A Big Sale

94½¢ Prices Will Move the Goods They Are Selling—Rodman-Brown Company Puts on Real Big Sale Showing Goods Away Down in Price.

Mr. B. C. Forbes, editor of Forbes Magazine, one of the best-known and most reliable financial magazines in the country, very definitely predicted at the end of 1919 the collapse which came in 1920. The "Forbes strike" which later took so many concerns by surprise, was forecast and foretold by Mr. Forbes.

Mr. Forbes predicts a great improvement in 1920 and states that the fundamental conditions today are very much sounder than they were a year ago. Mr. Forbes says that the only way for a man to realize that it will take a year to get back to his normal position is to buy in a pre-war basis, so to speak, and then after the business. Mr. Forbes says that the merchants who have a large stock of goods which he bought at prices above those of today had just as well "cut the price to the core" and get rid of the goods and then place his business on a basis of buying and selling on today's market.

The above plan is just the one which is being adopted by the Rodman-Brown Company of Chester. Mr. Brown says that he has a large stock of goods on hand and that the weather, as well as general conditions, has kept him from getting a large quantity of his big stock of merchandise; and that in order to get rid of the goods he has put on a big sale for two weeks. Mr. Brown says that if prices will move the goods he is going to get rid of a large quantity of his merchandise. He further states that it is not his plan to pick out certain articles in his stock but that he will place the entire stock of very reasonable merchandise on the market. Mr. Brown states that "oubtedly many people who have money" to spend are now waiting for the prices to come way down and that if they will visit his store during this sale they will be thoroughly convinced that they need to wait longer on cheaper prices.

In a page ad in this issue of the News Mr. Brown is only mentioning a few prices just to show the Chester people that he means to cut the price to the bottom in order that the goods will move. He is inviting every one to visit the store if they want to buy or not. He wants you to see just how cheap he is going to offer his big stock. The sale starts tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and will continue through January 28th.

Annual Stockholders Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the National Exchange Bank of Chester, was held in the bank building Tuesday afternoon.

The stockholders re-elected the old board of directors, which consists as follows: Mr. E. Clark, R. C. Coleman, G. C. Edwards, H. C. Crawford, J. L. Glenn, James H. Glenn, H. W. Hafner, S. M. Jones, Dr. W. M. Love, S. E. McFadden, Dr. W. H. McFadden, N. M. McMillin, J. P. Perkins, H. Samuel, Lavoy Springs, M. H. Washell, Dr. W. R. Wallace, J. M. White and J. G. White.

The directors voted on the following order for the ensuing year: J. L. Glenn, President; S. M. Jones, Vice-President; N. M. McMillin, Cashier; R. E. Murphy, Assistant Cashier; and S. E. McFadden, Attorney.

The National Exchange Bank now has resources of $1,435,537.76; capital stock of $100,000; and a surplus of $75,000. The bank's semi-annual dividend of four per cent on the capital stock has been paid.

Commercial Pays Usual Dividend.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of The Commercial Bank was held in the directors room of the bank Tuesday at which time the old board of directors, who are: Robert G. Peck, President; Robert G. Peck, Jr., Vice-President; J. Stead Caldwell, assistant Cashier.

The usual semi-annual dividend of four per cent has been paid on the capital of $100,000. The bank now has a surplus of $20,000 and total resources of $1,085,442.55.

The deposits are now about $500,000.

COUNCIL MEETS

The regular monthly meeting of the city council was held on Tuesday afternoon with the following present: Mayor Byars, and Aldermen Cohn, Lee, White, Nichols, Peay and Hudson.

The clerk read the minutes of the last meeting which were approved.

A list of $50 names to compose the jury list for the present year was submitted and approved by the council.

A bill from the Elliott Construction Company amounting to $68.00 to cover the cost of cement paving at the new Seaboard Air Line Railway passenger station was submitted to the council. Mayor Byars stated that the work was authorized by him and Councilman Whitlock at the time the station was being constructed. Council ordered the city engineer to check the work and if correct to pay same. It will be recalled that there was no cement paving at the station during the days of the old passenger station.

