Policies Listed For Etiquette To Continue

The policies of Etiquette Week are to be continued through the month of February. Miss N. Mary Phelan, chairwoman of Etiquette Week, has decided that the policies to be followed must be made permanent by all students who have had their daily activities according to the rules of the week.

"The P. O. offers a vital spot in which proper manners are to be polished. Students should enter the door by back door and leave through the front door. It has been suggested to "Keep Tight" and save going wrong," she said.

The six points presented in an article on Tuesday, February 11, outlined points which need to be corrected on Winthrop's campus and offered suggestions for furthering the etiquette campaign.

Students are asked to show proper respect for each other and toward guests on the campus at all times, according to the librarian.

Thoughts in introducing good guests, holding doors, and of other people's property will be included in the current month. Wisely and tactfully following the suggestions on the manners which have been placed on their table.

Recital Given February 11

Eight students from the music department were presented in a recital program Wednesday afternoon, February 11, at 4 o'clock, in the auditorium, according to an announcement by Dr. Walter F. Bailey, head of the music department.

Sunday afternoon, the "First Prize" by Edward Grieg was performed by Mary E. Wilkerson. Miss Wilkerson was presented by Miss Hannah and Miss Mildred Wilkerson. As a guest speaker, Miss Mildred Wilkerson was given a voice recital with "Da una, donna nasci dolente" by Franz Schubert and "Vivere Bellissima" by Giuseppe Verdi and "Vivere Bellissima" by Giuseppe Verdi and "Vivere Bellissima" by Giuseppe Verdi.

Religious Emphasis Week

Sunday marks the beginning of the annual Religious Emphasis Week. For five days everyone on the Wofford campus will have the opportunity to hear prominent speakers and hearers of religious interests. The Wofford YWCA and the churches of Rock Hill, Presbyterian, Baptist, Catholic, Episcopalian, Methodist, and Friends have cooperated to make this week memorable. The theme, "That I May Serve," is so deeply grounded in the Christian way of life that which will undoubtedly offer many valuable suggestions of practical ways in which everyone can serve. The program is arranged so that there will be one meeting each day. The program will include morning, afternoon, and evening services. The meetings are open to the public, and each one is designed to be of interest to every student. Among the features of the week are: Morning Watch, Vespers, and the annual Religious Emphasis Week worship service. The theme for the week will be "The New Life is the Highest Ideal." The speakers include Reverends W. L. Martin, President John S. Moore, Royce C. Warren, and Dr. E. T. O. Collins. The week will end with the annual Religious Emphasis Week worship service on Friday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. in the Wofford Gymnasium.

Mission Accomplished

The importance of good manners at all times can never be overemphasized. Since 1909, thousands of students have lived together in the dormitories. It is essential that we should be able to live together in peace, whether we are friends or not. The committee on manners has done an excellent job in this regard. The committee on manners has also done a good job in seeing that all dormitories are well kept and that all dormitories are free from litter.

Gaining Momentum

The week-long Religious Emphasis Week has been a great success. It has been a time of growth and progress for everyone involved. The week has been a time of reflection and prayer, and it has helped everyone to grow in their faith. The week has also been a time of unity, as everyone has come together to celebrate this important event. The Religious Emphasis Week has been a great success, and we are looking forward to next year's event.

Memories of the faculty and administrative staff attended the annual faculty “Play Night” sponsored by the WAA, campus athletic club, on Thursday evening in the gymnasium. Bill Brindley, president of WAA, was in charge of the party.

The gym was decorated in the red-and-white Valentine motif, and conventional games included handball, ping pong, shuffleboard, badminton, and square dancing. The party was held by Miss Carol Allen, advisor of the Modern Dance Club. Those girls who ordered leotards are requested by the WAA to come by Mrs. Aull, administrator of the Modern Dance Club.

On Tuesday, Mr. Glenn will be the speaker at assembly, and the place to be announced later, will be held by Miss Carol Allen, Family service for 5:30 p.m. each night.

In the third game on February 7 in the second series of the basketball tournament, the North-Town Goreys defeated South-Town 25-20. In the third game on February 10, Mr. Glenn rallied to stop the North-Town Goreys, a team 32-25, while North and Reserve played a close game of 40-26.

NOTE

The teams that were ordered first semester have arrived, it was announced Monday by Mr. Edith Aull, advisor of the Modern Dance Club. Those girls who ordered leotards are requested to come by Mr. Aull's office and bring the money for their garments.
