ARMISTICE DAY

Our memory is made up of fragments, and today, we come to the 11th day of November, the anniversary of the armistice that ended World War I, as a way to honor the sacrifices made by countless soldiers and families.

To fill our hearts with plenty and joy.

Three cheers for the new library!

THE JOHNSONIAN

TAMING THE FEATHERS OF LADY ANNE'S HU "$IYI$'

According to the story, Lady Anne was a notorious beauty who had many suitors. However, one day, she decided to take matters into her own hands when she noticed a suitor's love letters filled with ecstatic praise for her beauty:

"Oh, my dear Ann, you are my everything..."

"How could you love me without your looks?"

"I have never seen a lady as beautiful as you..."

"Lady Anne, my dearest, I cannot live without you..."

Lady Anne was appalled and decided to teach her suitor a lesson. She summoned him to her room and confronted him with the letters. She told him that she had read them and found them offensive and that she would teach him the true meaning of beauty.

"Beauty is not just about appearance," she declared. "Beauty is about the heart, the mind, and the spirit. It is about kindness, compassion, and a willingness to help others. It is about being a good person and making the world a better place."

The suitor was shocked and realized his mistake. He apologized and vowed to change his ways. From that day on, he focused on being a better person and treating others with kindness and respect. Lady Anne was pleased with his newfound understanding and let him continue to pursue her, but with a newfound appreciation for the true meaning of beauty.
