Where is Chester's Historical Society? If it will report we are prepared to offer it some facilities for putting in shape for preservation any local history it may gather up.

The two prettiest women in Rock Hill were at church Sunday night and sat within ten feet of each other.—Rock Hill Herald.

We dare you to name them and stay in Rock Hill 15 minutes after your paper comes out.

The Newberry Herald and Daily which had arranged to start a news edition, now announces that the enterprise is for the present, as the result of failure to secure a telegraphic news service at a satisfactory rate.

The railroads it is stated, will erect a model station on the Charles river exposition grounds. It is not likely that the union station at Augusta will be copied.—Aiken Journal and Review.

Some model stations all along their lines would be appreciated, though we are making no complaint locally.

We asked a few days ago who could tell anything about Congressman Overstreet, of this state, who, it had been said, died at Concord, N. C., in 1822, on his way home from Washington, and was buried there. Just after we asked the question we saw a communication in another paper saying that he was from Barnwell, and he was the great grandfather of President Hartog of Clemson college. He was buried there on account of the inferior facilities for transportation.

A correspondent of the Gaffney Ledger is said to have given currency to this story:

There was once a preacher who was noted for his loud preaching. He went west and stayed several years and on his return they appointed him to preach. After he got through a brother stepped up and said: "You cannot preach like you used to. I used to think you could hear a mile." The preacher replied: "I used to think that those who could hear me were learned since that is the lighting."

Yesterday's State said that Dispenser Ford of Chester was in Columbia Wednesday "to ask the state board for another clerk at his dispensary." Mr. Ford thinks this may be misleading to persons who know that he already has two clerks. He went to ask the state board to approve the county board's action in giving him the second clerk, also to approve its recommendation to raise his salary. He does not wish to think that it takes a whole regiment of men to run the Chester dispensary.

The Lenoir Topic, speaking of the Caldwell Baptist association, says they "adjourned without doing one thing which they should have done." Some readers may think this a pretty severe criticism until they reflect that these words are ambiguous when separated from the connection in which they were used. The one thing which the Topic thinks the association should have done that it did not do was to denounce the divorce laws of North Carolina. It fears that "such disgraces as the Flagler affair may become possible in North Carolina if our Christian people who love decency do not in their conventions and in other places plead for a purer system of morals than the present state of affairs. A public opinion shall have become so strong that law makers dare not defy it."

A year or two ago, methods were recommended for curing peavine which it was asserted would only make the vines rot, and yet when tried it was seen that they were evidently written by cranks, in the opinion of the governor, and no attention will be paid to them.

"You may be assured that nothing will be done by me," said Gov. O'Dell, "to prevent the execution of Colzogg on the day fixed by law."

The governor also received a petition that the body of the murderer after the electrocution be buried at sea. The governor understands that they were evidently written by cranks, in the opinion of the governor, and no attention will be paid to them.

superior quality when opened in the winter. If the plan is successful in this country it will mean a great deal for the farmer and more for his stock. Those who have tried it are promised to give us the benefit of their experience.

Judge Gary has decided that the jury law of this state is unconstitutional. The point was raised by Senator Graydon, of Abbeville, in conference of one Wilson for murder at Gaffney. The constitution forbids special legislation, "in all cases where a general law can be made, ample and grand petit juries" is named as one of these. The act of the legislature allows the juries to be drawn differently, at least by different officials, in different counties. Solicitor Henry gave notice that he would appeal the Wilson case to the supreme court. During the remainder of the session, cases could be tried only by consent. This decision will probably have a very serious effect on the work of the courts until the question is decided, and if Judge Gary is sustained, until the legislature remedies the defect.

Two Brothers in One Grave.

