LOCAL and PERSONAL

The following communication has been received by The News from Congressman W. F. Stevenson, in Washington: "I have again visited for next year in the Navy Academy, Annapolis and six others. There have been no applications for any of these, and I must make an appointment soon in order that they may attend the examination on Feb. 18th or April 21st. Would be glad to hear from any boy who is physically fit and mentally prepared to take the examination and would desire the appointment. If the matter were further examination for subsequent years."

"The Million Dollar Doll in Paris" pleases people in New Bern, N. C., Columbia and Newberry, who shouldn't it please Chester folks? See it or miss a good show.

"The Million Dollar Doll in Paris," the musical comedy which played at the Liberty Theatre in Charleston last week Saturday night, will be seen at the Chester Opera House, tomorrow night, Wednesday, January 21st.

In speaking of the show the Columbia State of Sunday had the following to say: "The musical comedy 'The Million Dollar Doll in Paris,' drew a fat-tired audience to the Liberty Theatre last night. Tunesful melodies, clever dancing and excellent comedy work gave the show a good point in the world of pleasure. Harold Orr as Jasper Jackson, who had trouble to get his own hands behind his back, was the average and was awarded a laugh at every turn.

Miller and Vogel executed some floor dancing and were generous by applauded. Gertrude Gray as the "Million Dollar Doll" and Winnie Archer as the fascinating vampire pleased the audience in their respective parts. The stage settings were elaborate and the costumes were fresh and attractive.

Chester friends of Mr. W. T. Buice, formerly connected with Joseph Wylie and Company, and who for the past few years has been connected with the Ocala-Bethlehem Company of Orlando, Fla., will be glad to learn that he has been appointed general manager of the plant that turned firm. In speaking of the matter the Orlando Reporter says: "Mr. W. T. Buice, the new general manager, came to Orlando January 1, 1918, to take charge of the dry goods department of the Y-D. Co. He entered the mercantile career about ten years ago with the Joseph Buice & Co. of Chester, S. C., one of the largest and most prosperous firms in South Carolina, and after being with this firm for a short time was promoted to assistant manager of the department store of Roddy, Poe Merchandise Co. and as succeeding Buice, filled his position with the reputation as a buyer, his progressive-ness and his successful merchandising abilities reached the ears of McNeill and it was not long until his services were secured for the Y-D. Co. Mr. Buice is a young man of exceptional business qualities and we expect to expand and grow to even greater proportions than it has in the past, and his ability as a manager are such as to perfect a most efficient store."

On January 10th "The Million Dollar Doll in Paris" played in New Bern, N. C. The morning newspaper of that city said, "There was nothing wrong with any part of the play and everybody enjoyed it immensely."

Mr. Alex Frazer has returned to her home in Chester after a visit to Norfolk, Va. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. C. C. Martin.

It is important that the census of Chester be accurately taken and every one should co-operate with the census takers in seeing that Chester gets a correct census. We believe it would be a good plan for the Chester Chamber of Commerce to designate every person in Chester county send in a card at a certain date where parties have not been approached by the census takers.

I Am Expecting a car load of plowing tractors this week. Numerous friends throughout the county learned with sorrow of the death of Mr. John H. Hamilton, Sr., which occurred at his home in the Pleasant Grove section of the county yesterday about noon, following a second stroke of paralysis. The funeral was conducted at the home of his wife, followed by interment in the Pleasant Grove Presbyterian church cemetery. Mr. Hamilton was a devoted member of the Pleasant Grove Presbyterian church and took an active part in church affairs. He was one of Chester county's most substantial citizens and will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends throughout the county.

Mr. Hamilton served throughout the Civil War, having enlisted at the beginning of the struggle in Company F, Twenty-third South Carolina Regiment. He made an enviable reputation during the war and proved himself a real man. Mr. Hamilton was seventy five years of age. He is survived by his widow, who has been married to Miss Sallie Banks, and five sons and one daughter, Dr. J. L. Hamilton and Miss Mary Hamilton, of Chester; Messrs. W. H. and J. R. Hamilton, of Edgemont; Mr. H. B. Hamilton, of Chester; and Mr. Albert Hamilton, of Covington, Ga.

LIVER DIDN'T ACT DIGESTION WAS BAD

Says 65 Year Old Kentucky Lady, Who Tells How She Was Relieved After a Few Doses of Black-Draught.

