The Abbeville Press and Banner estimates that about 1,500 men are engaged in the camps in that county are on the tax books.

W. J. Bryan was nominated for president by the Democratic convention at Denver this morning at 6 o'clock. We have not learned yet who will be his running mate.

R. P. Holman, a Santiago diver, now comes from Alabama and persistent war prophet, is again having his periodical predictions of war with Japan.

If W. E. Goetz was not elected a delegate to the Denver convention, as he ought to have been, but he had the satisfaction of rolling on the grass with Wm. J. Bryan at Lincoln on July 4th.

Our readers, especially the farmers, should give attention to the notice to cattle owners, published in this issue. We do not know whether cattle ticks are removed or not, but they are charged with or not, but they do no good that we know of and they are charged we believe with most of the ticks and ticks in this section. Any way, the government is taking a hand and the cattle owner who does not comply with requirements will be held guilty of dereliction of duty. We are assured by Dr. E. M. Nighbur, of the bureau of animal industry, who is being engaged to see to the eradicating of ticks is a simple matter if directions are followed, and he is only asking them to do it as a part of their own interest. He asks for cooperation of the owners of cattle and it certainly should be given cheerfully.

We want to caution our good friend J. C. Shannon, to be very careful in the execution of his plan for exterminating muskrats. Poison is a very dangerous thing. If a child found an apple along the bank of a river, he would eat it without thought of poison. But why poison the muskrats? Catch them and sell their pelts; they are worth two or three dollars apiece. Some one might make a fortune at this business. We are not able to tell just how to proceed, but Lev C. Johnson has done a lot about it, and he might buy the exclusive franchise for trapping on that fork of Rocky creek. We have no idea what he would charge for it, but we are sure that he would do right about it. He might prefer to work on shares and we suppose he would get the best of it. Other. It could do no harm to make inquiry. We think a letter addressed to Leeds would reach him.

New Switchboard Purchased.
Messrs. J. M. Bell and H. B. Haffner purchased a new telephone switchboard in Sumter a few days ago to take the place of the one that was burned, and it is expected to arrive in about ten days. The men have a duplicate of the other switchboard with the addition of the improvements which have been made in the last three months. The men have not yet arrived to adjust the instrument which may detain the work but when the building is repaired and the switchboard installed everything else will be in readiness and it is expected the work of connecting can be done in a few days. Bell man will be assisted by Mr. S. C. McKewen, of Cornell, who has been considerable experience in the telephone business. The patrons are assured that all due haste will be made in getting the system in working order again.

CAMPAIGN MEETING.

Senatorial and Congressional Candidates Appear before the Voters of Chester County and Present Their Claims.

Wednesday was the day set for the candidates for both houses of congress to have a hearing before the people of this county. All the candidates were present and they had a good natured crowd to hear them, estimated at 400. A good number of ladies among them. Mr. Giles Paterson, chairman of the Democratic executive committee, presided over the day. J. S. Snyder invoked the divine blessing.

The first speaker was Col. W. W. Lumpkin, who spent in minutes of his 23 in listening to candidates to the people of Chester and a tribute to the Confederate soldier. The speaker believes that the government should use money directed toward cotton, not privilege to banks. The tariff and the trusts were given a round, the injunction business was shown up and why they trade in white cotton. Lumpkin is opposed out and out, had just been reached when time was called.

Mr. Martin followed. He told in an amusing way where he was from, but in just one minute struck the tariff, with which he connected immigration and favored the plan suggested by some one of imposing an average fee of $100 upon immigrants, $150 upon children. Finance, a statement regarding in the future were touched upon. Reference was made to Mr. E. D. Myer's former denunciation of a man who would secure an office in the Cotton Association and then go into politics. Something was said about the money that is being paid to the education-bank, time was up.

