President's Councils Farmers.

Washington, Nov. 27.—The president has witnessed somewhat his circle of conferees, upon the financial situation and besides J. Pierpont Morgan and other bankers and financiers he has invited to Washington certain representatives of the farmers... he has been asked to make suggestions as to what the government might do to relieve the financial straits and assist in the movement of the crops.

Not Many Teetotallers.

Per cent of men who drink, 85. Per cent of women who drink, 60. Per cent who are teetotallers, 12. Per cent who are inebriate, 2. Per cent who are incurable, 1. Per cent of women who drink, 60. These figures are Dr. W. D. Lawrence's of Mississippi.

In Kentucky.

The light descends the softest In Kentucky; The summer days come softest In Kentucky; Their friendship is the strongest, There love light glows the longest, They wrong is always wrongest.

It is a Good Umbrella.

It was a sound, substantial umbrella with a cherry wood stick. We found it hanging on a peg in the corner of our room in the Hotel at Bruges... It is a good umbrella.

No boom, no panic in Chester. The same steady growth in population that staggered me... Cold facts are being sold at best hand—never been handled by specialists here the low prices.

PISO'S Coughed Continually CURE. My health began to improve and I soon grew strong and fat. PISO'S CURE is a remarkable remedy for all coughs, colds, and bronchitis.

Childhood's Blunder.

It is there again and again quite a naive and deliciously humorous as the unconscious blunders of children? Here are a few samples taken from answers given in a school examination in England.

Here's Good Advice.

O. S. Wooley, one of the best and most successful merchants in Louisville, Ky., says: "If you are ever troubled with any of the following ailments, it is your duty to get a bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

Throat Cut Over 17 Cents.

Rock Hill, Nov. 29.—J. R. Robertson was brought from the Chester train when it arrived here from Charleston late Thursday evening and taken to the office of Dr. Crawford, suffering with a gash in the side of his throat.

What the Merchants Say About Chester Wholesale Grocery Company.

"I trust this may be read by many suffers from kidney and bladder trouble," writes Mrs. Joe King of Woodville, N. C. "I suffered four years and could not do anything to give even temporary relief. After using your 'Silver Leaf' medicine for a few days, I was cured."

An Explanation.

They sell goods so cheap; they are continually raising the cotton seed market; they are now buying the cotton market; cutting the price on wagons and buggies. This may all be true, but we cannot see how this will hurt our customers or their customers, and we are not running a hospital for wounded merchants.

Progress of the Cool Weather.

Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 27.—The advance of the cotton boll weevil eastward last summer toward the Atlantic coast was today stopped by the state crop pest commission. Last summer for the first time in the history of the pest it was stopped by Mississippi river.

A Dangerous Deadlock.

That summer terminates fatally, in the struggle of liver and bowel functions. To quickly and effectively without disagreeable sensations, Dr. King's New Life Pills should always be used.

St O'Clock Folk.

How many of our readers know what a 'st o'clock man' is? In Springfield, Mo., one of the lecturers in Bogue at Bedford college, Baker street, has a country cottage and an old 'Balph's mill' in the middle of Woodland hill.

Passed Examinations Successfully.

James Donahue, New Britain, Conn., had been unable to get cured by other physicians, and was treated by our best physician for diabetes, but did not improve until I took his Kidney and Bladder Pills.

Hot Sippers and Dead Negroes.

It is unfortunate that there is such a loose connection between hot sippers and dead negroes. Almost invariably such a hot sipper had liquor circulated freely, and when liquor gets into the system, the emotional brain trouble is apt to result.

Home Made Lumpy by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

About two months ago our baby girl had measles, which settled on her lungs and as a result resulted in a severe attack of bronchitis. We had two bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Everybody thought she would die.

Caught Whiskers in Safe.

In looking his safe, last night after he was going home for supper, Geo. Eggenwag, a paper hanger, who lives at Jefferson street, was surprised to find a pair of whiskers protruding from the safe door upon his flying whiskers and was held until released by his daughter.