Meadorville, Ky.—Mrs. Cynthia Higginbotham, of this town, says: "At my age, which is 65, the liver does not act so well as when young. A few years ago, my stomach was all out of fix. I was constipated, my liver didn't act. My digestion was bad, and it took so little to upset me. My appetite was gone. I was very weak. I decided I would give Black-Draught a thorough trial as I knew it was highly recommended for my trouble. I began taking it. I felt better after a few doses. My appetite improved and I became stronger. My bowels acted naturally and the least bit of exercise cost a dose of Black-Draught." "Eighty years of successful use has made Thibault's Black-Draught a standard household remedy. Every member of every family, at times, need the help that Black-Draught can give in cleaning the system and relieving the troubles that come from constipation, indigestion, lazy liver, etc. You cannot keep well unless your stomach, liver and bowels are in good working order. Keep them that way. Try Black-Draught. It acts promptly, gently and in a natural way. If you feel sluggish, take a dose tonight. You will feel fresh tomorrow. Price 75c a package—One cost a dose daily during a fever."

It is vital that you be included in the Government census. It is important because such is the object of the census and because Chester will have a correct report on its population. The Chamber of Commerce urges each citizen to cheerfully lend aid to the enumerators, answering all questions and telling them the occupants of their home so the enumerators may get a complete report. Help them out. Help with the right kind of civility and have Chester's census thorough and correct.

TIME WORN CASTLE ON MARKET AT LAST

Donnington Castle Built by Grandfather of Richard I to Be Sold for First Time in Three Centuries.

The announcement that a property is "in the market" for the first time for 300 years will inevitably attract a good many people to speculate as to what the market was like in 1610. Not much like it is today, for there were no advertisements and no professional agents, and yet, as references to estates in these columns often show, sales were somewhat effected, and large tracts of country passed from one ownership to another, often by no means between a willing buyer and a willing seller. In the period in question, too, events were impending which led to various portions of "England changing hands" in circumstances of violence. Financial expedients to raise money independently of subsidies from parliament touched real estate in a good many ways. Taxes were imposed for encroachments upon forest land, commissioners were appointed to receive composition for alleged defective titles, and fines were levied for all cottages built upon less than four acres of land, according to a statute of 1570. To reconstruct the story of the market, as it existed three centuries ago, would make demands on the imagination, for the details of events have been handed down as to how the actual dealings with property were conducted.

Donnington castle near Nodbury. It is in the market, for, it is said, the first time for 300 years. Donnington castle was built by Sir Richard de Abberbury, guardian of Richard I in his minority. The castle stands on a hillside, at the foot of which winds the Kennet. Dabier's adjacent to the castle recalls the name of the colonel who bombarded Donnington in 1644 for the castle, held on behalf of Charles I, was twice besieged during the civil war. On the first occasion three of its towers were destroyed, and the redoubtable soldier, accounted for almost all that remained of it. Afterwards much of the ruined stone-work was utilized in the erection of a house near at hand. Abberbury not only built castles, he established a friary of the order of the holy trinity, and to him also is attributed the endowment in 1392, which was reconstituted in 1570 under the name of Queen Elizabeth's hospital. Auctioneers are commencing to sell the grand old 17th century residence and the castle ruins, with 312 acres, a fine class freehold, an hour's run from town.

BAPTISTS MAKE PLANS

Conference Follows Raising Great Sum of Money.

Nashville, Jan. 17.—Following the success of the Baptist $75,000,000 campaign, in raising $90,000,000 for the year, the annual conference of the denomination at home and abroad and the enrollment of 7,900 additional churches, missions, areas and other special works, a conference of denominational leaders from all the Southern and Southwestern states has been called to meet in Nashville Wednesday, January 23, to plan a program for the conservation of the victory that has been attained.

Among the plans under consideration is a Southwestern campaign of evangelism and stewardship, and renewed emphasis upon the fundamentals of religion. Attending the conference will be members of the campaign committee and of the executive committee of the Southern Baptist convention, the secretaries of the general and state boards of the denomination, college presidents and general and state leaders of the women's missionary union, while all other pastors and laymen who are interested are invited. Whatever program is mapped out will continue only until the Southern Baptist convention meets at Washington in May when future policies will be considered.

NEW CAR REQUIRES CAREFUL HANDLING

"When your new car is delivered," says a writer in the current issue of Working Parts, "it is new, it is clean, it is bright, and should be handled slowly until the car is run several hundred miles. It is advisable to drive slowly and carefully, for the first 500 miles, giving such parts as motor bearings, pistons and various other parts-fitted tightly a chance to wear in somewhat. See that your car has been gone over thoroughly for oil and grease, particularly the motor transmission, rear axle, and all grease cups. The radiator should be flushed out and filled with clean water as an antidote of solder or other foreign matter sometimes remain in new radiators and may work into water pump or other working parts, causing damage. "Have the storage battery examined to note that same is properly charged and full enough of diluted water. Often new cars remain in storage before delivery is made, which would cause battery to run down the entire life. If battery is used in this weakened condition, it will run from the stand. If battery is run."

