With the strain of “Monotony” still ringing in the ears of many, the seniors are in the midst of preparation for the activities of Senior Week. Junior-Senior was the beginning of the radio, radio-Hello graduation and the greeting of “pavements” for theFortunates who have nearly completed the four years training necessary for the professional apse. Senator activities will begin on May 25 with Vespers. The members of the class of ’47 will attend in their caps and gowns, and a guest speaker will make the address.

On Monday, senior chapel will be held in the College auditorium. It will include the singing of farewell songs by the Seniors, sophomore, and junior classes to the seniors. Hill, Broadman, will read the East Will and Testament and Jean Crook will present the class gift to the College.

Immediately following chapel, the dedication of the senior steps of Main building will be made by Jean Crook and Merle Bethay. Juniors will follow the tradition in honoring the seniors and their steps of Main building.

The Junior-Senior service will be the second event for Juniors and Seniors. The Junior-Senior service will be held in the College auditorium. The Masters' Touch

Second Semester Holds Enjoyment In Retrospect

BY ALBERTA LACHICOTTE

During the past sports-packed semester, Winthrop athletes have found themselves in knottier drinking under the direction of the re-awarded Charles Weidman, polishing up the gym floor in the basketball tournament, half-drowned themselves in violent attempts to learn the art of life-saving, and above all have created the move.

Ambitious downtown ran, jumped and toil so strenuously except for the human body, in desperate efforts to mas-ter the art of the modern dance. Mr. Weidman, once of America's leading dancers, conducted a man-ner dance class at the College for her departure. The many speeches which dragged along as the days passed on the balance in the gym, were just as brav-ely and honest dancing as were the hard-wor-k-Winsome Wallflowers.

For days afterwards those brave girls who participated in the class seemed to be hobbling around, puzzling their conversations with numerous "natives" and "etbists". The big basketball tournament also added to her activities of the semester. The North Club clinched the tournament, owning the Southern half cagers coming in second. In the class tournament the freshmen ended up on top of the heap.

Many thrilling moments were had by all. Having a couple of basketball tournaments is a fine way to claim the gym. Human bodies and going along the surface are as good as homes and money any old day, besides being cheaper.

To carry their activities, these same energetic beings took to the water later on in the year for the purpose of gaining a little "know how" in the art of life-saving. Regularly each week the students dived in the pool and practiced their swimming methods on each other. Their usual method was about as follows: The rescue permission must be supposed dying victim, comb her solidarity over the head if she makes any gesture of protest, grasp her violently around the waist and head for the rim of the pool. By this time the victim is in fit for critical exertion, and 1 don't mean practice. The girls, you see, have a free time, learned a lot, and a "very sweet" death or what have you.

Volleyball Tournament Won By Team 1

Team 1 was the winner of the annual Volleyball tournament which ended May 19th. The first meeting, instructor of the class, has been announced for this game it was scheduled to play. The second placed team, hav- ing been victorious last year, lost this year in the third place for third placed team to win this game.

Members of Team 1 are: Mrs. Louis Eyde, Lillian Blalock, Virginia Shuler, Anne Harper, Lucille Lachicott, Thomasine Fennel, Gertrude Knelleken, sponsor. Other team members included Doris Hopler, Williamsport, Pa., secretary, and Eleanor Wall of Pomona, Calif., proclamation chair.

The club held a meeting last night to determine the record for the Volleyball pool.

POST TOSSES THE SOUTH

Miss Pam has been journeying around the State at such a rapid pace that it is hard to keep up with her. She arrived in the Parker district "Youth on Parade" program, and Monday she attended a meeting of the classification committee in Columbia.

This isn't Winthrop but sports news — In the recent ball game between Carolinas and Wofford, the umpire, batter, and spectators relished an unusual curve ball with the result that the umpire asked to see the ball and found Wofford pitcher, Barbara Richardson and Imogene Watson.

The North team clinched the dormitory championship, with the South team elected winners of the ten-weeks championship tournament and are competing with each other for the tennis championship of the College. Photo by Betty Carpenter.

The other thief is called "Stoopid." For awhile, he was the most elusive of the four thieves of time during the week end. He was finally captured on Monday, May 25, by Miss Foulke and Miss Flinn, who have been searching for him for the last week. He was found to be packing up his things and getting ready to leave.
