Thanksgiving Proclamation.
In accordance with a wise and time-honored custom, we have annually set aside one day a day of thanksgiving and prayer. This custom has a deep and primal meaning, which should ever abide in the hearts of those who observe this day.

Now, therefore, in full accordance with this custom and in virtue of my special authority, I do hereby set apart Thursday, Nov. 29, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer.

And I recommend to all the people of this State on that day to assemble themselves in their places of worship, and in happy and grateful communion around the hearthstones of home alone to give thanks to Almighty God for His blessings which His providences and His tender mercies have vouchsafed unto us as a people.

Let the hope be indulged that this day will be halloved by that love which should knit grateful hearts and that from homes and hearts may radiate the kindly words and wishes which bless those who give even as it does those who receive.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the United States, at the City of Washington, this 17th day of November, in the year of our (Seal) Lord, 1906, and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and thirty-first year.

Died Violating Law.
Beaufortville, November 16—Julie Combs, proprietor of one of the notorious bars, was shot and killed in his bar room Sunday night.

Combs' clerk and two other witnesses say that Eddie Quick, Candy Quick, Louder Quick and two other men went to the bar together Sunday night and were drinking. Combs told Knight that he owed him for a half-pint of whisky, Knight refused to pay, Combs then struck Knight in the face, and the witness ran out. After they got out they heard pistol shots fired. It is not known whether the four men inside fired the fatal shot.

The bar room is only a few feet from the line, on the North Carolina side. Combs was taken to the hospital in the South Carolina side, and died there two or three hours later. Coroner McColl and Sheriff Green went up and held the inquest Tuesday.

There is some question as to whether the trial should be held in North Carolina or in this State, but it is the general opinion that it should be in the county in which the crime was committed.

For generations there has been a strif of bar rooms extending along the State line, from the northeast corner of the State, westward, across the barren sand hills, for three or four miles. For several years E. A. Lacey kept the most notorious of these bars, and also operated a distillery on the line. When the Wataz law was passed in North Carolina Lacey abandoned his plant on the North Carolina side and moved to Hamlet. From there he was driven, a year later, by the prohibition law for Richmond County. All of the other line bar keepers also closed up and left except two—Will Ginn and Julie Combs. They continued to sell liquor on the line between two prohibition counties.

As the State line through that barren country was not marked, it was difficult to prove in which State the bars were located. This was the main reason why the two States through their Legislatures provided for joint survey to establish and permanently mark the line between the States in Richmond counties. This survey was made last fall, and all the bar rooms were found to be in South Carolina, although it was previously believed that they were in North Carolina.

Will Ginn pretended to abandon his liquor shop, although he was determined to move it across the line or to have the Courts annul the survey. South Carolina captures made several efforts to capture him liquor, but they found it stored in his barn, which was in North Carolina.

Julie Combs immediately built a new bar room on the North Carolina side, and continued his business there in open violation of the law. It was in this new building that he was killed by one of his customers Sunday night.

Several years ago, on Christmas day, Combs shot and killed a man by the name of Quize, in his bar room a few blocks from where he had his own life. His ohnical accident had self-defense, and was acquitted at Beaufortville.

W. W. Keley Killed.
Mr. M. W. Keley, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Keley, of Fort Law, was killed Friday morning, Nov. 16, 1906, about 8 o'clock, in a terrible head collision, with a fast freight and a work train at Denton, seven miles above Columbia on the Southern. Mr. Keley was a flagman on the work train and, with another man, Mr. C. L. Loyd, of Columbia, was in the caboose when the crash came and both had their skulls crushed and were the passive recipients of coals from the stove, which was turned over. Mr. Keley died on the spot. The freight train, which was on the track at the time, was stopped by the presence of the work train on the track and the work train, which was on the track, was stopped by the presence of the freight train on the track.

Mr. Keley was about 31 years old and besides relatives had many friends. He was a well known here. For several months he was a sales man in A. W. Klutz' store and later worked for the C. & N. W. railway company. He was considered a reliable, sober young man who attended to his own business.

