THE LANTERN,
PUBLISHED TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS.

J. T. BIGHAM, Editor and Proprietor

Printed at the Postoffice at Chester, S. C., at second-class matter.

TUESDAY, AUG. 21, 1906.

When a candidate tells you that he is in favor of the dispensary purified, you should say he is in favor of a macadam road to the moon.

A corrupt dispensary is worth more to some people than any other condition, and that is why they belittle the investigations. They don't want the rattlesnake brought to light; they want the carnival prolonged.

It does not seem so strange that Chilli should shake, but the people were very much alarmed, however much it might have been expected, Florence Times.

But isn't that the land of the emigrants? They should give Mother Earth a dose of quinine to break up the chills habit.

In the Ninety Six Star, the first issue of which has been received, the Rev. E. A. McDowell, editor and proprietor, makes his "politest bow" to the editorial cut of the state. Ninety Six is fortunate, we are sure, in this rising star, and the advertising agencies indicate that the paper has the people's support.

We are opposed to Mr. Finley for congress because he ignores the plain duty of a representative, and without any justification, starts in opposition to Chester and the wishes of the district he is supposed to represent. We have information that some of his friends expect him to get a good vote in Chester. Doubtless there are voters here who are not identified with the interests of Chester and will vote for him on personal grounds, but as it appears to us, a vote for Finley is a vote against Chester. He is the obstacle the only obstacle that stands in the way of our securing the location of the federal court house. If the Fifth district had had no representative in congress during the last year, the bill establishing the new South Carolina district would have been passed and Chester would have been designated as one of the places for holding court, according to the interests and desire of the people concerned.

A Heart-Warming Surprise.
"It waltz the world loses a lover," it also delights in loyal friendship.

The greatest robbery was maintained and not a hint of the proposed gift was allowed to reach Mr. McCorkle. The watch, made by Paul Jeannot, of Geneva, and purchased through our progressive jeweler, Mr. J. C. Robinson and his assistant, Mr. M. Wise, arrived several days ago. On the afternoon of August 15th, while Mr. McCorkle was in his office all unconscious of the pleasure awaiting him, he heard a cordial greeting and upon turning from the telephone, was immediately presented by Mr. Dupre Anderson on behalf of friends in Chester, Lancaster, Rock Hill and Charlotte with this elegant token of their regard. Overcome with amazement and appreciation, Mr. McCorkle could only utter a few broken sentences, for when the heart feels most, the tongue falters and deep emotion sweeps all words from the lips.

This gift is indeed a triumph of the watch maker's art. In a handsome pebble-cut case is hidden a delicate and perfect mechanism. The delicacy of the touching of a spring is sounding the hour, the quarter, the half, three quarters and intervening minutes, so that the exact time may be known in a moment.

This beautiful gift will be to Mr. McCorkle a constant joy, and as its musical tones tell the fleeting hours they will speak also of friendship which is eternal and of gratitude which will never pass away.

Campaign Meeting.

The campaign meeting for the city of Chester will be held in the opera house Thursday the 23rd inst., beginning at 6:10 o'clock p. m. The candidates for the county offices will speak first and will be followed by the candidates for the house of representatives and senate.

Jno M. Wise,
County chairman.

Grant-Collins.

Married, at the home of Rev. J. H. Wilson, at 5 p. m., on August 19, 1906, Mr. Jesse M. Grant and Miss Ammy Estelle Collins. Immediately after the ceremony they returned to their home at Richburg, followed by the good wishes of many for their future happiness and success.

Kennedy-Cleveland.

Miss Kennedy is a niece of Senator P. L. Hardin, and she, with her mother and two brothers, made her home with him. For several weeks she has been at Clinton visiting an aunt.

Major Wilks Dead.

Major John W. Wilks died early yesterday morning at his home at Wilksburg. His death was probably due to a general breakdown, rather than any particular disease. He was 77 years old, but until near the last was remarkably active and appeared much younger. He was an extensive planter, having been at one time the largest land owner and probably the wealthiest man in the county. He stood for what was best morally, and was a leader in religious work. We have never heard the least reflection upon the integrity and uprightness of Major Wilks. He represented the county in the legislature for a term or two, but had no taste for politics. But further notice may be expected later.
