JOHN EDWIN CARTER WINS MUSIC CONTEST
Colleton County Boy Captures Prize in High School Music Merit Contest

Just Friday in the State High School Music Merit Contest, Colleton County's John Edwin Carter received the first place prize for his composition, "The Mountain Brook," which he submitted under the category of "Choral Composition." This is the second consecutive year Carter has placed in the contest, having won first place last year as well. Carter's piece was chosen from a field of 200 compositions submitted by students from across South Carolina, and he is the first Colleton County student to win this prestigious award twice. Carter will receive a $500 scholarship and a certificate from the state music office.

BRITISH LABORITE CAPTIVATES HEARERS
John Langdon Davies talks engagingly of Education in Britain and America

Mrs. Emma A. Fox, teacher of English at Winthrop College, hosted an engaging talk by John Langdon Davies, a British laborite who has recently returned from a lecture tour in the United States. Davies, who is known for his radical views on education, spoke passionately about the differences in educational systems between Britain and America. He argued that while Britain's system is characterized by a focus on rote learning and discipline, American education is more flexible and adaptable to the needs of individual students. Davies also discussed the importance of a broad, liberal education for all citizens, and the need for schools to prepare students for a rapidly changing world.

MRS. EMMA A. FOX TELLS OF HER WORK

Newspaper writing was the topic of interest to Mrs. Emma A. Fox, who spoke to her students about her experiences as a reporter and editor. Mrs. Fox shared anecdotes from her time working for the Winthrop Daily, and discussed the importance of accurate and fair reporting. She also spoke about the challenges of being a woman in the field of journalism, and the importance of perseverance and hard work. Mrs. Fox's talk was well-received by the students, who were fascinated by her stories and her insights into the world of newspaper writing.

WINS MUSIC CONTEST CAPTIVATES HEARERS TELLS WHERE WORK

John Langdon Davies talks interestingly on "Music and Society" in Winthrop College Lecture Series

Mr. Frank A. Fox, who has been a frequent speaker at Winthrop College, discussed the role of music in society and its relationship to the arts. He traced the history of music from ancient Greece to modern times, and discussed the different genres and styles that have emerged over the years. Mr. Fox also spoke about the importance of music education and the role of music in shaping individuals and communities.

DR. BURTON LECTURES ON CONRAD
American Poet is Heard at Assembly

Mr. Eugene Bower, director of the Winthrop College Library, introduced American poet Charles Bower to the student body. Bower read several of his poems, including "The Fisherman," "The Sailor," and "The Farmer." He discussed the influence of his background as a sailor on his poetry, and the themes that run through his work, such as the life of the sea and the struggle for freedom. Bower's reading was well-received by the students, who were inspired by his words and his passion for poetry.

AMERICAN POET IS HEARD AT ASSEMBLY

Mr. Eugene Bower introduces American poet Charles Bower to the student body. Bower read several of his poems, including "The Fisherman," "The Sailor," and "The Farmer." He discussed the influence of his background as a sailor on his poetry, and the themes that run through his work, such as the life of the sea and the struggle for freedom. Bower's reading was well-received by the students, who were inspired by his words and his passion for poetry.

This was the first of many poetry readings to be held at Winthrop College, and it showcased the rich literary heritage of the American South. The event was part of the college's efforts to promote literature and the arts, and to foster a sense of community among its students.

In a subsequent interview with the Johnsonian, Mr. Bower said, "I hope to bring poetry to the forefront of American culture, and to inspire young people to explore the beauty and power of the written word."
