THE TEACHERS FAITH

By W. D. MAGUIRE

President, College of Teachers of Education, S. G. T. A.

We are a group of advanced workers in the field of higher education. We are not for one moment the creators of the future; we are the interpreters of the past. It is the duty of a scholar to believe in his subject and to try to make that belief appear to others.

What value has practical teaching? The best teachers are not the ones who merely are interested in the students; they are the ones who can make their students interested in the students. Each method has its value, and that value is determining the best method by which we may make the students into teachers. It may be of some interest to those who are interested in the field of education to consider the value of his name in the public
