Dr. Morse Discusses the Race Question

A deep interest is being taken in the question by both faculty and student. There is a strong feeling that the problem of race conflict should be faced and that the question of whether we are living up to our ideals should be answered. We are all human beings and should strive to understand each other. In this age of specialization, we should make an effort to see the world as it is, and not as we wish it to be.

Dr. Morse states that there is no real difference between races. He believes that the difference between races is a matter of environment and that we should be proud of the fact that we are all human beings. He suggests that we should strive to understand each other and to live up to our ideals.