Mr. Goodwin Rihett, at present mayor of Charleston, is running as a host. He had had an interesting record, he had represented in a favored few. Railroad discrimination should be stopped and the issuing of money should be given to the poor, not to sections of the country so that there might be elasticity according to the demands of business. During the past year the government had run into the money of the banks of Wall Street to relieve them, but other parts of the country could get none. He went to Washington and New York but couldn't get a dollar for this section. That is the effect of government finance, which has no elasticity. Time was up.

Mr. Grace, against his name being put on the ballot for one of the other issues. A personal statement was made in regard to charges made by Mr. Grace against his deputy. He had a long record in the young gentlemen's motive but does know that just before Grace was announced as a candidate a proposition came to Mr. Rihett to run for senator and support a certain candidate for mayor of Charleston county. Grace would not enter the race for senator. He made a straight forward statement and said he would be glad to meet those charges which Grace promised to return when they got back to Charleston. He advised that he had supported him for office after knowing of all these things with what to relate in Texas.

Mr. D. Smith told a very good joke about a timid bean who had trouble about popping the question. His conversation was at the opposite direction but by a desperate effort got near enough to his girl to put his arms around her, and she told him that while he was talking she thought he was at least holding her hand. This was aptly applied to the speaker's case. Mr. Smith differed with Mr. Rihett as to the proper course of action, holding that this is a proper function of the government. The tariff was given brief notice. The speaker being over his own money, and he contended that our financial troubles and tariff abuses can be remedied by holding out for a reduction of tariff.

John Gary Evans told of an Irishman's comment upon the firing of a mortar (gun), which was applied to O. B. Martin—all mouth and noise and nothing done. A bit was also made at Smith's expense. The Republican party has adopted the most discussed subterranean plan; not to cotton, however, but for watered stocks and bonds. Increased circulation was favored and Rihett's intention to go to the west was rejected. Money should be used as we except that given by it of endorsement of the government. Money should be used for the purpose of issuing it should not be given to private corporations.

Mr. J. P. Grace asserted his democracy. He is not an aristocrat, not a playboy but philosophy and does not think the day of oratory is past. It is not business that we need, but the principles that are needed to congress. Mr. Grace noticed that a lady stenographer was taking his speech to write it down for him. He wished that Mr. Rihett's had been taken also. The speaker did not discuss any issues but mentioned himself with preferring charges against himself. Rihett, whom he pronounced a republican, as measured by the standards of Hamilton and Jefferson.

Geo. Johnston referred to former visits to Chester where he had so many family associations. He would rather deserve votes than to give them. He was opposed to Rihett's local banks of issue. He argued against the plan of a meeting, against Smith's plan of meeting, and against Hamilton's plan, showing that beyond a certain limit this would result upon the product and bring disaster. One year's crop must not be held so long as to be a menace to the next year's crop. Mr. Johnston declared that he could go to the senate if he wanted to, but unless we had a law passed why he would be nothing when he got there. He quoted the language of Smith in denouncing the "miserable, old politicians" among members of the Cotton association who ran for office. Cotton exchanges, tariff and Republican corruption and dishonesty were discussed.

In the afternoon the candidates for representation in congress spoke. Very limited space requires that these should be reported very briefly, and can be heard in different sections of the county. Mr. Finley, outlined the duties and qualifications of a representative. He claimed that his experience had fitted him for efficient service. He had never preached riotous in office and believes it a felony. Men who come to congress have been there 10 years. He showed what he had done in the postal department, with which he is particularly familiar. He had done his share in securing public buildings and had faithfully represented all part of his district.

Mr. Pollock told of his record in the legislature and endorsement by his people. Two years ago he was forced to withdraw from the congressional race. It was said that he was too young. He has grown over that objection. The postal business is a growing and any one else could have accomplished all that Finley has done. The limited time forbade more than mention of issues.

One speaker complained that he had been charged with looking like Finley. The latter interrupted to say that he would deny it if it was true. The speaker repeated with looking like Finley. The latter interrupted to say that he would deny it if it was true. The speaker repeated with looking like Finley. The latter interrupted to say that he would deny it if it was true.