The body was brought here Saturday morning on No. 30, by his brother, Mr. John Keley, who was working in the railroad yards in Columbia, and taken to Fort Law on the morning L. & C. train which was held here for the body on No. 30 which was running late. The funeral services were in the Presbyterian church, conducted by Rev. J. H. Brown, who was the pastor of this city is a sister, and neither she or her husband was present for the funeral of his death until late Friday afternoon.

Besides the two killed, the engineer of the work train, seriously hurt, and Mr. J. A. Triplett, the conductor, and several others were more or less injured.

Man Identified.
The man who was killed on the railroad near Blackstock was identified. His wife and mother had been with him at Rock Hill and thought that he had preceded them to that home at Whitehorn until they returned. Hearing of the man that had been killed, they came back to Blackstock, when the body was examined the second time, or at least exposed to view, and was identified. The man's name was Hall, and he was a negro operative. The grave was marked and the body was taken to where Mr. Mayo McKewen and others thought strangers, had given it decent burial.

It is a well known medical fact that the most effective in the treatment of the bladder and kidney. Sufferers from back ache and other troubles due to faulty action of the kidneys find relief in the use of Chamberlain's Kidney Pills. Sold by the Chester Drug Co.

The County Road Force.
The new steel bridge over Sandy River, with its massive abutments, has been completed, the macadam on the new road bed approaching the bridge will soon be completed and the permanent luxury where they have had, for generations, a toilsome a part of the time and rough hills all the time. The chain gang will do patch work on various roads of the county, and the body was taken to the city limits to the county line.

The macadam on Columbia street has been completed to the culvert, and work will begin in a few days on York street, which will be macadamized from the junction with State street to the Pine street crossing.

Wesley, Alexander Wise and W. F. Marlon went to Columbia this morning to attend the unveiling of Hampton's monument.

Assassination at Cross Hill.
Laurens, Nov. 18—News was received here this morning of the killing at Goldville, this county, last night of John Atkinson, a young mill operative at the Banca cotton mill, located at Goldville.

Particulars of the affair are meager, but it is reported that Atkinson was shot at 11 o'clock last night as he was passing between the mill building and the mill on his way home. One report is to the effect that he was in company with two other young men and was fired upon by some concealed band of desperadoes. On the other hand it is stated that Atkinson was alone when the assassin got in his work.

Young Atkinson killed his father, John Atkinson, Sr., at Goldville about two years ago while the old man, in a drunken rage, was whipping Mrs. Atkinson, his wife, and mother of young Atkinson. At the following term of court the grand jury returned "no bill" against Atkinson. Sheriff Dickett and his deputy have gone to the scene and the inquest is being held.

The killing of Atkinson last night makes the fourth murder committed in this county since last spring—two white and two colored, and the three killings in this county, had within the past two months one white and two colored. Special to the State.

In Time of Peace.
In the first months of the Heats-Japan war had a stark and dire necessity for preparation and the sack, "have shingled their roofs in dry weather." The virtue of preparation has made history and is our greatest man. The individual is as good as the nation, and is prepared for any emergency. Are you prepared to successfully combat the first cold you take? A cold can be cured much more quickly when treated at once by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is famous for its cures of colds and it should be kept in hand ready for instant use. For sale by all druggists.

Bells More of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than of All Others Put Together.
Mr. Thos. George, a merchant at Mr. Egin, Ontario, says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy ever since it was introduced into Canada, and I have as much of the medicine in my house as I have on my shelves put together. I have had many dozens sold under guarantee, but I have never had a bottle returned. I can personally recommend this medicine to cure colds, and I used it myself and given it to my children, and always with the best results." For sale by all druggists.

Fifty Five Cent Cotton.
The Edgefield Advertiser would like to raise long staple cotton on its red hills. It seems to be in some danger of violating the tenth commandment as an editorial clipping shows: "Great is the pity that a island cotton cannot be grown upon the red hills of Edgefield county. This particular variety of cotton is now bringing from 20 to 30 cents on the Charleston market."

Even at the risk of seeming to increase our friend's temptation we cannot help informing him that Dr. E. A. Seaford's company, who came here from up his way, has just received returns from twenty five bags of long staple cotton, of which he has sold for fifty-five cents per pound. Leave the red hills neighbor. You are not more covetous than we, for we want you and your neighbors to come and live among us. When you come do not permit Col. Bacon to linger behind, tell him his friend Dr. E. A. Seaford is ready with open arms to take him to his bosom—Seaford, Ga.

