SAYS INDUSTRY IN BAD SHAPE

Its Disorganization Very Serious and Obstacles Put in Way of Recovery Are Greater Than Reported.

Editorial.—The following outstanding thing in the financial situation has come under the attention of the United States commission, headed by Ellis Root, after two weeks' study of conditions here.

The industrial disorganization of the country and the obstacles in the path of reconstruction introduced by anarchistic and reactionary elements, irresponsible persons and fanatics of all kinds, working with the direct purpose of assisting the enemy or the equally malicious desire to cause the downfall of the Russian democracy, are much more serious than America has been led to believe.

GERMAN PRESS HITS FACTS

And Inspired Spokenheim Still Believes in His Own Power to Win.

The Ugepost, July 5.—The German press has been especially busy not all the month. For weeks the official and semi-official military articles have socked America's efforts and assured their readers that years, if not decades, must pass before all lawfully some few halfhearted attempts to subvert the German Empire's already admitted superiority over good luck than good judgment, would dribble into French hands only to be snatched by the Allies. The latest article-American news arrived and no newspaper in Germany dares report the facts as they are. The latest article-American news arrived and no newspaper in Germany dares report the facts as they are.

MILITANT SUFFRAGISTS ARE LOCKED UP

Bold Raids of Silent Sentinels Reported in Several British Towns.

Washington, July 4.—Lack of proper military apparatus in the latest plea of militant suffragists against being thrown in jail for creating disturbances in front of the White House.

The Provisional Government has been successful in initiating the support of the great majority of the people, but until it is able with a strong hand to demonstrate its complete authority and exercise this authority in punishing irresponsible persons and cliques, which by their creation of dissension in the country are attempting to prevent Russia from consolidating the benefits gained from the triumph of the revolution, there can be no real stability or security to serve as a basis for further success.

Not a word did Justice Kahl say of the impasse toward which, despite Germany's threats, the American people is no longer to be expected.

Just how much the Government agents have learned is not revealed but it should be known that the situation in general, believing that publicity may make the operations of Germans more difficult or impossible.

Co-operation of the Canadian authorities is needed to run down the spies, but the scene of their activities for the most part lies within the northern boundary waters where fugitives from justice often can escape to their own country.

Rating Bureau Is Out of Business

Will Reorganize Later and Comply with New Legislation.

Washington, July 5.—Insurance Commissioner F. H. McMaster was today notified by authorities of the recently formed South Carolina Rating and Inspection Bureau that the bureau had suspended its activities.

There is still mistletoe idea among the masses of the people regarding the possibility of a close fraternity between the proletariat of Russia and Germany.

Not less significant than Dr. Kahl's statement is the fact that the inspired military article, von Salzman, goes painfully over the list of German military camps, devices not only to reveal the location of the camps, but also to reveal the names of the camps.

It is not believed that the conditions affecting Germany will improve and therefore it is thought the operation of the press in the United States should be continued.

Co-operation of the Canadian authorities is needed to run down the spies, but the scene of their activities for the most part lies within the northern boundary waters where fugitives from justice often can escape to their own country.

FRIDAY, JULY 6.

From the dollar and cents standpoint, a man in public business should cater to the public. He should feed those with whom he comes in contact on "tasty" as to speech, and other words, to be really successful and popular. It seems that a man must be a good liar. Because some preachers tell the whole truth in the marketplace and suffering that we come into the best in life; we have taken ourselves in a selfish way and have learned the lesson that we should be to the detriment of our really better natures. We did not realize that we were lacking, as a people, in many of the noble and pure instincts of the good and the true; but we have hoisted the last page of the old book, and now look forward eagerly to the time when we shall be able to open the new volume and begin the reconstruction of our lives. For the present we are living in an age of uncertainty; we do not know just what is ahead of us nor what will be called upon us to make sacrifices that three years ago would have seemed impossible; we do know also that we shall soon be called upon to relinquish many things which mean the best part of life for us, and we do know that we must meet these ordeals with the courage and the optimism that is born of the patriot's soul. One of the great things that we have seemed good enough for us, we are—hope and ambition with which we are bedeviled for the future in their place will come their hopes and other interests which will in the end work their way.

