THE LANTERN.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION: TWO DOLLARS A YEAR, CASH.

FRIDAY, NOV. 22, 1907.

Don't go bird hunting if you don't want to get shot. If you go alone you may shoot yourself.

The money stringency must be responsible for the failure of any more entries in the semi-annual race.

The way that Taff is being guarded while the Cary's domains make him feel as though he is a member of the Russian royal family.

The news that Ex-Governor Heyward dined with the president is calculated to make the people of the South talk again about the stringency.

They do say that the Jamestown exposition is going out in a blaze of glory in spite of the fact that it is about "busted". Nothing like making a big show out of it.

Expert judgment as to work in the state, but our friends are known to contradict any report that a great shaft of money has been taken from the safe in the lantern office.

When it comes to keeping in the highest Parker can't be beat. His endorsement the other day by a set of Ohio republicans will give his presidential "boom" a good deal of impetus.

The movement of the Tennessee legislature advocating the nomination of a southerner on the democratic ticket for president is significant. The south is getting tired supporting candidates named by democrats in the north who do not carry their own states.

Our advertising patronage is dwindling down, and we will have to go back to the ready print business. We are willing to give our best prices, but we cannot print all the paper and lose money there.

Take out her inside and run four pages, all home print, until you need more room.

Courts martial and drunkenness in the army have steadily decreased year after year since the abolition of the court-martial at army posts. The last year of the century registered 500 such cases before the courts.

The absence of the navy has been charged with causing desertions and with all kinds of sins except causing drunkenness. For ridiculous absurdity comment us to the advocates of the liquor traffic.

Recently there has been a good deal in the papers about Grover Cleveland. The venerable ex-president presents a striking contrast to the present occupant of the white house. In some respects, however, we believe that Grover would prefer to run and it is better that he remain as he is, one of the most respected and esteemed men in the whole country.

President Finley of the Southern railroad, and Governor Glenn of North Carolina, have been having another conference. When it comes to getting up railroad conferences, Glenn has them all "skunked".

Heyward's statement about the people of South Carolina in their attitude towards the republican ticket is public feeling exactly. This state has been fortunate in not going into hysterics over the situation but has taken things very calmly. In the meanwhile has been faring better than most of her neighbors.

Miss Estie Mutchwick, a beautiful young German woman, has come to the United States. She is a tall, dark, and a woman who will be her ideal. She ought to come to Charleston. She is all sorts of things, and doubtless she would be able to find something exactly to her taste. There is no place like Charleston.

If Miss Mutchwick cannot find the ideal in Charleston, we give her a cordial invitation to visit Union.—Foster Times.

If she would change her name to "Mantling" all sorts of ideas would not be hant.

Mr. John C. Cary, who has been treasurer and general manager of the Lockhart mills since 1885, has resigned. Mr. E. T. Moore, his brother, has succeeded him. Mr. Cary had resigned on account of his health. Spartanburg Journal.

Bank Officers Indicted. Macon, Ga. November 13.—W. Cabaniss, president, and C. M. Orr, cashier of the defunct Citizens bank were indicted by the grand jury this afternoon on charges of embezzlement, felony and misdemeanor. President Cabaniss is charged with embezzling $50,000 and Orr $30,000. The felony according to the indictment, consists in their having declared a dividend when the earnings of the bank did not warrant it, and the misdemeanor in borrowing $40,000 jointly without the consent of the directors. Neither President Cabaniss nor Cashier Orr had been arrested up to a late hour.

"Bugs" Raymond who pitched for the Charleston baseball team last year, was run over and killed by a street car in Chicago Monday.

SAID THAT HE WAS INSANE.

Negro Surrenders to Officer Darby on the Plea that He Escaped from the Asylum—Authorities Communicated With.

As officer John Darby, of the local police force, was standing in front of White & Co's store Wednesday morning a negro man walked up and said to him: "I want to get away from here." Mr. Darby at once asked him what he had done, and he replied that he had escaped from the insane asylum in Columbia on Monday night last and that he wanted to go back. Further inquiry elicited the information that his name was Ed Hill and that he had been sentenced to the penitentiary for life for killing Bud Thomas in Greenville county about six years ago. Hill said that he was insane and that they had removed him from the penitentiary to the asylum. He said that the dead negro had been chasing him ever since he escaped from the asylum and he wanted to get back where they would protect him.