Reverse License for Lawyers.

The city council of Spartanburg is meeting here Monday afternoon and resolved the former action taking the license of the lawyers of the city at $25 and instead gave a graduated license.

Badly Mixed Up.

Abraham Brown, of Winterton, N. Y., had a very remarkable experience: He sat in a chair when he fell asleep and found himself in a chair when he awoke.

TUESDAY, DEC. 3, 1907.

A friend has sent us a copy of the Sunday Oregonian, 90 pages. The publishers ought to be prosecuted for forest destruction and aiding and abetting the paper trust, as well as cruelty to readers.

Bishop Morrison said to the Methodist preachers of North Carolina the other day: "The time has come when the use of tobacco is a discredit to a Methodist preacher. I am not a crank on this subject, either, but that time has come."

Of course this applies only to Methodist preachers, but the time may come when as much will be expected of preachers of all denominations.

After reading a short autobiography of Dr. G. H. Wyle, of New York, Charlotte, Catawba and other places, one is forced to conclude that he is a most formidable rival to Roosevelt in the matter of stonewalling. We should like to have Dr. Wyle's autobiography. Greenwood says time soon—Greenwood Index.

It is not necessary to put Dr. Wyle down as far or so many places. You might just say "from Chester." Here he was born and grew to manhood. Here his ancestors are buried and most of his relatives live.

Safe Crackers at Mandlin.
Mandlin, Nov. 30.—Safe-crackers struck this place last night, making a good haul. While Mr. J. S. Hill was at supper the gang forced his front door open, entered and carried away his cash drawer and the contents, about $250. Mr. Hill organized a small posse and began search, but without avail.

About 12 o'clock midnight Mr. W. S. Baldwin of the firm of Baldwin & Whaley heard a noise about his store and got up to investigate. He was greeted with, "Get back in the house or I will blow your brains out." Having no weapons at hand he went back in the house, while the safe-crackers hawop on his safe and carried off the contents, netting about a field a little way, then they turned toward the depot and into the road, but they could not be tracked no further.

There is no doubt that this is the same gang that blew a safe in Seneca some weeks ago and no doubt has headquarters in Greenville. No suspicious characters have been seen around here lately, or at least such persons have not been noticed here. There were about four in the gang—Special to the State.

Wyles Mill Letter.

Wyles Mill, S. C., Dec. 1.—Another Thanksgiving has come and gone, which I think was enjoyed by every one.

Mr. J. M. Smith, spent Thursday at Mr. Andy Allen's near Lyle. Mr. R. H. Ferguson spent a day or two with his wife in Charlotte.

Misses Marie and H. Nelson, of Richeburg, spent Monday night at Mr. T. N. Ferguson's. Mr. W. H. Johnson and sister, Miss Jennie, last week with their uncle, Mr. M. Smith.

Misses Marie and Pauline Simpson, of Edgeboro, spent a day last week with Mrs. Frank Thomas. Mrs. A. J. Gross and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Gross and baby, of Racomville, spent a day not long ago at Mr. J. M. Smith's.

Mr. John Pittman, who is clerking at Lando, spent Sabbath with his father, Mr. A. O. Pittman.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Gibson and baby, from near Stonebuck, spent a few days not long ago at Mr. W. H. Smith's.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Culp and children, from near Edgeboro, spent Thursday at Mr. R. J. Jordan's.

Miss Mattie White and Mr. Mall Nunnery and sister, Miss Mary, spent Thanksgiving with Miss Willie Corwell, at Harmony Station.

Mr. Hartwell Pittman, who is clerking at Lando, spent Saturday and Sabbath with his father, Mr. J. C. Pittman.

Misses Rhoda and Mattie Nunnery spent Thanksgiving at Mr. John Allen's, near Hound's.

Mr. Q. Thomas, of Lyle, spent a day not long ago with his brother, Mr. S. D. Thomas.

Mr. Wylie, of Richeburg, spent a week with Mrs. J. M. Smith not long ago.

Feasterville Items.