NASH--LEXINGTON--DAVIS

It would be hard to find a better selection of automobiles than the three mentioned above

We have the Chester county agency for the Nash automobile and the Nash truck. There are several Nash cars in Chester and every owner is a satisfied owner. We have Nash trucks on display and would be glad to demonstrate them. Don't buy a truck until you see the Nash.

We have the Chester and York agency for the Lexington automobile. This car is not an experiment. You have heard of its many merits for years. It is a real value for the money.

We have the Chester, York and Fairfield county agency for the Davis automobile. We have sold a number of Davis cars in this territory and all are giving real service.

We have a service department that will mean real service to our customers. We do not claim to have all expert mechanics--most of them are dead--but we have a service department which will keep the cars we sell running smoothly.

Call at our new place in the Coogle Building on Valley street and let us talk the automobile and truck question over with you. We have the goods and will take great pleasure in showing you our line.

Up-to-Date Garage Building.
Mr. J. S. Starr, architect of Rock Hill, has completed the plans for the garage building of Mr. A. H. Wherry, Jr., which will soon be erected on the corner of Main and Valley streets, the building facing the Chester postoffice.

The building will be up-to-date in every particular, the front being of stone eighty feet wide. The building will be ninety feet long, with the mechanical department on the ground floor, with an entrance from Valley street. The main show room will be above the mechanical department and will be large enough to store about one hundred automobiles. The front of the building will be with a display room, adjacent to the show room and a general office and private office. The entrance to the up-stair room, which is the general show room, will be as in the line from Main street. The entrance to the office and display room will be even with the street. The front will be of plate glass, with large double doors. Numerous windows will be placed in the building insuring plenty of light for all parts of the building.

To the rear of the garage building Mr. C. C. Young will erect a five-in gasoline filling station, both entrance and exit being on Valley street. In the circle joining the driveway will be a beautiful floral garden.

The building when completed promises to be one of the most modern buildings in this section. The contractors expect to begin work at once and it is hoped to have the mechanical department ready for occupancy for the middle of April.

THE COST OF UNSKILLED LETTERS

The experience of thousands of men in the Army and Navy, as officers or in clerical capacities, says the editorial writer in The Iron Age (New York, December 29), has had an effect already in the correspondence of business houses. Men have learned the value of terse but clear and comprehensive letters. He goes on:

"Many business firms have realized the need for a long time how costly a thing unskilfully constructed letters may become. Ambiguity, omission of essential details, unnecessary length, ungrammatical sentences, lack of friendly personal touch, roughness of diction, omissions of enclosure, the clump or indigestible mass of letters—all these and other sins of correspondence are machief-makers. In some large offices specialists review the daily correspondence, in the effort to effect improvement, and call attention of employees and owners, too, if necessary, to the delinquencies and bad habits of their letter-writing. They work out form letters, and seek generally to reduce the amount of correspondence wherever it is possible and otherwise act for efficiency. Not only does the result show itself in relations with those with whom the firm does business, but there is a direct money-saving in bills for telegraphy and typing and office supplies. The Army and Navy training has helped this work along. Many a man who thought he could write a first-rate letter has had his conceit destroyed by some higher up in the service who received his efforts. The Army rule of typing the signature, as well as perusing it, has been adopted in some establishments, which is an excellent plan, for many signatures are blind to their owners do not always realize the fact. Dictated but not read and signed in the absence of or less often seen than formerly, because they could not be used officially in the service, the protest against the practice had already been heard and in many cases heeded. At the top of a letter the subject to be treated is now often found. This, too had previously been established as a practice in some offices. Altogether this new influence which came into business out of the war should work out results of a good deal of importance. The beginning had been made. The added impulse should send the movement for good letter-writing a long step forward. Among the customs which might well become general is that of indicating, when answering a letter from some one connected with a large company, the person for whose attention the letter is intended. In every large office time is wasted almost daily trying to determine for whom letters are intended."

GOLDEN WEDDING FOR SECOND TIME

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Crayton celebrated their Fiftieth Anniversary Just As Did Mr. Crayton's Parents. Anderson, Jan. 18.—It is seldom that in the history of one family that there are two golden weddings. In the family of Col. B. F. Crayton there was a celebration many years ago of the 50th anniversary of his marriage to Miss Polly Benson of Colonel Crayton and his namesake, celebrated his 50th anniversary of his marriage to Miss Mary Enoyles. Mr. and Mrs. Crayton were raised in the country and the two recently returned from spending a year with their daughter, Miss Katherine Crayton, in the state of Washington, and are visiting their daughter Mrs. Charles Prevost, before again going to housekeeping in their own little home. At this celebration there were many of the original wedding party as are still living, and each of the guests brought appropriate golden gifts. At the conclusion of the elegant dinner Joseph J. Fretwell gave a toast to the "bride and bridegroom" and presented them with a $100 gold piece. Mr. Fretwell and Mr. Crayton were raised in the country and the two
