Will Ye Rob Me?

"We arrived here at 7 o'clock Sabbath evening, without an incident of any kind except a Sabbath that was spent any other than the way it should have been."

This sentence from our Manassas correspondence in last Friday's Lantern must have struck every reader who is concerned about moral and religious interests of this country; indeed everyone who is concerned about civilization itself, for a country without a Sabbath held sacred is a country without the restraints of religion and is not without the restraints of law. It is not necessary to argue that this is true or why it is true; it is enough to know that it is an indisputable fact.

It is a deplorable fact, moreover, that the tendency of the times is to break down the proper observance of the day. The representatives of our laws, who should be the foremost and the most careful in regard for moral as well as civil law very generally ignore the fourth commandment, when they do not deliberately make their plans in such a way as to make its violation by others necessary.

But even this is not the worst. Christian people do not protest. Our elected representatives arrange for our tramping upon divine law and we meekly do their bidding. Possibly we stand in conviction. More probably we are ashamed of our religion; at least ashamed to assert it. Perhaps there is a private expression of disapproval but it would be "bad form" to speak publicly of such a matter. We can condemn violation of the eighth commandment or the sixth—that would injure our fellow men, and our fellow men would naturally commend our objection. We might raise a voice against the breaking of the third commandment, in polite company—that would be bad manners. But the fourth—that's different. That deals with our duty to God, and we imagine that we can disregard the injured party in this case.

Our public officials deplore the violation of law—some laws, but virtually command the violation of other laws. Is an encampment to be held? It must not only include the Sabbath but that must be the day for the greatest display, or, as in the case which furnishes occasion for this article, the confusion of traveling to and fro, of arriving and breaking camp, the most demoralizing part of all, must be on the Lord's day. How many will raise a voice of protest, and who will second a voice that is raised?

High officials insult the Christian sentiment of the people who put them in office and receive no censure. Politicians hold court on the Sabbath and professed Christians attend them. Political conventions and legislative assemblies prolong their sessions into the Sabbath and the Christian members have not the courage to rise and denounce the desecration. Even our teachers, in many cases, tied down during the week, discount the moral lessons they set for the children by making business trips and seeking recreation and pleasure on the Sabbath. Why don't we reprimand them? We can't, consistently, unless we do better ourselves. It avails little if we stomp Pauline over so piously in the church on Sabbath morning if we show our boys and girls of tender age to spend the afternoon roaming the streets, loafing—in the case of the boys—where profanity is most blasphemous and vulgarity most foul, in loitering, walking and driving in company none too good, and conversation and deportment anything else than becoming the day.

Now that nearly all other classes have been indicated, are the preachers exemplary in this matter? As a rule, yes; reasonably so; but there are exceptions. Not very long ago we attended a Sabbath evening service in a certain church, and a young man, a student in the church by the pastor and brought forward to preach. He started out with the statement that he had not expected to take any part in the service, as he had just a few minutes before "dropped off a passing train." It seemed that he had been off on a little trip, and having some business in town, he stopped off. His work, though not preaching, was just as good. Was it not right then to use the Lord's day to hasten the Lord's work? This is answered in a sentence that has divine authority—"Obedience is better than sacrifice."

Rodman Items.

This morn'g the pleasure of attending a Sunday school picnic Saturday, the 13th inst., at Antioch church, at Ogden. A large crowd assembled by ten o'clock. We were splendidly entertained in the morning with the children's day exercises. Quite a nice program had been arranged and was carried out in a charming manner. The musical part was very nice, the organ being presided over by Miss Polly Hardin, who is one of the teachers at Ogden. The dinner was of the best and very plentiful, for which the Blackick people are famous. In the evening appropriate speeches were made by Messrs. Jennings and Wilbur, on Sunday school work. Refreshments were sold to the benefit of the church. The church was prettily decorated with vines, ferns and potted plants.

A show will be given Saturday night by Mr. Massey, a blind man, in the Woodman hall.
Aunt Heppie, you must not desert us, for your letters always interesting.

A social was given Wednesday night last week at Mr. John K. Miller's. All report a nice time.

Mrs. John Robinson and daughter, Miss Daisy, of Knox, spent a day last week with friends here.

