 FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 29.

FAIR WEATHER FOR FAIR WEEK
 Unless Jupiter and Venus, who play a very large part in the forecast of the country who are in this week will be fair weather for fair week. At least this is the "dope" handed out by the weather sharks. The weather shark at Chester says there will be a recurrence of hot spells during next month and while precipitation may be looked for before the first of the week following, which is: Fair week here will show a high temperature but that there will be no precipitation. Market elemental disturbances are looked for after October 24. It is hoped that the weather sharks will be able to make Jupiter and Venus perform in the usual manner this year, for fair weather is all that is needed now to make the County Fair a great success. The interest in all parts of the county as well as in the surrounding counties has been growing daily and with the help of the weather works there is no doubt but that a record breaking crowd will be present every day of the Fair. One of the features of the County Fair will be the exhibits of the Merchants and Manufacturers of the County. These exhibits will be a special committee from the Bureau of Mercantile Affairs of the Chamber of Commerce consisting of Messrs. W. D., Robinson, Robert Frazier and Lex Klutz. These exhibits will occupy spaces in the large exhibition tent to be erected several days before the opening of the Fair, and which is the largest tent ever erected in this vicinity for exhibition purposes. While only a partial canvass of the merchants and manufacturers of the city has been made over thirty of the merchants and manufacturers have already signified their desire to prepare a booth in the exhibition tent. This is a new feature for the fairs of this section and the merchant or manufacturer who prepares the best booth will receive a larger or smaller reward valued a fifty dollars. Designations of space in the exhibition tent will be made next week but preparations are already being made for the exhibits by merchants and manufacturers. Among the manufacturing exhibits will be that of the Manetta Mills, Landis, & C.

WAS CLEOPATRA UGLY.
 Of buck-raking the illustrations there is no end. Now the number of the country who are in this convention at Baltimore are seeking to impugn the beauty of Cleopatra, and they point to her portrait on her coinage. The portrait of the Queen was painted by Caesar and Antony had big ears, small eyes and a scrawny neck. Would the fair autocrat of Egypt have allowed her own coinage to make her beauty? Clearly the numismatists are not 100 per cent, chivalric. But as against this evidence, there is a silver coin struck at Antioch which shows the bust of Cleopatra on the obverse and that of Mark Antony on the reverse, which gives the Queen a neck by no means scrawny, full size eyes and a chin suggestive of that of our own Goddess of Liberty, though lacking the graceful curve. The ears are as ordinary as those of a modern New York girl and only the nose invites criticism. It is quite long enough to disprove Pascal's saying that if it had been shorter it would have changed the whole face of the world. The Antioch coin calls the Queen a "later goddess." Was the coiner a courtier, and did the official coinage more truly depict her than Cleopatra's coinage? "With all the warts on it," it is more satisfactory to put the blame on rule workmanship. If Cleopatra's nose did not "buggy all the description," they must have had some pointer who made the slaves they did. Who will be left to us in the gallery of the great beauties of the world? If Cleopatra's nose is not the most beautiful of the famous dead are detractors to have their way.—New York World.

DRUGGISTS ON TRIAL.
 AS WOMAN'S SLAYER
 Petersburg, Va., Sept. 27.—J. T. Noel, a druggist, was placed on trial here today on an indictment charging him with the murder of Mrs. Lottie Robinson at her home here last May. Noel for the defense announced that Noel will testify in his own behalf. Noel's wife, who recently was released from the Eastern State Hospital, is said to be at the home of her parents in Maryland, with her two children: Mrs. Robinson's daughter, Bertha Beale, eight years old, was in court and testified. Mrs. Robinson's husband was not present.

 We notice something about the "Blaster" holding the party but we cannot find any mention of what the head-knocker has to say. Who was that fellow that "boiled" several years ago?
 Flour has gone up. Meat has gone up. Clothes have gone up. Well, where there's a will there's a way, thank goodness grace is plentiful.

LOOKS GOOD TO US
 From our exchanges we note that a number of towns throughout the State report their schools crowded to capacity. In fact, some have given notice that no additional pupils can be taken care of.
 We regret that any child is denied admission to a school. But the fact that the schools throughout the State are crowded to their capacity will no doubt awaken the people of South Carolina and when once aroused to the need of additional educational facilities something will be done.
 McLendon.
 In Greenville there is a tourist preacher named McLendon, who goes about with a tent.
 I heard him the other night. He is much like Billy Sunday, though he lacks Sunday's incisive manner of speech and his voice is husky while Sunday's is biting and clear.
 McLendon's method of preaching the gospel is the ideal method. He has no matter except that One, and he is free to preach the truth without fear of losing his job or being waived on by a delegation of its descendants.
 He is somewhat theatrical and very conversative folk would like his preaching better if he wouldn't pace up and down the platform, climb chairs, and things of that sort.
 And I suppose the sinners would like him better if he didn't talk quite so rough about them.
 But he draws the crowds. There were perhaps three thousand there the night I heard him. Some of them attended, as I attended, out of curiosity; but those that came to scoff remained to pray.
 It is easy to listen to McLendon. He has a message. He talks rapidly and well, and seldom hesitates for a word.
 It will pay you to ride to Greenville some afternoon or night to hear him. If he travels on light feet, and he is no more than you will like him the better for it.—Fountain Inn, Tri. Sun.

