Winthrop Goes To Bat For County in Ration Effort

War Committee Takes On Distribution Of Fuel Ration Books, Answers County's Emergency SOS

The mammoth task of distributing ration booklets to thousands of York county citizens is one that the War Committee, or the Central War Committee’s, first project for the 1943-44 campaign is a job for which OPAL OPA head Dr. Roy Z. Thomas, has set the urgent plan for. Winthrop assistance.

Until college volunteers come to the fore, orders of books and cooking utensils will have to be filled by the War Committee. York county citizens, after carefully noting the local, national, and international need for rationing, have turned to the campus to help with both labor and money. The present rationing personal is through the courtesy of the War Committee. All known ration stamps now in circulation are expected to be salted away within six weeks. Six to seven weeks from now, millions of stamps will be available to those who know how to use them and to the stamp buyers who know how to sell them.

Ration Books Have Value

At the present time, local war ration dealers are in contact with the War Committee and are making arrangements to distribute the all-ration books in their localities. This plan places

Winthrop gets high praise from the official body in charge of the school yearbook. This is the first time in years that the school has received such a compliment for its work.

Winthrop campus is in the national limelight today as the Tatler, yearbook, is the first in years that the school has received widespread attention from other institutions.

Winthrop’s Tatler was selected best in the annual grading of yearbooks sponsored by the AU-American. The Tatler won the highest honor rating of any yearbook in the national competition.

Winthrop students can play a part in the wartime effort. The Tatler could have been group-picked for the contest.

Winthrop was voted superior in organization, coverage of campus life, photography and divi-sioners, accompanied by a grade book sent to current Editor Betty San-ders, and a set of extra books in the competition.

Winthrop’s yearbook was a group effort, with the cooperation of the students, faculty, and administration.

Are You a S. W. W.?

Recently, a new club has formed at Winthrop according to the S. W. W. but have seriously stepped in to think of the good the club can do if you volunteer your membership.

There are those who who are aware of the beautiful campus Winthrop is complimented on having. Too, they are conscious that everybody student and others are beating down the path and others are getting to the ground where they thoughtlessly trample.

Rah, Rah Mean Something

Those of us who have been at Winthrop for a year or more are in the position of being poorly attended, and we are learning to know these people.

we have stopped to think of the good. We vote to do this work, and we eagerly await the beauty of the campus.

Senate President Explains Class Attendance System

By MALLORY FERNENDO

Senator Bryant, chairman of the Third Training School, expressed the details of the program to the students and Ernest Jimmy Helms, George Willis, and Ernest Brock. Senator Bryant then explained the new system which is about to be implemented.

"In order to make the system work, we need the full cooperation of the students. The new system will be put into effect at the beginning of the next term. We have already started preparations for its implementation." Senator Bryant said.

The new system will involve the use of punch cards for each student. Every time a student attends a class, the teacher will punch a card. At the end of the term, the number of cards will determine the student's grade.

"We believe this system will be fair and just," Senator Bryant said. "It will not only help us identify students who are not attending classes, but it will also encourage them to attend regularly."

Army And Navy Set Definite Deadlines For Early Mailing

Winthrop Girls Find Men Over There Prefer 'Little Things In Life' in Suggestions For Soldier Friends Given

BY CHARLOTTE HANCELL

Eight in line with morale boosting from the home front are the many Winthrop students who are bucking down to early Christmas shopping in order to meet the Army overseas mailing deadlines of October 15 and the Navy deadline of November 1.

Preceding today, making certain "their men over there" have a gift from Christmas, Winthropians assert that the most pleasing behind-the-lines problem is what to buy and what not to buy. The extra gifts and forwarded in such requirements, are understandable too, for this year's Victory purchases will have to take in gifts that will be of use to the "Front"-"Gordon" and "Leiters" the world over.

In a poll conducted at a New York hospital recently, soldiers just back from the front gave a few hints about what will be the "right thing" for overseas men. General suggestions they voted "the little things to life" in the most welcomed gifts from homes. Pairs and letters took the "hit list" in this category, too, and magazine and paper subscriptions were ranked next. Cards, books, small games, razors and shaving cream blisters were also mentioned, and many said hunting knives and flashlights were their most-precipitated gifts.

But many shoppers are wasting something more special than the "little things" and it is for them that gift suggestions must be definite. Since Uncle Sam has been on his time about what the well-dressed soldier, sailor and marine should or should not wear, the idea of finding a "best thought-of gift" is indeed—but it is a buying hint that identification bracelets and wrist watches are "hottest" for this year.

There are many other articles for the alert shopper. For instance, small military shaving mirrors are hot with metal mirror to screw on a nearby tree "somewhere overseas"—or saving tiles in kaki and navy blue always remain in hand for that "well-stored fighting man's appearance." Dots which are cigarette and lighter tags rope with the omission of cigarette "washers" even in these times.

The Wiggins, Feature For Saturday Show

As is the custom, the Wiggins of the College Pledge Class, in their famous blue and white uniform, blare the story of the humble beginnings of the men's side of the track, will be the show tomorrow night at 6:30.

For Wenguins and Blue Tigers, as far back as anyone can remember, there has been a feeling among them that their colors were the insignia of their school, and that they were the only ones capable of maintaining their reputation. When the season is over, and the men's side of the track has been proclaimed the winner, the Wiggins will be the only ones left to say anything about the matter.

The Wiggins were the first to say that any college could do what they did, and that they were the only ones capable of maintaining their reputation. When the season is over, and the men's side of the track has been proclaimed the winner, the Wiggins will be the only ones left to say anything about the matter.

A victory circus complete with all the appropriate gayety, color, atmosphere and fun being planned for Thursday afternoon, October 16, by the members of Sigma Gamma Nu, physical education majors, under the advisement of Marilyn Craig, club president.

Following the announcement of our successful efforts presented by the Alpha Tau Omega's annual ping pong tournament, Sigma Gamma Nu was cleared for this purpose last Sunday, when the members, with sports shoes and midnight concessions, opened the circus. While the publicity chairman, Miss Owens, has announced that everyone who pays the admission will receive a cent war stamp for admission, the circus will include a circus parade, clowns, games, contests and every possible type of entertainment which was offered at the event last fall.

In discussing the initial plans for the Sigma Gamma Nu's members are in hope of every effort to make the affair profitable for the circus.

Architecture Club Sets Tourney For October

W.D.I. To Sponsor T' Circus

The Architecture Club is preparing for the first meeting of the season, 45 racketeers reported for practice Tuesday afternoon and agreed to postpone the archery tournament for several weeks due to the doubles ladder tournament for club members, according to Betty Horton, chairman of the club.

The reason for delaying the tournament is to give the large number of new club members a chance to profit by several weeks' practice and practice before the group against more experienced opponents.

The group of tennis enthusiasts reporting for the first meeting included: Alice Austin, Mary Jorden, Victoria Craig, club president, according to Mari Craig, club president. According to Mari Craig, club president.