N. Y. CENTRAL GUILTY.
Railroad Violated Law in Granting Rebates to Sugar Refining Company. New York, Nov. 15—The New York Central and Hudson River Railroad company was granted in the United States circuit court today of granting a rebate of $20,000 to the American Sugar Refining company and the trial of the latter company for having secured that, since rebates will begin tomorrow in the court. The jury was out about two hours and immediately upon the adjournment of the court the attorney for the defendant company counsel for the defendant company moved to set aside the verdict which Judge Holt promptly denied.

When court opened today, Jas. H. Choate, counsel for the defendant company, moved to dismiss the indictment and upon this motion Judge Holt, entered upon a long argument for the defense. "We never knew," said Mr. Choate, "whether as lawyers or judges, what a law really means until the supreme court of the United States has spoken."

He maintained that contracts made by the defendant under the old interstate commerce law, which were lower rates than the regular schedule and carried out subsequent to the passage of the Elkins act, did not constitute a violation of that act; that the practice of relating or granting lower rates, was not looked upon as a criminal offense. At that time, he argued, there were many powerful corporations in the country, and the existing interstate law than the carriers themselves.

Mr. Choate maintained that there is an analogy for considering "a criminal law as retroactive. The law is void as an ex post facto enactment."

In denying the motion, Judge Holt said that the Elkins act was not retroactive, but that it was clearly binding upon the accused and that there was sufficient evidence to send the case to the jury. The words "shall not" in the law, Judge Holt held, did not relate to future transportation alone, but to discriminations that might be or had been attempted by private shippers at less than the tariff or published schedule.

United States District Attorney Stinson made the closing argument for the government and in his charge to the jury, Judge Holt reviewed the evidence as adduced, as well as the history of the passage of the Elkins act. Judge Holt fixed Nov. 20 as the date for argument on a motion to arrest judgment.

RED RACKET STORE.
The naked truth is very much stranger than fiction in its wildest weird dreams. In the big battles of glory it is the courage, the craft and generalship that win in the mercantile struggle. It is the big values, the backbone and the ready cash. This is the story boiled down in oil. The problem of debtor and creditor has baffled the foremost minds of mercantile history. Purchasing for cash is a powerful check upon extravagance, and its influence upon lowering prices cannot be disputed. The "Spot Cash" settles things like an electric spark instant, whilst the ledger lures its victim on and on through years of unpeppering torture until the last sad scene of the sheriff's flag. Credit is the rheumatism that paralyzes the finest efforts of agricultural and commercial enterprise; and but for the only remedy that will save the unfortunate from annihilation. Year after year and generation after generation these faithful fall-jacks have led themselves into the brains of the present age until success demands a revolution, upsetting the dead ideas of a dead race and printing over the face of the future age just before us that steeling solid word, that Levithian of Levithians, that mastodon of the English language, Cash! Yes, the age of the tallow candle, the old flint lock, the ox cart and the credit system has gone. Over the bleached bones of these barbaic relics science has swept and left the touch of genius. It is no inopportune spirit of egotism, but upon the basis of merit alone that we claim to be able to give you advantages in buying goods that you will never find in the beaten paths of regular trade.

Sam Jones Was Picturized.

Sam Jones can be described, but inadequately described, by the one word, picturesque. He was not an ordinary man in his mental processes, his speech or his methods. Like all men who stand out from the mass of their fellows, he was original and self-assertive to the point of aggressiveness, but he was natural and never a poser. The personal side of Sam Jones was lovable. He led the Christian life in his daily walk and conversation, and among his neighbors. His home life was beautiful. He was a charitable friend to the widow and the fatherless, and his unostentatious charities were innumerable. Nearly all his life he had held an official position in the organization of caring for the orphans of Georgia. He possessed rare qualities of head and heart, and his life was consecrated to humanitarian ideals. —Atlanta Constitution.

Whitewashing Walls.

To whiten walls scrape off all the old whitewash and wash the walls with a solution of two ounces of white vitriol to four gallons of water. Soak a quarter of a pound of white glue in water for twelve hours, strain and place in a tin pail in a kettle of boiling water. When melted stir in the glue eight pounds of whitening and water enough to make it as thick as common whitewash. Apply evenly with a good brush. If the walls are very yellow, blue the water slightly by adding in it a damsel blue bag. —Boston Traveler.