DREAMLAND TODAY.
 One of the most unusual of the many interesting incidents in the history of the film industry was the Victory of Conscience" which will be seen at the Dreamland today with Lou-Tellegen, the famous romantic actress, in the leading role. The film, "The Victory of Conscience" was a French comedy, defended by a handful of soldiers recruited from the gutters of Paris and commanded by a French general.
 This scene is an exact re-creation of one of the incidents of the first days of the great war and was told to the world in the "The Victory of Conscience" which was the first of the few survivors of the conflict.
 In presenting this incident for the screen, the Lasky Company felt that it could contribute its share to preserving history, as well as establish a pictorial monument to the valiant scene of the underworld by presenting it in its absolute detail. In order to do this, the services of Francis Le Jacquemont, a French expert conversing in the United States, were secured, and it was under his supervision that the battle scenes were filmed. The convent and fortifications were erected on the Lasky ranch, and field artillery was secured. The violence of the attack is shown in the most minute detail, first the explosion of the heavy shells—then the searching rain of shrapnel and the spray of machine gun bullets, followed by the fire and charge.
 The brave defenders of the convent, although only shown for a few bits for the motion picture camera and the multitudes that see Lasky pictures on the Paramount Program, entered into the spirit of the affair and stood their ground until the last assault.
 The timing of the firing was so arranged that during the taking of the scene, no one was severely injured. The exploding shell which wrecked the convent gate was aimed and fired by Messrs. Jacquemont himself, and Edw. Bradley as the Master, fell across the dead body of her priest—soldier—lover, another shell was exploded, which with the setting sun in the background, created a wonderful photographic effect.

 Chicago, Sept. 27.—Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi today conferred with Thomas J. Walsh manager of the Western Democratic National headquarters, on the program of the campaign preparatory to beginning a speaking tour in behalf of Wilson and Marshall in the Middle Western States.
 Senator Williams issued a statement declaring the alleged attempt of certain Republican leaders to inject sectionalism into the National campaign and denying that the South controls the present Congress.

DO NOT THINK PLEASE WILL BOLT THE PARTY.
 News. N. Y. S. C. Sept. 27.—Well informed politicians in South Carolina do not believe that Cole L. Please will bolt the Democratic party. There has been talk of a bolt in the air since the second primary. Mr. Please has never conceded his defeat or filed a protest. A Please convention has been called to meet in Columbia October 18. There were some who were inclined to believe that the convention will result in a new party in South Carolina. The call for the convention has been issued by W. W. James, Please leader in Lee County. The outcome of the convention is being watched with interest.

TARIFF TOPIC OF HUGHES IN STEEL DISTRICT TALKS
Thousands of Workmen Hear Republican Nominée Urges Protective Principles—Admonish Bill and Maxie Policy Attached Again.
Pittsburg, Sept. 27.—Charles E. Hughes went through the big steel-making district of Pittsburg today, addressing thousands of workmen and principals of the United States Steel Plant, he declared present conditions of prosperity would not endure in the days when Europe would be at peace unless the United States should adopt a protective tariff. To an audience of jammed the music hall he repeated this statement tonight. In his night address he also dwelt at length upon his views on the Adams bill, the Administration policy toward Mexico, the shipping bill and what he termed extravagant claims made by the Administration for having aided business.
Hughes spoke from a platform upon which were seated Republicans and Progressive leaders who have opposed each other in the State during the past four years. On his way here from Cleveland he was met and escorted to this city by Senators Oliver and Penrose and Progressive leader, the latter a former Democratic member of the U. S. Congress. With Alexander P. Moore and other Progressive and Republican leaders, said with him on the platform tonight. In his speech Mr. Hughes emphasized his belief that the Republican party was re-united.
The breach of recent years has been healed," he said, "and our national aims at this time are conceived to be of such transcendent importance that we know of no differences and are not seeking any unity of effort. We are truly progressive, manly progressive, looking forward to the solution of important problems that this new century will place before us."
In his night speech Mr. Hughes again outlined the Administration for the Adams law, the shipping law and the Underwood tariff. He left at midnight for Trenton, N. J., where he will speak tomorrow morning and Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where he will deliver an address to morning night. His voice still showed signs of the strain under which he has been laboring but was measurably improved.