CHRYSANTHEMUM.

Not the Only Ones.
Headquarters First Division, Manassas, Va., Sept. 10.—Col. Boyd has investigated the reported depredation of the First South Carolina regiment at Wellington, Va., with the following result: The First South Carolina regiment boys were not the instigators of the raid. There were a great many soldiers who took part in the raid from other regiments camped near or than our regiment. Sworn affidavits were furnished on request implicates several regiments.

Col. Boyd states that if the colonels of the Fourth New York, the First Tennessee and First Florida would investigate as thoroughly as he did, they would find others were more guilty than any of his men. It is greatly regretted by all that these sweeping accusations were brought against the regiment. The citizens of the State can be assured that the First regiment does not countenance any such breach of the peace.—Special to the State.

The Women All Behind It.

Bless your soul, the Watts law is all right. The good ladies all over the country are rallying to its support. It would be a dangerous thing for a man to go out into the country and talk about repealing the Watts law. These good women out in the country don't want the still houses. They don't want the boys to ever see a still-house and the man of set man who seek to get votes by advocating still-houses will have no friends among the good women who have happy homes out in the country.—Lexington Dispatch.

A Sad Death!

After an illness of seven weeks with typhoid fever and complications following, Mr. Ernest Sillig died about 7 o'clock Sabbath morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. Henry Oberly. He came to this city six years ago and has been associated with his brother-in-law in the baker business. His mother died about 1890 during his physical illness and everything that physician and friends and nurse could do was done but "God took him."

He was an exemplary young man and by his happy, genial nature won friends among all with whom he came in contact. He was thoughtful, kind and gentle in the home and had much to live for but expressed himself as ready and willing to be submissive to God's will and had no fear of death. He was 21 years old in May and expected to go into business for himself at the beginning of another year. He joined the Methodist church at Charlottesville, West Virginia, his parents' home, when 13 or 14 years old and still held his membership there.

The funeral exercises were in the Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, conducted by Rev.'s James Russell and C. P. Watson and the burial at Evergreen cemetery, under the direction of the Knights of Pythias of which lodge he was a member. Messrs. J. A. Hafner, J. C. Robinson, Pearl Bowles, Arthur Lattimer, Jim Hardin and H. S. Heyman were the pall bearers. After the grave was filled the mood was entirely covered with the choicest of flowers. His parents, one brother and three sisters survive him and the community extends sympathy to them and to the sweet young lady of this city who was soon to become his bride.

Social Affairs.

A lawn party given Friday evening by Miss Jennie Oates was greatly enjoyed by a number of her friends. The pizzas of her home on the edge of town was beautifully lit up with Japanese lanterns. Miss Jennie was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Miss Josie, and by Miss Helen Hood and Messrs. Wm. Caldwell and Frank Marshall. The guests were refreshed by a dainty course of ices and cake.

Miss Mary Blake entertained a few friends at "pit" Friday evening.

A few young people were entertained by Mrs. Geo. Ferguson Saturday night, in honor of her guests, Misses Mary Ferguson and Sallie Atkinson. The guests enjoyed the cream-antique that was served very much.

Miss Jessie Willes left Monday on the S. A. L. to visit friends in Union and Spartanburg.

The second primary election is in progress today. The only candidates concerned are those running for railroad commissioner, sheriff and coroner.

Miss Jessamine M. Daniel of Route No. 1, who has been visiting Mrs. Macy Lathan in Lancaster, arrived in the city this morning and will spend a few days with Miss Kate White.

Mr. J. W. Moffat, of Rives, Tenn., spent several days last week with his brother, Mr. R. R. Moffat. He left yesterday for Nashville, where he is temporarily located.

Mr. Will Ragadale, of Stover, stood the examination Saturday for R. F. D. carrier on a new route from Blackstock down the Camden road by Stover and back to Blackstock by Mr. McEldeffs, Miss Lizzie Mills' and Mr. Dyes.

Mr. R. O. Thornton, who has had a position at the Southern freight depot the past three years, left Saturday for Erley, S. C., to spend a week with an aunt before going to Wofford college. Mr. David Leckie fills the position resigned by Mr. Thornton and Mr. Joel Adams, of Hartwell, Ga., has accepted the position held by Mr. Leckie.

