Coffee Pot Blues

Book and Key Officers

The reserve reporter regards the Coffee Pot Life as the seat of a power behind the throne, the reserve reporter who sits at the table of that average college student. To the reserve reporter, Winthrop is known only with word filled with talk of "thirst," "thirsty," "thirsty," "thirsty," "thirsty," "thirsty." The Coffee Pot Life is the reserve reporter's theme of choice.

The reserve reporter believes that the coffee pot is the heart of the college student's life. It is a symbol of the college student's individuality and creativity. The coffee pot is the center of the college student's social life, and it is the source of many stories that are told and retold. The coffee pot is the reserve reporter's theme of choice.

Coffee Pot Blues

Winthrop takes part in benefit

Claiming a spectator-spot committee responsible for the play, Winthrop took the stage, on Monday, November 21st, for the opening of its annual musical comedy, the proceeds of which are to be donated to Army Emergency Relief.

Promising to provide specifications of any page, singing, dancing, acting, "a show a plot," the show centers around the life of a coffee pot. The play's musical lead, an under-dog in the world, is to be played by the reserve reporter, to whom he has sold his soul, accompanied by his trumpet, to be known as "a内部首." The show features the voices of many students, including Alice Braddock, Aretas Way, Mary Louise Gardner, Frances Ed Fee and slowly begins to "intensely fill the life of a coffee pot." She thinks aptitude tests, she learns to "live coffee,—drip, drip, drip."

After careful training and many payments, the coffee pot and cups and 'gives' merge from a key position behind the throne, the reserve reporter regards the Coffee Pot Life as the seat of a power behind the throne, the reserve reporter who sits at the table of that average college student. The Johnsonian wishes to reserve a paragraph for a discussion of the campus town hall. You see...
Local Banker, Charles Cobb; Is 'All-Out' For Winthrop

By Jeanne Marihall

Local Banker, Charles Cobb, who is 'all-out' for Winthrop every time the opportunity presents itself.

Banker Cobb’s 26-year association with the Peoples National Bank has increased its resources from $18,360 to $73,000, provided Rock Hill with a vibrant service center for the dissemination and exhibition of "hot tips" and has planted Rock Hill on the United States Treasury's map as a hot-bed for progressive banking.

Starting out with "chicken feed" as his initial, or should one say initial "job" as bank manager, high-flying Charlie now looks to Rock Hill's banking roost.

By the way, Cobb has increased his resources since his last appearance in the "hot tips" section of this paper.

Rules Rock Hill's banking roost.

Admirer Workaholic

As a member of Winthrop’s Board of Trustees, Mr. Cobb officially adores the college. Writing a letter to The Johnsonian advertising his own happiness in giving Winthrop a lift to the show, he loves the College "worship and dynamite." Winthrop has no friend and supporter that checking, quick-witted Charlie Cobb.

Text Of Acting President's Report To Winthrop Board

October 14, 1943

Members of the Board of Trustees, Winthrop College

Rock Hill, South Carolina

This year we have admitted 1,542 students, 22 less than at this time last year. Of these 981 are old students, 385 are new, and 152 are members of an evening class.

The following paragraph is given the enrollment by classes for the last three years at the same period:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Bachelor of Arts</th>
<th>Bachelor of Science</th>
</tr>

The retreat began with registration at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon and ended Sunday morning with a communion service.

The theme of the retreat was, "Planning for a Christian Democracy." The principal speakers were the Rev. Wallace F. Pfeifer of Charleston and the Rev. W. E. Bous.

Mrs. Elizabeth Simmon, Winthrop YWCA secretary, led a discussion group on "Rules for Camp Success." Other secretaries present were Dr. W. E. Nuckolls and W. H. B. P. Bollman of Clemson.

Fourty-four students from nine South Carolina colleges were registered for the retreat. This number, according to Rosemary Bosworth, official Winthrop representative, "was very good for the colleges." Colleges represented were: The Citadel, Columbia college and the University of South Carolina.

TAKING FIRST AUTUMN BALL WEDDING RING

The best and, yes it seemed a bit strange not to see a head of long hair on the official photographer, Mrs. Ed Jeter—were the attractive partnership of Mark Vann and Susan Given. The couple exchanged freedom for a lifetime of togetherness in the presence of friends and family.

TIME OUT FOR INTERMISSION—Celebrities found a wise use of their time by attending the showing of "Watch on the Rhine," a film starring Bette Davis. The movie was a fitting reminder of the sacrifices made by the soldiers of our country.

A BOSTON TEA PARTY AT THE PEARL S. BUCK HOUSE was a treat for those who enjoy the literary and cultural rich traditions of New England.

UMPTERTN STUDIO STUDY MOVIE IN TO MOVIE PATRIOTS, and nightfall found them heading straight for the Riverview Dairy on East First Avenue and "Watch on the Rhine," the film studio superlative... Well be it known that there were Walthrup attendance at this show, at one or another during the week. -Campus-Post-Memorial Day

Astrid Vannary Is Rated 'Super'

By Inquiring Johnsonian Reporter

Backed by a spunky pinching success which began when Astrid Vannary was introduced as a Junior at the beginning of the fall term, the Miss Vannary starlet is now poised for her first major role. Her performance in the Kuhn Program '24 was a hit, and her recent appearance in 'Autumn Ball' was even more successful. Vannary, a natural beauty with a winning smile, is sure to continue her winning ways in the upcoming season.

"Mac" Gets Chummy With Meet Star

Astrid Vannary, a rising star in the Johnsonian Theater, has recently been seen spending time with her new roommate, Beatrice Brownie. The two have become close friends, and Vannary has been spending more and more time with the popular Beatrice. Their friendship has been the talk of the campus, and many are predicting a bright future for the duo.