Safely can a sadder scene be imagined than a widowed mother witnessing the burial in the same grave of her two only sons who have just entered upon young manhood, and upon whom she leaned for support. Such is the affliction of Mrs. Henry Marshall, of eastern Kershaw. For some time her sons, Messrs. Foster J. and John I. Marshall, aged 21 and 23 years, have been sick with typhoid fever, and on Monday night last after days and weeks of languishing, one of them died, and in about 12 hours, succumbing to the dread disease, the other one died also and they were buried in the same grave on Tuesday afternoon. The burial took place at Mt. Zion Baptist church, the services being conducted by Rev. C. D. Peterson. Besides their widowed mother they leave four little sisters. Within the past 3 years this family has lost seven of its members.—Camden Chronicle.

Postmaster In Trouble.

SPARTANBURG, Oct. 2.—This afternoon United States Commissioner Wm. McGowan issued a warrant for the arrest of J. C. Robertson, postmaster at Cowpens, on the charge of embezzlement. The warrant was sworn out by C. F. Narramore, a citizen of Cowpens. Narramore alleges in the instrument that some time back, while he was at work in Union, he sent an amount of money to his wife at Cowpens by money order; the Robertson postmaster at Cowpens, deducted from the amount sent a sum of money claimed to have been due him by Narramore, and remitted the remainder to Mrs. Narramore. A deputy marshal has been given the papers and they will be served on Postmaster Robertson tomorrow morning. The case is one of more than passing interest.—Special to The State.

In Behalf of Colzogg.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Gov. O'Dell arrived in this city this afternoon from Newburgh and when he reached the executive chamber he was surprised to find on his desk two letters requesting him to commute to life imprisonment the sentence of Colzogg, the murderer of President McKinley. One letter was sent by a man in Illinois and the other by a man in Maine. They were evidently written by cranks, in the opinion of the governor, and no attention will be paid to them.

Read This To Your Boy.

Every parent who has a son knows that at a certain tender age that boy will try to learn to smoke. He will probably begin on corn silk, dried-grape leaves or "rabbit tobacco." But be sure he will begin on something. These things are dangerous. At Phillipsburg, New Jersey, this week the two young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Beeman died after a peculiar illness during which their mouths and throats became so inflamed that medical aid was of no avail. The attending physician, Dr. J. M. Reese, issued certificates giving the cause of death as blood poisoning resulting from smoking corn silk and dried leaves of grape vines. The lads, who were ten and fourteen years old, were ill less than a week.—Atlanta News.

Important Elections.

At the next session of the general assembly there will be a number of important elections. The terms of six of the eight members of the circuit bench expire within the year 1902. The term of Hon. Ira B. Jones, associate justice of the supreme court, expires July 31, 1902. The following circuit judges' terms expire: R. C. Watts and J. C. King, Feb. 14; W. C. Benet and James Aldrich, Feb. 16; Geo. W. Gage, Feb. 15 and O. W. Buchanan Dec. 31th. It is said that Judge Buchanan will not stand for re-election.

The commissioner and the three directors of the state dispensary and the trustees of the state colleges will be elected at this session: The chairman of the dispensary board is elected by the senate, the other two members by the house.—The State.

Juries to the Orphan.

At the last session of our court the proposition was made to the jurymen to give to the orphanages of South Carolina all money received by them, known as trust money, which is generally drunk or smoked, and no one benefited thereby. Now if all jurymen of all courts in our state will adopt this plan, what a great help it will be to those noble institutions. Let there be no selfishness connected with this good work, but let all collections be equally divided among all denominations or placed where most needed. All thinking men, and I am sure the noble ladies of our proud little state, will greet all jurymen with sweeter smiles and cheer them on and some day, fellow-jurymen, you will receive the same reward of the poor widow who cast her mite into the treasury of her Lord.

A Cruel Hoax.

The State tells of a too confiding young woman of Chicago who got into correspondence with something that purported to be a young man of Columbia. The correspondence grew out of a newspaper advertisement. They became engaged and on the representation of the young man that a trip to Chicago would be too expensive for him, she came to Columbia for the marriage.

When she arrived no lover met her at the station, so she drove to the street address given in a letter from him. When she arrived at her destination, she found herself in a squalid negro settlement, and the house with the number for which she was looking was the worst of the lot.