Mr. J. T. Bigham left this morning for Due West with his daughter, Miss Nellie Bigham, who will enter Erskine college. Mr. Wm. Caldwell, M. R. L. Patrick, of White Oak, Miss Micy Lathan, of Lancaster, Miss Esther Strong and Jimmie M. Koons, of Cornwell, and Miss Wessie Wise, of Wise, were also to leave on the same train for Due West to attend college.

Letters from Gastonia.

Gastonia, N. C. Sept. 12.—The time of year has now come when persons who spent the summer months at the famous resorts of North Carolina and other places are coming home. During the summer many Chester people have gone to the mountains of North Carolina, some to spend only a few days, some for weeks, and some for months. The Carolina & North-Western Railway Company has had its full share of the benefits derived from the summer travels. The company offers inducements in the way of cheap rates along and near its line are the famous summer resorts of Catawba Springs, The Cliff, Lenoir and Blowing Rock, among the most famous in this country.

Another reason the Carolina & North-Western receives such a good patronage is, the passengers are always assured of a pleasant trip. Clever people are at the head of the road, and they employ clever people to run the train. The jovial Captain Ross makes a friend in every part of the road, and all the other employes are always agreeable and courteous.

On Saturday Miss Phoebe Owen, who is one of the halo girls of the Chester Central, came up on the train on her way to Lenoir, where she expects to spend a week or more. Capt. E. P. Moore was a passenger as far as Yorkville. Mr. Robert Gage was on the train going to Lenoir and returned that evening.

Crops in this section, especially corn, are better than they have been in several years.

I am now enjoying the quiet which the country affords. Within a few minutes I shall place the letter in the mail box to await the arrival of the R. F. D. carrier from Gastonia, who makes his rounds on a motor-cycle. Beginning with October 1st a rural route, which will also pass within a few yards from where I am writing, will be established from Bessemer. With two rural mail routes passing within a few yards of the home and telephone connections with the neighboring towns, who could wish to be more favorably situated, even though it be in the country.

GRIER CARSON.

Smuggled in as Editorial.

There is one matter which should receive consideration at the next meeting of the State Press Association and that relates to the practice of publishing political communications during a campaign. To many newspapers in South Carolina which will not endorse or oppose a candidate are perfectly willing to print a column of praise, for so much a line, yet they throw that sort of stuff in the editorial page, the average reader taking it for granted that those are the views of the paper in question. Such communications should be plainly marked "advertisement." If that kind of work continues we should not be surprised that weekly newspapers have so little influence in the state.—Greenville News.

About the only source of congratulation in the whole business is that under the Japanese and Russian forms of government these war heroes cannot run for office after they get back from the front.—Washington Post.

He Saturday, largely because he simply does his duty, without fear or favor, and criminals as well as the law-abiding know it. Nobody is afraid that justice will miscarry when they know that J. K. Henry is to be solicitor.—Gastonia News.

Hunters Pleased.
The arena, New Hope, Lowryville and Olive hunters went down last week and were joined by some of the Blackstock boys in a hunt which covered a section drained by tributaries of Rocky creek and bordered by the Waterree slope. They caught two foxes Thursday and one Friday. They also had fair success seeing in the Moffatt creek.

Though they had good sport, this was almost entirely eclipsed by their admiration for the people they found in that section. They are loud in praise of the Rocky Creek Irish. They speak of them as the most generous and hospitable people they have ever fallen among.

The Nimrod who reported the hunt was surprised and pleased to learn that he could tell the editor of The Lantern anything about those hills and the inhabitants, as he was "bred and buttered" there and had climbed every hill and traversed every vale from the Waterree to the Big Rocky.

Letter to J. E. Wylie
Dear Sir: Lead-and-oil is not good paint; don't wear it; the rule is, as everyone knows, repaint in three years.

David last six, in the same way—allow wide margin in all such statements. What does it mean, to last? It means the same with both.

As to covering: that's another. Here's an instance.
Mr. J. H. H. Sneath, Pa., painted his house, lead-and-oil; took 40 gallons.
Last summer bought 40 gallons Devoo for the same two houses; required 10 gallons.