Express Clerk Stole $15,000.
Superintendent O. M. Sadler, of the Southern Express company, has been notified by the New York office, regarding the disappearance of W. S. Gray, a young night clerk at Salisbury, who absconded Sunday night with $15,000 in cash, the amount of the noon and night train, aggregating a total which the company has not yet been able to estimate exactly, but which is believed to run upwards of $15,000.

Gray is well known in Columbia, especially among the expressmen, and in railroad circles. He is only about 25 years of age, is a native of the South, and has been in the employ of the Southern Express company for several years. How much conditions disfigure him is shown by the fact that he was entirely in charge of the money shipments at night, and these runs into fabulous sums now and then, at a junction point on a main trunk line such as Salisbury. Many of the parcels of money are in locked and sealed pouches and he often carries only a few dollars in his pocket. He is a native of the South, and is a native of the South, and is a native of the South.

Gray has the appearance of a man twenty-one years of age, is a native of the South, and is a native of the South. He is a native of the South, and is a native of the South. He is a native of the South, and is a native of the South.

Gray absconded Sunday night, after meeting No. 35, his last train, and the money in his possession was missed shortly afterward, but until yesterday afternoon, when he was captured, quiet, pushing an investigation and trying to get some clue as to Gray's whereabouts. Gray was bonded with $10,000 for his return to his home, and it is reported that the messengers who passed through Salisbury Sunday night report their receipts and from these tracing the packages to the sending offices that the exact amount of the money which he had absconded with is ascertained. Half a dozen important train lines, all of which carry heavy express shipments, passed Salisbury during Sunday night, and Gray made exclamation with all of them getting money consignments from most of them. One Columbia express messenger handed under similar circumstances on a recent night a current currency, greenbacks and securities which amounted to approximately $1,200,000. —Columbia Record.

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elmore, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from twelve to twenty times a night, and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family except in the living room. I had given up hope of living when a friend recommended to me a 'kidney cure.' One dose put me to bed, and I was cured. I had taken the third bottle the day before last, and I feel as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease. Lettner's Pharmacy."

Port E. E. Lee's Kephew.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 31.—In a violent fit of coughing, shortly before his death at a local hospital, H. L. Mills, an Oregon pioneer of 1876, and nephew of Gen. Robert E. Lee, yesterday related from his lungs a buckshot that he has carried in his body since the Civil war when, as a member of the Fifteenth New York engineer corps, he fought against the army commanded by his mother's brother.

The above item is going the rounds of the press. It is a face it is a manufactured story. The pioneer days of Oregon were gone before 1876. It is not at all probable that New York had any Fifteenth engineer corps.

Gen. Lee had a half sister who married Bernard Carter and two full sisters. One married Judge William Marshall, of Baltimore. They had one son who was in the U. S. army when the war began and did not leave the service until 1862. His name was Edward Vernon Childs and they lived in Paris, France. Their son wrote a biography of Gen. Lee in French. The name of Gen. Lee's sister married a Mills and the Oregon story must be made up. These facts can be found in the life of Gen. Robert E. Lee by Gen. Fitzpatrick. They were confirmed to us in a letter from Hon. S. I. Donohoe of Fairfax, Va., to whom we wrote in reference to the story.—Abbeville Medium.

Electricity IS THE PROPER POWER TO USE.

Possibly you are satisfied with your present power equipment. Probably you are not. Would you welcome a proposition from us to equip your plant for using electric power? Would you, if we could prove that such power would be cheaper, and save you real hard dollars and cents? Would you, if we could prove to you that such power would save you worry, bother, insurance, danger, dirt, coal, etc.?

Would you, if we could show you that electric power would reduce the chances of breakdowns and loss of time? Would you, if we could show you that it would mean more and better work from your employees?

If this kind of money-saving proposition will interest you, just write us. We can wire your place for using electric power from an outside source, or we can install a complete plant for you that will generate your own power—and make you independent for power and light. We are waiting for your invitation to show you—send it today. All kinds of electrical repairing gives prompt attention.
