THE LANTERN.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION: THREE DOLLARS A YEAR, CASH.

FRIDAY, OCT. 11, 1907.

"Johnson and Johnson" will be the cry of the Democrats in the next campaign - provided they are nominated.

From reports received by the Lantern's "wires" station the race for Judge of Probate will be as hard fought as the prohibition campaign in Asheville.

Gov. Johnson, of Minnesota, for president, and Tom Johnson, the mayor of Cleveland, Ohio, for vice-president, would be a combination with more likelihood of success than anything the democrats have presented since Cleveland was elected in 1892.

The Lancaster News makes special mention of a sermon preached in the R. P. church there last Sabbath by the Rev. Oliver Johnson, giving the impression that it was an unusually strong sermon. But that is not surprising. The Rev. Mr. Johnson is in the ways and sea, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall not rest until your souls, as they say, will not lack therein."

We are not good at remembering texts or sermons, but we remember hearing a sermon preached there on the same text perhaps thirty years ago when of course we were of tender age. It made a deep impression upon us, and to this day it seems to us to have been one of the most powerful sermons we have ever heard. It was preached by Rev. J. P. Martin at a meeting of Presbytery held in the church, of which the Rev. Mr. Johnson is now pastor. We are not suggesting that the impression lingered in the surrounding and inspired Mr. Johnson.

We have just received a pamphlet entitled, "From the Director of the Standard Oil Company to its Employees and Stockholders." We make haste to say that we are not a stockholder in the Standard or even an employee; we are only a victim. Complaint is made of the fine of $25,000.00 for Judge Landis, "that is an exponent of the Standard Oil Company's character and the rollicking gaudy of utter irresponsibility. Her appearances were greeted with warm applause and the cheering of the crowd."

Dr. Byrd has gathered together a company of artists and Chicago collectors of contemporary standards well at the front. Miss Graham showed herself capable of handling the most difficult selections with a technique unusual and a crisp, pure tone quality that is unique.

Miss Young, the director of the School of Dramatic Art, was an accomplished artist; she is a charming and capable teacher, and her reading possesses every quality of a finished and successful platform reader. She is equally at home in depicting the details of serious phases of human character and the rollicking gaudy of utter irresponsibility. Her appearances were greeted with warm applause and the cheering of the crowd."

High Priced Cotton at Greenwood. Mr. J. H. Ellis sold to Mr. J. W. Callison on last Monday two bales of good staple cotton, weighing 500 and 500 lbs. each at 21 cents amounting to $243.80. To this may be added the seed which will run the total up to $248.80. It is worth noting that this record that Greenwood is not leading in the price paid for cotton? Where is the town that can best this? -Greenwood Journal.

President Kills a Beck. Stamford, Ia., Oct. 10.-A courier who brought from the president's camp on the Texas river last Saturday reported that the president had killed a five buck but otherwise the hunt was barren of results.

Mr. Cunningham Married. Mr. T. J. Cunningham was married yesterday at White Oak to Miss Emma Mobley, daughter of the late Andrew Mobley, Rev. H. B. Jordan officiating.

Wedding Day. Wednesday, Rev. J. S. Mills, now of Duane West, Mrs. Jane Mills, daughter of the late Mr. J. W. and Mrs. J. W. Cunningham, of Wellington, N. C., and Rev. J. M. Daniel, now of Hopewell church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. S. Mills, of Duane West, father of the bride, assisted by Rev. J. W. White, of Blackstock, and Rev. J. M. Daniel, of Huntersville, N. C. Mr. and Mrs. Mobley left for their honeymoon on the morning of the 10th. They will be at home at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. E. S. Mobley, near Alliance.

For President of the United States, John Johnson, of Minn.; for Vice-President, Tom Johnson, of Ohio.

The announcement is made quite recently by the papers of the state that the farmers are holding their cotton for 15 cents.

Choirs in Music and Dramatic Art. Special to The Lantern. Greenville, Oct. 8.-The management of Cluniora college, last evening presented to an appreciative audience the faculty of the School of Music and Dramatic Art. It is safe to say that probably no school in the state can offer a finer array of artists in their respective lines, playing and singing. As the director of music, Cluniora was certainly most fortunate to secure Dr. H. H. Bellmann, a well-rounded musician, a pianist of ability, and an organist of note, as well as being a composer of high rank. Two of his own compositions appeared on the program and were enthusiastically received. His directorship of the choir, proving himself a most magnetic performer, his ability to be distinctly lyrical in style. His master work is particularly beautiful, and his phrasing refined. Though reserved in his handling of the piano, his work leaves the audience in no doubt he has his own ideas and plays them with the composition with great emotional effect.