The paint that covers; lasts; it's all paint, true paint, and full-measure. Lead-and-oil is all paint but not good paint; the lead wants zinc. Better paint Devoo.

Yours truly

W. F. Ewart, of Newberry, of the firm of Ewart & Co., hardware and gentlemen's furnishings, address Main street, says: "I have used Ison's Kidney Pills with very marked benefit. I suffered with my back and kidneys full of urine, the urine from the kidneys were very dark contained sediment and were annoying particularly at night. There was a pain across my loins for which I wore plaster and used liniment, but with no apparent effect. I noticed in our newspaper that Ison's Kidney Pills had done for others, and ordered a box and used them according to directions. Since then my kidney secretions have regained their natural color and action, my rest is not disturbed at night and the pain in my back has entirely left me."

Tuberculous Treatment.

Prof. Jacob, first physician of the hospital "Charite" of Berlin, lectured a few days ago before the German Society for Internal Medicine on a new mode of treatment of consumption of the lungs originated by him.

Prof. Jacob started with the presumption that the remedies usually employed do not reach the location of the tubercle. He conceived the idea of introducing medicaments directly into the lungs. The tuberculous experiments on animals he became convinced that such injections are very well borne by animals. The manipulation is very simple and can be undertaken by every physician who is familiar with the use of the throat mirror (Kehloppspiegel). After the trachea and larynx have been made insensible by cocaine or anesthetic, a thin rubber tube is introduced into the lungs and the medicine is injected through it. The whole process lasts hardly ten minutes.

Prof. Jacob has found that the most efficient remedy is the well known "tuberculin" which Prof. Koch used thirteen years ago; next in efficiency is creosote. He succeeded in this way in making the tuberculous bacilli disappear completely in from four to eight weeks. So far he has treated only five patients by his method, though he expects its general adoption. He added that through this new method a safe diagnosis can be made of consumption of the lungs, while this has so far not been possible. Heretofore tuberculin was injected hypodermically to demonstrate whether a person suffered from the disease, but even if the reaction was positive, nothing was known about the seat of the tuberculous. Now only his new method of "lung injection," as he calls it, needs to be employed to determine whether tuberculous of the lungs exists. It is reported that the lecture was received with great applause.—United States Consul General Guenther, Frankfurt, Germany.

A Remarkable Record. Eliott's Emulsified Oil Liniment has made a remarkable record as a cure for stiffness of muscle and joints. It matters not whether the trouble was caused by a sprain or strain, rheumatism or other causes. It will relieve the soreness and pain in a person suffering from the swelling and remove the stiffness. Every bottle is guaranteed. Full pint half bottle 25 cents. T. S. Lessor, Jr.

Militia Very Hungry. A special to The State from maneuvering headquarters at Manassas says: "The militia troops displayed the usual disadvantage of inexperience in the field. Many of them ate their two days' rations the first day and went hungry. The regulars ate them a good example in every respect, dividing their supplies equally between the two days. Complaint of deprivations by militia-men came to headquarters today from Wellington, where it was claimed that the First South Carolina regiment had cleaned out a provision store absolutely. The loss will be reimbursed to the proprietor and the amount deducted from the pay of this regiment."

Emergency Medicines. It is a great convenience to have at hand reliable remedies for use in cases of accident and for slight injuries and ailments, good liniment and one that is fast becoming a favorite if not a household necessity is Chamberlain's Pain Balm. By applying it promptly to a cut, bruise or burn it relieves the pain and causes the injury to heal in about one-third the time usually required, and as it is an antiseptic it prevents any danger of blood poisoning. When Pain Balm is kept at hand a sprain may be treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a quick recovery. For sale by J. J. Stringfellow.

In Praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. "Allow me to give you a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mr. John Hamilton, of Eagle Pass, Texas. "I suffered with colic for several days and took all kinds of medicine without getting any relief, when my friend, Mr. C. Johnson, a merchant here, advised me to take this remedy. After taking one dose I felt greatly relieved and when I had taken the third dose was entirely cured. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for putting this great remedy in the hands of mankind."—For sale by J. J. Stringfellow.