Council also authorized the payment of an account of Mr. Willie Spence for having put a set of brakes on the street.

The report of the street department showing work done on the streets for the past year was read and it is shown that the Hudson people are doing the work and that done on the streets of Chester during the year. The work done covered the streets other than the asphalt streets.

Mr. Hinton Curtis petitioned council to change the name of Valley street to Hudson street. On motion of Mr. White, seconded by Mr. Peay, the name of the street was ordered changed.

The matter of the Hudson Contracting Co. fixing several places in the asphalt streets around the city was discussed. It has been necessary for the city to dig out several places on account of leaky water mains and it is shown that the Hudson people are to repair, according to a contract they have with the city. The clerk was ordered to take the matter up with the construction company again.

Marshall Koch recently sent Mayor Byars a "likeness of himself," which has been framed and will be placed in the office of the city clerk.

Mr. A. H. Robbins, who recently bought the Druggin residence on Broadway street, petitioned council for water service. The city engineer's residence to "Saluda street" Council will take this matter up at their next meeting, which will probably be next week.

Council adjourned.

CLEMSON ENROLLS ABOVE THOUSAND

Riggs Calls Meeting of State Athletic Association in Spartanburg.

Clemson College, Jan. 7.—The second term of the college year began Wednesday morning with an inaugural address by Dr. W. B. Riggs, president of the college, and president of the South Carolina Intercollegiate Athletic Association, has called a meeting of that association to be held in Spartanburg on Tuesday night, January 10. The meeting will consider intercollegiate athletic matters of interest to the colleges of the state.

Progress is being made in the erection of the temporary gymnasium, which is being constructed largely by means of student labor. The structure is just west of Riggs field and will be most convenient to the athletic use. It is hoped that the building will be completed in time for use during the latter part of the basketball season and also for the early baseball training.

BLAST OF DYNAMITE KILLS LITTLE GIRL

Piece of Stump Hurdled Through Air From Mill at School House Door.

Greenville, Jan. 9.—Mamie Crenshaw, 11 year old school girl at the City View school near Monaghan mill, was killed this morning when she was struck by a fragment of a stump that had been hurled 150 feet through the air by a dynamite blast. The accident occurred just as the pupils were assembling to enter the school room after a recess period. The stump was blown up out of a road nearby by a party of road workers who are rebuilding the highway.

Cheap Prices

Merchants who do a large volume of business can afford to sell goods at a close profit.

The merchants who advertise are the ones who sell cheaper.

Not So Bad After All.

If one takes a walk around the streets of Chester and asks different men about business and the general financial outlook you will hear all kinds of things. Lots of men will tell you that business is bad and that the people are in a bad fix generally; there is no money in the country; and trade is away off. There are many men who will tell you that the future looks brighter than it has in many months. However, when you sum up the various conversations you will arrive at the conclusion that things are not so good in Chester as they have been and that lots of people are very blue and despondent.

One way, and a mighty good way, to get the financial condition of section is to get hold of the statements of the banks in that community. The News has taken the statements of the banks in that community. The News has taken the statements of the four banks in the City of Chester dated December 31st, 1921, and compared them with the statements of September 30th, 1921, and finds that the community has made a wonderful improvement in its financial condition in a little less than four months. At least that is the way The News sees it.

On September 30th, 1921, the four banks had deposits amounting to $1,915,809. The loans of the four banks at that time was $2,693,790. On December 31st, 1921, the deposits amounted to $2,321,158 and the loans were $1,840,207.

Between September 30th, 1921 and December 31st, 1921, the loans of the four banks in Chester decreased $165,489, and the deposits increased $415,349. These two items added together would indicate that the people doing business with the four banks in Chester are $589,838 better off than they were less than four months ago.

The above being the case one wonders why there is so much calamity howling. Some times we are of the opinion that "calamity howling" had got to be a habit.