Madame Bellmann is at the head of the voice department and her singing was popularly for her with her husband. She is a fine alto, and her voice is of the best cantato school, and there is no doubt that this method produces the greatest singers. Those who study Madame Bellmann's singing will find it well worth the time spent in listening to her pupils. She is not only a most capable teacher, but she is also a fine singer. It is a notable fact that her department has trebled itself since she has been in charge of it. Her voice is her medium for the expression of a wonderful depth of emotion. This department also is making rapid strides.

Miss Graham showed herself capable of handling the most difficult selections with a technique unusual and a crisp, pure tone quality that is unique.

Miss Young, the director of the School of Dramatic Art, was an accomplished artist; she is a charming and capable teacher, and her reading possesses every quality of a finished and successful platform reader. She is equally at home in depicting the details of serious phases of human character and the rollicking gaudy of utter irresponsibility. Her appearances were greeted with warm applause and the cheering of the crowd."

There is a scheme on foot by the National Bankers Association to have the colors of the various denominational bills changed, each denomination to be of different color. We are not interested in any but the $100 notes, which they propose to change to white. We strenuously object to this for the reason that they are our principal medium of exchange, and they would be too easily sold, you see. -Levellie News.

A sensation was sprung in the General Episcopal Convention in Elizabeth, N. J., when the Rev. J. M. Daniel, now of Hopewell church, of the United States management of the Phillipsian Institute. Both houses had come together to hear the address of the Rev. J. M. Daniel, now of Hopewell church, of the United States management of the Phillipsian Institute.

A Great Victory. The greatest prohibition victory of the times was won at Asheville, N. C., on last Tuesday when that city by a vote of 1371 to 426 defeated against the saloon. The election followed the closing of one of the hardest fought campaigns ever seen in the south. Men, women, and children took part and for three weeks or more the battle was waged in all its fury. Early and late the prohibitionists worked and the result is one of the most sweeping victories ever recorded against the saloon. The success of the movement was due to the women who all day while the polls were open surrounded the voting places, praying and urging for prohibition, and beseeching the voters to cast their ballot for the cause of right. By ten o'clock in the morning the polls were closed and the mandate for the prohibitionists and many of the whiskey men gave up the fight. The prohibitionists were led by W. H. Whitson, a prominent business man, and the saloon men were led by ex-representative J. F. Glenn.

After the closing of the polls and the closing of the saloons, a public meeting was held. The prohibitionists went wild, every available seat and every available inch of space being taken in the big auditorium, and many had to be turned away. It is said that nothing like the rally of this has ever been seen before.

This is only another way in the tide of prohibition that is now sweeping over the south. If Asheville, situated as it is in the heart of the mountains, and a great resort where "boozers" naturally hold sway, was for prohibition, it is safe to say that that the rest of the country will soon follow suit. Watch the wave sweep over the entire south and the next next year.

Governor Glenn wired his congratulations to the prohibitionists. The county will go dry on the first of the new year and the rest of the county will go to seek another time. North Carolina is fast falling into line with Georgia and the other progressive southern states. South Carolina will soon follow the lead and the coming session of the legislature is awaited with interest to see what stand it will take.

The only true consolation comes from the fact that the prohibitionists have won the day. The only true consolation comes from the fact that the prohibitionists have won the day.

Supervisor Must Publish Report. In case of J. P. Burley, supervisor of Fairfield county, which was a petition to his floor to issue an order requiring the defendant to publish the report of his audit by him, an order was issued that these reports be published. This order declares null and void the act of 1906, forbidding the publication of such reports, on the ground that the same was made as an amendment to Section 606, which relates to a wholly different matter, that is the publication of the report of county treasurers, and that there was nothing in the title to show that the provision in regard to Fairfield county was incorporated in the act.

His Honor held that in violation of Article III, Section 17 of the Constitution: "Every act or resolution having the force of law shall relate to one subject and that shall be expressed in the title." -News and Herald.

ANNOUNCEMENTS. FOR JUDGE OF PROBATE. Should the governor decide to order an election for judge of Probate, the friends of Mr. J. Hemphill McDaniel would be glad to see the names of the qualified and qualified citizens to fill the office. Since Mr. J. A. Blake, who was recently elected Judge of Probate in Chester county, to fill the unexpired term of Col. Culp, expects to leave the state very soon, and therefore does not intend to qualify as Judge of Probate, a number of persons, both from the city and county, have asked R. L. Douglas, Esq., to allow them to present his name as a candidate for this office, and we take this opportunity to say that we are in favor of his being a candidate for the office, and if elected promise to give to the duties of the office with prompt and careful attention. There has been no good rallies here in the past but the one next week is expected to eclipse any ever held in this section. Every man, woman and child that possibly can, should be present.

