place of meeting aroused great rivalry between Memphis and Atlanta, these two cities being the only ones known to have been chosen. Strong speeches were made for each place, but when Virginia came over to the side of Memphis the majority of supporters realized that the fight was lost.

Gen. Clement A. Evans, the new commander-in-chief, is one of the most able men in the South. He is a native of Georgia and born of North Carolina and Virginia Revolutionary practice. He was a graduate of the Georgia Law school and has the reputation of law at 19 years of age. He was elected judge of the county court at 22 and state senator at 25.

The Civil War commenced while he was senator and although he was exempt from military service, he joined a company in his county in January, 1861, and began his military career. He was first elected major of the Thirty-first Georgia regiment and then promoted to colonel. Gen. Evans succeeded Gen. Lee in command of the division. He served in the Army of Northern Virginia and was present in all the battles fought on the soil of Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania. In command of his division he was carrying on the fight of the war after the surrender because he had not received notice of the truce.

He has been active in the United Confederate Veterans, having attended all reunions except one. He was commander of the Georgia division until last Wednesday afternoon, when he was succeeded by Gen. Gordon as commander of the Army of Tennessee department.

THE CONFEDERATE RE-UNION.
Old Soldiers Are Enjoying Themselves in Birmingham—Extremely Warm Weather.

The 18th annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans was opened in this city today at the Hippodrome, Birmingham's largest convention hall, with a record-breaking attendance.

Today's sessions were devoted to organization and welcoming addresses, the real business of the meeting coming up at tomorrow's sessions, when a commander-in-chief was elected by the delegates. Stephen D. Lee and the place for holding the next reunion will be chosen. In addition to the first session, the delegates will be held today, there were meetings of the Sons of Veterans, the Confederate Surgeons' association, the Confederate Memorial association and other organizations, all connected with the veterans.

When the convention was called to order by Gen. Stephen D. Lee, the Hippodrome, which seats 5,000 persons, was crowded to overflowing and many failed to gain admission.

A gloom was cast over the reunion by the recent death of commander-in-chief, the late Gen. Stephen D. Lee, who was held in high esteem by the veterans. This address was printed and distributed to the delegates, but the result of it was postponed on account of extreme heat.

The convention proper was opened today by the address of Gen. George P. Harrison, the Hippodrome, which seats 5,000 persons, was crowded to overflowing and many failed to gain admission. A gloom was cast over the reunion by the recent death of commander-in-chief, the late Gen. Stephen D. Lee, who was held in high esteem by the veterans. This address was printed and distributed to the delegates, but the result of it was postponed on account of extreme heat.

Among those whose names are mentioned for commander-in-chief are Gen. Clement A. Evans, of the department of Tennessee, General George P. Harrison, of Gen. Gordon, of Mississippi.

Chattanooga, Houston and Atlanta are the contestants for the next reunion. He has been holding hard fights to secure the honor. Tonight the streets of the city are crowded with the veterans and their families, many of them appearing in full uniform. It is estimated that no less than 25,000 strangers are in the city, about 8,000 of whom are old soldiers.

$100 Reward, $100.
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one good doctor living here who has been able to cure in all his stages, and that is Dr. H. H. Catlett, of the medical fraternity. He has been in the city for some time, and his constitutional treatment. He is a native of the South, and his practice is in the city of Birmingham. Editor Bay's Indicted.
Lexington, June 9.—In the court of general sessions here this morning the grand jury returned a true bill against N. Rogers Bay, of Batesburg, editor of The Advocate, upon the charge of assault with intent to injure, and let it be purchased by the charge being that on Dec. 21, 1907, at Batesburg, the said assault was made upon W. C. Allen, G. F. Bam, and J. J. Allen, who were then in the city. The latter being the private secretary of Gov. Ansel, and Rev. A. L. the pastor of the Baptist church.

Late this afternoon the sheriff returned with Mr. Bay, and upon application Judge De Vore allowed bail in the sum of $100.

Thinks It Saved His Life.
Lester M. Nelson, of Naples, Maine, says he is a great believer in Dr. King's New Discovery many years ago. He says he was once in a bad way, and he saved his life. I have found it a reliable remedy for throat and lung troubles, and it would not more than save a bottle than I would be without it for my life. The State with covary has stood at the head of thieves and sinners. As a preventive of pneumonia and influenza, it is of great value. It is a great relief to the throat and lungs. It is a great relief to the throat and lungs. It is a great relief to the throat and lungs.

Pollock in the Race.
Mr. W. P. Pollock, of Chesfield, has announced himself a candidate for the office of county clerk. He is a native of the State and has complied with the rules of the primary. It will be remembered that he entered the race two years ago but was unable to draw on account of serious sickness.

Chief of Police Brown, of Spartanburg, died yesterday, after several days' illness. He was to be buried in a few days to Miss Belle Allen.

THE SMART LITTLE TOUCHES THAT MAKE HIGH ART CLOTHING SMART

NOT ONLY is High Art Clothing fashioned after smart models, with a subtle style and grace in every line and curve, but it is also characterized by those nobby little touches which one usually expects to find in high-class, custom-tailored garments only. For instance, among this Spring's models are coats with fancy cuffs, slanted pockets, vents, the long lapel, the concave shoulder so as to give a broad effect, the creased side seams, the belt straps, and all the latest tailoring fads that bespeak smartness and metropolitan perfection of style and cut.

No wonder the man who has the habit of getting most for his money wears HIGH ART CLOTHING. We Are Retailing Agents in Chester.

HEWARD HAS WITHDRAWN.
Condition of Health Makes This Step Imperative.

It has been known to his most intimate friends for two or three weeks that Gen. Hayward's health is in a precarious condition. The condition, however, was not considered serious by any other than his immediate family and his physician until after his trip to Georgia last week. It was hoped that this trip would entirely restore him, but it failed to do so. On his return from Georgia, his condition was found to be serious, so much so that his physicians have been insisting for several days on taking him to a sanatorium. He has, however, strenuously fought this idea. For several days he has been confined to his bed and his condition has grown so much worse that it has become imperative that he go away at once for treatment.

Gen. Hayward was too ill to be seen yesterday, but he was stated in his belief that he will not be a candidate for the senate, since his physicians, Dr. McIntosh and Guerry, have positively forbidden him to enter the campaign.

While it is hoped that rest and treatment will completely restore him to health, his physicians state that he will be unable to return home or to engage in any active work within less than three months or more. It is understood that Gov. Hayward will leave this morning for the Philadelphia Orthopedic hospital, accompanied by Dr. McIntosh. The State will be unable to return home or to engage in any active work within less than three months or more.