One reason, and a big one, for people howling at the way things are, is the fact that hundreds of people are not making an effort to meet their obligations as they should and the fact that they are not making an effort to cause the local wheels of commerce to clicken. If it were a number of men in Chester who own ten thousand dollars were to pay those bills and the men to whom they paid the amount would show likewise or so, it would mean that obligations to the amount of one hundred thousand dollars would be settled within less than two weeks.

The greatest obstacle in the way of Chester today is FEAR; and that obstacle is not going to be removed until about the middle of next August or the first of September. At that time we shall know what the bull market is going to be here.

New Director Added.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Peoples National Bank was held last Tuesday in the offices of the bank and the old board of directors re-elected, Mr. Malcolm L. Marion being added thereto.

The directors are as follows: John Franer, T. G. Patrick, W. A. Corkhill, K. H. Patrick, M. Jones, W. W. Patrick, G. B. White, M. H. White and M. L. Marion.

The directors re-elected the following officers for the ensuing year: G. B. White, President; John Franer, Vice-President; W. A. Corkhill, Cashier; and M. H. White, Assistant Cashier.

The bank has a capital stock of $50,000 with a surplus of $60,000. The deposits are now $480,925.64.

WIRELESS IN CHESTER.

Forward Step Taken by Chiquola Club.

Chester, Jan. 10.—Another forward step was taken by citizens of Chester. The Chiquola Club has installed a complete wireless telephone and telegraph system for the benefit of its members and friends. This club is both a social club and a tennis booster, and never lets anything go by that combines both features. The wireless system in the one respect; it has a 100 foot four-strand antenna and will receive from any station in the United States and from the western coast of Europe. Not only will member members be able to hear opera, congressional proceedings, market reports, baseball news, and so on in their club rooms, but with an inexpensive attachment to each telephone in Chester every telephone subscriber can get in touch with the club rooms and hear as well at home as the club. Operatic programs are already coming in from Pittsburgh and Chicago. An amplifier will be put in so that stores and dwellings in a radius of two blocks will be able to hear the operatic and elastic secretary of the club, is mainly instrumental in getting this outfit.

operate a federal reserve bank," he said, "and in order to get officials who can competently handle this business it is necessary to pay salaries in competition with other banks."

NORTH CAROLINA MAN EXHIBITS $100,000

Atlanta, Ga.—An elderly, dignified gentleman of what is popularly called the old southern type, with an indefinable hint of military bearing about him, walked into The Journal's editorial room Monday and exhibited a roughly circular sheet of hammerscript paper, with the following inscription rudely but legibly engraved thereon: "As I came from the old country I deposited $90,000 (nine thousand dollars) in the U. S. treasury in Philadelphia in 1795. I donate this money to the finder of this plate, as I am wounded and bound to die, H. A. Barkley."

"I am the founder," announced the old gentleman, oracularly, then introducing himself as Major E. L. White, of Rowan county, North Carolina; a retired physician, he said, and the "youngest major in the war between the states; he is now between the ages of eighty and eighty-two."

"I crawled into a rock-bound cave to get out of a terrific rainstorm," he went on, "and in it I found this copper plate. That was in 1912 and naturally went to Philadelphia to the North American bank, which took over the affairs of the United States treasury about 1912, and he had record was shown me, where one H. A. Barkley had deposited $90,000 in 1795. The president of the bank said that with the accumulated interest the original deposit now was worth something like $1,000,000."

The banker, added Major White, advised him to put off the business of collecting this very considerable amount of money, "owing to the unsettled conditions attending the beginning of the new year."

"I knew it meant a lot of red tape and I was undeveloped," said Major White, "and I decided to wait. I showed the plate to William C. McAuliffe, then secretary of the treasury, and he said it was a perfectly good obligation against the government. I have decided now to leave the plate and its obligation to my three children. I have had it registered in Washington and in Philadelphia as my property, and I will accept it or my heirs can collect the amount it represents. I don't need the money now; but it's a comfortable feeling that Uncle Sam owes me or my heirs $1,000,000."