An Interesting Incident.
The Rev. J. H. Simpson, when in Charlotte a few days ago, had a little time to spare, and being in front of the mint, felt inclined to go in. After some conversation with the cashier, he said, "You look and talk just like a man I knew in Oklahoma," giving him the name. The other replied, "This is my brother, and he is a member of the mint. He is only last week, and will go to tell about seeing Mr. Simpson's daughter and other friends and interest in the great beyond. He served in the 15th regt. B. C. I. until the battle of Gettysburg, where he was captured and imprisoned at Fort Dismal in 1865.

He was a native of Virginia and left there in his boyhood and came to Charlotte, N. C., where his father, Thomas Perry, built the United States mint, which completed, the Ligon moved to Winnsboro, B. C., where they made down, land, lands, etc. and built many of the fine residences scattered about in Fairfield county.

After the war he returned to Chester county.

It was for many years a faithful member of Cedar Shoals Presbyterian church, where his remains are at rest. L. M. Ford.

Chester Convict Pardoned.
Gov. Ansel has granted two pardons, on recommendation of the pardon board. The following is the record in one of the cases.

Ex parte William Lewis: This party was indicted, tried and convicted forage in the county of Chester in March, 1894, and was sentenced to the penitentiary for life.

This application for pardon comes accompanied, with the recommendation of the pardoning judge and many citizens of that city. The prisoner has served 13 years in the penitentiary and upon written statement of the pardoning judge, and in all respects his life exemplary.

The certificate of the resident physician shows that he is now suffering from organic brain disease and is unable to work.

He was but a youth at the time of the crime and to admit it was made to appear that there were certain extenuating circumstances in consideration of the character of this prisoner and all attendant circumstances, the board would respectfully recommend that your excellency extend to him a pardon so as to allow him a new career for future usefulness.

Fine Weather.
On Tuesday afternoon the weather showed steadily cooler. Begin to drop in the morning and the wind blew steadily, but on awakening Tuesday morning there was very little change from what had been the weather the previous day.

However, Tuesday evening the change commenced and seemed to be ushering in winter upon the scene. The temperature dropped and the wind blew steadily, but on awakening Wednesday morning the sun was in full force. The wraps and overcoats were pulled out and fresh made the atmosphere in a room.

The weather is now a very cool. Groups are being gathered rapidly during the continuance of this beautiful weather and the hope of the farmers is that the crop will be a good one.

Gen. Boyd Comdg.
Adjutant General J. C. Boyd has notified Capt. J. S. McKee that he will be here on the 23rd inst. to look over the regimental rifle range.

Invitations have been extended to Col. W. W. Lewis and Lieut. Col. J. R. Lindsay, of Yorkville, and Capt. T. B. Spratt, of Fort Mill, all of the 3rd regiment, to meet General Boyd here and go over the proposed site with him.

It is hoped that the regimental rifle range of this regiment will be located at Chester. This is about the center of the regiment and is a very good place for the other companies to come here to practice. General Boyd and the other visitors will be detained by a committee and taken to the proposed site for the range. Details of the entertainment of these distinguished visitors will be made later.

Chester R. & L. Association.
The annual meeting of the Chester Building and Loan Association was held at the court house Tuesday evening. Dr. J. B. Higham acted as chairman, and Mr. E. H. Hinton acted as secretary. Messrs. Jos. Lindsay and R. W. Boney acted as tellers to see whether stock was represented.

The report of the president and secretary showed that the finances of the organization are in good shape. During the four years and ninety at the Chester Building and Loan Association has been in existence not one dollar has been lost by the organization.

The report of the committee to examine the books of the organization showed the same to be accurately and neatly kept.

The stock of the Chester Building and Loan Association was worth as follows at the close of business Sept. 30th, 1907: Series No. 1, $55,707; series No. 2, $40,300; series No. 3, $25,800; series No. 4, $12,400; series No. 5, which was opened Oct. 1st, was over subscribed, and it became necessary to open series No. 5, 5.

The rate of interest earned during the year was 7 26/100 per cent.

The entire board of officers was re-elected as follows: Henry Samuels, president; E. H. Hardin, secretary and treasurer; A. L. Gaston, attorney; G. R. Dawson, R. M. Caldwell, A. L. Gaston, W. B. Kinnell, Z. V. Davidson, J. C. Robinson, E. H. Hardin, Jos. Lindsay and Henry Samuels directors.

The Chester Building and Loan Association has played a conspicuous part in the upbuilding of this community, and the splendid showing for the year just closed shows that the organization is in position to do even greater things.