The truth broke upon her then. Her fiancée had been using an assumed name and she had been misled. It is said that she is getting up and good looking. Detectives are at work on the case with the hope of discovering the young man's identity.

Will He Surrender?

Some people are saying things nowadays that they will regret later on. This slush about Roosevelt knowing no sectional lines etc, does not strike us forcibly. Mighty nice talk, but when the next presidential election shall have come we'll wager a year's subscription against a cord of wood that Roosevelt will want a nomination and to secure it and the approbation of the G. O. P. and G. A. R. he will have to warm up and bless out the southern end of his empire, or else the purse-proud and pension-pampered patriots will regret that they can't vote for a man who treats a southerner as a citizen. No, with his present way of doing things, he'll never land a nomination.—Lenoir Topic.

True Remedy for Anarchy.

We observe that many ministers of the gospel throughout the country have recently been preaching on the subject of anarchy and as to the best means of suppressing it. It is right, of course, for the preachers to teach the doctrine of obedience to law, but we believe that the preachers can accomplish most in the direction of blotting out anarchy by preaching the gospel. The Bible is a book of law, and those who follow the doctrine of the Bible will always be subject to the authorities and obey the laws of the land, as well as the laws of God. If the preachers of this country can succeed in getting all men and women to believe in the Bible and observe its teachings, anarchy and lawlessness of every description will soon be but a name. If there ever was an occasion for the preaching of the gospel in its purity and simplicity, it is now. After all, the religion of the Bible is the true remedy for anarchy.—Richmond Times.

Emma Goldman had an appointment to lecture in Chicago, but the mayor has forbidden it.

Hon. C. G. Dantler, of the Orangeburg bar, will be a candidate before the general assembly for judge of this circuit.—Orangeburg Patriot.

Judge Buchanan should not attempt to "lay up something before he is too old." People generally die before they are "too old." Moth and rust.—Edgefield Advertiser.

Mr. John Baker, a piano tuner from Asheville died, in Camden Wednesday from the effects of a fall from an upper story piazza about 4 o'clock in the morning.

 The Lee Light Infantry was inspected Wednesday night by General Floyd. He seemed pleased with the way the men acquitted themselves. About 45 men were present, scarcely two-thirds of the company, a few being indisposed, and the remainder at college or temporarily absent.

Tom Dixon.
 Efforts are being made to get Tom Dixon to Chester again in his famous and best lecture, "Backbone." He came here to deliver this lecture a few years ago, but with 13 inches of snow on the ground and bitter cold, he had but a dozen or two hearers, so that the lecture is new to most of our people.

Fire at Bascomville.
 The store of John G. Cousar & Co., at Bascomville, was burnt last night. The insurance on stock was $5,000 and on building $1,000. We make an estimate of the loss, but it must be pretty heavy, as a great number of goods had just been gotten in. They have been in the habit of taking out more insurance when they increased their stock than they carried through the summer, but had not done so before the fire, though Mr. Cousar was speaking of it a few days ago. We have heard no theories as to the origin of the fire. This is the third time their store has been burnt in the year, and the new building was wrecked by a storm before it was completed the last time.

I have opened a watch, clock and jewelry repair shop, also prepared to do optical work, in D. J. McCaulay's store. Send me your work. Edw. Smering.

A Raining Tree.
 A few days ago Mr. David Mobley discovered a spot in front of Mrs. Campbell's house where rain was falling constantly. Several persons, after some hesitation, fearing a sell, went to see for themselves. Wednesday afternoon quite a group gathered at the spot and saw it fall, had it fall on them, and saw it on the leaves and fence. There was no doubt that there was a considerable sprinkle falling, not very noticeable on the pavement, because most of it fell inside of the yard. The only explanation that could be suggested was that it was some secretion from the limbs of a cottonwood tree that reached out over the place. This was met with the answer that there was no rain under other parts of the tree, and only scattering branches extended over that spot. Others asserted that they had seen the drops, when the sun was shining, falling from above the branches of the tree. The assembly was attracting attention and increasing in numbers, when Mrs. W. B. Cox, who knew more about rain from a clear sky than the whole crowd, came along, and said, "These trees always rain, and this is another, with long leaves and long beans on it, that does the same thing." Then the meeting broke.