Feasterville, Nov. 29.—There was a big supper last night at Mr. E. W. Coleman's, the proceeds of which will be appropriated for the completion of Liberty Universalist church. There was a large attendance and those who attended report a pleasant time.

Miss Sarah A. Coleman, the popular and efficient teacher of the Monticello school, came home today to visit her father, Mr. H. C. Coleman, and family.

Mr. W. K. Turner, of the Hip section, has recently sold his farm to Mr. William Probst, Messrs. E. W. and Marshall Coleman bought a portion of it. Mr. Turner contemplates moving back to the Jackson Creek community.

Miss Irene Jeffares is spending a few days at Mrs. Samuel Wright's. The recent rainy weather has prevented some of our farmers from sowing. Very few peas have been planted in this section.

We have been reporting the yield of cotton per acre, but we have not heard of any extraordinary yields of corn save that of Mr. J. S. Stone, which has already been reported in your paper.

We were gratified to get up a spirit of rivalry among the farmers as to who can raise the best crops, the best wheat and the best oats, and also who can raise the best mules, the finest hogs and the best swine. Farmers should remember that they cannot buy mules at two hundred dollars when they can raise just as good ones for sixty to seventy-five dollars. Sheep could also be raised at a profit.

The improved sleep raised in the middle western states weighs from two hundred and fifty to over three hundred pounds gross, and according to reports in the Breeder's Gazette, are today selling for from forty to ten cents per pound.

We have many advantages in stock raising here that they do not have in the north and west. We have no blizzards, our winters are short and mild, consequently we have a longer grazing season, but not much for stock to graze on, because every acre of land will produce and utilize is cultivated, mostly in cotton.

Mr. Editor, please excuse this little gression from local usual written. I have been recently home.

Mrs. Jeffares and the children are visiting relatives in Sumter, and my little girl said when they left that they would have me at home to feed the chickens and the kittle. That and my work in the field do not leave me much time for writing to your news.

When winter chills high in Swedish blood, and enters winter with his key, protect yourself, from disease by Freese's. J. J. Stringfellow.

RECOLLECTIONS OF A PRIVATE.

Ily L. Ford, Co. B, 4th Regiment South Carolina Cavalry.

One day at sea with land in sight word came from the hold that the boat was on fire. Thoughts came thick and fast, and feelings were very unpleasant. Debated within myself which death was preferable, by drowning or burning. As the alarm proved false no practical conclusion was reached. Without further incident we arrived and landed at Jersey City, N. J.

Here was a vast concourse of men, women and children to see living rebels in the flesh. How some stared in amazement, how some looked in pity, and some in astonishment. My feelings were akin to those of a monkey in a show. I imagine. It was certainly not an enjoyable ordeal. What thoughts came to them as to the appearance of quite a number of us, who had had no change of clothing or barber's attention for many weeks, might be imagined.

As soon as convenient we boarded a train and began a journey of 275 miles to a thickly settled country. Many of the men of an age suitable for soldiers were noticed at the houses and at work in the fields. Internal improvements, such as building and repairing houses, were going on, the railroad tracks, rolling stock, etc. were in good condition. In fact, nothing along the entire line suggested that a terrible war was on hand. After seeing all this and knowing the conditions in the South I became despondent and lost all hope of ultimate success of our undertaking and thought our public men had made a great blunder.

While traveling along, in a twinkling, without warning, intense darkness came on and I thought my eyes were gone suddenly and without recovery, but how glad I was to emerge into bright day and see everything as usual. This was the first tunnel I had traveled through. Without accident or incident we arrived in five time.

ELMHURST, N. Y.
Our destination, and left the train and marched to the prison pen. I suppose this had been a camp of federal prisoners were put in there to drill and manual of arms to take their places at once in the lines at the front. The first Confederate prisoners were put in there in July 1864. We found some of the company and other acquaintances who had preceded us there a few hours.