We are slowly learning the lessons of unpreparedness in the various fields of activity, and in their stead we shall find the fruits of the pursuit of these ideals which bring out the best that is in man. We shall miss the old ways and the old ways of ease and comfort, but through the experiences that lie just ahead of us we shall be able to get a better perspective of the things we have reached in all our lives; and to know that in truth we have been following false gods, and spending ourselves in vain, and wasting the talents and the energies which God gave into our keeping. The world must come out of this war far better than when it went into it. It will be purified by the fires which are raging over so large a part of its fair face, and though he scars may remain for many years, they will be poignant reminders for generations to come not only of the cleansing fire, but of the spiritual awakening of a repentant and suffering world. We shall know better how to live when peace comes than we do now, and how to set higher standards for our guidance. We shall pay a heavy price in blood and treasure perhaps, but we shall fight in the future, and our confidence in the blessings which must follow after the sufferings of the past, which will help us through the darkest of the present. This has been the experience of all ages of the world, and the lesson that are hard to learn are those which make the most lasting impression. As time goes on we shall be able to adapt ourselves to whatever is before us, and to get the path, whatever the sacrifice, whatever the discouragement, we shall, with God's help, understand all the reasons for it all.

—CARRIERS' MEETING

Annual Convention of State Association at Rock Hill brought to close.

Rock Hill, July 5.—Last night in the Chamber of Commerce hall the banquet in honor of the meeting of the State Rural Carriers' association was enjoyed by a number of the visitors, local carriers and citizens of the city. A tempting menu had been arranged and A. E. Hutchinson acted as toastmaster in the unavoidable absence of C. L. Cobb. The invocation was by the Rev. W. M. Harden. A solo by Miss Catherine McEwen was greatly enjoyed. Councilman W. C. Stevens was the first speaker. He expressed the hope that all visitors had enjoyed themselves, that they were so well pleased that they would come again. J. E. Johnson of Gray Court spoke of the great work being done by the rural carrier throughout the country, there being now 45,000 rural carriers going forth daily into every nook and corner of the country. He stressed the fact that the carriers are of great value, exerting every effort to give their patrons the best possible service.

The principal address was by Congressman W. F. Stevenson, who stressed the fact that the position of the rural carrier is one of great honor and responsibility. The rural carrier can be the means of enlightening the people as to the cause and progress of the war. He should show them why they are fighting and why their support is invaluable. With this power for good comes a grave responsibility. It is desired that without franchise should exist between the carrier and his constituents, the carrier and his congressman and the postal officials. The speaker cited an instance recently occurring in his district. The carrier was sick and his place was filled by his assistant. After three weeks he resumed his duties and was re-elected, in comparison with his daughter, that the patriotic post in the field and he had to intercede mightily to keep the carrier from being suspended. Mr. Stevenson at times made some humorous remarks.

Next followed a number of short talks by visitors, and people of the city, including Mr. Clark of York, R. Robinson of Edgemoor, J. B. Johnson and E. W. Omer of this city. Mr. Omer expressed the hope that the visitors had enjoyed their stay in the city and due upon the hearty cooperation on the part of the people in entertaining the visitors.

Bell was elected treasurer, Sergeant Herbert Hays was appointed as an additional chairman of the social committee. The Next Meeting Of Association.

To the Churches Composing the Chester Baptist Association: At the last meeting of the body at Harmony church the place of the next meeting was fixed at the First Baptist church in Chester, but the time was left with the executive committee. The time has been fixed by the committee, and the body will meet at 11 A. M. on Tuesday, the 25th day of September, at the First Baptist church in Chester, and the sessions will continue for three days, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. It is a rule of the Association that our association year close on the 30th day of September of each year. While there are five Sundays this year in September the fourth Sunday in the month comes on the 23rd of the month, and but few of the churches ever meet on the 25th Sunday. It is earnestly desired, that all the churches will close their year's work and have all their appointments paid up by the 25th Sunday in September. There will be no other Association in the State meeting at that time. We expect to have with us quite a number of our representative men of the denomination, and are expecting a large number of messengers from our own churches. We are hoping to make this the best meeting ever held by the body. We can't if we will. Brethren, let us do it.

Practically, W. H. Edwards, Clerk. Chester, S. C. July 6, 1917.