CREDIT FOR FARMERS.

Aid Extended Agricultural Sections, Says Harding.

New York, Jan. 10.—Heavier credits have been extended to federal reserve banks in the agricultural than to those in sections where trade and commerce predominate, W. P. O. Harding, governor of the federal reserve bank, declared today at a meeting of the New York board of trade and transportation.

Governor Harding offered this as justification of his emphatic denial of the charge that the federal reserve board had shown itself hostile to farm or crop loans. He also offered efforts to amend the banking law in favor of the agricultural interests.

Charges of extravagance in salaries paid federal reserve bank officials were also taken up by Governor Harding.

Thirteen Americans who had been serving in the Spanish Foreign Legion Morocco recently arrived in Paris, telling stories of cruel treatment and hardships. The Americans obtained their release by swearing they were Canadian subjects. All British members were allowed to resign as the result of pressure brought by the British Government. Twenty-two Americans were kept behind in hospitals and four were killed in recent fighting. Hospital conditions were deplorable, they said.

One lion was in the telegraph room, one in the refreshment room and the other stalked up and down the platform, "in true official style." When the train arrived the lion whistled and called the lions to depart, the station agent emerged from a building some distance away.

In protest against the publication of the details of revolving crises in the newspapers, resolutions have been adopted by the Men's Club of Wauwatosa, a suburb of Milwaukee. The members of the club base their objection on the bad influence that accounts of this character have on young persons and children, in the grades and high schools, who prepare topics on current events as part of their studies. Co-operation with other clubs and social organizations was asked in an effort to induce the publishers to present the news in a cleaner form.

Excursions in Thought.

The Three Most Astonishing Follies of Man.

R. N. Allen, Teacher of Manual Training.

It has been a source of much pleasant speculation as to just what are the three best and greatest things which men do to the best of men. On the other hand not so much glory matter has been stirred up in trying to decide as to just what are the greatest follies that men are guilty of. It is useless for a mere man to attempt to excavate from the sizeable heap of follies in which the fair sex may be addicted the precise and exact three which constitute their "folly." The refusal to attempt this selection, while it might furnish some interesting amusement to readers if it were made, is not so much a wholesome respect for that old proverb which say "Fools run in where angels fear to tread." Foolish, indeed he who seeks a quarrel with the fair ladies!

But it seems that an old lady who was a Quaker, and who had a reputation for wisdom, had no such conscientious scruples as to attempting to pointing out at least three of the most astonishing follies of which men are guilty. The first of these follies was the climbing of trees to shake down the fruit, when if they would but wait, the fruit would fall of itself. Deep in his every man dare to modestly—but rather to a juicy, red apple had perhaps attracted his eyes—but he had resolved that he would let providence shake it from the apple tree rather than when fall and serious Eve arrived on the scene, things began to happen. There were some explorations of the new habitat, daily excursions were made—the idea of spring house—cleaning produce was originated! Lol and behold! one day those apples struck the dark eyes of Eve and her mind was made up instantly. Tomboys were not invented or involved at that day—so it was just simply up to Adam to shin that that tree and shake the apples down, which is possibly how it is that men have acquired such a folly as this fine old Quaker lady points out. Men are naturally lazy and trifling and her mind was made up instantly. Washington, Jan. 10.—Tentative agreement for an investigation of wholesale and retail prices throughout the country to be carried on by the departments of justice, commerce and labor has been reached.

At a conference with Secretaries Hoover and Davis today Mr. Daugherty said, it was virtually decided to broaden the real price investigation of the justice department to include the costs of various commodities from their origin to the consumer.

More extensive investigation is necessary, Mr. Daugherty declared, in order that the public may have the "cost of the egg as it travels from the hen to the breakfast table" and the government plans to study the whole field of prices and costs of manufacturing and production.

Richard Phillips writes as follows in the Philadelphia Ledger: It used to be common for people to refer to John D. Rockefeller as a billionaire, but not now.