Won Two from Gamecocks—Chester and Sumter Lost Yesterday—McKnight's Good Work—Umpire Burroughs.

TUESDAY'S GAME

Tuesday's combat between the two star teams of the League was scarcely less brilliant than that of the day preceding. This time, however, fickle Fortune inclined her favor toward the Gamecocks, who won by a score of 2 to 0. With the exception of the second inning the locals played star ball. In this inning, however, Murrow hit badly for two innings. This fortunate safety, coupled with two sacrifices and two errors on the part of the locals, let in two runs, and gave Sumter a lead that Chester could never overcome. Blanton's fielding, a great catch or two by Richardson, the fielding of Drake and Wildeman, and a three-bagger by Brownlee were the principal features. Both twirlers did well. Score: R H E Chester.....000 000 0—2 8 2 Sumter.....020 000 0—2 6 2 Batteries: Temple and Hamrick; Long and Stephens. Umpire, Burroughs.

WEDNESDAY'S GAME

Wednesday's game was an exhibition of how to defeat the opposing team and the umpire thrown in, and Chester turned the trick nicely, though Mr. Carter's way for up-grade work for Burroughs was badly off in most of his decisions, and it happened that Chester generally got the worst of every deal. Balls were struck, and strikes balls; plays that were safe were out, and outs were called safe. It was a weird exhibition of umpiring, and the local fans were justly incensed. Thackam's neat-lingue was the game; but to clinch matters the locals pounced on Waters in the sixth inning and ran in three more runs. Sumter's only run came in the second inning, and that by the fine work of Thackam and the fast fielding of the entire local team made it impossible for Sumter to score again, even with the connivance of Burroughs. Drake made a fine stop, Temple lined out a two-bagger, and a three-bagger, and Hammond did some extra prettifying at third. Score: R H E Chester.....001 003 5—9 4 0 Sumter.....010 000 0—1 3 3 Batteries: Thackam and Hamrick; Waters and Stephens. Umpire, Burroughs.

The following report of yesterday's games taken from the Observer.

Orangeburg, July 8.—With the best of the local look the locals took on a batting rally in the ninth over which Umpire Burroughs had no control and won out. Five hits with no base decisions noted three runs with but one down. — Barring the work of the umpire it was a pretty but slow game. The one feature was the work of Mr. McKnight, who homered 3, although the locals got 8 hits. Umpire Burroughs will not outlaste again. There will be a double-header tomorrow.

Gamecocks.....001 010 0—5 8 0 Orangeburg.....001 003 4 8 2 Batteries: McKnight and Hamrick; Roberts and Sturtevant.

Sumter, S. C., July 8.—Rock Hill shut out Sumter to the tune of 4 to 0 here today. — Crouch, ex-collegian, was very effective and yielded but 2 hits. Drake's work seemed unable to connect with the ball; while Garner was found for nine safeties. In one inning Garner was found four times and this with a free pass and 4 9 4.

Sumter.....000 000 0—0 2 2 Batteries: Crouch and Winger; Garner and Stephens.

Beat Sumter and his ump's two out of three.

The entire State League was on train No. 29, yesterday going to the low-country.

Chester has been making a good record for the past week or two, winning nine games out of eleven.

Newman will be with Sumter the remainder of the season though still the property of Chester. The fans request to loose him.

McKnight pitched a good game yesterday, striking out 13, and until the ninth inning the score was 3 to 1 in favor of Chester, when the Burghers bunched hits this scoring three men.

There is no doubt that the umpire has a hard job and has to make some decisions at times, but there is no excuse for such rotten umpiring as Burroughs did Wednesday. The fans have called bad umpires but Burroughs broke the record for rotten umpiring, seeing bad strikes balls and balls.

Prim bunted down and with fast running will be a sure thing, but the umpire's thought otherwise. It is to be hoped that Burroughs has umpired his last game in Chester.
