COTTON SEED.

THE COTTON SEED Thar is Keenly Priced at Cut Two-Ten High.

There seems to be very little demand for cotton seed in Charleston during the present season. The price of the cotton seed in Charleston is not particularly high. The market at the present time is being run on a very stringed scale, and there is not a demand for the cotton seed. There is a movement to keep the cotton seed at a low price, and the mills are complaining of the low price of the cotton seed.

A good crop of cotton seed will be produced in the fall, and the demand for it will increase. The mills are being supplied with cotton seed as fast as it is needed. The mills are satisfied with the price of the cotton seed, and they are not complaining of any difficulty in getting it. The cotton seed is being handled very freely, and there is no scarcity of it.