A tax expert has figured what that $76,000,000 in taxes paid for 1920 represents, and his finding is that Mr. Rockefeller's income for 1920 was $1,000,000.

Under the present rate of taxation it doesn't seem possible for a man to be a millionaire.

With possibly one exception, the thermometer registered the lowest of the season this morning and the first snow of the season has been falling. Press dispatches yesterday stated that from twelve to fourteen inches of snow had fallen in many parts of the State. Orangeburg farmers especially, are very desirous of some freezing weather on account of the fact that it is stated that a freezing cold winter will give great assistance in combating the boll weevil.

The cotton ginning report for December 31st shows that up to that date this year Orangeburg county had ginned 19,082 bales as compared with 84,331 for the same period last year. LIBRARY MADE GOOD RECORD.

Chester Institution Continues to Grow in Popularity—10,990 Books in Circulation.

(Contributed.)
Everyone interested in our free library—and who is not, will be delighted with its report for 1921. The number of books in circulation was 10,990, and of course many of the volumes went out many times. 52 new books, comprising fiction, juvenile and non-fiction were bought; also set of Winslow's Cumulative Loose-Leaf Encyclopedia. 105 books were given during the year.

The State, Charlotte Observer and Atlanta Journal were taken and, by the courtesy of their editors, both the Reporter and the News" were found on the paper racks. On the reading table were 20 magazines; religious (these donated by Mrs. W. B. Cox); scientific, political, fiction and fashion. The current issues are not allowed to be taken out, but these monthly magazines are available.

A convenient feature of the management is that patrons are notified when books are overdue more than five days—and are sent a respectful reminder many times. The plan has been suggested that in order to buy more new books, two cents per day be charged for the use of the very new books. This is done in several of the neighboring towns and, while not hard upon any one reader's pocket-book, would vastly aid the library in keeping abreast of the day's publications. The management would appreciate outspoken opinions on the subject. Suggestions as to the very best are also cordially invited.

Chester owes a debt of appreciation to the Chamber of Commerce and the Library Committee for their able directorship. The gift of furnishing the library out of the scrap-heap and putting it back to work. No reader is more than a few minutes' walk from the library and every mother's little sister who knows her child is in the library under the influence of such a fine personality.

Big Deal

M. L. Schlosberg Buys Three Store Rooms on Gadsden Street—Will Make Modern Department Store and Office—Work Commences July First.

One of the largest business real estate deals pulled in Chester recently was that of Wednesday when Mr. H. L. Schlosberg, of Camden, bought the store rooms on the corner of Wylie and Gadsden streets now occupied by M. A. Elliott and Son, The Booterie and the office of the American Railway Express Company. The property was that of Mr. Alex. Frazer, who acquired it several years ago. The consideration was $21,000, all of which will be paid in cash by Mr. Schlosberg.

A few years ago Mr. L. L. Schlosberg opened a store in Chester in the stand formerly occupied by Mr. J. W. Wix and placed Mr. A. J. Hellman in charge. Since acquiring a business here the store has continually been a success and it was this fact which caused Mr. Schlosberg to buy "home quarters" in our progressive city.

The present leases on the store rooms will expire on July first and at that time Mr. Schlosberg will begin the entire remodeling of the building, making same three stories high. He will operate a department store in the two rooms on the corner, the express company continuing in the room now occupied by them. The second floor will be devoted to offices while the third floor will probably be fitted up into lodge rooms. The new building will be steam heated, and will be modern and up-to-date in every particular.

No. 666

When completed the new building will represent an expenditure of approximately $35,000.

Albany Mr. Schlosberg and Mr. Hellman are arranging to get an architect to begin drawing plans for the new building.

This is a prescription prepared especially for MALARIA or CHILLS or FEVER. Five or six doses will break any case, and taken then as a tonic the Fever will not return. It acts on the liver better than Calomel, and does not irritate the skin. 25c.
