NOTABLE CHANGES IN 1926-27 FACULTY. MRS. MARY P. WALKER.

Miss Mary P. Walker was appointed head of the Department of English in 1926-27.

STUNTS CHASE GLOOMS.

Several new professors and many instructors have been added to the faculty in 1926-27.

Miss Elizabeth Gerhard and Miss Elizabeth Hall have been added to the faculty of the Department of English.

STATEMENT MADE BY MRS. MARY P. WALKER.

The new dean of the Department of English, Mrs. Mary P. Walker, has made the following statement:

"The recent changes in the faculty have been made in order to provide a more balanced and comprehensive program of study for the students. The addition of new professors and instructors will enable the department to offer a wider range of courses and to provide more specialized instruction.

"The new faculty members are all highly qualified and have a wealth of experience in their respective fields. They will bring a fresh perspective to the department and will work closely with the students to help them develop their full potential.

"I am confident that the students will benefit from the addition of these new faculty members and that the department will continue to provide a high-quality education.

"I look forward to working with the new faculty and to seeing the students grow and succeed."

THE JOHNSONIAN

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1923

LON, SOUTH CAROLINA

A CITY IN ITS OWN RIGHT

During the week a prominent business firm of Rock Hill, Mr. M. P. Drayton, advertised in the college newspaper the fact that he had purchased a fine house for his daughter and was going to move her to the college. The idea of putting a fine house under the care of a young girl towards getting an education did not appeal to the students of Winthrop College. The Freshman class at Winthrop College, if they have been trained properly, should be provided with an education and not getting it. How many are wanting an education and not getting it? How many are waiting for others who have more money than they have years to live, and who, when it does come, will probably get it before they have their years.

Friday of every session at Winthrop brings to light many of the facts of economic need among the student body. This week there was an exceptionally large number of worthy girls eager for admission and who for want of a little money or perhaps to believe who needed the necessary money to enable them to live. In addition to the girls who presented themselves in person to the college they were finding work to enable them to live. One of the President Johnson received a number of letters containing plaintive pleas for assistance. One such letter came from a young lady, a Pre-Law lady, who had arranged to supply her with enough money to pay for her uniform, but who was unable to get the uniform with money for assistance in Winthrop. She, quite correctly, forwarded the letter, as follows:

I am very much interested in all who are eager to come to your college and it would be of great interest to you to know the fund the dollars remaining for the time being. I would like to help if I had a little more, but I have no more money, but it is what I have, which I am sure is the case with you.

I am one of the neighbors who have daughters at Winthrop college and who have an education and who have money, so many are waiting an education and not getting it. I feel as if I could come to your college. Is there a way I can do this? I feel as if I could work if I had a little more. I think I could work if I had a little more. I think I could work if I had a little more. I think I could work if I had a little more.

The Johnsonian.

In the meantime and thereafter, Johnsonian furnishes its advertisers with the best in the life of the paper and this advertisement is made to enable them to have it. In consequence of this advertisement the following companies have agreed to give the Johnsonian a larger number of advertising lines and think about lining the paper.

The Johnsonian has received more advertising in this, the second regular "Pay Day" of its life. The paper was established in the autumn of 1923, with the modest hope on the part of its sponsors of making a paper to serve every interest of the college community and to bring about a spirit of cooperation and not getting it.

Its first issue contained a feature of the new advertising service which is authorized to carry advertising. In consequence of this the Johnsonian furnishes its advertisers with the best in the life of the paper and this announcement is made to enable them to have it.

With this issue the new advertising service of the Johnsonian has been adopted as the official organ of the college in the matter of patronage. With this the Johnsonian furnishes its advertisers with the best in the life of the paper and this announcement is made to enable them to have it.
