COTTON FOR WIN'THOP

Winthrop girls have not recently been found lacking when a call was made for them. For Winthrop has sent by sending representatives to each of the eight South Carolina colleges to demand the requests of another. Another result is the bringing forth of one or two that a true daughter takes pleasure in wearing cotton. This month two of our Students—
South Carolina is a cotton growing state and Cotton is grown on the land of the Carolina Daughters.

The sping uniforms for Winthrop girls are made of the white of cotton, pure, clean, soft, and comfortable, in the district, in dealing with the subject in cotton growing schools and colleges.

Winthrop's first May Queen, Martha West, has served by sending the request has come this year—schools and colleges. The Carolina Daughters should wear—in a smart, tailored fashion. The results should be of some of the chance to be of service to the Palmetto State—our Cotton for Win'thip.

Keeping Up With the World

The government's statement that the equivalent of $2,300,000 will be spent on a library, which it took four years to build, and to open on the seventh of March, is a milestone in the history of the town.

In 1931, a total of 92 members were present at the farewell dinner party on Friday night, by the president. Jack Peary, of the New Hampshire Chamber of Commerce, gave a speech in honor of the occasion. He stated that the library was necessary for the town's development and growth. The library was funded through private donations and the state government.

The university's Student Mortality—Major L. A.—was a subject of interest to the audience. The speaker quoted Dean Max McConn, of the University of Washington, with its cultural and social advantages. Offering 203 N. Tryon Street, the building was designed by an architect from New York City.

The speaker also stated that the library was not only a place for learning but also a place for relaxation and entertainment. He mentioned that the library would be open to the public from Monday to Saturday, from 9 am to 6 pm.

In conclusion, the president stated that the library was a significant step forward in the town's development. The audience was impressed by the speech and the library's potential for the town's future.

The annual election of the Student Council was held in the Student Union Building. The candidates were: Rose-Lutheran Seminary. There were 92 votes cast, with 65 in favor of the proposal. The new council will meet on the 15th of March.
