MORAL LEGISLATION
(Michigan State News)

On May 21 the people of East Lansing met in the East Lansing High School to discuss the "Moral Legislation" issue on Monday. It was in such a spirit that the major issue is whether moral laws are not necessary and desirable in the lives of today.

You may be able to escape social evil morally by evading it, but socially you will not be able to escape evil. It is nearly always too late to reform a man, and go on to the next man. The most important question of the day is whether moral laws should be made.

The law is unenforceable by reason of the fact that it cannot be made. No man can enforce the law of nature. The law is unenforceable because it cannot be made. It is not a law of nature to which man is subject.

The law of God is not the same as the law of nature. The law of God is not the same as the law of nature. The law of God is the law of the State. The law of God is the law of the State.

The law of the State is the law of the State. The law of the State is the law of the State. The law of the State is the law of the State.
