COLLECTIONS OF A PRIVATE.

By Dr. M. Ford, Co. B, 4th Regt., South Carolina Cavalry.

Most of the trees were the long leaf pine, from the nuts of which the spirit of turpentine is distilled and the resin is used in the making of rosin. This is used about as rosin and is used in the making of turpentine and is used in the making of turpentine and is used in the making of turpentine...

Cotton and Its Power for Good.

The cotton-growers of the south should stand firm for good prices, unimpaired by the bear tactics of the speculators. The world can take every bale of their cotton, even if prices of the staple were higher than at present.

Southern Mills.

When in the year ended August 31, 1907, it is reported that the southern textile industry had consumed for the first time more than 1,000,000 bales of cotton in 12 months there were doubtless the records of advance this shown by southern mills in the cotton year just ended, a record that would have passed the 2,500,000 bale mark if the mills had been able to secure operators in sufficient number to keep all their spindles, indicates that there has been no abatement in the progress of the industry in the south.

Secret of Manly Beauty.

Why are men better looking than women? demands a perplexed writer. The gentlemanly and noble-looking man must possess and possess modern views, for, talking them in the aggregate, men nowadays leave women behind in the race for beauty. Various reasons contribute to this. It is his mental and physical vigor that gives him the advantage.

The Majority of Cleveland.

The race for the majority of Cleveland, Ohio, is attracting national interest. Tom Johnson, who is the present mayor and a candidate for reelection, is a democrat. For several years he has served as mayor and is immensely popular with the working people and the better elements as well.

Helping the Blind to See.

A writer in the New Idea Woman's Magazine for November gives an account of the great progress which has been made recently in the work which is being done for the blind. In the past the blind have been considered merely the objects of pity. Now this attitude has changed. More and more every year the blind are becoming self-supporting. Educators have proved that they may read and write and enjoy all the intellectual pursuits that are thereby opened up.

The Littlefield Bill.

The Littlefield bill of the country is to make a strong effort to secure the passage of the Littlefield bill by congress making it illegal for liquor to be shipped from a wet state into a dry state. It is to be hoped they will succeed, for as the Athens Banner says that is the only way in which state prohibition can be made thoroughly effective.

While the palm tree is the state flower, it is also the state tree. It is found in the southern part of the state and is one of the most beautiful trees ever seen as a large magnolia in full bloom on the old Congo wharf. It is the state flower of the state.

The principal fruits were peaches, grapes, and apples. The peaches were of the early season and were very good. The grapes were of the late season and were also very good.

The President and Oklahoma. President Roosevelt will not veto the Oklahoma constitution just adopted by the people of the new state. This was to be expected, since most of the Republicans of Oklahoma accepted the constitution for one reason only, and that was because they liked it, because they wanted statehood above anything else in the political line.

Deaths. The following died while in service in the South Carolina: James Campbell, of Fort Mifflin, died at home on Oct. 1. J. W. Jeffery died at home on Oct. 1. J. M. Ferguson died at home on Oct. 1. J. H. Brown died at home on Oct. 1.

In most cases consumption results from a neglected or improper treatment of the throat or bronchitis. The most obstinate coughs and pneumonia result from a neglected or improper treatment of the throat or bronchitis.

The Original Run a Work of Art. In the New Idea Woman's Magazine for November a writer on Oriental rugs says that only a few years ago they were considered art curiosities, and that they are now common. Their durability and usefulness have made them popular, and as a result, interest in their beauties and a desire to own them is increasing.

A Card. This is to certify that all druggists carry the King's New Life Pills in their shops and that it is one of the most valuable and reliable medicines ever produced. It is a cure for all diseases of the bowels, and is a sure remedy for all cases of constipation.

A Criminal Attack. On an offensive citizen is frequently met with an angry response. A little boy named 'Apprentice' was recently the victim of such an attack. He was being followed by a group of boys who were making fun of him.

Don't worry about your kidneys when you can get 30 days' treatment of Cassell's Kidney Pills for $1.00. This little booklet will tell you all you need to know about the kidneys and how to keep them healthy.

The administration is on its travels again. The president is departing through half a dozen states, delivering as many speeches. Root is in Mexico, following the Gressars, and Taft is in Japan, presiding over a world of peace, on his way to Russia, via the Philippines. The big show has its three rings in full performance.

Hard Times in Kansas. The old days of grasshoppers and drought are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today. The cotton crop has not yet forgotten a hard time he had when King's New Life Pills were first introduced.

