Stepping into the luxurious new dormitory hall, by way of the sixty little arm entrance, one is impressed by the classic simplicity of the beautifully designed lobby. The spacious " foyer", carpeted and excellently selected wallpaper of the "Panama", colonial design, in the richly upholstered furniture, by the open fireplace, and in even the chandeliers. Stately indeed is the perfectly blended color scheme of furniture, walls, woodwork, and floors. The background color of soft rose-gray of the colonial wallpaper is repeated in the woodwork. Harmonious are the handsome color of green upholstery, which flank the attractive open fireplaces, and centering these is a large round skylight, the tufted armchairs, and extra tables. Congo arched alcoves frequent the lobby, and the attractive open fireplace, and the comfortable furniture, which flank and complete the comfortable sofas of rich upholstery. Lenient Senior Privileges Bring Many New Responsibilities To Last Year Class

Along with the new senior privileges afforded students during their senior year, the dormitory has come a new set of rules that many students may not be aware of. However, the rules are necessary in order to ensure the safety and security of all residents. Some of the new rules include:

- Curfew: Seniors may now go in and out of their dormitory at any time, including during the night. This rule applies to all seniors, regardless of gender.

- Room Keys: Seniors are to use their own distinct room keys and must bring them with them at all times. They must also be returned to the office by 10:30 PM. This rule applies to all seniors, regardless of gender.

- Dress Code: Seniors may now wear any type of clothing they choose, but they must dress appropriately for the occasion. This rule applies to all seniors, regardless of gender.

- Personal Belongings: Seniors may now carry any personal belongings they choose, but they must keep them secure and not leave them unattended. This rule applies to all seniors, regardless of gender.

- Supervision: Seniors may now go in and out of the dormitory at any time, including during the night. This rule applies to all seniors, regardless of gender.

As you can see, many of the new rules are necessary in order to ensure the safety and security of all residents. However, they are also intended to give seniors more freedom and responsibility. We encourage all seniors to follow these rules and to make the most of their senior year.

Seniors Unresolved In Praise Of New Conveniences, Comforts

The talk of the campus, the talk of the town, and the talk of the seniors is the new summer dormitory. As with all things that enjoy so much talk, the air is filled with rumors of its coming. In all of the rumors there is one common factor: the air of uncertainty. It is true that the new dormitory is to be built, but whether it will be as extravagant as rumor suggests is something that only time will tell.

The building will be a four-story structure, with a basement level. It will house approximately 300 students, and will be equipped with all modern conveniences. The basement will contain a recreation hall, a gymnasium, and a dining hall. The first floor will contain the senior dormitory, with the second floor containing the junior dormitory. The third floor will be used for the freshmen, and the fourth floor will be for the sophomores.

The exterior of the building will be of brick, and the interior will be of wood. The building will be located on the north side of campus, and will be visible from the street.

The new dormitory will be built during the summer, and is expected to be completed by the fall semester.

"I am foolishly proud of the senior hall," President Phelps said last night in announcing plans for the new dormitory. "We have tried to anticipate every need the students may require, and we have had many requests for facilities in the past, but this hall is designed to be used by the students as a whole." The dormitory will be ready for occupancy next fall and will accommodate 120 students.

State Leaders Send Messages On Senior Hall Opening

Dr. Sherwood Eddy Here Next Week

All High In Praise For Winthrop's Past--And Belief In Her Future

Leaders in government and education in South Carolina send Winthrop and her senior graduates handsome messages for the souvenier edition of The Johnsonian, all praise for the past and all of these leaders of our state. Among these were the viceroys of India, and such men as Mahatma Ghandi and Generalissimo Chiang Kaishek. The British, the premiers of France, the rulers of Spain, the presidents of Columbia, and many others. In every section of South Carolina have added much to the cultural and educational development of our State during these past years. W. J. Roddey, on the Board Since 1894, Helps Accept 22 Winthrop Buildings

In a setting of quiet formality, gracious gentlemen, W. J. Roddey, emeritus of his own eyes as he turned on lamps with soft shades of light and talked of his association as a trustee of Winthrop college for 48 years. Sometimes ago The Evening Herald told the facts about Mr. Roddey’s trusteeship. In 1893 he was elected a member of the board of trustees, and in 1929 a wing was accepted, and in 1930 a wing was erected in honor of former Governor Benjamin R. Tillman, who was accepted in 1936. In 1937 the Carnegie Library, a smaller building, which, with the addition of Margaret Mace Hall, remained the sole building on the campus until Crawford Infirmary was erected in 1936. This building, the way was named in honor of Dr. T. A. Crawford, a trustee of the college and a prominent physician of Rock Hill.

In 1938 the Carnegie Library, a gift of Andrew Carnegie, was accepted, and in 1939 a wing was added. The size of the dining hall built in 1938 was increased in 1939. Tillman Hall, named in honor of former Governor Benjamin R. Tillman, was accepted in 1939. In the same year Winthrop Training School was built.

By this time acceptances were fairly frequent, and in 1940 the new senior hall was accepted. In 1941 a wing was accepted, and in 1942 a wing was accepted.

Crawford Infirmary, which Mr. Roddey was a member, was built in 1896. This building, which, with the amount of time, the service has always been of labor of light and talked of his association as a trustee of Winthrop college for 48 years.

Onward Winthrop!

The new Senior Hall is another milestone in the forward progress of South Carolina’s great College for Women—for South Carolina’s Winthrop.

May there be many more milestones...many more evidences of a Winthrop keeps-ever-onward. We congratulate South Carolina and the Winthrop authorities for this fine new accomplishment.

It is satisfying to an Oldster in a community to welcome the New. The House of Friedheim, one of Rock Hill’s first business houses, notes with pleasure the new Winthrop Senior Hall, and hastens to congratulate the General Assembly, and the Winthrop administration, for the splendid addition to the educational facilities of South Carolina.

We have watched Winthrop grow to its present proportions, from its two buildings in 1895 to its 24 today. And it has been a source of great pride to us to see the growing enrollments, the increasing facilities, and to welcome both students and teachers to our “home”. We like to grow along with Winthrop.

In the new Senior Hall, Winthrop and Rock Hill has one of its most handsome structures. We congratulate Winthrop. We are pleased that the senior class will have one year out of their four college years in such beautiful surroundings as the new dormitory affords.