Officer Darby took Hill in charge and carried him around to the jail to keep him there until the asylum authorities could be notified. Just as he was about to take him to the jail, a negro named Evans, who was sent up by Magistrate Field on the charge of stealing a cow, Hill said to Evans, "What are you doing here?" Hill volunteered the information to Mr. Darby that he had known Evans in Greenville county and that he had also seen him in the asylum but had escaped.

Evans from that time he was arrested has steadfastly refused to say anything. He appears to be simple and is not as much frightened as the negro Hill. Evans was questioned about this statement but he denied everything. He said that he had never been in Columbia and he denied the whole thing. Mr. Darby communicated with Dr. W. H. Babcock and is holding the negro Hill until he can be sent to the asylum. It does not appear to be very strange, the only thing at all tending to show anything being wrong being the statement that Hill had seen Evans in the asylum. Evans on the other hand gives evidence of being unbalanced, he has told his jailer that his name was Macarete. Hill appears to be glad of the fact that he is in the asylum and he has even concluded that he is crazy. He is a negro of ginger color, about 35 years of age, five feet eight height, weighs about 150 pounds and appears to be between twenty-eight and thirty years old.

Gov. and Candidate Incompatible. The Alken Register remarks: "There is another point. It is difficult to see how an official can occupy two positions at the same time. He is at the same time a candidate for another office without, perhaps unintentionally, sacrificing the best interest of the state. The Register says: 'The popularity of the people and of the voters. If Governor Allen announces his candidacy, we trust that he will stand on his feet. He will stand on his feet as governor. But it is to be hoped that he will remain where he is until January, 1911. He has made an announcement that he will run for his present position (the private life).'"

The point is well taken. Running for office is a most important business that has to do with the state, and no man can do both efficiently at the same time. Besides, a governor cannot be so sure of his own mind as he is of his opponents. He must do his office to promote his political ambition or, if he do not, he will be accused of it as though he had so used it.

Meantime, Lieutenant Governor Thomas G. McLeod is a man of ability, and that is what the state would do well to have. Mr. McLeod is a man of ability, and that is what the state would do well to have. Mr. McLeod is a man of ability, and that is what the state would do well to have. Mr. McLeod is a man of ability, and that is what the state would do well to have.

The Raleigh News and Observer says: "Ex-Senator Butler says nobody has any confidence in Republican State Senator Adams. Corbett and other clergymen say nobody has any confidence in Butler. Corbett, Blackburn and others say that nobody had any confidence in the Butler administration. Corbett, Blackburn and others say that nobody had any confidence in the Butler administration. Corbett, Blackburn and others say that nobody had any confidence in the Butler administration."

Andrew Crawford Dies in Court Room. Excusing himself while cross-examining a witness this morning at 10:30 o'clock in the court of common pleas for Richland county, Judge Andrew Crawford, one of the most eminent practitioners at the Columbia bar, walked unaided into the judge's room three himself upon a sofa and after five minutes had expired, the rupture of a blood vessel and the consequent formation of a clot on the brain having produced apoplexy.

The news came as a great shock to the lawyers and court officials who had seen him leave their offices but a few moments before, and to George Johnston, the special judge presiding, immediately ordered a recess until 1 o'clock this afternoon. At that hour the court will be formally convened, but a motion will immediately be made for an adjournment. This motion will be granted and a meeting of the bar association will likely be called thereafter.

No arrangements have been made as yet regarding the funeral services. The funeral will be held at the residence of Judge Crawford, who represented the plaintiff in the damage suit, Myrants vs. the city of Columbia, seemed in his usual good health. The trial of the case, which had been commenced yesterday was resumed at 10 o'clock.

At 10:30 o'clock Judge Crawford received the cross-examination of W. J. Martin, a witness for the defense. Suddenly he turned pale, but continued his questioning for a few minutes, his voice growing noticeably lower and weaker.

Finally he held up his hand to the witness, saying, "Wait a minute," and requesting the court to excuse him for a moment, walked toward the judge's robing room, which is situated directly in the rear of the bench, across a narrow corridor that runs to the rear of the court room. Sheriff Coleman, noticing the deadly pallor of his face, and the weakness of his walk, and assuming the worst, followed by Clerk J. Frost, Walker and one or two other officials, all desirous of offering whatever aid they might render. Judge Crawford was supposed to be temporarily ill. He sank down upon the sofa, and requested that a physician be summoned immediately.