Mr. Edward Smering has opened a jewelry and watch repair shop in Mr. D. J. McCaulay's store. He has some notices in this paper.

Several cars of the through freight on the Seaboard yesterday morning left the track about five miles south of town. The south bound passenger was delayed about six hours.

There was a cutting scrape at the Springstein mills a day or two ago. Sanders was severely cut by Sims, if we have the names right. It seems that Sanders was running a vulgar joke further than Sims thought warrantable, was asked to desist, but he kept on and Sims's forbearance was exhausted.

Exciting Runaway.
 Mr. Hazel McKeown, who clerks in Mr. R. H. Fudge's store at Fort Lawn, "phoned up to his employer, at Fudge's, Wednesday afternoon, that there was not much going on and he would like to get off awhile to go to see his sister, who was sick. Mr. Fudge is a tender hearted man, and had a spell of sickness himself not long ago, and this appeal touched him, so he told the young man he might go. When Hazel got out into the fresh air, however, he concluded that his sister was not dangerously sick, and so determined to go to see somebody else's sister. Accordingly he hid him to Mr. T. R. Jordan's and took out Miss Eucie for a drive. The horse ran away with them, but didn't break a thing, and when he got to the Rev. J. H. Wilson's he didn't do a thing but stop. Fearing that one or the other of them might fall off on the return trip, and declaring their willingness to share the same fate, they agreed that they ought to get Mr. Wilson to tie them together, and he had in a minute indulged, so long as they both live—in South Carolina. They returned to Mr. Jordan's, where Mr. McKeown will board for the present and Mrs. McKeown will be "at home."

Yesterday morning Mr. Fudge brought a man down from his other store to help at Fort Lawn a day or two, till things settled back into their places, but he found that the transfer pro tem. was not necessary, as Mr. McKeown had been at his place in the store ever since sunrise.

I can order you anything you may need in the jewelry and kindred lines, and save you money. Edw. Smering.

Mr. John Cowan, who was at one time a cotton buyer in Rock Hill, is now at Kosciusko, Miss., where he is associated with a large cotton firm. We clip the following from a letter recently received by his brother, Mr. George Cowan: "The crop in this section is very poor. The people say the crop is not more than half of what it was last year. What I saw on the road certainly is very bad. The cotton is not more than knee high and open from bottom to top."

New Invention.
Mr. George R. Dodd, a mechanic of this city, has recently patented an invention which is declared by prominent people, both at home and abroad, to be a remarkable success. It is a telegraph and telephone pole hanger, and enables one or two men in a very few minutes to transport, handle and erect the heaviest telephone poles. Its chief merit is its simplicity, and it is a great saver of labor and an equally great saver of time. After numerous public exhibitions it has been pronounced by experts from other places in this class of work to be cheaper and far superior to anything of the kind in use anywhere. A corporation was organized here to build shops in Anderson and engage in the manufacture and sale of the machine. The stock was all taken almost as soon as the books were open and many who wanted stock in the company could not secure it. The officers of the company are M. M. Mattison, president; G. W. Evans, vice president; R. L. Barriss, secretary and treasurer, and Gen. M. L. Bonham, attorney. An additional reason for the success of this machine is the assurance of safety with which this work can be done hereafter, and a single instance by way of illustration is sufficient to show its value in that respect: Not long ago a negro in the employ of the Anderson Water, Light and Power Company of this city lost a leg from injuries received by a falling pole which he and eight or ten other men were laboriously erecting, resulting in damages, and a liberal compensation, the part of his employers, the company paying out enough to buy a dozen of the new machines and the injured man going through life on a cork leg.—Anderson Special to The State.

Stepped Into Live Coals.
"When a chud I burned my foot frightfully," writes W. H. Eads, of Jonesville, Va., "which caused horrible leg sores for 30 years, but Backlen's Arnic Salve wholly cured me after everything else failed." Infringe for burns, scalds, cuts, sores, bruises and piles. Sold by Woods Drug Co. 25c.

