Casually

By MARIAN BAKER

Vacant seats were plentiful Thursday evening at the Student Government meeting. Since it was not compulsory, a majority of the student body did not attend.

Plain old lack of interest seems to be the reason why there were such a great number of absentees. Some students do not believe that they have to attend Student Government meetings to be representative of their class. Still others do not believe that it is any of their business what the Student Government does. They would rather their Student Government be run by themselves.

The purpose of the meeting was to introduce eight students, candidates for the four major campus offices, to the student body. Each made a brief campaign speech and those who spoke missed an excellent opportunity to depict their qualifications. One would have to vote for if there was some doubt in their minds.

Frankly, the whole question boils down to the simple fact that there is a need for more school spirit. —That spirit which produces a desire for friendly competition and deep interest in what is happening on campus, and is of particular interest in all things which concern the student body as a whole. It is this need which exists in order to help eliminate the indifferent attitude toward Student Government that exists at the present time.

By encouraging them to take an active part in student affairs, Winthrop's school spirit will be strengthened. The atmosphere, more means of bringing the two groups together on the campus because it has such a tremendous influence on the attitude of the freshmen toward Winthrop. This posture is open to juniors and seniors as well as sophomores. The past candidates have handled their positions capably and口径 widening those fundamental rights of good citizenship.

On Freshmen Counselors

With the announcement that fresh- men counselors will be appointed, the duties of a freshman counselor calls for a mature person. Since this is the first contact with Winthrop, she should be a resourceful, intelligent, and helpful in guiding the freshmen become integrated students. A girl who is interested in becoming a counselor should be willing to devote a great deal of her time to her duties. She should be capable of convincing the freshmen of the importance of their duties.
