Barium Springs Orphanage.

Rev. R. W. Boyd, of Barium Springs, N. C., spent Tuesday night here on his way to Cornwall, where he will spend several days in the neighborhood of his childhood home. He has not been well and has been given a six weeks' vacation but feels that he needs to be at the orphanage during Thanksgiving when various donations are being sent in. Mr. Boyd is superintendent of the Barium Springs orphanage and has 150 children in his care. He says they are in need of another dormitory for boys and hopes that some generous person will make a donation which can be used for that purpose. About fifty children have had to be turned away for lack of room.

Barri Burned.

Mr. J. J. Stringfellow's barn on the Goodrich place, three miles from town, together with 21 bales of cotton, a quantity of cotton seed, corn and hay, in fact the crop of a four horse farm for one year, was totally destroyed by fire Wednesday evening. Ten bales of the cotton was of the one staple variety for which, he expected to receive a high price. Mr. Stringfellow thinks the fire was purely accidental as it was noticed by the hands at the place soon after the mice had been fed and they were all that could be saved. There was no insurance on anything except the building and it was insured for about half its value by the Farmers Mutual. Mr. Stringfellow did not have the cotton insured because he expected to soon have it hauled to town. He estimates his loss at $1,900. He says it is no use to worry, and is taking his loss calmly.

WHO IS IT that wants a good milk cow? J. H. Barber, Chester R. 1, has her.

Express Employees All Mind Tickers.

Constable Deane and Wiggins, unseparated a despatch on Monday night between some blind tigers of our city and elsewhere and the employees of the Southern Express Co. is undoubtedly a plain case. Not only was the whiskey being hauled without any way-bills or receipts, but the employees had the negro hid in the car and the blind tigers of the car. When the train stopped Constable Wiggins noticed a negro getting off the back of the car and at once he suspected something.—Greenwood Journal.

Old Slaves Were Fallacators.

Mrs. Margaret J. Tillman, widow of Hon. George D. Tillman, died on October 22nd. Former slaves, who had never left her plantation, where the pallbearers. This reminds me of the fact that the same thing occurred at my dear father's funeral, his pallbearers being his former slaves, and several of them still reside on his plantation.

Mrs. Tillman was a strong woman, and used to ride horseback over her farm every day. She carried it on and farmed successfully while her husband was occupied with the problems of a great politician.—Fairfax Enterprise.

In the Play "Maid"

"The Player Maid" was presented Saturday afternoon and night was one of the most delightful operas that has been seen in Knoxville in several seasons. The play is a grand story of the Revolutionary war. The scene is set in the country of the members of royalty. As "Blonde Helen" Mrs. Davis was all that the stage acting could demand. Freely, elegant and with capability of assuming a temperamental. Mrs. Davis is a beautiful girl. Her principal support was "Marion Bonheur," the Earl of Bonheur, and by means of a couple of the several acts of appearing to a degree even with as talented an actress as Mrs. Davis, the other members were excellent. From the cast of the play, the other members were excellent. From the cast of the play, the other members were excellent.

Coats and Jackets.

Doesn't it do your soul good to hear your goods praised from every quarter. Well, ladies, that's exactly the way it is with our Jackets and Coats. We are told our display of Ladies' Coats and Jackets is the largest and loveliest in town, and that our prices can't be touched. A great many asked why we purchased so many, and we think we will ever sell them all. We bought big quantities to enable us to undersell other merchants, which we are clearly doing. And, in answering the other question, if our friends are alert to magnificent Coats and Jackets offered at a great saving, we will sell them all.

Only the other day we received 235 Long Coats for Ladies, which can't be sold in the regular way for less than $5.00, Kluttz' saving price $3.95. This handsome coat is made of every thread wool London Kersey. Comes in Black, Blue, Gray, Tan and Purple. It's made in the Pink of Style. We bought the cloth and had them made to suit our taste. Those that failed to measure up to the Kluttz' standard of requirement were shipped back. The coat cannot be bought anywhere for less than $5.00. See side window display. Remember the Kluttz give away price is $3.95.

Men's Suits.

Have you seen that all wool $5.50 Suit Kluttz is selling at $2.95? We have sold stacks of them. Received 500 last week and have about 250 left.—We were offered the 500 direct from the factory where the suits were recently made, at a big reduction.—We plucked down the cash and took them. And instead of getting the regular $5.50 price, like other merchants would do, we are rendering the suits to you at a great away price of $2.95.