FIVE MILLION SPENT IN YEAR FOR FARMERS.
Former Secretary of Agriculture Wilson Points Out Good Accomplished by Demonstration Work.
According to James Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture in the Cabinet and Taft, the most important farming development in America at the present time is the agricultural extension work now being carried on among the farmers by the agricultural colleges of the country.
Mr. Wilson is now president of the National Agricultural Society, recently formed by a number of prominent men interested in farming, and he has just completed a survey of the new movement, which he refers to as "teaching the colleges to the farmer."
Says Mr. Wilson, "The World has never seen the like of this present educational movement. Every properly equipped educational agency in the country has been set in motion at actual first-hand work among the farmers. In every one of the 48 states the campaign is being pushed vigorously, and I believe that at the present time at least half of the active farming element of the country is either in direct or indirect contact with the movement."
"This year there was spent in farm demonstration alone approximately $5,000,000 dollars, and every one of the States shared in its benefits."
"A wide range of activity was covered; domestic science was taught to the wives of the farmers in their own kitchens, scientific farm management was demonstrated on thousands of farms, boys and girls were encouraged to form pig, poultry and other clubs, agricultural engineering was taught at many places, better dairying was demonstrated; in a word, direct and practical instruction in scientific agriculture was given to the American farmer in every direction."
"When one considers that in addition to this kind of $5,000,000, the Department of Agriculture at Washington spent more than five times that sum during the past year, it will be seen that the United States has gone about the education of the farmer in a most surprising way. In my opinion the world has never seen anything to compare with this movement."

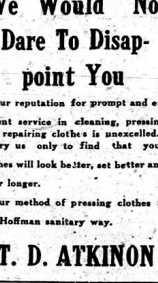

NATIONAL INSURANCE COMMISSIONERS MEET
Richmond, Va., Sept. 27.—Discussion of technical papers occupied the greater part of the two sessions of the forty-seventh annual convention of the National Insurance Commission here today. An automobile trip to points of historical interest took place this afternoon. There is strong rivalry between several cities for the next meeting. It is probable that a Western city will be selected. A report recommending that the insurance laws of each State be amended to that reports of fire and marine companies be filed not earlier than February 15, and other companies not earlier than March 1, was adopted.

INFANT BURNED TO DEATH
Anderson, Sept. 27.—The seven-month old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Clint Darby of Belton was fatally burned by the explosion of gasoline at their home in Belton Monday afternoon, and died Tuesday morning.
Mrs. Darby was ironing and used gasoline to heat the iron. The gasoline was kept in a tank, and it is not exactly known how the explosion came about, but the blazing fluid covered the baby, and it was fatally burned before the flames were extinguished. Mrs. Darby was also badly burned while trying to save her baby.

COLUMBIA MAN GAINS 24 POUNDS ON TANLAC
Atlantic Coast Line Yard Foreman Given Remarkable Results
HEALTH WAS RESTORED
Had Been in Very Bad Health Over Ten Years And Almost Past Going for Four Months.
"Though he had been almost constantly under treatment for four months, and intermittently during the previous two years, and though he had wasted away until he was hardly more than skin and bones, and could hardly walk because of his weakness, G. G. Anderson, of 300 Whaley St., yard foreman at Columbia for the Atlantic Coast Line railway, gained 24 pounds on seven bottles of Tanlac and was restored to good health, according to the statement he recently gave to the editor of "The master medicine." His statement follows:
"I suffered from a greatly run down and weakened condition. I had been in very bad health for several years, and just before I began to take Tanlac I had been continuously under medical treatment for four months. I was told I had nervous indigestion.
"For almost two years I had been so weak I could hardly work. I was just skin and bones, and I was in such bad health, and I scarcely ever ate more than a few bites at a meal. I was in bad shape. One time, shortly before I began taking Tanlac, I was under treatment continuously for 21 weeks and steadily got worse. I just could not eat, and what little I did eat I could not digest. I was so weak I could hardly get up, and I would feel puffed up and gave me a severe pain in my chest. My nerves were very bad, too. Really, I was just about past going at all.
"I had read about Tanlac, and finally I lost heart in the treatment I was under and began taking Tanlac.
"The relief Tanlac gave me was as follows: I took seven bottles and gained 24 pounds. I picked up right away and gained a lot of strength. When the seventh bottle was gone I was really a new man in health and strength. I did not begin to feel much better until I had taken the second bottle of Tanlac, but then I went up right along in strength and weight. Soon I was eating three big meals a day, so great an improvement did Tanlac make in the condition of my stomach.
"I quit taking Tanlac in May and I feel fine now, and I have been a different man ever since Tanlac built me up."
"I am glad to recommend Tanlac and to give you this endorsement for it may help others to find a way to regain their health. I sure can recommend Tanlac highly, for I do not know of a better stomach remedy, and I have spent dollars for many kinds of stomach remedies that did me no good."
"Tanlac, the master medicine is sold exclusively by Lanning's Drug store, Chester; Lockhart Mills store, Lockhart; Kennedy Mercantile Co., Blackstock; D. Ferguson, Fort Lawn. Price $1 per bottle straight.