Dr. J. H. McIntosh was hurriedly summoned. Meantime Judge Crawford, realizing the gravity of his illness, asked his friends to leave his side and his pulse and his heart. He was suffering considerably but made no outcry. Dr. McIntosh arrived in a few moments and administered a hypodermic injection. He was listening to the heart action with a stethoscope when the end came. Only a faint flutter of the body and a gasping of the spirit's passage. It had not been five minutes since Judge Crawford had left the court room. Judge Crawford was born in Columbia in 1848 and was therefore about 59 years of age.—Columbia Record, 20th.

Walking to New Orleans. New York, Nov. 20.—"Dakota Bob," a picturesque Western Alut of Woburn, Mass., who is visiting in New York City, left for New Orleans yesterday after getting Major McCellian to write his name in his book. He is a very good-looking man and is expected to reach New Orleans Nov. 24.

Some of the citizens which recently led using electric hoops, artificians are making much of the fact that they are now resting them. This is very good news for the citizens of the city which never knew what it was like to have a street car.

Clawson Gold Mine. Mr. W. D. Turner, who is engaged in opening up the old Clawson gold mine in York county, S. C., spent yesterday in the city. He came here to meet Mr. W. Clawson, of Wilmington, one of the owners. The mine was first opened up by Dr. Clawson in 1866, and is located just west of the state line, fifteen miles from Charlotte, five miles from Pineville, and four miles from Fort Mill. It gives promise of an abundant yield of the precious metal. The mine was followed a short distance and then went on down deeper for a second and larger vein which he is looking for. What one has been gotten out has averaged $25 to the ton. The larger vein will likely be found this week.—Charlotte Observer, November 19.

Death of Asa Langford. Property November 23.—The angel of death has cast a shadow over our town. Mr. and Mrs. P. Langford returned from Savannah this morning with the remains of their son, Asa. He had been working with the Western Union Telegraph company when that dread disease meningitis made its quick inroads on his body. He was given all the medical attention possible.

Asa was a bright, handsome young man, just entering into manhood, the first-born, pride and hope of his fond parents. His body was laid to rest last afternoon in Property cemetery amid a large concourse of friends and relatives. The funeral tributes were many and beautiful. The fond parents have the sympathy of their friends.

Last night a little after 7 o'clock a southbound freight train on the Southern railroad, pulled by engine No. 478 ran into an open switch a little above the depot. The engine and tender were turned completely over, but the box cars remained on the track. The track had been thrown for the C. & N.W. to come in, as their line crossed the turn-out at this point. The freight was just in ahead of the "switch". The C. & N.W. narrowly escaped running into the overturned engine but fortunately it was flagged in time. The hands were at once called out and after working a long time succeeded in getting the engine on its feet about 8 o'clock this morning and then the main line was cleared. The trains were run around the eastern side of the depot over the C. & N.W. L. & S. tracks and again came on the Southern track a little ways below the station. In this way, although the main line was closed, the trains got through without losing any time. No one was hurt and very little damage was done.

OPERA HOUSE.

The Confederate Spy. Or a Soldier's Sweetheart. One of the greatest Southern dramas ever presented to the people of South. Love, pathos and humor are blended with sterling Southern sentiment. The character of the Confederate Spy is one of the grandest ever portrayed on the Southern stage. The immortal Robert E. Lee, one of the noblest generals that ever lived, is a beautiful exemplification of true Southern feeling during the trying days of the war. Atlanta Georgia Constitution. Don't miss this opportunity to witness a real Southern drama, Opera House, Monday, Nov. 25.

Mr. Johnstone May Ron. There seems to be a well-founded rumor that the Hon. George Johnstone, of Newberry, will enter the race for the United States senatorship to succeed Senator Lattimer. Should he decide to become a candidate he will make it a live race. He is a very strong man and well known in the state, and has a strong personal popularity. Those who propose to contest the election of Mr. Lattimer, and many have been named, will have to rub the figures of their states and commence to figure again and will have to figure very close at that to make the result suit them. -Anderson Intelligencer. Gov. Heyward is degenerating, we fear. A press dispatch tells us that he has been dining with Roosevelt. We thought a letter of the governor than that. -Florence Times.