Instead of tents as at Point Lookout we occupied houses (wards) which had been occupied by Federal soldiers. On the sides and ends were bunks formed after the fashion of ships' bunks.

a store house, long enough for a man to stretch himself in and wide enough for two men to lie side by side, and were three bunks high on above another. One ward would thus accommodate about 150 prisoners. In each ward a prisoner was placed in charge whose duties were identical with that of orderly sergeant in a company, also one was made hospital steward whose business was to administer medicines, draw rations, etc. for those sick in the ward. These drew extra rations for their trouble.

On our long and weary march after capture, we were not allowed to get any water only at night. At Point Lookout the water was so bad there was no enjoyment in drinking it. At last pure, cool, sparkling and tasteless water was to be had in abundance, and it was enjoyed, the memory of it lingers yet.

After looking about a few days and taking in our surroundings everybody was well pleased that Point Lookout had been left and we had been domiciled in such a nice place.

We were fed here in the same manner as at Point Lookout, except that the bread was not all issued at breakfast, but some was drawn at each meal and was the same stuff as there. I want to eat burgers and get up burgers. And no wonder, one official bidding the last night when left the prison farwell, expressed regret and sorrow that all were gone, as he had no more than 60,000 feeding prisoners, and he would get nothing but his salary. How many others professed likewise is unknown. I doubt many grew rich on our hunger and sufferings.

Mr. Caldwell Takes Charge.

We take pleasure in announcing a new addition to the staff of the Advocate. Mr. W. F. Caldwell is here from Chester to take the position of office manager and news editor.

Mr. Caldwell was born and reared on a farm in Chester county, and graduated at Erskine college in 1906. Immediately after graduation, he went to Charleston as a reporter on the local staff of the News and Courier. He left Charleston to take charge of a school in the up country. At the close of his school, he was employed by the Chester board of trade as its secretary and treasurer, and has been devoting his time to advertising the city of Chester and inducing meat, capital and industries to locate there. Many readers of the Advocate saw his fine write-up of Chester in a recent edition of the State.

Mr. Caldwell is here to advertise and advance the interests of Bennettsville—but not at the expense of the Bennettsville Chamber of Commerce. In working for the Advocate, he will work for Bennettsville, and the building up of Bennettsville will help the Advocate. Their interests are mutual.

Mr. Caldwell is a brother of R. B. Caldwell, mayor of Chester, and a prominent member of the Chester bar. He comes well recommended by those who know him, and we bespeak for him a cordial reception at the hands of the people of Bennettsville and Marlboro.

Fifty-five years ago a young man came from Chester to make his home in Bennettsville. He became a distinguished soldier and jurist, and an honor to Marlboro. Earlier still, there came a young physician, who has left an honored name and family. Should the young man who now comes to cast his lot with our people, attain a small measure of the success of Joshua H. Judson or J. Beatty Jennings, the Advocate will not have labored in vain.

As soon as Mr. Caldwell becomes sufficiently well acquainted with the people and the work, he will practically have charge of the Advocate, as the editor's time will be largely taken up with other matters during the year, and Mr. Gibson will soon have to go to Columbia as a member of the legislature. The editor, will, however, continue in charge of the editorial column, and will give what assistance he can in news gathering and the business management.—Pee Dee Advocate.

Death of a Little Child.
A sad death under peculiar and distressing circumstances occurred here Wednesday night, that of little Jennie Linn, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stearns, aged about 11 months. The child sustained an injury of the head the day before at the home of the parents. It is thought that the little one, while playing in the room with one of two small children, probably fell from a lounge to the floor striking the corner of a small box on the floor. The blow did not seem to be serious at the time, however, and it was not until the next day, when any alarming symptoms developed, when the child began to have convulsions. It was attended by several good physicians and Dr. E. W. Fisher, of Chester, and everything possible was done, but without avail, to save the child's life. Jennie Linn was an unusually sweet, bright child and was admired for her striking beauty by all who had ever seen her. The heartbroken parents have the full benefit of the entire community in their great affliction. The funeral will be held at 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, after funeral services conducted at the home of the lady. Chalmers Street, pastor of the Presbyterian church—Lancaster News.