THE LANTERN.

TWO DOLLARS A YEAR, CASH.

Col. Bryan's Illustrated Book of Travel.

The success of Col. Bryan's new book "The Old World and the New" gave striking testimony to his hold on the popular mind. It recounts and profusely illustrates his recent journey around the world. It has been issued five months, and we are advised that in that short period, four large editions, aggregating 41,000 copies, have been called for. The reports of agents which have been submitted to us would indicate that the demand for it is well nigh spontaneous and universal that it exceeds that for any other book published for the subscription trade since the period of "Gran's Memoirs." Col. Bryan's book will illustrate success depends upon a sympathetic element for its strength. But it has on the part of the people the endorsement of the most distinguished in the great moral and intellectual integrity of its author.

It has an equally pronounced admiration for his brilliant abilities and the entire energy that enabled him to cover the world in his hot tour—and to photograph and describe in his intimate way. While the editor of Col. Bryan's is every where regarded, at home and abroad, as a vital force in American affairs. As a student of men and of the history of governmental conditions, his observations and conclusions profoundly interest the people. Hence the great sale of his book. It is a book of things seen during his hot tour around the world and through the nations. It is vitalized by his own descriptions of his own eyes, and under his supervision, representing men, places and things that interested him and that specially interested his readers. It is a most unique and interesting journey that has caught the attention of the people, and that will give them a good insight into the life of the world.

The Thompson Publishing Company, St. Louis, Mo., are the fortunate publishers. They advertise for agents in another column of this issue.

There are not so many returns to entertain as there were a year ago; so entertain them better. You will probably not have an opportunity to entertain some of these past years.

A headline says "An English author takes his American pen." Isn't it true that the most successful American men as American pen? American men—some rather shabby men as at last.

The only remembrance of an argument in favor of the dispensary rather than the license system of selling liquor is that the seller is not financially interested in the amount of the stock sold. Under the state dispensary system, however, the inducement of higher sales were held out to dispensers by regulating their salaries by the amount of business done. The Charleston dispensary was their first experience. One of them is reported by the State's correspondent as saying: "Salaries should be on a percentage basis, and then we will have a greater interest in selling liquor. We would have an incentive to go out and locate for more business. We would be constantly talking up the dispensary and selling more liquor. The increase of the system will be greatly increased and the county and city would not only be benefited, but would actually benefit by the plan of paying the dispensary according to the amount of business that is done."

There is a fatal weak point in the Cotton Association's plan for the movement of cotton and maintain the price demanded, and until a remedy is found for that, little will be accomplished except what is accomplished by agitation, and most of this must be done through the newspapers and can accomplish but a small part of what is aimed at. A comparatively small number of cotton growers get together and set a minimum price, without any authority to bind the farmers to it, and without any provision to enable them to hold it if they are so disposed. A majority of producers are under more or less obligations to those who have accommodated them with advances, and to whom they look for accommodation again. Moreover, they are bound to expect the price fixed, for the reason, as it appears to us, that the minimum is fixed too high, the maximum of expectation being below the minimum. The result is that, cotton is sold below the fixed price. It loses its charm and is soon disregarded altogether.

The only remedy we can see to fix a minimum that is in actual reach, and then have an arrangement to buy all cotton offered below the minimum price. We do not know whether this would be practicable or not, but it seems to us that, if it were, a small quantity would have to be bought, since the price could hardly be below the minimum, provided this new law made it necessary to pay a higher price could be named, below which producers might be advised not to sell, and this selling would be a minimum.

The liquor men of Asheville gave away their case so completely as such a thing could be done. They were originally agreed to close their saloons from Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock until Wednesday, the day after the election on prohibition. They were not willing for any other part of their business to be in evidence on election day or two days preceding. They also claimed with considerable force that the saloons should be closed five days. This showing of placid has become common in some quarters and they are now given instructions to break it up and they will make it warm for the next offender.

Andy Wright, on the charge of being disorderly, was fined $5.00. Andy is a good hard working negro but he will not drink any more. On Sabbath he was feeling good and he took of four bottles of beer and got it open. He was talking with this he went back and got the hard and emptied it out. Andy explained that he was feeling good. He didn't mean to do it. He told the mayor that he was doing. He said he was feeling good and he was feeling good. He said he was feeling good and he was feeling good. He said he was feeling good and he was feeling good.

There being no more delinquents the court adjourned until this morning.

Train Wrecked Near Union.