Would Take Mortal Revenge.
The Charlotte Observer says: "The Czar of Russia has been to France upon a pleasant visit. President Faure took him all around to see the sights, and the two rulers emphasized their friendship for one another." As the editor of the Observer is a pretty good bible student, we fear the visit referred to must be a mental vagary, or hallucination, a good deal like the meeting of Sam and Samson in the presence of the witch of Endor, as we are under the impression that M. Felix Faure has been dead several years. The living president of France enjoys the sobriquet of Loubet. We hope the Observer does not mean to insist that the Czar and the late ruler of the French walked along the shores of abysmal seas in Plutonian regions lit by volcanic fires; and had the mortal nerve to enjoy the thing!—Yorkville Yeoman.

What's Your Face Worth?
Sometimes a fortune, but never, if you have a sallow complexion, a jaundiced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin, or signs of liver trouble.—But Dr. King's New Life Pills give clear skin, rosy cheeks, rich complexion. Only 25 cents at Woods Drug Co.

Shouldn't Think Yer Did.
Coming home rather late one night, old Jones discovered a country yokel with a lantern standing by the kitchen door.
"Young man," said he, "what are you doing here?"
"I've come a-courting, sur."
"A-courting? What do you mean?"
"Well, I'm a follower of Mary, the kitchen maid, sur."
"Do you usually carry a lantern when you are on such errands?" asked the old man, sarcastically.
"Yes, sur, always."
"Don't tell me such nonsense. You had better be off quickly-courting with a lantern in your hand. In my young days I never used such a thing."
"No sur," replied the yokel, sidling off, "judging by missus I shouldn't think yer did."—London King.

A new remedy for biliousness is now on sale by all druggists, called Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. It gives quick relief and will prevent the attack if given as soon as the first indication of the disease appears. Price, 25 cents per box. Samples free.

The Soldiers' Home.
Adjutant General Floyd is making investigations with a view to learning approximately the number of veterans who would go to the soldiers' home should one be established. Col. Crittenden, the chairman of the pension board, thinks that not more than twenty in the county of Greenville would avail themselves of the privileges of the home, and they would do so mainly for the medical attention they might receive. As a general thing the indigent veteran will prefer to draw his little pension and remain among his old friends and comrades. We are not opposed to any provision that the State may make for the comfort of needy veterans, but we doubt the advisability of establishing at this late day a soldiers' home. The last veteran who has gone to his long home before many more years, and the institution can hardly be put into proper working order before the number of those for whom it may be established will be so diminished that the State could provide for them far more economically and acceptably by increasing the amount of their pensions and letting them remain among their friends.—Gaffney Ledger.

Distinguished Ignorance.
British ignorance concerning American affairs is proverbial and it does not appear to be decreasing. For instance, discussing Roosevelt's accession to the presidency the London Evening Standard tells its readers that the United States constitution provides that the governor of New York shall become president in case of the president's death and relates that Lincoln's successor was "Mr. Arthur Johnson" and Garfield's was "Mr. Chester Arnold." A similar error regarding the British government and British history would not be made by the most inconspicuous American newspaper.—The State.

Some churches read "If any man will be my disciple let him take up his collection."
Some who are soul-blind refuse to be healed because they cannot see the Healer.

We have just received two hundred LYNCHBURG STEEL BEAM PLOWS which we can show you testimonials proving that this plow is the best. These plows are made of first-class material and the workmanship is unsurpassed. All wearing parts are chilled, special pains are taken with the mole boards and on account of the shape of the moleboards they will scour in sticky soil where many others fail. If the purchaser is not pleased with the plow after TWO DAYS' TRIAL he may return it to us and money will be refunded. We can furnish supplementary moleboard for the Lynchburg plow. The moleboards are bolted on over the other moleboards, thus enabling you to take a small plow and by the use of these moleboards throw up more dirt than you can with large-four-horse plows. They are indispensable for ditching and terracing.