Union, October 5.—The Southern Railway train wrecked at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon a half mile north of Lockhart Junction. Engineer Fred E. Kelly, who was in the engine, was killed. The train was carrying a heavy load of lumber. The engine was derailed and the train was wrecked. The passengers were all safely rescued.

The train, on which was the corpse of Mr. J. H. Hamilton, on this wreck, contained a number of people from this city, but no passengers were hurt.

While rounding a curve in a deep cut and just as it crossed a county road, the engine struck the end of a heavy iron rail, one of the right hand rails. The engine was placed along the road bed preparatory to substituting for the light rails on this line. Some miscreant had placed a heavy iron rail on top of the railway, so that the engine hit it fairly and squarely, bent the rail almost double.

The engine was derailed and thrown on its side against the embankment. The contents of the baggage and mail cars were thrown from the trucks and lie flat on the ground, cross wise the track and scattered in all directions. The cars escaped with a severe shaking up.

Engineer McCoy was located by the police at the time the wreck occurred and has many friends in the town. This is said to be the third attempt within the last three months to wreck a train on the line. The news of this wreck caused great excitement here, and much sympathy is felt for the injured men.

Missionary Undertaken by The Women's Foreign Missionary Union of Bethel Presbytery, which met at Yorkville last week, elected the following officers for the coming year.

President, Miss Margaret Anderson, of Rock Hill; first vice president, Mrs. A. W. Klutz, of Chester; second vice president, Miss Della Rhyne, of Blackburg; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. C. Spang, of Rock Hill; assistant corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. H. Jones, of Rock Hill; recording secretary and treasurer, Mrs. S. M. McCall, of Rock Hill; and clerk, Mrs. C. E. Brown, of Chester; visitor, Miss Leslie D. Wilhelmsen, of Yorkville; assistant visitor, Miss M. C. Jones, of Yorkville; and Miss Sallie Gibson, of Rock Hill.

Robert Lenoir, of Yorkville, was arrested for the same reason as against this fellow, one for being drunk, and the other for being disorderly. Moreover, he was expected the price fixed, for the reason, as it appears to us, that the minimum is fixed too high, the maximum of expectation being below the minimum. The result is that, cotton is sold below the fixed price. It loses its charm and is soon disregarded altogether.

Liquor Fight in Asheville. Asheville, N. C., Oct. 6.—A smaller parade probably probably the largest ever held in Asheville, marched today. It was estimated that there were about 7,000 men, women and children in line with bands and banners. The parade was held through the long line passed through the various streets, between immense throngs which lined the sidewalks. The parade was held through the long line passed through the various streets, between immense throngs which lined the sidewalks.

When the request was made to Judge Pritchard that he come to the courtroom to address the vast throng awaiting him, he declined to do so. Instead, he was witnessed of counsel for both sides urging the judge to attend the hearing. He made a short address to the throng, and then returned to the courtroom. Entire of Cotton Association.
 The Chester County Cotton Association held its monthly meeting in the court house on Saturday. Several important resolutions were made and much interest manifested in the meeting. It was shown from the meeting that the farmers were determined to stand by their cents as the price for their cotton.

Plant to Cost $200,000.
 It is understood that the plant which Swift & Company is to build here will cost between $150,000 and $200,000. It is the understood that about seventy-five hands will be employed. It has been stated that this is only the beginning, that as the work goes on the plant will be enlarged and the number of employees increased. The location of these three railroads is ideal and there is no reason why a large and profitable trade should not be worked up in this territory. Chester's location as a distributive center for the plant will be enlarged and one main reason why this plant was located here is the splendid rail road facilities that Chester has. The work is to commence at an early date as the intention is to have the plant completed by the first of next year and sell the fertilizer for another crop.

Mr. Clawson a Visitor.
 Mr. T. W. Clawson, editor of the Wilmington Star, was in the city last week on his way to Richwood to visit his father. Mr. Clawson is well known here, having once edited the Bulletin. By his efficiency and the way he has worked the Outlook in this city, Mr. Clawson enjoys what a fine city Chester is and "the opportunity for growth here was great. I know no place where the outlook is so good," he said. "The Chamber of Commerce is advertising Chester well and if the citizens will do their part their city's future is assured." Mr. Clawson is a great friend to Chester and always a good word to say for the place. He is accompanied by Dr. Clawson, passed back through Saturday on his way to Charlotte. The people here are always glad to see this genial editor and he was through all the city while here shaking hands with his many friends.
